RAW AS BEEF-STEAK

Baby's Fearful Suffering from Skin Disease Covering Entire Body Cured by Cuticura.

My baby was taken very sick when he was three months old, and in a few days began breaking out. We employed both of the home doctors, and they could do nothing for him. Then we sent for the best doctor in Eaton Rapids, Mich., and he doctored him for two weeks, and he got worse all the time; and then I took him to Jackson, to a doctor who attends especially to skin diseases, and then he got worse than ever. Then I told my husband we had better try the CUTICURA REMEDIES any way; did not have any idea they would do any good, but in less than two months from the time we began giving them to him he was entirely well, and not a spot on him. His hair began growing right off, and we thought he would always be bald-headed. There was not a spot on his whole body, face, and head, only his nose and eyes, but what was as raw as beef-steak. So poor there was not anything but bones, and so weak he could raise neither hand nor head.

THE QUEBEC BOODLING

SAID TO HAVE BEEN DENOUNCED BY THE VATICAN.

Strong Language Used in Respect to Count Mercier — Instruction Given to the Clergy to Advise Their Congregations to Vote Against the Ex-Premier.

MONTREAL, Feb. 1.—Le Moniteur de Rome, the diplomatic organ of the Vatican, in its last issue publishes a leader of the highest importance bearing upon the political situation in Quebec. This journal is published in French and is accepted as the organ of the authorities of the church. Its expressions carry great weight, especially with the members of the clergy. The article in question may be taken as expressing the views of the church in the present crisis.

The article opens with general considerations on politics in Canada, and especially in Quebec, and claims that in the present crisis all the honest and disinterested portion of the population, including the clergy, will side with the Conservative party.

It then eulogizes the Canadian clergy, which does not as a rule take part in politics and remains aloof from "the political fray."

Speaking of the fallen Premier the journal says: "Mr. Mercier has the suppleness which makes for a time the bantering diplomat and the rash gambler. For a long time he has posed as the representative of popular rights and religious interests."

Then The Moniteur expresses its indignation that the Liberal press should have made political capital out of the favors received from Rome and make people believe that the Holy Father approves of all that the man who received them has done.

The Moniteur continues: "Certain newspapers have to compromise the cause of the church by associating it with the dismissed ministry. They say that it received its flattering approbation as if these acts were intended not for the cause, but for the men. When the originator of an idea falls, perhaps through fate, perhaps by his own fault, the idea still lives on invincible and immaculate. Thus it is with Canada and Mr. Mercier."

Proceeding The Moniteur gives the following hint to Mr. Mercier and his friends: "For this reason the wisest have asked themselves if the whole future of Canada should be imperilled as the stake in this murderous combat, if it was not better a thousand times to sacrifice the most compromised to save the country."

Further on the journal supplies the following advice to Mr. Mercier: "Sometimes, returning to the life of Mr. Mercier, wise people recall the memories of great disgraces of kings and of peoples. These ministers who fall or overreach themselves are buried in solitude."

Moniteur continues with the following sentence: "Mr. Mercier defends himself, but should he overcome fate he will not give calm and security to his country. It is said that in all the great trials which come to a nation politics always demands its victims marked by events."

What the Government Expects.

OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—Hon. John Haggart said to-day: I am sure that we will carry Prince Edward county, Lennox and East Hastings. The latter place the late W. Burdett carried on his own personal popularity, politics having little to do with it. Dr. Platt is a strong man as a Liberal, but Mr. Millon will, I am pretty sure, defeat him in Prince Edward. I feel confident that we will win more than three seats in Ontario, and as Sir John Thompson said three in the Maritime Provinces. All that we expect to do in Quebec is to hold our own.

Hon. John Thompson to Come West.

OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—The Minister of Justice received a telegram Saturday asking him to go west to take a hand in the political campaign. He will probably speak in Picton, Prince Edward, and in London, but as yet no arrangements have been perfected.

Loss of a British Ship With Nearly all Her Crew.

ASTORIA, Ogn., Feb. 1—The British ship Ferndale, coal-laden, went ashore Friday morning five miles north of the entrance to Grays harbor; 20 of the crew including Capt. Blair were drowned. Three of the crew were saved by being washed ashore upon pieces of wreckage. The dead body of the mate encased in a life-preserver has been found on the beach, but none of the other bodies are yet recovered. The vessel was coal laden and sailed from Newcastle, N.S.W., Nov. 6, for Portland, Oregon. Where the Ferndale went ashore is 70 miles north of the mouth of the Columbia River. The wreck occurred at daylight.

A Chatham Society Woman Arrested.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 1.—Miss Maggie Taylor, a handsome young woman from Chatham, Ontario, was arrested at a prominent drygoods store yesterday on a charge of shoplifting. Various articles, including silk scarfs, handkerchiefs, souvenir spoons, books and fancy goods were found in her possession and she confessed having stolen them from various retail houses in the city.

The woman said she was glad she had been arrested, as otherwise she would have gone on until she would have become a hopeless thief. There was no necessity for her stealing, but she had done so once or twice before and could not resist nor explain the desire that overcame her.

She was accompanied by her cousin, the wife of a highly respected physician of Chatham. The latter woman knew nothing of the thefts until the arrest was made.

Went With the Old Year.

PANAMA, Feb 1.—Esteban Gonzales, a conductor on the Venezuela Central Railway, blew his brains out in church, where he had gone to attend a watch meeting, on the night of Dec. 31, leaving a note which said he simply wanted to go with the old year.

Drowned Herself in Molasses.

A LOVER'S CRIME.

PARIS, Feb. 1.—A tragic affair is reported from Lucerne, Switzerland. A young Frenchwoman, whose beauty and good qualities attracted many suitors, accepted as husband an English naval officer. The husband, after a brief honeymoon, was summoned abroad and joined his vessel on a voyage to the East. He left his bride at Lucerne, promising a speedy return. Not long ago the young wife received a telegram telling her that her husband had died of cholera in India. The blow caused her brain to reel, and she poisoned herself with cyanide. She died and was buried at Lucerne.

The wife had been dead but a few days when her husband, hearty and well as when he left her, made his appearance and was told of his wife's death. He asserted that it was a former lover of his wife who sent the telegram, and threatened revenge.

Floods in Scotland.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Severe floods prevail in the Scottish highlands owing to the thaw which has melted enormous quantities of snow and ice in the mountains. A part of the city of Perth, which lies on the right bank of the River Tay, is inundated, and in many portions of the country the railways have been flooded.

The Duke of Teck's Luck.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—A report was published Saturday that Lord Tolemache, who died recently, bequeathed to the Duke and Duchess of Teck, the parents of Princess Victoria Mary of Teck, the fiancee of the late Duke of Clarence, the greater part of his fortune, amounting to nearly £70,000 a year.

Associates of the Royal Academy.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Stanhope Forbes, painter; Harry Bates, sculptor, and Graham Jackson, architect, have been elected associates of the Royal Academy.

Shot by An Idle Crank.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—A dangerous crank attempted to assassinate a Broad-street merchant yesterday afternoon, and believing that he had killed his victim, took his own life by firing two bullets into his brain. The merchant was Julius Somborn of the wine importing firm of L. Somborn & Co., at No. 67 Broad-street, and the man who did the shooting was a distant relative, who had frequently obtained assistance from the merchant. A shiftless fellow named Jacob Somborn.

The assassin entered the merchants office and demanded money. His demand was refused and the man drew a big revolver and fired, the bullet lodging in Somborn's right hip. The assassin then deliberately placed the muzzle of the revolver in his mouth and fired two bullets into his brain. His body fell on the floor, with his head near the front door, and he must have died instantly.

Electricity the Coming Power.

"I think we will run trains on the Wisconsin Central by electrical power before the Columbian Exposition is over. The discoveries of the uses to which electricity can be put and its adaptability to moving trains are far ahead of what is generally supposed, and I think you will find that some one of the three great electrical companies, the Edison, the Westinghouse or the Thomson-Houston, will make public some surprising developments at an early day."

Narrow Escape from a Serious Collision.

BUFFALO, Feb. 1.—What came near being a serious accident occurred yesterday on the New York Central near the south end of the canal bridge at the junction of the single and double track. The 9.17 o'clock passenger train from the Falls was just entering the double track, when a freight train coming from the opposite direction struck the last two coaches on the side, tipping them over. The passenger train was crowded with people, who were badly shaken up, but only one person, an Italian laborer, was injured, his shoulder being dislocated.

Smuggling Horses From Canada.

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—Special Treasury Agent Soehngen has for some days been watching the sales of horses at the horse market at the stock yards in the expectation of capturing some smuggled animals from Canada. The duty on horses is $30 for a $150 horse and $30 for every $100 of added valuation. The high rates have led to a great deal of smuggling of horses from Canada, and reports have reached the treasury agents that fine animals in large numbers have been brought into the States from across the border without the formality of consulting the custom house.

Escorted to Canada.

BUFFALO, Feb. 1.—Jew Ah Ling and Jew Ah Len where formally deported yesterday. These are the two Chinamen who were found to be in the country unlawfully at the Albany term of the United States Court last week. Marshal Colt escorted the two as far as the Canadian border on board a Toronto train and then left them.

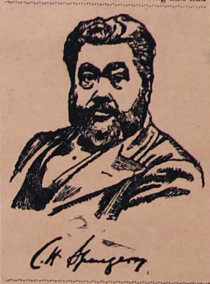
MR. SPURGEON IS DEAD.

THE GREAT PREACHER PASSES AWAY AT MENTONE.

Tennyson's Ode to the Late Duke of Clarence—William O'Brien Meets With Rough Treatment—A Rejected Lover's Crime and Its Terrible Consequences.

MENTONE, Feb. 1.—Mr. Spurgeon died shortly after 11 o'clock last night. He had been unconscious since the morning and had not recognized his wife and daughter. He refused all food and, although milk was forced down his throat, it was not retained.



At 10 p.m. Mr. Spurgeon was seen to be sinking fast and all hope after that hour was abandoned.

Mr. Spurgeon's end was painless. He remained unconscious to the last. His wife, Dr. Fitzhenry and Miss Thorne were present when he died.

The morning papers contain long memories and obituary articles on Mr. Spurgeon.

The Telegraph characterizes him as a "great, fearless and faithful minister." It adds. "Albeit of homely genius and eloquence, all agree that he leaves a void that will be filled with difficulty."

Charles Haddon Spurgeon was born at Kelvedon, Essex, June 19, 1834. His father and grandfathers were preachers in the Independent denomination. At the age of 16 he became an usher at Newmarket and subsequently at Cambridge. Not long after going to Cambridge he connected himself with a lay preachers' association there, and before he was 18 became pastor of a small Baptist congregation at Waterbeach. In 1853 he was called to the New Park-street Baptist Chapel in Southwark, London, to which his preaching attracted such crowds that the congregation removed first to Exeter Hall and then to Surrey Music Hall. In 1861 a new chapel capable of seating between 5000 and 6000 was completed for his congregation in Newington Butts. Mr. Spurgeon has received more than 43,000 persons into his church, and has erected 47 chapels in London, supplied with ministers trained in a college of his own founding. He has published numerous works.

TENNYSON'S LATEST.

Seventeen Lines Long and Anything But a Success.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The poem of Baron Tennyson, the Poet Laureate, upon the death of the Duke of Clarence and Avondale is subjected to the fire of public criticism. The poem is only 17 lines long. The poet speaks of the late Prince as being "tender, truthful, reverent and pure."

LONDON, Jan. 31.—G. W. Smalley cables: There is but one opinion here of Lord Tennyson's lines on the death of the Duke of Clarence, which appear in The Nineteenth Century" for February. They are not worthy of that poet's fame.

To Restore Serfdom.

PARIS, Feb. 1.—According to advices from St. Petersburg the Czar intends to initiate measures for the restoration of serfdom among the peasants. It is proposed to allocate to the peasants vast tracts of land under conditions similar to those of serf tenure. One-third of harvest is to be stored in the communal magazines for the support of the peasants; one-third is to be sold by the Government for the payment of local debts to state, and one-third is to be retained for payment of Government taxes. The peasants will not be allowed to move from their communes, but will be bound to the soil and will be obliged to fulfil their contracts with the state. The system will be first applied in the provinces of Samara and Saratoff, and if successful will be extended all over the empire.

Rain, Rain, Beautiful Rain.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 1.—The town of Chimay [illegible] been visited by a terrible conflagration which destroyed fully one-fourth of the entire number of its buildings. The fire originated in a church tower and spread with great rapidity. The firemen aided by a downpour of rain succeeded in saving the threatened residence of the Prince of Chimay.

The New Prefect of the Propaganda.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—G. W. Smalley cables: The Pope's health has become a standing topic. He has been ill, but is better—well enough at any rate to startle the Catholic world by the appointment of Cardinal Lechodowski as Prefect of the Propaganda. The Italian Cardinals, who believe that the keys of heaven and of earth ought to be in Italian hands, are as angry as such holy men ever allow themselves to be. The close personal friendship between the Pope and Cardinal Lechodowski is probably sufficient to explain this promotion, which for various reasons is disliked in every European capital except London, where nobody cares.

Smalley on British Politics.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—G. W. Smalley cables: The whips issued by Mr. Balfour and Mr. Gladstone for the meeting of Parliament are both unusually urgent. Mr. Balfour tells his supporters that they will at once be invited to proceed to consideration of a matter of highest importance. Mr. Gladstone observes ominously that he hopes to learn at the opening of the session whether and in what manner the present majority of the House of Commons intends to grant local government to Ireland. It is a laudable curiosity; hardly less laudable than the curiosity of others to learn in what manner Mr. Gladstone himself intends to frame his next Home Rule bill, should the opportunity occur.

Negotiations continue, though languidly, for reunion of the two wings of the Irish Nationalists. English Home Rulers are doing what they can to promote concord, but with no great success. Mr. O'Brien avows mournfully that he sees little possibility of a real reconciliation.

Gave Him a Gold Watch.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 1.—Capt. Kerr, who has been transferred to London after 22 years in charge of the mechanical department of the G.T.R. here, was presented with a gold watch by the workmen Saturday.

ACCIDENT AT LONDON.

The Mother of Prominent Newspaper Men Injured in a Runaway.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Mrs. Mitchell, aged 75, was struck by a runaway horse in Dundas-street, and frightfully injured. When picked up it was found she had received an ugly wound in the forehead, caused by the shaft or the horse's hoof striking her, from which the blood poured profusely. Her scalp was also torn and had to be stitched up, while one of her hands was somewhat injured. Mrs. Mitchell is a resident of Goderich and is the mother of James Mitchell, proprietor of The Goderich Star. She is also the mother of Charles Mitchell, proprietor of The Ottawa Free Press. Mrs. Mitchell was on her way from Goderich to Windsor, where she had been called to the deathbed of her son-in-law, John Edwards.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Those great moral exemplars, E. Gus Porter and N. B. Falkner, are now busily engaged in Prince Edward county, inculcating in those guileless people over there the importance of electoral and governmental purity. We will now see Satan preaching righteousness and truth. Really, it seems as if the tories delight in insulting the electors of Canada when such men as these are sent out to instruct them in their duties as good citizens. The respectable people of that vicinity should resent being talked to by such men.

Lecture on Fools. Admit One.

A gentleman who lectured on fools printed his tickets as above. Suggestive certainly, and even sarcastic. What fools are they who suffer the inroads of disease when they might be cured. Dr. Pearce's Golden Medical Discovery is sold under a positive guarantee of its benefitting or curing in every case of Liver, Blood and Lung disease, or money paid for it will be cheerfully refunded. In all blood taints and impurities of whatever name or nature, it is most positive in its curative effects. Scrofulous disease may effect the glands, causing swellings or tumors; the bones, causing "Fever-sores," "White Swellings," "Hip-joint disease,"; or the tissues of the lungs, causing Pulmonary Consumption. Whatever its manifestations may be, "Golden Medical Discovery" cures it.

Diseases of The Liver

Parmelee's Pills possess the power of acting specifically upon the deceased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that disease of almost every name and nature are driven from the body. Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell, P. O., writes 'I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that w sel well.'

The Secret of His Wealth

A millionaire said "the secret of my wealth" is the word S-A-V-E; and the secret of my health is word S-A-G-E. The cures made by this medicine are simply wonderful.

TRADE WITH CANADA.

GOLDWIN SMITH BEFORE THE WASHINGTON COMMITTEE.

A Despatch From the U. S. Capital States that Nothing is Likely to Be Accomplished Until After the Presidential Election, While a London Dispatch Speaks Differently.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—It is stated here that negotiations for a restricted reciprocity treaty between Canada and the United States are to be resumed in about a fortnight's time.

Newfoundland is urging upon the Colonial Office that it is very necessary that its treaty with the States should pass the United States Senate before March 4, but the Colonial Office still objects to divide the traditional unity of policy regarding the Atlantic fisheries. Some officials here still hope for a way out of the difficulty by a general reciprocity treaty between the United States and all British North America.

High Canadian authorities here, however, do not disguise their belief that the negotiations, if resumed now, are hardly likely to succeed. Meanwhile, such English journals as refer to Canada's trouble with Newfoundland say it is best for both to work together on a cordial basis

TRADE WITH CANADA.

Views of Goldwin Smith on Commercial Union and Other Matters.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—At the informal conference between Prof. Goldwin Smith, Erastus Wiman and Mr. Springer and other members of the Committee on Ways and Means, enquiry was made of Prof. Smith as to his opinion of the theory which is entertained in this country by some public men that political union between the United States and the Dominion might ultimately result, if the United States should pursue an aggressive course toward Canada and decline to make favorable commercial relations, withdraw the bonding privileges and the like.

Prof. Goldwin Smith replied that, as a Canadian citizen, he had nothing to say as to the probable effect of such a policy, so far as any political relations with the United States were concerned. But as a practical commercial matter he did suggest that if the United States should attempt such a policy, whatever might be the motives of this Government, the result would most probably be that the people of Canada would turn their eyes in an entirely different direction and that the party which now seeks to establish an imperial zollverein would be greatly strengthened and encouraged. As to the possibility that the United States could ever adopt such a policy as was suggested, with ultimate political union in view, Professor Goldwin Smith had a very decided opinion—that was that the United States would never adopt such a policy. Directly any such plan was contemplated, Professor Smith expressed the belief that the conflicting local interests in the United States would put a veto on it. These conflicting interests would always, in the opinion of Professor Smith, be actively at work in this country to prevent a complete execution of the policy of exclusion which had been suggested. It would not be possible for the United States under any circumstances ever likely to occur to completely carry out a policy of exclusion. For that reason the inquiry as to what the effect would be on a political union between the two countries is an idle and impracticable one.

It is evident to those who have closely studied the situation here that there is no prospect of any legislation or action on the part of the Government with respect to freer relations in Canada until after the issues of the next Presidential election shall have been determined. Just now each party is afraid of the other. Whenever a proposition which might even remotely affect the domestic tariff is under consideration in the House they fear to bring forward such a relation as was considered by Professor Smith and Erastus Wiman yesterday, because it might be made the text of a general tariff debate, and there are elements at work in the Democratic party which do not desire to have a tariff debate. The politicians on both sides are fully occupied with the various plans which are under consideration relating to the presidential contest, and not until after this great contest shall have been concluded and the people of the United States shall have selected the administration by which they will be governed during the period commencing with March 4, 1893, will it be possible to determine what the attitude of the United States is to be toward the commercial relations with Canada.

Charles Perry, who was stopped in his car by four masked men near New Grove, Ireland, on Jan. 18, and who was shot through the thigh, is dead. John Davis, a farmer, and Patrick Shinners, a laborer, have been arrested on suspicion of having been concerned in the outrage.

Discount was firmer in London during the week, although there was no demand. The withdrawal of gold for Russia amounting to £1,000,000, part in sovereigns and part in Russian Imperials, changed the aspect of the money market. On the Stock Exchange during the week business was extremely slack. Prices were irregular. The closing of the speculative accounts of Hume Webster, the suicide, led to some sharp movements in prices.

"German Syrup"

A Throat and Lung Specialty.

Those who have not used Boschee's German Syrup for some severe and chronic trouble of the Throat and Lungs can hardly appreciate what a truly wonderful medicine it is. The delicious sensations of healing, easing, clearing, strength-gathering and recovering are unknown joys. For German Syrup we do not ask easy cases. Sugar and water may smooth a throat or stop a tickling—for a while. This is as far as the ordinary cough medicine goes. Boschee's German Syrup is a discovery, a great Throat and Lung Specialty. Where for years there have been sensitiveness, pain, coughing, spitting, hemorrhage, voice failure, weakness, slipping down hill, where doctors and medicine and advice have been swallowed and followed to the gulf of despair, where there is the sickening conviction that all is over and the end is inevitable, there we place German Syrup. It cures. You are a live man yet if you take it.

Keep the Works in good order.

NORMAN, Ont., January 1
W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.
DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first, only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.
Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

DEAR SIR,—For many years, I have been a firm believer in your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills." Not with a blind faith, but a confidence wrought by an actual personal experience of their value and merit. My business is such that I spend much of my time away from home, and I would not consider my travelling outfit complete without a box of Morse's Pills.

IBBETSON'S WISDOM.

"For 'as we sow we reap'; that is a true saying, and all the sowing is done here on earth, and the reaping beyond. Man is a grub; his dead clay, as he lies coffined in his grave, is the left-off cocoon he has spun for himself during his earthly life, to burst open and soar from with all his memories about him, even his lost ones. Like the dragon-fly, the butterfly, the moth...... and when they die it is the same, and the same with a blade of grass. We are all, 'tous tant que nous sommes,' little bags of remembrance that never dies; that's what we're for. But we can only bring with us to the common stock what we've got. As Pere Francois used to say, 'La plus belle fille au monde ne peut donner que ce qu'elle a.'

"And this I know: the longer and more strenuously and completely one lives one's life on earth, the better for all. It is the foundation of everything. Though if men could guess what is in store for them when they die, without also knowing that, they would not have the patience to live—they wouldn't wait! For who would fardels bear?

"A midge's life is as long as a man's, for it has time to learn its business, and do all the harm it can, and fight, and make love, and marry, and reproduce its kind, and grow disenchanted and bored and sick and content to die—all in a summer afternoon. An average man can live to seventy years without doing much more.

"One cannot teach a born deaf-mute how to understand a musical score, nor a born blind man how to feel color. To Beethoven, who had once heard with the ear, his deafness made no difference, nor their blindness to Homer and Milton.

"Can you make out my little parable?

"Sound and light and heat, and electricity and motion, and will and thought and remembrance, and love and hate and pity, and the will to be born and to live, and the longing of all things alive and dead to get near each other, or to fly apart—and lots of other things beside! All that comes to the same—'C'est comme qui dirait bonnet blanc et blanc bonnet,' as Monsieur le Major used to say. 'C'est simple comme bonjour!'

"Those poor unseen flatfish that live in the darkness and mud at the bottom of deep seas can't catch the music men and women make upon earth—such poor music as it is! But if ever so faint a murmur, borne on the wings and fins of a sunbeam, reaches them for a few minutes at mid-day, and they have a speck of marrow in their spines to feel it, and no ears or eyes to come between, they are better off than any man. Their dull existence is more blessed than his.

"Nothing is lost—nothing! From the ineffable, high, fleeting thought a Shakespeare can't find words to express, to the slightest sensation of an earthworm—nothing! Not a leaf's feeling of the light, not a loadstone's sense of the pole, not a single volcanic or electric thrill of the mother earth!

"The sun, the father sun, 'le bon gros pere,' rains life on to the mother earth. A poor little life it was at first, as you know—grasses and moss, and little wriggling, transparent things—all stomach; it is quite true! That is what we come from—Shakespeare, and you, and I!"

The Ideal Kindergartner.

Long ago, when I was first beginning Kindergarten work, and when all its possibilities were rising before me, "up, up from glory to glory"—long ago, I was asked in a written examination to give what I considered the qualifications of an ideal kindergartner.

My answer was as follows—brief perhaps, but certainly comprehensive.

The Music of St. Cecilia.
The Art of Raphael.
The Dramatic genius of Rachel.
The Administrative ability of Cromwell.
The Wisdom of Solomon.
The Meekness of Moses, and—
The Patience of Job.

Twelve years' experience in the kindergarten has not lowered my ideals one whit. —Babyhood.

Indian Use of Adjectives.

Major Peter Ronan, agent of the Flathead Indians of western Montana, recently purchased a fine-blooded and ugly-faced bull-dog, not to guard his pleasant quarters at the Flathead agency, but to give his Indian wards a new subject to study in the animal kingdom. The appearance of this strange quadruped caused as much excitement among these untutored sons of the forest as a behemoth of the Paleozoic age would arouse by a sudden appearance on Main street. The chiefs held a long consultation over the characteristics of the animal and finally decided to call him "a good, bad dog." The first adjective is doubtless caused by a certain Indian sense of diplomacy to be exercised in addressing the animal, while the latter is evidence of the red man's regard for the truth at all times. At all events the name is worth studying.—Helena (Mont.) Independent.

An Interesting Burns Relic.

An interesting relic has just been presented to the Burns Cottage at Ayr. It is an oak chair which thirty-five years ago was made of the printing press on which the original Kilmarnock edition of Burns' poems was printed in 1786. There is a model of Burns' bust carved on the top of the back, and a carving of Tam O'Shanter crossing the Auld Bridge of Doon below, and on the arms there are the heads of Tam and the Souter. At the centenary dinner in Ayr in 1859 the chair was used by Sir James Fergusson, the Chairman.—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Largest Animal Painting.

Rosa Bonheur has finished the largest animal picture ever painted. It is called Le Depiquage, and represents ten horses large as life, trotting over the thrashing floor still used in parts of Southern Europe. She has been working on it for three years and has refused an offer of $60,000.

Red Rain.

Some years ago there fell a shower of red rain at Bristol which, on examination, was found to derive its color from the seeds of ivy berries which fell with it. Pollen showers, vulgarly called yellow or sulphur rains, are comparatively common; some are pollen of the Scotch fir.—All the Year Round.

Too Valuable to Lose.

Showter—Why do you swallow that fiery whisky? It doesn't quench your thirst, does it?

Hennessy—Quench it? Well, I should rather hope not!

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.

If you have a cough or cold do not neglec it; many without a trace ofthat hereditar disease have drifted into a consumptiv grave by neglecting what was only a sligh cold. Had the used Bickle's Anti-Consumtive Syrup before it was too late their lives would have been spared. Mr. A. W. Levy Mitchell, writes. "I think Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation ou the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught aevere cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cought. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of Consumption, and had given up hodes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickel's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieaed, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured. I always recomend it for severe colds and consumption."

DEAR SIRS,—My children were taken il with ulcerated sore throats bordering on diphtheria. I had nothing in the house but Hagyards Yellow Oil which I used with great benefit I am sure if it had not been for it the disease would have developed into diphtheria. It is a splendid medicine.

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—trifling indiscretion in diet may lay t foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, an there is no fact in medical science mor positively ascertained or more authoritat ively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. DIED OF HEART FAILURE

James D Fuller Succumbs while Driving Home

While driving home at noon to-day, James D. Fuller, a resident of McDonald avenue, succumbed to heart disease. He was noticed by two men reclining in his cutter and when the horse started up suddenly he was pitched to the ground, when he was picked up dead. He was carried into William Fuller's house where Dr. Tracy was summoned and pronounced death from heart failure. The deceased was about sixty-eight years old and leaves a wife, a married son and three married daughters. He was a brother of Charles and William Fuller and has several brothers living in the States. The deceased was born in Ogdensburg and settled on a farm in Thurlow several years ago. A TRIBUTE OF LOVE

The Influence of a Good Man's Life Lives After Him.

The following eloquent tribute to the memory of the late John Brenton, from an old Belleville boy, T S Quincey, of Chicago, will find an answering chord in the heart of many people of this city :—I am in receipt of your issue of Monday, January 25th containing an account of the memorial services of the late John Brenton, and while engaged in the daily pursuits of this great Metropolis, we cannot help but pause a moment in the great race of life to mourn with the friends of the deceased. Someone has said, "We may forget the singer, but we cannot forget the song." I wonder how many there are who remember when attending the services of the Pinnacle Street Methodist church over 30 years ago and listening to the harmonious voice of John Brenton, Miss Yeomans, Mrs. John Lewis and others in the choir, and remember the anthem where Mr. Brenton would render the bass solo "Let the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart be acceptable in thy sight Oh God, my strength and my Redeemer." Among the pleasing memories which time has not effaced, that voice and those words are as fresh to-day as though it were but yesterday, and often times, sometimes while alone, crossing the Western prairie, or in the active scenes of business life, words of the Psalmist impressed upon the mind by that singer has come up. Who can tell the effect these words have had in influencing character, in complying with the prayer of the psalmist. Surely we can say, "their works follow them." It is not enough to say he was an honest man, that he would follow his convictions, that he was temperate in all things, and all of the virtues which your paper has justly said of him, but with all these, we must add that he was a worthy example for the youth who were favored with an opportunity of his acquaintance or friendship. Had we the opportunity, we certainly would have suggested that the anthem above referred to, should be rendered at these services, and it certainly would have answered the question in the Text that "such a man never dies." While we cannot scatter flowers of remembrance upon his tomb or speak words of consolation to his friends, we can add this tribute to his memory, that one of this world's frail creatures is better and stronger morally, because John Brenton lived.

Had a Close Call

The Tweed News, speaking of the big fire there on Monday night says Mr. Easterbrook had a close call. He was in the upper story of the flour mill when the fire mounted the stairs and cut off his escape by that means. It was with difficulty that he groped his way through the blinding smoke to one of the front windows, through which he crawled and lowered himself full length, in order to reach a ladder which was mounted on the shoulders of sturdy men. By this means he reached the ground.

From the Gas Poisoned air—His Death Causes Universal Regret Among His Fellow Employees

LONDON, Jan. 31.—(Special)—George Hawthrone of this city met with his death in the St. Clair Tunnel at an early hour this morning. He was engaged as tunnel conductor and while taking a freight train through at 5 a. m. the train broke loose which caused him to be in the tunnel some two hours and a half. The confinement in the close atmosphere for such a period proved too much for his constitution and death resulted. He was 32 years of age and a son of William Hawthorne, proprietor of St George's Hotel, Belleville. He leaves a wife and two small children. The remains were brought here at 11.45 a. m., were met and will be taken care of by Forest City Lodge, Brotherhood of Railroad. REV C O JOHNSON ON DANCING

His Unjust Implication as to the Character of Those Who Dance

In the Saturday issue of the ONTARIO there appeared a communication from a correspondent containing a report of some very reprehensible remarks on dancing given recently by Rev. C. O. Johnson, of Napanee. Whatever may have been or may be the sentiments in India on the subject of dancing does not particularly concern the people of Napanee or of Belleville. If Mr. Johnson made use of the remarks imputed to him he certainly went quite too far. The language he is said to have used was not fit language to make use of in the pulpit or any place else and implication as to the character of those who dance was most disgraceful. There are as respectable people who dance as there are among those who refrain from dancing Many christians dance—christians as conscientious and as pious as the Rev. C. O. Johnson and much less sensational. Many of the very best, most refined most pure minded people in this and all other cities indulge in this pleasant and harmless pastime, the favorite pastime of many of the best people in the world. And when a man seeks to imply that those who dance are not just as good in all respects as those who do not he simply indicates his gross ignorance and his utter disregard of all that is just and decent. Such remarks as Mr. Johnson made on that occasion may serve as a good advertisment for a sensationalist but they neither advance the cause of morality and religion, nor secure for the man who utters them the respect and good opinion of the public.

Amid the Sincere Respects of a Large Circle of Friends

Mr. Harry S. Price, formerly of Belleville, who for the past five years has been a resident of Madoc, as partner in the hardware firm of M. W. Connor & Co., left Madoc yesterday morning, to the sincere regret of a large circle of friends, among whom the fair sex are well represented. On Monday evening "the boys" tendered him a complimentary supper at Mrs. Moon's hotel, as a parting "send-off," and a few hours were afterwards spent in speech and song. The health of "The Guest," was enthusiastically honored, after the usual loyal toasts, and in reply Mr. Price feelingly acknowledged the honor done him, and his regret at parting from his Madoc friends. All present, in the course of their speeches, testified to the esteem in which "Harry" was held, and the loss the village would sustain by his removal, more particularly in social and athletic circles, wherein he was a leader and a favorite. Mr. J. C. Dale ably presided as chairman, and the toasts were honored in pure cold water. Mr. Price carries away with him the best wishes of his Madoc friends.—Madoc Review.

King of Medicines

A Cure "Almost Miraculous."

"When I was 14 years of age I had a severe attack of rheumatism, and after I recovered had to go on crutches. A year later, scrofula, in the form of white swellings, appeared on various parts of my body, and for 11 years I was an invalid, being confined to my bed 6 years. In that time ten or eleven sores appeared and broke, causing me great pain and suffering. I feared I never should get well.

"Early in 1886 I went to Chicago to visit a sister, but was confined to my bed most of the time I was there. In July I read a book, 'A Day with a Circus,' in which were statements of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was so impressed with the success of this medicine that I decided to try it. To my great gratification the sores soon decreased, and I began to feel better and in a short time I was up and out of doors. I continued to take Hood's Sarsaparilla for about a year, when, having used six bottles, I had become so fully released from the disease that I went to work for the Flint & Walling Mfg. Co., and since then on account of sickness. I believe the disease is expelled from my system, I always feel well, am in good spirits and have a good appetite. I am now 27 years of age and can walk as well as any one, except that one limb is a little shorter than the other, owing to the loss of bone, and the sores formerly on my right leg. To my friends my recovery seems almost miraculous, and I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is the king of medicines.' WILLIAM A. LEHR, 9 N. Railroad St., Kendallville, Ind.

HAVE NOT LOST A SINGLE DAY

MORTAR-SPOTTED SKIN

About the 1st of April last I noticed some red pimples like coming out all over my body, but thought nothing of it until some time later on, when it began to look like spots of mortar spotted on, and which came off in layers accompanied with itching. I would scratch every night until I was raw, then the next night the scales being formed meanwhile were scratched off again. In vain did I consult all the doctors in the county, but without aid. After giving up all hopes of recovery, I happened to see an advertisement in the newspaper about your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and purchased them from my druggist, and obtained almost immediate relief. I began to notice that the scaly eruptions gradually dropped off and disappeared one by one, until I had been fully cured. I had the disease thirteen months before I began taking the REMEDIES, and in four or five weeks was entirely cured. My disease was eczema and psoriasis. I know of a great many who have taken the REMEDIES, and thank me for the knowledge of them, especially mothers who have babes with scaly eruptions on their heads and bodies. I cannot express my thanks to you. My body was covered with scales, and I was an awful spectacle to behold. Now my skin is as clear as a baby's.

THEIR FUTURE RULER.

THE QUESTION OF THE SUCCESSION TO THE THRONE.

Fife is Unpopular, but Only With the Aristocracy, Who Dislike the Idea of a Subject Being so Near the Crown Personally or by Issue—The People Love the Queen.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The profound sensation which was created by the death of the Duke of Clarence is, of course, subsiding, but the possible results of that event on the succession to the Crown still afford much food for reflection to those who look a little ahead.

Undoubtedly one of the immediate effects of the Duke's death has been to strengthen the hold of the Crown upon the country. Once more the domestic instincts of the people have been forcibly attracted to it. The Queen's letter has been read with sympathy in every home.

The Queen's Influence.

She understands the English people and how to stir their emotions. Her regard for family ties gives her more real power over the nation than any considerations of state. The same thing made George III. popular. To the last, in spite of all the mistakes he made, he never shocked the domestic proprieties. The public liked to hear of his sitting with the Queen reading to her while she worked or played on the harpsichord or mixed freely with visitors on the terrace at Windsor Castle. There he was, plain old "Farmer George," living chiefly on vegetables, and sometimes dining with the children in the middle of the day, and almost or quite losing his reason when any of them died or acted badly.

In the same way people now like the Queen, because in all domestic matters she is one of themselves. She may be said to have re-established the dynasty, which was severely shaken by George IV., and not strengthened by his successor.

The Prince of Wales.

The Prince of Wales, too, has a firmer hold upon the country than ever before. People feel for him in his great sorrow, and have marked his devotion to his wife and children. If there were any harsh feelings before on account of the unfortunate baccarat case and other incidents, all is forgotten now. They were at worst but venial faults compared with those of George IV. The Prince of Wales' affliction has softened all hard thoughts and he stands second to his mother only in the respect and affection of the nation.

Prince George's Future.

No doubt this seems a very inappropriate moment to talk of the marriage of the remaining son and heir presumptive to the Crown, but the circumstances are such as to make the subject one of great importance to the country. To speak frankly, the prospect of the succession of one of the children of the Duke of Fife gives anything but satisfaction.

To the people it may not be of much moment but the aristocracy is horrified at the thought of a comparatively new man being placed over them all as Prince Consort, or, failing that, of his children becoming kings and queens of England.

His Pedigree.

Of course the peerage books, with pedigrees made to order, trace the Duke of Fife to Macduff, but he comes of a junior stock altogether, and Macduff has little to do with the descent, as the Duke of Fife on his mother's side comes from one of the daughters of the famous actress, Mrs. Jordon, by William IV.

Perhaps some old-fashioned prejudice may still be felt on that score, but the general idea is that it is not good for a subject to be so near the succession to the throne and that some very awkward complications and difficulties might arise out of it.

These contingencies were never seriously regarded until the death of the Prince of Wales' elder son. Now they are, and the conviction spreads that it will not do to allow matters to remain too long in the present state. That is the reason for the popular wish that Prince George should marry as soon as possible after the period of mourning is over. Where the throne is concerned it is necessary to look to all the probabilities of the future.

The Queen's Excellent Health.

The Queen is in excellent health and will only be 73 next May. She has a fine constitution and lives under the healthiest of conditions. Hard work and a great deal of outdoor exercise suit her perfectly. She takes long drives every day in an open carriage.

Mr. Gladstone is an equally firm believer in the virtues of fresh air and constant occupation, and here he is junketing around at 82.

George III. reigned 60 years, and lived till he was 82. There is no physical reason why the Queen should not equal the record, though under much happier circumstances.

The Prince of Wales also is strong and hearty, though he has been terribly shaken by his recent bereavement. And then there is Prince George, upon whom all the rest turns. To see him fortunately married is now the desire of the nation.

Bond Head Devastated.

BRADFORD, Ont., Feb. 2.—The best part of the business portion of Bond Head was destroyed by fire this morning about 3 o'clock. The fire started in a vacant building formerly used as a hotel. and extended to Z. A. St. Clair's general store, T. Carter's general store, containing postoffice, G.N.W. Telegraph offices and telephone offices, G. Robinson's boot and shoe store, and other vacant buildings and sheds. It is supposed that the old hotel was set on fire. Loss heavy.

The estimated loss is: E. J. Carter & Co., $7000, insured for $2500; N. A. St. Clair, about $4000, insured; G. R. Robinson, $2000; James Goodfellow, $1000; total loss about $17,000.

A Synagog Damaged.

HAMILTON, Feb. 2.—This morning fire occasioned $200 or $300 damage in the Jewish Synagog, corner Park and Hunter-streets.

A Hamilton Man's Death.

PETROLEA, Feb. 2.—A man supposed to be Charles Robinson of Hamilton was crossing the market square here to-day when he fell dead. On his person was found a policy on the A. O. U. W. for $2000, willed to his son, also an Orange certificate from Marsville, county of Dufferin Lodge, and a post card from J. K. Leslie, Caledon, Ont.

Ouimet's Opponent Retires.

MONTREAL, Feb. 2.—There will be no political contest in Laval. Mr. Cyriac St. Armour, who was nominated by the Liberals, has retired. This gives the seat to Hon. J. A. Ouimet without a fight.

Does Protection Protect

Certainly in one instance it does. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the protection against the dangers of impure blood and all other diseases of this class. It has well won its name of the best blood purifier by its many remarkable cures.

The highest praise has been won by Hood's pills for their easy yet efficient action. Sold by all druggists. Price 25 cents per box.

THROW THEM INTO THE SEA.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—There was rioting at Eastbourne at the Salvation Army celebration of the founding of the corps.

After the usual morning service the Salvationists marched through the streets under police protection, but were only disturbed by running comments and chaff from the crowds on the sidewalks.

In the afternoon a mob rapidly collected at the Army citadel, and as the "soldiers" filed out, singing their processional hymn, they were subjected to more chaff, accompanied by the singing of a ribald parody, yelling and hooting. Several hundred well-dressed men formed a corps 20 abreast, and, surging up, followed the Army to the beach, where it was proposed to hold a meeting.

Along the whole route windows, balconies and even carriages in the street were filled with citizens and visitors watching the scene.

A huge mob awaited the Army at the sea-front and with howls drowned the voices of the Army lasses. The police had great difficulty in clearing a way for the "soldiers," who had to cling tenaciously to their instruments and flags, without daring to even attempt to play a note. Directly the service began the mob swept down upon the Army shouting, "Throw them into the sea!"

The forces of the police were augmented and resisted rush after rush, although nearly overpowered by numbers.

The Salvationists were pelted with pebbles by their foes throughout the half hour they remained on the beach. When their service was seemingly ended, although not a word of it had been heard, the members of the Army commenced their return march.

They climbed to the parade with the utmost difficulty, their assailants making frequent rallies, but failing to capture the Salvationist flag. Desperate hand-to-hand encounters with policemen were continued. A few clergymen and soldiers were present, but held aloof.

When the struggling crowd had reached a point opposite the Burlington Hotel, the police having become exhausted, another rally was made and proved successful.

The flag was seized from its stalwart bearer and torn into shreds. Caps were snatched from Salvationists' heads and tossed in the air or kicked into the roadway amid execrations. Some frail-looking lasses who swooned from pain and fright were nearly trampled upon.

The scene of violence was continued till the Army retreated into the Citadel, and even then the mob was loth to disperse, and still came into collision with the police.

Several of the Salvationists were badly injured, and the uniforms of all were spoiled.

Ran on the Rocks.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The steamer Eider, New York for Bremen, went ashore on the Atterfield rocks, Isle of Wight, yesterday.

In the afternoon, however, the Eider's engines were started and an attempt was made to get her afloat with her own power. There is now no prospect of floating the Eider until the next high tide, however. It is believed there is not the slightest danger of loss of life. Every precaution has been taken to land all the passengers safely should occasion arise.

A despatch at 10 p.m. says all the passengers and the rest of the mails have been safely landed. The crew remain aboard preparing for the attempt to tow the steamer off. The attempt will be made at 1 o'clock in the morning. The last boatload of passengers was landed amid the rejoicing of a large crowd on the beach The rescuing crews received an ovation. The specie remains aboard the ship. The captain thinks the vessel will come to no harm during the night. The weather is finer than during the day, the night being clear and starlight.

The Eider left New York Jan. 23, carrying 15 cabin, 25 second cabin and 176 steerage passengers for Bremen. She also carried a large quantity of mail matter and a valuable assorted cargo.

Hospitals At Odessa Crowded With Fever Patients Suffering From Hunger.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The Odessa correspondent of The Daily News says: Hunger typhus is spreading alarmingly. In large towns in this region all the hospitals are filled and private buildings are being converted into hospitals. This is the state of affairs in Moskooskia and Viedomosti.

A correspondent writing from Riasan declares that the more fanatical and superstitious portion of the peasantry believe that Count Tolstoi is Anti-Christ and decline to accept his bounty for fear that they will thus commit their souls to perdition.

Wales' Old Doctor Dead.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—By the death of Sir Oscar Clayton, the eminent surgeon, the Prince of Wales has lost one of his oldest friends. Clayton was the first of the doctors summoned when the Prince was taken ill in 1871, to diagnose the case of typohid fever, and he has always had the credit of saving the Prince's life. Sir Oscar was a rich bachelor and nearly 76 years old when he died, but he never cared to be reminded that he had grown old. He always dyed his hair and enjoyed life immensely.

At Rest From Toil.

MENTONE, Feb. 2.—The remains of the Rev. Charles H. Spurgeon are lying on the bed on which he died. The bed around the body is almost hidden from sight by the number of floral wreaths that have been sent by relatives, friends and admirers of the deceased. The features of the dead minister show not the slightest evidence of death agony. He looks as though he had simply fallen asleep, and his face bears the placid expression of one at rest from toil. The body will be removed to-morrow to the mortuary chapel in the cemetery.

Stealing Door Handles to Procure Food.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—Russian advices show that large numbers of starving peasants are daily arriving at Samara, a city of about 75,000 inhabitants. They are unable to find work or procure food and many of them are being made desperate by the pangs of hunger. The robbery of shops, houses, etc., is becoming frequent. The suffering poor steal anything that they can lay their hands on that will bring them money, even brass plates are taken from the doors of houses and door handles. Many of the famine stricken wretches have been attacked by typhus fever and they are dying in large numbers.

All Quiet in Samoa.

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, Feb. 2.—Advices have been received from Samoa to the effect that Mataafa's followers have abandoned their cause and the danger of civil war is now over. Baron Pilsach has withdrawn his resignation of the presidency of the Apia council.

MANY JACK TAR HEROES

THRILLING SCENES OFF NEWFOUNDLAND COAST.

Fifty Vessels Driven Ashore and the Lives of the Crews Saved Only by Great Daring.

HALIFAX, N.S., Feb. 2.—During the terrific northerly gale at Black River, N.F., on Monday night, over 50 vessels at that place were driven on shore, and all more or less damaged. A number of the vessels were American.

While the gale was at its worst the schooner S. M. Lake was capsized and the crew thrown into the sea. The captain's little son, who was in the forecastle at the time, was unable to make his escape.

His father, after reaching the shore, and finding that his son was still on board the upturned schooner, dashed into the water again, and, after several attempts managed to rescue the little fellow, who was more dead than alive.

The crew owe their lives to the prompt and heroic action of the American fishermen in port.

Advices from St. John's, N.F., state that the schooner Avenger, from Boston, which was wrecked at Petty Harbor on the 21st, struck at 6.30 a.m., during a terrific gale and snow storm. Previously she had had her sails all blown away, decks swept and her only boat smashed.

The vessel became unmanageable, and the captain and crew never expected to reach the shore alive, and were only saved by the heroic conduct of one of the men, who put a line about himself, jumped into the sea and swam at the risk of his life through the surf to a high rock, where he made the line fast, and by this means all managed to reach land, but saved nothing.

BEHRING SEA.

The Arbitrators Meet at Washington and Discuss the Situation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Minister, called at the State Department in company with the British Behring Sea Commissioners, Sir Baden-Powell and Dr. Dawson, who have just arrived in Washington from Canada. They had a conference with Mr. Blaine and arranged preliminaries of the joint commission to be held between the United States and British commissioners who visited Behring Sea last summer for the special purpose of investigating the seal industry. The United States commissioners are Prof. Mendenhall of the Coast and Geodetic Survey and Prof. Merriam of the Agricultural Department. Each commissioner has arrived at certain conclusions, and the object of the conference between them is to bring these results together in a joint report, consisting of the findings of the facts to be submitted to the arbitration. The report will probably form the basis for the enquiry to be conducted by the arbitrators and from each side will advance its case.

The commissioners dealt with the present and future issues involved, such as the jurisdiction over the Behring Sea, which of course is the question to be determined. The facts furnished by the commission as to the numbers and habits of the seals, the extent of the industry and the probability of the extermination of the species by indiscriminate sealing will, however, form an especial basis. It being practictically conceded that the arbitration cannot be concluded to be effective during the coming season, steps will be taken at once to secure the renewal of the modus vivendi of last year, which compact will expire May 1 next.

Prompt action on this question is necessary in order that sealing fleets may be advised in advance of preparing for their usual spring cruise to the seal waters.

According to the terms of the agreement reached between Lord Salisbury and Secretary Blaine the tribunal is to be composed of seven arbitrators, three of whom shall be citizens of a neutral country, two from the United States, and two representing the British interests, one being a Canadian and the other an Englishman. None of these have yet been appointed.

WHAT LA PRESSE SAYS.

A Straight Allegation that the Proceeds of the Langlais Scandal Were Used for Federal Elections.

MONTREAL, Feb. 2.—La Presse to-day makes the statement that the $25,000 deposited in Mercier's name, product of the Langlais letter of credit, was withdrawn from the Jacques Cartier Bank on Feb. 25, 1891, and held by Mr. Geoffrion for political purposes.

La Presse further states that on the same day Mercier, Geoffrion and Laurier dined together at a restaurant in Montreal.

The amount referred to is half the proceeds of the letter of credit which was telegraphed to Montreal in Premier Mercier's name and withdrawn by J. A. Mercier and remitted to Geoffrion, who was treasurer of the Liberal election fund in this city.

Ex-Premier Mercier has made an affidavit that he knew nothing whatever of this money, while Mr. Laurier has neither made a declaration himself nor said whether he did or did not know anything about the matter.

The statement of La Presse is primarily intended to show that both Mercier, in spite of his denial, and Laurier, in spite of the assertions of his friends to the contrary, knew that Geoffrion was in possession of the money.

It is announced that Dr. Cameron, representative of Huntington County in the Quebec House, has repudiated Mercier, whom he has followed for some years.

A SON'S DISCOVERY.

His Father and Mother Both Die of the Grip.

OTTAWA, Feb. 2.—Victor Belanger, a young ax man of Gatineau Point, came down from the woods to see his aged father and mother on Friday. He found the home locked up and after waiting some time concluded that the parents were in and forced an entrance. He found his mother dead in bed and his father lying unconscious on the sofa. Securing assistance he set to work to restore his father to consciousness and learned that both the old folks had been seized with la grippe and unable to get assistance. The mother died on Thursday and the old man only lived a few hours after telling the story.

TERROR IN LONDON.

STRANGLERS AND BODY-SNATCHERS REAPING HARVESTS.

Manning's Body Watched—Forty People Mysteriously Disappear—Is Burkism Revived?—Cemeteries Robbed—Scotland Yard Puzzled.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—Mysterious disappearances are alarming Londoners just now. They have made a scare almost equal to that of Jack the Ripper.

About forty people now missing. Police are mystified. Men of means who have gone upon visits have vanished as completely as though, like Elijah, they were carried up into the clouds. Women who went shopping have not returned to their homes.

Strange to say all the people sought after lived in neighborhoods tapped by underground railroads.

Scotland Yard has a theory. It always has. Its theory is horrifying. In substance it is this:

A series of murders by imitators of the notorious Scotch body-snatchers—or rather stranglers—Messrs. Burke and Hare, whose little ugly figures in wax formerly adorned the Thousand Chamber of Horrors.

The murderers attack and kill their victims in dark passages and lonely streets and sell their bodies to dissectors. Or, the police say further, the assassins may boil the bodies in oil to obtain perfect sketetons to satisfy the doctors who are anxious to discover the bacilius of influenza.

There was a similar condition of affairs when Burke and Hare began their awful work in Edinburgh. Their plan was to watch for pedestrians in lonely places, leap on them from behind, strangle them to death and put their bodies into sacks. They were then taken to a sort of central agency for medical colleges and sold at the rate of about $15 per cadaver.

In this way the precious pair of scamps secured and sold upwards of 70 "subjects." Their work was very rapid, too, and they knew that as soon as a "hue and cry" were raised their occupation would be gone.

While the police of Edinburgh were at their "wits' end" a woman gave them a clue. She was preceding a neighbor in a by-path northwest of the city one Saturday afternoon. Suddenly she heard a scream and then saw to thick-set men hurrying into a thicket with what appeared to be a big bag.

She proceeded to the neighbor's house and gave her friends an account of the incident. The neighbor never returned. One afternoon subsequently the woman who had seen the men in the thicket met them on a public street. She notified the authorities, who finally arrested and convicted the villainous pair — one being hanged and the other dying before the day of execution arrived. Their nefarious operations gave rise to the word "burking."

London is then, according to the detectives, about to awaken to a condition of things such as Edinburgh experienced. Of course medical men deny there is any necessity for murders in order to secure subjects. They claim that the workhouses and the morgues furnish an ample and legitimate supply. The police, however, are convinced that the stranglers' are abroad, and they will doubtless soon make arrests based on their convictions.

TWO OF A KIND.

The Two Parties in Quebec Politics Are Both Tarred With the Same Stick.

MONTREAL, Feb. 2.—The political situation here in Quebec is about the worst which has ever struck this afflicted province. There is no concealing the fact that the honest citizen, no matter of what stripe in politics, has no faith in either of the two factions which are seeking the suffrages of the people. The mud-slinging and political filth which is being thrown so liberally and so well, and which besmirches both parties, have left the people of the province no choice between the two. As one old Liberal said to me to-day, it looks as if it was a contest of liars, with the odds on the biggest one. Never before has there been such a situation. There does not seem to be any hope. Put De Boucherville in and he carries with him Pelletier; vote for Mercier and the old wholesale robbery is endorsed. I believe from what I can see of the general feeling in the country that Mercier's greatest chance of winning will be from the very fact that people with any shred of political honesty left do not know whether it would be better to have the devil you know or the devil you don't know in power. It goes without saying that Mercier and his gang have not the confidence of the honest people of Quebec, and it looks as if his opponents are being held in the same esteem. DeBoucherville's crowd are pitted against the Mercier crowd. Both are busily engaged in blackening the characters of their opponents, and in their rage hardly take the trouble to brush off the dirt which has stuck to themselves.

Honest Liberals and honest Conservatives, to my mind, will stand aloof from the present contest and let the two crowds fight it out. It matters little which wins—the people will be bled all the same. Pelletier's counter affidavits and statements presented as an offset against the Mercier charges have fallen flat. The story has an ugly look, and the wording of some of the counter statements is such as not to inspire confidence.

As for the church, there is no doubt but that it is arrayed against Mercier. He was never a favorite with the hierarchy. He was too Jesuitical for that, and the influence of this great engine in Quebec politics was not at all friendly to him when he first jumped to power by way of Riel's scaffold. Now the hostility is more marked, and those outside the fight will look with interest on the result. Bishop Lafleche, his whilom friend, has fallen away from him, and his hand will be seen in the contest in Three Rivers. Of course Ouimet's election by acclamation has aroused great enthusiasm here, but the result was a foregone conclusion after the Police Court episode in which his opponent figured. So far as I can see, to sum up the situation in a few words, matters will have to grow worse here before they are any better, and the calibre of the men set up by the "Conservative" party in Quebec makes it a game of Blind Man's Buff for the independent voter.

SHE DIED OF FRIGHT.

The Sight of a Murder Killed Mrs. De Mora.

JERSEY CITY, N.J., Feb. 2.—The sight of a murder being committed and fear that she herself was to be shot caused the death of Mrs. De Mora, a French music teacher, living at No. 221 Griffith-street. She was walking on the street Thursday, when she saw Arthur Stacker kill his wife. Mrs. De Mora ran into a store, fainted, and the shock caused a hemorrhage to-day that resulted fatally.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Last year the people of Prince Edward County raised about 550,000 bushels o barley, of which probably 300,000 would be used for export. The effect of the duty was to reduce the price of all that was sold from 25 to 30 cents a bushel. This would represent a loss of from $80,000 to $90,000 to the farmers of that county on this one kind of produce. Certainly reciprocity would be of an immense advantage to that county.

Our esteemed local contemporary works itself up into a sublime pitch of fury because the London Advertiser said that evidently Lady Macdonald preferred living in the States to living in Canada, and it characterizes the Advertiser man who wrote the squib as "a ruffiainly intruder on the journalistic profession, etc." Really this rushing forth to the defence of Lady Macdonald seems to be quite uncalled for. What is there offensive in the imputation of a preference for the States? Hundreds of thousands of the best Canadians, many of them quite as good as Lady Macdonald, have gone there to reside, and it is nothing to their discredit that they have done so. The fact is the Tories are working this sympathetic whine for all they are worth. They have no policy, except the memory of a dead man and tears for his widow and abuse for anyone who mentions her name or his in other than tones of tearful sorrow. We do not believe in insulting the dead statesman nor in abusing his widow, but neither have we any respect for that super-sensitiveness that is not willing she should be treated as less than a little goddess. Lady Macdona'd has been treated by the Liberal press with much greater generosity and courtesy than she has treated the Liberal press, which she seems to have taken particular pains to slight and snub on every possible occasion.

political friends and opponents—excetpting by such fellows as Mr. Larke, who hates him for the reason that men of small minds and smaller souls always hate men who stand far above them in everything that is decent and of good repute.

Yet Mr Larke spoke better than he intended to do. From his own standpoint, of trying to retain the policy of restriction and of public slander, it would be a grand thing if Mr. Laurier were unable to speak for many years. For whenever he appears he so exposes the policy of bribery and corruption, and so tears to shreads the miserable pleas by which the Tories hope to induce the electors to adhere to the policy of isolation from all the rest of the world, that no doubt many a trembling corruptionist and many a pompous monopolist has wished with all his heart that Hon. Wilfred Laurier, the incorruptible patriot, the clear sighted statesman,, could be silenced forever. But for this reason he is doubly dear to the hearts of the people.

Of the many mean and contemptible fellows that the Tories have put on the public platform to teach the people political morality and economy, one of the most contemptible is Mr. Larke, of Bowmanville. He is known to the people of Belleville, and once got such a drubbing here at a public meeting that he is not at all likely to show up in this city again. He is a paid agent of the Manufacturers' Association and is now engaged in the task of trying to induce the farmers of Ontario to consent to continue to be taxed to the tune of two or three hundred dollars a year each for the sake of the pocket of the monopolist. At Picton last Thursday, nomination day, he said, speaking of Mr. Laurier's illness, that it was a pity he could not have the bronchitis for twenty years. Was a more disreputable creature ever allowed to insult the electorate on the the platform than the man who would speak thus of a gentleman, who is admired and respected alike by

Love's Young Dream.

Love's young dream was a very bright one, and its fulfillment will be bright, too, of the bride will remember that she is a woman, and liable to all the ills peculiar to her sex. We remind those who are suffering from any of these, that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will renew he hue of youth in pale and sallow cheeks, correct irritating uterine diseases, arrest and cure ulceration and inflammation, and infuse new vitality into a wasting body. "Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many pears.

EH! ABOLISH FOOTLIGHTS!

Mr. Herkomer's Suggestion to Do Away With the Dearest Tradition of the Theatre.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—On Thursday afternoon Mr. Hubert Herkomer, the well-known artist, delivered a lecture at the Avenue Theatre to a professional audience. Many well-known members of the dramatic profession were present, including Mr. Bancroft, Mr. Charles Wyndham, manager of the Criterion Theatre; Mr. Beerbohm Tree, manager of the Haymarket Theatre, and Mrs. Langtry. The subject of Mr. Herkomer's lecture was "Scenic Anomalies of the Modern Stage." He referred in a humorous manner to square cornered firmaments, perpendicularly rising moons and wobbling canvas waves.

He advocated the abolishment of footlights in favor of groups of lights on a level with the faces of the actors. These lights, he said, should be placed on each side of the auditorium, about 10 feet from the proscenium. He maintained that a contracting and expanding proscenium, worked by one man, could easily be fitted in all theatres, so that hovels of the magnitude of a palace would no longer offend the eye. The conductor of the orchestra and the orchestra itself should be below the line of sight, as was the case in Wagner's Theatre at Bayreuth, which, Mr. Herkomer declared, was his ideal of what a playhouse should be. Mr. Henry Irving, he said, deserved the thanks of the community for the matchless staging of his productions.

BERLIN, Feb. 2.—A man named Erbe and his paramour, a woman named Runtrock, have been arrested at Magdeburg on a charge of murdering a young woman named Klages, daughter of the steward of an estate near that town.

It is alleged that Erbe and his accomplice lured the girl to Hanover on the pretence that she was to accompany a family of that city on a trip to Italy. At Hanover, where the girl was a total stranger, it was comparatively easy to rob her and put her out of the way without leaving a clue to the murderers.

This is what the police expect to prove was done. They also claim to have evidence that the first victim of the couple was a woman named Kasten of Magdeburg and that these two were not the only ones robbed and murdered, all the victims being serving-women.

Lord Lorne's Sinecure.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—There is no end of scandal because the Marquis of Lorne has received a practical token of the Queen's interest, she giving him the post of Governor of Windsor Castle, where he has absolutely nothing to do except to sign the receipt for his annual salary of over $7000.

Lorne has had more kicks than kisses from his royal relatives by marriage. Rumor ascribed the Queen's coldness to him to the fact of his wife, the Princess Louise, being the only one of Her Majesty's children who has not supplied her with grandchildren.

Count Gleichen, just deceased, was the last Governor of Windsor Castle.

Suffocated in the Tunnel.

SARNIA, Feb. 2.—The Sarnia tunnel claimed its first victim. George Hawthorn, a well-known and popular young Londoner, was suffocated here this morning and a brakeman named Joseph Whalen of Point Edward narrowly escaped meeting the same fate.

As Tunnel Conductor George Hawthorn was taking a freight train through the tunnel from the American side, when half way through the couplings of the train broke in two places; the engine went on through with the cars which had not broken loose, Conductor Hawthorn and Brakeman Joseph Whalen jumping off to couple the cars. In a short time they felt themselves being suffocated and started to run through. Hawthorn fell down exhausted on the track, and when Whalen found he could go no farther he attempted to climb one of the side ladders so that he would not be run over when the engine returned, but fell back overcome across the track. It was about an hour and a half before the men were found and got out. Medical aid was promptly on hand and Whalen was revived, but all efforts to save the life of Hawthorn were unavailing and he died. Deceased was taken to his home in London this morning on the 9.55 train.

Alaska and British Columbia.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Secretary Blaine has, through the acting secretary of the Treasury, asked Congress for an appropriation of $50,000 to complete the preliminary survey of the boundary line between Alaska and British Columbia. Secretary Blaine says that the most difficult and expensive part of the work has already been accomplished, and it is of great importance that it should be completed.

LETHBRIDGE, Feb. 2.—Ernest Kenny, aged 10, endeavored to climb on a milk wagon while it was in motion. He put his foot in the spokes of the wheel and in a twinkling the spectators were horrified to see the boy's leg, from the knee, fall to the ground on one side of the wheel while the boy fell on the other He never uttered a cry. Medical assistance was called and he may recover.

A Great-Grandmother at Forty-Seven.

LOCKPORT, N.Y., Feb. 2.—A great-grandmother at the age of 47. This is the record of Mrs. Henry K. Updegrave of Tower City, Pa. She was married in her 14th year, her oldest daughter was married at 15; her granddaughter was married at 16 and is now a mother.

Keep the Works in good order.

NORMAN, Ont., January 1...

W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.
DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first, only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

AS SHE IS SPOKE.

A Poem Which Gives the Key of Pronunciation to Many English Surnames.

A poem which gives in its rhymes a guide to the pronunciation of some aristocratic English names:

Shall I ever forget her—that noble-born belle
I met, first of all, in the street of Pall Mall?
Her name matched her face so proud though so comely,
'Twas Gwendolyne Ethel Constantia May Cholmondeley.
She'd an uncle who erstwhile "took silk" at the Bar,
A Justice—the criminal's terror—m'lord Ker;
A cousin, whose pride was the graceful cotillon,
A capital dancer was Captain Claude Dillwyn.
Another who fished every day from a punt.
I remember his' name—it was Algernon Blount;
Her mother's birth name, I am told, was Colquhoun.
She ate, so the cook said, huge luncheons so soon;
Her grandma, who rudely at me used to stare,
Could boast of the blood of the noble Beauclerk;
A lover I said I was sure would deceive her;
His name—let me think—oh! Augustus Browne-Beauvoir;
Another, precocious, a scholar at Eton,
A blustering boy they called Billy Bethune;
Another, about town, particularly "fly",
The Honorable Reginald Horace B. Bligh;
I've omitted some cousins she counted by dozens,
With uncles and aunts, and brothers and sisters,
Whose names on any man's tongue would raise blisters.

* * * *

I asked her to wed. She replied with a stare;
"Just spell me the name of Sir Waldegrave Eyre;
And if from that task you come out with eclat,
I shall ask you to write me down Fonny Du Plat;
You have wealth, I believe, but how sir, can I
Present you to my friends! Why sir I should die.
You would murder their names; but if you pronounce them,
Well, then, Mr. Smith, I will wed you, and bounce them."

I accepted the test, feeling awfully proud,
But she very near grassed me with Eva M'Leod.
The next made me feel like the butcher's wee lambs
When the knife is produced—it was Archibald Glamis!
And when she attacked me with Sir Frederick Knollys,
I longed for the ice of the North and South poles.
I pulled through, and luckily thought of the "Injies,"
When she wrote down the name of Clarinda Menzies;
And I fancied I'd vanquished the worst of the ills
When, with scarcely a falter, I read Mary Milnes.
The next was a "teaser;" but think of an engine
When anyone asks you to read Percy St. John.
Through that with eclat; but she gave mea turn
With the very next name, which was Septimus Bourne.
The next—well—there was really no reason to shirk
So simple a task as Lord Benjamin Bourke;
But I feared very much we twain would be parters,
When she flung in my face that burly Tom Charteris;
Still, I plucked up and said, "Don't think I'm a pagan;
With ease I pronounce Murtagh Patrick George Geoghegan."
But I looked sadly around for a very deep tarn
To drown myself in when it came to Duchesne;
And I feared I would lose the maid and her lands,
When she wrote down the name of Col. F. Sandys.
We left her pa's mansion, and out on the lawn
She propounded a poser—Adolphus Fitz Strachan;
But I fancy she thought I, at least, had some merit,
When I uttered correctly the name of Frank Tyrrwhit.
"Have you any more posers?" I cried. "I beseech 'em!
"Oh, yes, many more. Now spell me Lord Beauchamp."
I did it, but feared I would go to all smash,
When she gave me the card of Ethel Tollemache;
And I said: "Oh, pray, don't play such harsh pranks!"
When she smilingly asked me to write her Marjoribanks;
"Of course the proud peers are the State's strongest pillars,"
I said, when she thought she had posed me with Villiers;
But, alas! she exclaimed: "Go! wed with some cook!"
When I failed to pronounce Villebois as Vealbrook!
And now the fair maid I oft see in my dreams
Has promised to marry a fellow named Wemyss!

L'ENVOI.

Never more—never more 'neath that test will I writhe;
I have made up my mind to change Smith into Smythe;
A simple elision, and two small additions,
Will place me on par with the proudest patricians.

—London Tid-Bits.

Curious Grafting.

A writer in the Santa Clara Valley, according to Vick's Monthly gives an account of roses budded on peach trees. He says, "I have seen a three and four-year-old peach tree bloom as nature would have it on some branches, early in April; then from May to August hang thick with branches of white, pink and yellow roses, a perfect wonder to passers-by." These trees are stated to have been first seen in the garden of Judge Amos R. Johnson, of Mississippi.

Not on the Bench.

"You say this man had been drinking," said his Honor. "Drinking what?"

"Whiskey, I suppose," answered Officer McGobbe.

"You suppose? Don't you know whiskey? Aren't you a judge?"

"No, y'r Anner. Only a policeman."

His Honor looked carefully at his minion a moment and then called the next case.

He Swore Off.

"Your husband swore off smoking at the beginning of the year, I believe?"

"Yes; it was awfully good of him. And I had just bought him a box of cigars as a present, too."

"Indeed?"

"Yes; and he only smoked one and then swore off."

Good Reason for Stopping.

Miss Footlights—"Surely you don't intend to go on the variety stage, Mame?"

Mrs. Grasseveuve—"Why not?" Haven't I qualified myself by getting a divorce?"

Miss Footlights—"But you got your divorce by declaring your husband's intemperance; your opinion on 'tights' is now on record."

Another Plot.

The Czar—"A horrible thought strikes me!"

The Lord High Executioner—"What is that your Majesty?"

The Czar—"If that dentist was a Nihilist he may have filled my teeth with dynamite. Then the first time I bite hard I shall blow the top of my head off."

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

It you have a cough or cold do not neglect it; many without a trace of that hereditary disease have drifted into a consumptive grave by neglecting what was only a slight cold. Had the used Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup before it was too late their lives would have been spared. Mr. A. W. Levy Mitchell, writes. "I think Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation on the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught severe cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cought. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of Consumption, and had given up hopes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickel's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieved, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured. I always recomend it for severe colds and consumption."

Snipe and plover are unusually numerous this year.

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. Their original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No deleterious mineral ingredient is contained in it, and thoughits action is thorough in cases of costivenes it never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowel like a violent purgative. It invigorate the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney diseases scrofulous and all diseases of the blood, femole weakness, &c., &c. PATRONS OF INDUSTRY.

SOMETHING ABOUT A GROWING ORGANIZATION

Pretty Nearly all the Farmers in Canada Belong to it and it is Reaching Out Its Arms For Others—Its Methods of Operation

An organization about which comparatively little has been heard, but which seems to have been a good deal of success in its own quiet way, is the Patrons of Industry. It originated in Michigan in 1885, and in two or three years its membership in the States grew until it had reached between 200,000 and 300,000. It was introduced into Canada on April 10, 1890, the first lodge being formed in Lambton County with sixteen members. Now there are 12,000 Patrons in Canada, the majority of them being in Ontario, although the organization extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific. On May 5, 1891, when the order had 50,000 members in Canada, it cut away from the United States society and became independent.

In Prince Edward County the farmers are organizing a branch which promises to be in a flourishing condition before long judging from the interest shown on the port of the farmers. Last night a meeting was held in the school house at Rossmore at which a large membership was enrolled. The meeting adjourned to meet again on Wednesday, Feb. 18, when officers will be elected and the society established on a running basis.

Although largely composed of farmers, the order is not limited to that class, but admits labors, mechanics, clerks, and, in infact, every one whose interests do not clash with those of the agricultural community. The initiation fee is fifty cents, and the dues twenty cents a quarter. Ladies are admitted for ten cents and their fees are fixed at 10 cents a quarter.

There are subordinate lodges, county lodges, and the Grand Association. The county lodges are no more than executive committees of the subordinate lodges, composed of one delegate from each,, and meet once a year or oftener, in the center of the county. They appoint delegates to the Grand Association, which also meets once a year. But in the government of the order the Grand Association does nothing without submitting its decision to the subordinate lodges for approval, thus carrying the idea of the sovereignty of the people to its conclusion.

The main object of the Patrons of Industry is protection to labor and the obtaining of legislation for the majority of the people. At the next session of Parliament it proposes to ask that the duty be taken off coal oil, binder twine and iron and its products, in line with its general policy of working for the removal of duties from necessities and placing them upon luxuries.

Although composed largely of the same material as the Grangers were formed of, the Patrons of Industry have different aims and work along different lines. But they endeavor, whenever possible, to secure for their members the advantages of cheap goods, although they adopt a different plan to that of the Grangers, having learned by their experience to avoid their errors. Instead of starting stores of their own, they go to regularly established dealers, and arrange with them to transfer the patronage of the Order in return for supplying goods at 10 per cent below ordinary retail rates, or 10 per cent above wholesale prices.

AGRICULTURAL GROUNDS

The Directors Want the City to Buy Over the Property.

The following resolution passed at a meeting of the Directors of the Bay of Quinte District Exhibition was brought up before the council last night and laid over for further consideration:

"That in view of the present position of the West Hastings Agricultural Society, the mortgagees having taken possession of the grounds and buildings and the Society being unable to redeem the same, the city of Belleville is requested through the Council and Board of Trade to furnish the Society with public exhibition grounds in the city, for the use of which the Society will pay a fair annual rental and would hold an annual exhibition in Belleville, that attention be earnestly called to the fact that unless grounds are furnished in Belleville, the annual government grant will be permanently diverted to other places, and the Bay of Quinte District Exhibition will no longer be held in the city of Belleville, which has now a possible opportunity of acquiring at a reasonable figure fully equipped exhibition grounds and Park, and that copies of this resolution be forwarded to the clerk of the City Council, President of the Board of Trade and the Press."

ANOTHER VICTIM

The Grim Harvester Still At Work in Our City

Michael Donoghue an old resident of Belleville died at five o'clock this morning of quick consumption after an illness of two months. The deceased was born in Ireland fifty years ago and settled in Kingston when a young boy. After a residence in the Limestone city of three years he removed to Belleville where he lived until his death. His wife preceded him to the grave some fourteen years ago. Two sons and two daughters were the issue of their marriage. The deceased had been in the employ of the Rathbun Co., for twelve years ann his industry and attention to the interests of his employees was remarked.

Excitement Over the Election—A Silver Wedding.

Much interest is being taken in the preparations for the bye-election which is announced for Feb. 4th. The contest will likely be closely followed as both parties seem dreadfully in earnest. However no blood has been shed as yet in this locality, which we are proud to say is a peaceful place.

The good sleighing is being thoroughly utilized by farmers and others who have teaming to do.

Mr. Normon Weese is busily engaged in hauling square timber to Belleville which is to be used for some necessary repairs to the Bay Bridge.

Messrs Dempsey & French have their cracking machine in full blast and are doing a rushing business. Mr. Fred File, our popular public school teacher, invited a number of young people to attend a sociable evening at his home in Roblin Mills. A most pleasant evening was enjoyed by those present. Thanks to the good doctor and wife.

A pleasant event took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Williamson, on Tuesday last, it being the occasion of the 40th anniversary of their married life. A large number of friends enjoyed the sumptuous dinner and sociable afternoon. Many valuable and useful presents were given as souvenirs of the pleasant occasion. Mr. R. B. His Leg Dropped Off

MANCHESTER, N.H., Jan. 30.—A French-Canadian named Nelson Saulsville sustained an injury to his foot a short time ago, took cold in it and gangrene followed. The family were unwilling to bear the expense of a physician and the sufferer had no attendance. Yesterday Saulsville's leg dropped off at the knee, having been eaten through the bone by gangrene, and he will doubtless die of blood poisoning.

Tennyson's Tribute.

The following is Tennyson's new poem on the death of the Duke of Clarence in the Nineteenth Century:

The bridal garland falls upon the bier,
The shadow of a crown that o'er him hung
Has vanish'd in the shadow cast by Death;
So princely, tender, truthful, reverent, pure.
Mourn! That a world-wide Empire mourns with you.
That all the thrones are clouded by your loss,
Were slender solace. Yet be comforted;
For if this earth be ruled by Perfect Love,
Then, after His brief range of blameless days,
The toll of funeral in an Angel ear
Sounds happier than the merriest marriage bell.
The face of Death is toward the Sun of Life,
His shadow darkens earth; his truer name
Is "Onward," no discordance in the roll,
And march of that Eternal Harmony
Whereto the worlds beat time, tho' faintly heard—
Until the great Hereafter mourn in hope.

There are now 21 law firms in the United States composed of husbands and wives, and there are about 200 American ladies who practice law in the courts or manage legal publications.

CHILI.

Social Life and Mortuary Festivities in Its Capital.

The "wake" is as common in Chili as in New Orleans or the smaller towns of Ireland. But in Chili the custom is gayer than in any other country. It amounts almost to a festival. If the dead be a child it is dressed beautifully, enshrined in flowers and vines, encircled with burning tapers and sympathizing friends bring gifts to the bereaved parents. At night the house, no matter how humble or how gorgeous, is filled as if at a reception. Quiet games are played, flirting is indulged with greater freedom than on other occasions and even dancing takes place after enough wine has been drank. The native wines of Chili of the superior brands are too expensive for any but the rich, but cheaper ones are imported from London and the Mediterranean and wine is as common with the Chilians as water with us, indeed in some parts more so, for water is difficult to get in many regions. Bull fights have not wholly passed away in Chili. Indian games are common; especially a sort of Indian polo, which the Araucanians, who take so large a share in the public affairs of the country, practice with extraordinary skill.

Social life in Santiago is complex and varied as in any old European capital. The fashions arrive a year later from Paris, but are abjectly followed. Dress is as diversified as in any American frontier town, but one extreme is of course richer. Only in church is there a dead level. No woman enters a church in Chili except in a black gown and manta, which is at once veil or hood and mantle or shawl. No matter how rich or how poor, this is court dress for church, and police would eject any woman who dared violate the code. At 4 o'clock every day business is over; gentlemen go home and find the ladies ready to drive. At 6 or 7 dinner is served with as much ceremony as in the oldest palaces, and after dinner gayety, all Spanish, proceeds until midnight. Early closing of business places leaves the aristocracy—for, although Dictator Bernardo O'Higgins abolished titles of nobility, there is no snobbier town in Europe than Santiago—free to drive and dine. It affords the less pretentious social classes time for chat, smoking, and drinking, and it is between 5 o'clock and midnight that the boulevards, as it were, of this Andean Paris dictate politics and disseminate gossip.

How He Could Help.

"Say, mister, I'm awful hungry and I haven't had a drink for two days."

"I'm sorry," said the kind-hearted policeman, "but I don't see how I can help you."

"You can, though. Just lend me your helmet and coat till I go around to the side door of this restaurant."

His Rival Obtained All the Cash.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 2.—Charles McKenzie, proprietor of the Park Hotel at Calgary, has been committed for burglarizing the saloon of Sam Hillhouse there.

He Swore Off.

"Your husband swore off smoking at the beginning of the year, I believe?"

"Yes; it was awfully good of him. And I had just bought him a box of cigars as a present, too."

"Indeed?"

"Yes; and he only smoked one and then swore off."

Good Reason for Stopping.

Miss Footlights—"Surely you don't intend to go on the variety stage, Mame?"

Mrs. Grasseveuve—"Why not?" Haven't I qualified myself by getting a divorce?"

Miss Footlights—"But you got your divorce by declaring your husband's intemperance; your opinion on 'tights' is now on record."

Another Plot

The Czar—"A horrible thought strikes me!"

The Lord High Executioner—"What is that your Majesty?"

The Czar—"If that dentist was a Nihilist he may have filled my teeth with dynamite. Then the first time I bite hard I shall blow the top of my head off."

RESIGNATIONS CALORE.

AT THE MEETING OF THE CITY COUNCIL LAST NIGHT

Ald Hanley Resigns his Position as Alderman Ald Walmsley as Chairman and other Ald ther Position

The Mayor occupied the chair at the meeting of the city council. All the members were present except Ald. Mikel.

The Mayor stated that at the meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners yesterday afternoon it was resolved that the chief be instructed to act as Sanitary Inspector with his staff as co-laborers.

The council went into committee of the whole, Ald. Taylor in the chair.

An account from H. Carre, C. E., for $10 caused some discussion, Alds. Starling and Clarke objecting to its payment on the ground that it was not a legal meeting. The account, however, finally passed.

Ald. Hanley handed in his resignation as Alderman much to the surprise of all present

Ald. Walmsley moved that his resignation be accepted.

Ald. Ponton saw several reasons why his resignation should not be accepted without some consideration. He was one of the oldest and most esteemed members of the council and he should at least be given an opportunity of refuting the statements that had been made against him by some members of the council.

Ald. Doyle was in favor of accepting the resignation of Ald. Hanley.

By a vote of the council the resignation was laid over till next meeting.

Ald. Walmsley sent in his resignation as chairman of the Court of Revision.

"I do so" he said "principally because I do not expect to be here. I expect to go to lower California for a couple of months. He did not think he would be able to do justice to his office. He therefore desired his resignation to be accepted.

It was nevertheless laid over after some discussion.

On motion of Ald. Walmsley, seconded Taylor, the report of the committee of the whole was referred back for the consideration of Ald. Walmsley's resignation.

Ald. Skinner thought Ald. Walmsley would not entertain the excuse of having to leave the city if he had received the chairmanship of the executive.

Ald. Walmsley replied that if he had received the position of Mayor his absence would occur just the same, as he had just received word that he would be required for a couple of months in California in the spring.

A by-law for the extension of Ann St. was read a first time and referred to the by-law committee.

The by-law for the reduction of the number of liquor licenses for the city of Belleville to twenty was read a first time and also referred to the by-law committee.

Ald. Starling moved seconded by Ald. Doyle, that either the name of Ald. Skinner or Anderson be struck off the executive committee as it was not legal to have two representatives from one ward while Murney ward was not represented.

Ald. Doyle thought Murney ward should be represented. He thought Ald. Walmsley should be appointed. He quoted for his authority Rule 56 of the city by-laws which reads that "Each standing committee shall consist of one member from each ward."

Ald Walmsley would insist that a member from Murney ward be placed on that committee.

Ald. Ponton thought that a very fair point had been raised and should be given due consideration. A fair distribution should be placed upon the committees.

The motion was lost.

Ald. Fowell gave notice that the street surveyor be instructed to look after the proper trimming of shade trees.

Ald. Starling gave notice that his name be struck off the gas and water committee and Ald. Skinner be placed instead, and that his name also be struck off the Court of Revision and Ald. Anderson's be placed thereon.

Ald. Walmsley gave notice that all meetings held by the finance committee are illegal and that the members be held responsible.

Owing to the Board of Works not meeting the pay list of the corporation laborers was brought in and ordered to be paid.

Council adjourned.

A SUCCESSFUL ANNIVERSARY

The Encouraging Report on the Financial Standing of the Church

The Anniversary last night in the Holloway St. Methodist Church was a pronounced success in every respect. These anniversaries are always well attended, but last night the attendance was even larger than usual. An excellent tea was provided by the ladies, who on this occasion surpassed all previous efforts. After everybody's physical wants were supplied an adjournment was made to the body of the church' where Rev C. O. Johnson delivered his lecture on "Wisdom and folly in home life." The large audience was delighted with the lecture which abounded with wise and witty things. Those who missed it missed a rare treat. The financial statement made was most encouraging, showing the church to be in an unusually prosperous condition under the charge of the popular and talented pastor, Rev. T. J. Edmison. After all claims during the year are paid and upwards of $200 for piano, chairs etc., the debt on the church has been reduced by $200. The pastor wishes on behalf of the trustees and congregation; to thank most heartily, the large number of friends who, by free will offerings and their presence and sympathy, helped to make the anniversary services such a success.

Dyspepsia

Intense Suffering for 8 years—Restored to Perfect Health.

Few people have suffered more severely from dyspepsia than Mr. E. A. McMahon, a well known grocer of Staunton, Va. He says: "Before 1878 I was in excellent health, weighing over 200 pounds. In that year an ailment developed into acute dyspepsia, and soon I was reduced to 162 pounds, suffering burning sensations in the stomach, palpitation of the heart, nausea, and indigestion. I could not sleep, lost all heart in my work, had fits of melancholia, and for days at a time I would have welcomed death. I became morose, sullen and irritable, and for eight years life was a burden. I tried many physicians and many remedies. One day a workman employed by me suggested that I take Hood's Sarsaparilla, as it had cured his wife of dyspepsia. I did so, and before taking the whole of a bottle I began to feel like a new man. The terrible pains to which I had been subjected, ceased, the palpitation of the heart subsided, my stomach became easier, nausea disappeared, and my entire system began to tone up. With returning strength came activity of mind and body. Before the fifth bottle was taken I had regained my former weight and natural condition. I am today well and I ascribe it to taking Hood's Sarsaparilla."

COMBINES.

It is true there are some combines formed in Canada in connection with the manufacture of dry goods. There is the cotton combine, and the colored goods combine which make shirtings, cottonades etc. But we are pleased to say that in spite of these combines, cottons are somewhat cheaper. We have just received a cotton at 6c which is splendid value. We are opposed to this "combine," business, but we will have to make the best of it,

MORTAR-SPOTTED SKIN

About the 1st of April last I noticed some red pimples like coming out all over my body, but thought nothing of it until some time later on, when it began to look like spots of mortar spotted on, and which came off in layers accompanied with itching. I would scratch every night until I was raw, then the next night the scales being formed meanwhile were scratched off again. In vain did I consult all the doctors in the county, but without aid. After giving up all hopes of recovery, I happened to see an advertisement in the newspaper about your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and purchased them from my druggist, and obtained almost immediate relief. I began to notice that the scaly eruptions gradually dropped off and disappeared one by one, until I had been fully cured. I had the disease thirteen months before I began taking the REMEDIES, and in four or five weeks was entirely cured. My disease was eczema and psoriasis. I know of a great many who have taken the REMEDIES, and thank me for the knowledge of them, especially mothers who have babes with scaly eruptions on their heads and bodies. I cannot express my thanks to you. My body was covered with scales, and I was an awful spectacle to behold. Now my skin is as clear as a baby's.

A SOLDIER'S LIFE.

Inhuman Treatment of German Soldiers by Petty Officers.

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—The Vorwartz article "in regard to inhuman treatment in the army mention some cases where soldiers were kept at the armor knee till they had performed the movement nearly 2000 times or till they had failed. In one instance a recruit who had become bathed in sweat in consequence of the exertion was unable to continue. A sergeant thereupon poured a jug of cold water over him and then thrashed him till the whip broke. The recruit's legs were covered with welts and as the result of the treatment received, he had to be placed in a hospital where he lay in a high fever. Sergeant Lohl fractured a man's collar bone through beating him with a rifle. He afterwards tried to commit suicide, fearing he would be found out. In addition to his other cruelties, Sergeant Pflug compelled several of his men to chew dirty socks and forced recruits who failed to stretch their knees properly at drill time to lie across two chairs in a certain position. He would then sit upon their unsupported knees till they screamed from the pain, when he would have them gagged. He would also slap their faces and other indignities reported to have been inflicted by him are too horrible to be mentioned.

NEWBURG, N.Y., Feb. 3.—Deputy United States Marshal C. W. Mehrens has arrested a green goods swindler here as he was in the act of plucking his victim, a young man named Samuel Price of Toronto.

On Jan. 1 Price registered at the Merchants' Hotel, which is kept by Deputy Marshal Mehrens, as William J. Cooper of Albany. He received a telegram addressed to William J. Cook. This, it turns out, was to make an appointment for him to meet a man known to him as F. Eaton at No. 1986 Third-avenue, New York. Price went to that address and gave the supposed Eaton $200 in good money, for which he was to receive at some future period $1000 in counterfeits.

Price returned to Toronto, but came back to Newburg so as to meet "Eaton," bringing with him $100 additional, which the latter had demanded. He again registered as Cooper, but Mr. Mehrens, having an inkling of what was going on, went up to Price's room and found there a stranger, who had registered as John Miller. Eaton and Miller are one and the same person.

Miller and Price fled and were purchasing tickets for New York at the West Shore station when arrested. Miller was committed for a hearing to-morrow and his victim has been detained as a witness.

Price says that he and his brother-in-law went into the scheme to obtain counterfeit money in partnership, and hoped by means of it to become speedily rich.

Winnipeg Board of Trade.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 3. — The annual meeting of the Winnipeg Board of Trade was held yesterday. The reports of the president and council were lengthy and dealt with numerous important matters. In dealing with the question of immigration reference was made to the large influx of settlers from Dakata and other states, most of whom were Canadians, who had become dissatisfied with their lot in that country. The reports also congratulated memeber on the general drosperity of the country and a brighter outlook for the future. Election of officers for 1892 resulted as follows: President, James E. Steen; vice-president, Andrew Ttrong; Treasurer, George J. Maulson.

The Sensational New York Poisoning

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Carlyle W. Harris, the young student charged with having poisoned his wife, Helen Potts, was yesterday found guilty of murder in the first degree by the jury. It has been one of the most sensational cases in recent history, and has attracted a widespread interest. About two weeks ago the case came to trial and has been progressing ever since.

The jury retired about 9.30 and at 10.45 returned a verdict of murder in the first degree. The verdict was very unexpected to the accused and he broke down completely when it was announced. His mother, who has been constantly at his side during the trial, was very much affected and created a scene. She fell back in her chair shrieking madly, "It's a lie! It's a lie!"

It is not likely that the dose will prove fatal. She did not say why she took the stuff. Her father, Henry Carter, an engineer, lives in Macauley-street.

DEATH'S BIG HARVEST.

GIGANTIC RECORD OF MORTALITY IN TORONTO.

Five Hundred Deaths in the Plague-Stricken City During January - The Cemetery Records Reveal What the Loyal Press Has Sedulously Ignored.

TORONTO, Feb. 3.—The mortality returns for January show unequivocally how severe an epidemic of sickness Toronto has passed through in the first month of this year.

There were no fewer than 427 interments in the city cemeteries, and including those who died in Toronto and who were buried elsewhere the death roll totals 500.

This is far higher than in the closing month of last year, when the Toronto deaths registered were only 300, and more than one-half of these were infants.

Including December last 722 interments have taken place in Toronto compared with 476 in the same period a twelvemonth ago. For the two months this shows the large increase of 246.

During the past eight weeks there have been a score of deaths from typhoid fever and 65 from diphtheria.

The Cemetery Records.

Subjoined are the returns from each of the cemeteries compared with January, 1891:

	Jan., '92.	Jan., '91.
Mount Pleasant	100	54
The Necropolis	67	56
St. James'	163	52
St. Michael's	80	42
Prospect	17	8

This shows more than double the number of deaths compared with the first month of last year, in fact an increase of 215 deaths.

Clydesdale Breeders' Meet.

TORONTO, Feb. 3.—The sixth annual meeting of Clydesdale Horse Association of Canada was held in the Queen's Hotel yesterday afternoon.

The secretary's report showed that there had been a decrease in the number of horses registered last year; but the record was not thought bad considering the difficulty that had been experienced in making sales.

The list of transfers showed that 41 stallions and 11 mares had been exported to the United States; 12 stallions and 11 mares to the Northwest, and two stallions to British Columbia. This number includes only those who have been transferred in the books. An equal number has been sent out of the province without being transferred.

The meeting then proceeded to elect officers for 1892. William Smith was re-elected president and the following gentlemen from the different provinces were chosen as vice-presidents:

Ontario—Robert Davies.
Quebec—Robert Ness, Howick, Que.
Nova Scotia—A. C. Bell, New Glasgow.
New Brunswick—Hon. David McLelland, St. John.
Prince Edward Island—Hon. James Clow, Murray Harbor.
Manitoba—John E. Smith, Brandon.
Northwest Territories—D. M. Radcliffe, Cochrane.
British Columbia—H. D. Benson, Ladner's Landing.

A discussion arose as to the advisability of having more than one judge for each class of Clydesdales at the different shows. Some thought that there should be two judges and a referee, and others that there should be three judges. They argued that one judge might overlook a flaw in a horse that another one would see. The majority, however, were in favor of having only one judge, and a resolution to that effect was carried. It has been found in the past that when there are two or more judges, and an unfair decision is given, no single man can be called to account. Each man blames it on the others, and the whole three generally escape condemnation.

A motion asking for a third-class for Clydesdales bred in Canada, from imported dams, caused a good deal of discussion. Many were of the opinion that there were already enough classes, and said that there was no need for the establishment of any more. When it came to a vote, however, the motion was carried.

The provincial spring stallion show which will be held in the Drill shed here on March 9 and 10, promises to eclipse all previous exhibitions. It is under the auspices of the Agriculture and Arts Association of Ontario, the Clydesdale Horse Association of Canada and the Shire Horse Association. Premiums are offered for thoroughbreds, coach or carriage, standard bred roadsters, hackneys, Suffolk, Punch, Shire and Clydesdale entire horses.

Mr. Nicholas Awrey, M.L.A., president of the Institute, spoke on matters of agriculture. The institutes of Ontario have a membership of 15,000. Numerous letters had been received lately from Manitoba and British Columbia asking for forms of constitution to enable the writers to establish institutes in those provinces.

The president of the manufacturers' convention had gone to much trouble to collect statistics to convince the farmers of Ontario that they were well off. He had mentioned the miles of railway constructed, the tons of shipping, the letters passing through the postoffice, the amount of money in the banks, and the increase in the export of cattle. This last was the only item that had any bearing on the prosperity of Ontario farmers.

He trusted that Canada would cultivate closer trade relations with England. He exhorted the farmers to unite in making the Canadian exhibit at the Columbian Exposition in Chicago the best on the continent.

The credential committee reported 123 delegates present.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: Mr. Nicholas Awrey, President; Mr. Lloyd Jones, vice-president; Mr. A. Hamilton Pettit, secretary-treasurer; Messrs. John Clarkson, Thomas Kills, Murray Pettit, D.E Smith, J. B. Ewing, T. J. Raynor and W. J. McNachton, executive committee; and Messrs. R. W. Gregory and Dr. Cowan auditors.

In the evening Mr. P. Whelihan of St. Mary's read a paper on the taxation of farm land lying within cities, towns and incorporated villages. Mr. Robert C. Tye, seconded by Thomas Kells, moved that the committee be requested to use their influence at the next session of the Legislature in order to secure such legislation.

Mr. Lloyd Jones followed in the discussion. Mr. Awrey said he had introduced such a bill into the Legislature and it had been defeated by five votes, because he had refused to strike out the word "cities." He considered that cities ought not to be treated differently. The evil was the same in every case.

Mr. Gifford of Seaforth said it was not fair that a merchant with a $20,000 stock should pay a tax on $1000, while a farmer was taxed for the full value of his farm.

Then Mr. Tye's motion was put and carried.

Hon. A. S. Hardy, Commissioner of Crown Lands, and Hon. Richard Harcourt, Provincial Treasurer, gave short addresses.

Mr. T. G. Raynor read a paper on the advisability of asking the Legislature to impose a tax on all male animals held by their owners for service. This led to a lengthy controversy, in which Messrs. Ollingworth, Ewing, Mowbray, McNab, Cowan, Pringle, Yule and Rogers took a prominent part. The vote showed that the convention was in favor of such a tax.

The convention continues to-day and to-morrow.

Willed His Fortune to Himself.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Feb. 2.—The will of Casper J. Hart bequeaths $1000 to each of the deceased's sons, sisters and a brother, and the residue—$50,000—is to be consumed in erecting a monument over Hart's grave, which he presents to the [illegible]

MURDERS IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Discovery of Horrid Murders and Butcheries.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 3.—A series of mysterious murders have occurred recently within 12 miles of this place. On Dec. 4 the body of a well dressed man was found in the woods near Galletzin with a bullet hole in his head. A week later the body of another man was found 12 miles distant with a hole through his head. The body was identified as that of George Myers, a prosperous citizen of Frugality. He was murdered for his money. Less than a week ago the decomposed body of another man was found in the woods near Bethel. The clothes were of good quality, but nothing could be discovered to establish his identity. The horrible butchery of old man Kring and his wife, and the cremation of their bodies four nights ago, is attributed to the same mysterious murderers, who are evidently hiding in the mountains ready to pounce upon any victim who is supposed to have money.

Ironworkers' Strike.

TORONTO, Feb. 3.—The employes of the Ontario Rolling Mills at Swansea, in the western suburbs of Toronto, are out on strike against a reduction of wages.

The mills have been shut down since Dec. 13, the management at that time giving as a reason for closing that they had no orders.

On Saturday last they were notified to return to work, at the same time being told that wages would be reduced in the following percentage:

Shinglers	27.22 per cent.
Rollers	15.25 per cent.
Scrap beaters	16.48 per cent.
Wash beaters	08.93 per cent.

The men asked for time to consider the offer, and came to the decision that the nature of the reduction was such as to show it had not come from necessity, but was aimed rather to cut down the earnings of skilled workmen. Hence the men decided not to accept the reduction and notified the managers to that effect, saying they are perfectly willing to return at the scale paid in the mills at Hamilton, which are owned by the same company. They claim also that the Toronto wages are 20 per cent. lower than the rate in Montreal.

Railroad Workmen Made Prisoners.

BUTTE, Mont., Feb. 3.—Twenty-five hundred union workmen yesterday attacked the railroad camp of Foley Bros. & Guthrie of St. Paul, and took prisoners 100 railroad workmen from St. Paul. The road is a branch of the Great Northern, and the contractors are only paying $2 a day, while the union wages in Butte are $3 for that kind of work. The trouble has been pending a week, but the contractors would not consent to raise wages to the union scale. By a preconcerted plan union men from all over the city moved to the railroad camp yesterday and took all the men prisoners without a blow being struck or any property being destroyed. The men were taken to the city and given rooms at a house, and were required to join the Butte Workingmen's Union. It is likely the leaders of the movement will be arrested.

Mercier v. Whalen.

QUEBEC, Feb. 3.—The investigation into the celebrated libel suit instituted in the month of December last by Hon. Honore Mercier against Mr. J. P. Whelan, contractor, was continued this morning, Mr. Justice Murray presiding.

Mr. Whelan was not present owing to illness.

Mr. R. H. White, M.P. for Cardwell and editor of The Montreal Gazette, was the first witness examined, and in his evidence did not in any way couple Mr. Whelan's name with the information furnished The Gazette that led to the article which is the cause of the libel.

The judge reserved his decision.

MONTREAL, Feb. 3.—So far as Montreal and its environs are concerned it does not look as if Mercier would receive support at the forthcoming elections. It is stated that not more than three or four priests are in favor of his returning to power. They feel that if they advise their flock to support him they will lose the respect and confidence of the best of their congregations. But above all they feel that as a matter of conscience they cannot support him any longer after the scandals that have come to light against him. This practically means defeat, for though Mercier is very popular with some classes, if he does not get the support of the Catholic clergy this time, as he did last, he will not get in.

The Royal Commission have sent their first report to the Lieutenant-Governor. It simply consists of the evidence taken and the exhibits filed and abstains from expression of opinion. The commission will resume its sittings next week.

Ald. G W Stephens of this city, who has been asked to contest Huntingdon County in the Conservative interest, leaves to-morrow to confer with the leaders of the party there. The alderman, who has previously sat in the Quebec Legislature, has hitherto been a strong Liberal, but he is now strongly anti-Mercierite and declares the Mercier Government to have been the most infamous we ever had. There is little doubt but that he will accept the candidature.

Opera Managers Sued.

MONTREAL, Feb. 3.—Suits were entered here to-day gaainst C. A. E. Harris and Henry Thomas, who contracted with Messrs. Abbey & Grau to give three nights of opera here. Madame Albani and Madame Scalchi were advertised to appear, and tickets were sold on this understanding. Madame Scalchi never came to Montreal. GOSSIP OF THE OLD WORLD

EMPEROR OF GERMANY WITH HIS ARM IN A SLING.

The Death of the Mother of the Empress of Austria—The Grand Duke Constantine Was a Noted Man in Early Day—Trouble Over the Big Guns—A Gift for Bismarck.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Edmund Yates cables to The Tribune: The Princess of Wales will go to Paris at the end of this week accompanied by Prince George and Princesses Victoria and Maud, and after a brief stay at the Hotel Bristol will proceed south to St. Raphael where she will reside several weeks at Villa Janessen. The Princess will visit the Duke and Duchess of Cumberland at Gmunden before she returns to England, and possibly will go also to Copenhagen.

His Arm in a Sling.

Emperor William met with a rather serious accident during a recent shooting excursion which has been kept very quiet indeed. The Emperor, while engaged in a wild boar hunt, slipped and fell heavily on his right arm, which was so severely bruised and sprained that it had to be kept in a sling for two days and His Majesty was advised to rest it for a longer period. This accident might have had grave results, for the Emperor's left arm is absolutely useless

Both Emperor and Empress of Austria were too unwell to go to the funeral of the Empress' mother who died last week at the age of 86, having survived her husband nearly four years. The Empress is now in Istria, and her medical attendants are very anxious as to the possible effects of her mother's death on her mind and health. The Princess Louise Wilhelmina was a woman of strong character and great energy, she inherited none of the peculiarities of the Bavarian Royal Family and always exercised a salutary influence on her daughter whose eccentricities she often checked at opportune moments. She spent nearly her whole life in Munich, where she was born, during all the troubles occasioned by invasions of Nopoleon I. In consequence of numerous deaths in the Imperial Family of Austria it was proposed to give up this year, for the first time, the carnival festivities in Vienna. The Emperor declined to sanction the proposal on account of the injury it would do the trade of the Austrian capital, where the winter season has been the worst ever remembered.

The Empress of Russia will probably go to Algiers for a few weeks towards the end of this month, to join her second son, the Grand Duke George, who is in a most precarious state of health. The Grand Duke is passing the winter at El Biar villa, a few miles from Algiers.

The Late Duke Constantine.

The Grand Duke Constantine Nicolaivitch was one of the cleverest members of the imperial family, although he had elected of late years to hide his light under a bushel. He owed his early education, and possibly the liberality of his opinions, to his tutor, Count Luke. He was, as a young man, an ardent advocate of the abolition of serfdom, and once shut himself up for several weeks so as to thoroughly master the Polish language. Although the attempt was afterwards made to assassinate him he resolutely declined to adopt any cruel measure of repression. Alexander II. had a strong belief in the great administrative powers of his favorite brother and gave him in succession all the highest offices of trust. When Alexander II. was murdered he threw up all his appointments and retired to Castle Orianda in the Crimea, where he led the life of a private gentleman to the day of his death. His nephew frequently endeavored to induce him to return to public life, but the ex-admiral-in-chief resolutely declined to leave his peaceful home, although much attached to the Empress, who feels his death most acutely.

The Queen's Favorite.

Helena Vacaresco, the favorite lady-in-waiting of the Queen of Roumania, whose engagement to Prince Ferdinand of Hohenzollern Sigmaringen, Crown Prince of Roumania, caused much commotion a few months ago, is betrothed to a wealthy member of the well-known Cartacuzene family. Now that the destiny of this young lady has been comfortably settled we may speedily expect to hear of the Crown Prince's betrothal to Princess Marie of Edinburgh, unless, indeed, the Emperor of Russia succeeds in preventing the marriage, to which he will not be the more reconciled from the fact tnat the German Empeaor is much in favor of it.

Gladstone's Sympathy.

Mr. Gladstone not only manifested his sympathy, by writing both to the Queen and Prince of Wales, but telegraphed to express his deep regret that it was impossible for him to return to England to attend the funeral of the Duke of Clarence, and expressed the wish that he might be permitted to send Herbert Gladstone as his representative. This proposal, however, could not be accepted, as only royal personages are represented on such occasions, and it would have created a most inconvenient precedent.

The Big Guns.

It would seem that nothing can be done with the 111 ton guns without blundering. A Malta correspondent says the other day the flag ship Victoria was taken under the 160 ton crane to have one of the big guns, which had recently been replaced, shifted around five-sixteenths of an inch. It had been known all along that the gun had been inaccurately placed in position, but the dockyard people said the ship's officers could soon get it to rights. This view of matters was not taken by the ship's officers, but they did their best without avail. Consequently a large sum of money was expended on a second operation which with ordinary foresight ought not to have been necessary.

Bismarck's Present.

Prince Bismarck has just received a valuable present from the German colony in Burmah. It consists of a centre piece of solid silver two feet long and three feet high. The pedestal is entirely covered with beautifully worked figures and at each corner are artistically wrought dragons, each of which carries a huge ivory tusk, which is hollowed out and decorated with Burmese carving. This gift, which is pronounced by experts to be the most perfect master-piece of Burmese industry which ever reached Europe, has taken 18 months to complete.

A Toronto Barrister Dead.

TORONTO, Feb. 3.—Adam H. Meyers, a well-known barrister, died yesterday after an illness extending over several weeks.

A Babe in a Box.

STRATHROY, Feb. 3.—James Milligan found a raisin box on the 12th sideroad, between the 9th and 10th concession of Caradoc, and in it was the body of a female child. An inquest is in progress, and meantime a couple of arrests have been made.

For Embezzling $7700

OTTAWA, Feb. 3.—Edward F. Hubbell, late teller in the Bank of Ottawa, was brought before Magistrate Ogara yesterday charged in one case with having embezzled $7700 and in another with having embezzled $100. He was remanded till Saturday.

THE DAILY ONTARIO

BELLEVILLE, FEBRUARY 3, 1892

THE MEMBER FOR EAST HASTINGS

Yesterday afternoon the Reformers of East Hastings nominated the gentleman who will succeed the late Mr. Burdett as member for East Hastings. Mr. W. R. Aylsworth, of Deseronto, the nominee, is well known to the electors in all parts of the riding and is as universally respected as he is well-known. The convention was large and thoroughly representative and an enthusiastic one, and the nomination was unanimous and received with great satisfaction.

The Liberals are the first in the field, and they should keep the lead all through. They have a candidate of whom they may justly be proud, a man who to good administrative ability, as evidenced by his long and successful career in municipal affairs adds an irreproachable integrity of character, one who must and will command the esteem of all respectable men of whatever shade of political faith.

The Reformers go into the contest with the strongest confidences in their chances for success. The voters list was carefully looked after and substantial liberal gains were made in the revision. They have a candidate in Mr. Aylsworth to whom every member of the party can conscientiously rally in enthusiastic support. They have a leader in Hon. Mr. Laurier of whom every decent Canadian is justly proud, and who already holds the first place in the hearts of his fellow patriots. They have a policy that is in harmony with the progressive enlightment of the age, one that would, be of special benefit to a rural district, as East Hastings is. They have opposed to them a party torn by internal factions and diverse and irreconcilable personal ambitions within the constituency, and whose leaders at Ottawa are disgraced before the whole world.

It is said that Mr. Burdett won the riding solely by his personal popularity. Doubtless his personal propularity was an important element in his success, but it was not the chief element. He won because the electors of that riding were fully convinced that the liberal policy is the one demanded by the necessities of the time, the only one that will remove from our country the stagnation and dissatisfaction that is now settled over it as a pall.

We would urge on the Liberals of East Hastings the necessity for persistent work. While their success is certain if they do their duty, yet over-confidence might enable their opponents to snatch from them the victory now within their reach. The tories will make a desperate effort to capture the riding. They have at their command unlimited supplies of their favorite and most cogent argument—money, with which they hope to buy victory for themselves. This kind of influence is being lavishly used in Prince Edward, especially by the Belleville gang who are now working there, and no doubt the same gang will invade East Hastings and use their nefarious tactics to the fullest possible extent. But the moral sentiment of that staunch riding will, we doubt not, resent this kind of argument, and will vote for an honest man, who supports an honest leader, who is intrenched behind an honest policy, and who will seek to win an honest victory by legitimate and honorable methods.

The date of the election is not yet known, but it will probably be soon. The House assembles on the 25th and polling will doubtless take place before that date. The time is short and there should be no delay in getting down to hard work, and if the Liberals do their duty, W. R. Aylsworth will be elected to represent East Hastings by a majority that can be expressed by not less than three figures.

Love's Young Dream.

Love's young dream was a very bright one, and its fulfillment will be bright, too, of the bride will remember that she is a woman, and liable to all the ills peculiar to her sex. We remind those who are suffering from any of these, that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will renew the hue of youth in pale and sallow cheeks, correct irritating uterine diseases, arrest and cure ulceration and inflammation, and infuse new vitality into a wasting body. "Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

THE EIDER IS DOOMED.

THE BIG STEAMER ALMOST ABANDONED TO HER FATE.

All the Passengers and Crew Saved—The Mails Also Landed—The Seas Are Now Fast Breaking the Vessel to Pieces.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The pumps of the Eider were kept working at their full capacity all night, but though tons of water poured through the scuppers the sea kept slowly but surely gaining on her. The forward pumps were rendered of little use when the steamer began to settle by the stern, and consequently the after pumps were not able to keep the water down. At daylight signals were shown that the steamer wanted help. A life-boat was immediately launched through the heavy surf and started for the steamer. In the meantime a portion of the crew had entered the life-boats alongside of the stranded steamer and started for shore. The sea was running very high and a tremendous surf was rolling up the beach. Much difficulty was experienced in shooting the boats through the surf, but finally everybody was landed in safety.

Abandoned to Her Fate.

The fresh breeze which sprang up this morning gradually freshened and resulted in a gale of wind, which caused heavy seas to sweep over the Eider. Experts who have examined her position express the opinion that her back is broken and that there is absolutely no hope of saving her, and it is taken for granted that the Eider and her cargo, the latter composed of about 1800 tons of general merchandise, have been cast upon the rocks never to be removed except by the wreckers. At a rough estimate the cargo is valued at about $80,000, not including the specie which will be saved. The Eider herself is valued at about $700,000. Both the steamer and her cargo are fully insured The passengers destined for Bremen will be transferred to the German Lloyd steamer Havel, which sailed from New York Jan. 26.

All Safe.

At 7 o'clock this evening the lifeboats, after an exceedingly perilous voyage, succeeded in bringing the remainder of the crew from the ship to the shore in safety. As the tide went down the storm increased in violence. The captain of the Eider was the last person to leave the vessel. It was with evident reluctance that he was finally induced to quit the steamer and he only did so when he saw that it was useless to remain on board any longer and that each moment added to the danger of the torn and battered vessel suddenly going to pieces.

Keep the Works in good order.
NORMAN, Ont., January 1
W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.
DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first, only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.
Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

THE DEADLY PARESIS.

THREE EXPERTS ON BRAIN PARALYSIS DESCRIBE ITS SYMPTOMS.

Civilization's Strange Curse—Overworked Nervous Organizations Make the Just and Unjust Alike Liable to the Disease—How to Tell a Paretic.

"Do you remember the blanched faces, the furtive glances, the trembling limbs, and the strange mysterious horror which Thucydides describes in the Athenians when that highly civilized race first became aware that an incomprehensible and incurable malady had suddenly broken out among them?"

The speaker was Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton, perhaps the most famous American expert in diseases of the brain and nerves, the Government expert in the historic Guiteau case and the head of New York's professional specialists in neurology. He had answered a question by asking one. It was entirely natural that in my search for the secret of paresis, the strange new and deadly curse of contemporary civilization, I should go to the expert by whom such noteworthy parties as Robert Garrett, once president of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company; John McCullough, Bartley Campbell, Tony Hart, and now poor Scanlan, have been treated.

"Professional etiquette," that barrier which tradition maintains between common sense and the medical practitioner, forbade Dr. Hamilton, of course, to speak of these and others of his patients of whom the reading public might learn with profit. But for the sake of the good it might do, and the mysterious awe it might dispel from the minds of those to whom the fear of paresis blots the fairest prospects in the world, Dr. Hamilton did consent to make statement:

NOT CONTAGIOUS.

"This plague of our newer civilization is not infectious like that wonderful malady which Thucydides describes. It doesn't strike our foremost men down over night or cluth its victims in the market place. And as mysterious as it appears to the laity, its nature and symptoms are now thoroughly well understood by the expert.

"But there is unquestionably a fascination about it, from the psychological point of view, on account of its remarkable increase of recent years as well as by reason of the deadly persistence with which it drags its victim, no matter how high or how humble his station in life, how wild or how quiet his previous habits, down into the grave.

"General paralysis, or general paresis, familiarly spoken of simply as paresis, has been known to medical science about fifty years, but the fatal significance of the term and the individuality of the awful thing it stands for, seem only to have begun to dawn on the public vision very recently. You are probably right in surmising that ten or fifteen years since the word 'paresis' was new to newspaper readers, and from the first its victims seem to have had their melancholy fate aggravated, if possible, by the vague suspicion, if not the open accusation, that in order to have been overtaken by this curse of our nerve-wearing, tissue-wasting civilization, they must first have been guilty of some fearful excess, some indescrible indulgence, as a punishment for which, in ancient times, fire was sent even from Heaven.

"A great deal of melodramatic nonsense of that kind has been retailed about town by inuendo and in stage whispers audible almost from one barroom to another.

"And it is all wrong; to have paresis a man needn't necessarily have been outbreakingly wicked. It is no reflection on a man's family for him to fall a victim. It's chief cause, primarily, is dissipation of some sort it may be intellectual, it may be physical, but not necessarily disgraceful per se. Yet a very large proportion of cases of paresis are due to a malady unmentionable, except in professional treatises."

Here was richness, to begin with. Repeated cases of "head" in the morning might actually end in paresis!

Dr. Charles L. Dana, one of the psychological experts called in to see Banker E. M. Field, when his friends first began to make up their minds that Banker Field had lost his mind when he had lost their money, is a tall, dark man of sedate manner and a broad, calm brow behind which mental processes of moment would seem likely to proceed to unbiased and unerring conclusions. Most mental experts indeed seem to be tall, dark men of calm acuteness of demeanor. Dr. Hamilton combines the intuitive precision of a past-master with the courtly manners of a cavalier. No doubt the brain specialist of the next generation will be expected to hypnotize his patients to begin with in order to demonstrate mental strength enough to warrant their submission to his counsel. The personality of the physician becomes indeed of more importance with every new advance of medical science.

DR. DANA'S VIEWS.

Dr. Dana agreed to speak of this subject now so powerfully focused in the public eye by the Scanlan, De Maupassant, and other cases.

"Great confusion exists in the public mind," said Dr. Dana, "about the meaning of paralysis or paresis. There may be a partial paralysis of the muscles of any part of the body or of the muscles of all parts of the body. So there may be a total paralysis of the muscles of a portion of the body, or a total paralysis of the muscles of all parts of the body. This last is often called 'paresis.'

"Now paresis, the popular name of which used to be 'softening of the brain,' is the term applied to a stage of the malady which results in this general paralysis. Indeed these synonyms are worth remembering:

"General paralysis of the insane,
"Progressive paralysis of the insane,
"General paresis and
"Paralytic dementia.

"The peculiarity of paresis is that it is complicated by insanity, and while I have spoken of 'softening of the brain' as being the term once popularly applied to it, the actual fact is that a paretic's brain becomes, if anything, hardened, as the surface of the brain tissues becomes inflamed and congested.

"I do not hold that paresis is an incurable disease. While the fact that a patient recovers may be thought by some to invalidate the diagnosis of paresis, it does not follow to my mind, for I believe cures have been effected.

"Paresis is comparatively a new medical term, and in popular parlance the word has not been in use much, if any, more than ten years, I believe.

"It is a disease of the brain tissues, you may say, of the mind tissues, those outer portions of the brain in which the most highly developed cerebral processes go on. The disease has fortunately marked physical symptoms. Fortunately also, it is not hereditary. That is one of its peculiarities.

"Although there may be a popular impression to that effect, I do not think actors have fallen victims to paresis—the accent, strictly speaking, is on the first syllable—in greater numbers that members of other professions."

"I think Bickel's Anti-Consumptive syrup the best preparation on the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught severe cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cought. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of Consumption, and had given up hodes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickel's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieaed, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured. I always recomend it for severe colds and consumption."

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—A trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. Their original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No detelerious mineral ingred ueht is contained in it, and thoughits action is thorough in cases of costivenes it never produces griping pains in th abdominal region, or weakens the bowel like a violent purgative. EAST HASTINGS.

W. R. Aylsworth of Deseronto Nominated.

A ROUSING MEETING AT CANIFTON

Speeches by W T R Preston, W R Aylsworth and Others—Nominations on February 13, Polling Day Saturday, Feb 20—Let There be Perfect Organization, and Aylsworth is Your Man

The fact that a blinding snow storm set in yesterday morning and increased in fury as the afternoon wore on did not deter electors from all parts of the riding attending the convention at Canifton at one p. m. for the purpose of selecting a candidate in the Reform interests to contest the East Riding of Hastings for the House of Commons - a seat made vacant by the death of S. B Burdett, Q. C., who successfully wrenched the constituency from the Conservatives and lead the party to victory on two different occasions.

The hall was filled and the greatest unanimity prevailed throughout the meeting. A large number from Belleville, Deseronto and Sidney were present, while Hungerford, Tyendinaga and Thurlow were numerously represented.

J. N. Hurley reeve of Thurlow occupied the chair.

N. Vermilyea, secretary of the association, read the financial statement showing a deficit of $146.60 which was incurred in the revision of the voters' lists in 1885. The cost of the last revision was borne by the late Mr Burdett and himself, the latter doing the work while the former paid the expense. The cost of revising the lists for the local house was assumed by Mr. Vermilyea. The association had thus been saved a large ontlay while the lists were never before in better shape. In concluding Mr. Vermilyea urged all who could to join the association. In response to the appeal some $30 was subscribed when the old officers were re-elected as follows:

J. N. Hurley, President.
N. Vermilyea, Secretary.
P. Murphy, Vice-Pres., Hungerford.
W. McLaren, vice Pres., Tyendinaga.
J. W. Ross, vice Pres., Thurlow
W. R. Aylsworth, Pres., Deseronto.

Moved by N. Vermilyea, seconded by Wm. Stoddard—"That this convention hereby express its sorrow on account of the removal by death of S B. Burdett, Q. C. M. P., and begs to extend to the members of his sorrowing family its sincere condolence."

The resolution was carried by a standing vote

Ald. P. J. M. Anderson moved, seconded by Mr. Way—"That this convention hereby express undiminished confidence in the government of the Hon. Oliver Mowat and the policy of the present Dominion Oppositian.—Carried.

On motion of N. Vermilyea, seconded by P. J. M. Anderson, the following resolution was carried:—"That we hereby pledge our hearty support to the nominee of this convention."

The following gentlemen were then proposed as cand dates:

W. R. Aylsworth, Deseronto,
W. T. R. Preston, Toronto.
N. Vermilyea, Thurlow.
E. Lyons, Belleville.
J. N. Hurley, Thurlow.
Harford Ashely, Thurlow.
Patrick Murphy, Stoco.
Thomas Dacy, Thurlow.
Ald. P. J. M. Anderson, Belleville.
P. Valeau, Deseronto.

The candidates retired in the order named in favor of R. Aylsworth, who took the platform amid the wildest enthusiasm. He accepted the nomination of the party and thanked them for the honor which they had forced upon him. He had not sought the office and felt that in assuming such a responsibility he had no slight task before him. (Cheers) The country was now at a crisis in its political and financial career and called for united action on the part of every true Reformer. After traveling from the Atlantic to the Pacific and visiting the western States he believed that Ontario had the best farming country under the sun. Yet in spite of that fact farm land had depreciated more than fifty per cent in value. The time had come when the farmers interests should be looked after. If elected he would demand better legislation for this very important class of the community.

After referring briefly to the obstacles which had been thrown in his way to prevent his entering public life he reiterated the fact that he could not go back on his party at a time when he was most needed,—(Cheers.)

A voice—That shows the man.

He regretted the fact that he was compelled to serve under so corrupt a government as existed at Ottawa. From what he could hear he felt that his candidature would be acceptable to the party. He asked the earnest co-operation of every man in East Hastings and he charged them to work incessantly for victory until the close of the polls. He might not get all the votes in Deseronto but he thought he would get a good share. Many Conservatives had approached him and expressed their regret that they would have to vote against him. If the Reform electors of East Hastings did their duty in East Hastings he would represent them in the House of Commons next session.—(Cheers.) He begged them to thoroughly organize in every section of the riding and to leave nothing to be regretted after the fight was ended. It was not his fight, further than that a man did not like to enter a contest and fail. Many of them had far greater interests at stake than he. He pressed particularly on the farmers to be up and doing. "You do your duty and I will strive to do mine and will hope for victory." The speaker resumed his seat amid great cheering and it was some minutes before the chairman's voice could be heard above the tumult.

W. T. R. Preston

Mr. Preston although speaking contrary to the doctor's orders, made a rattling address in which he strongly condemned the administration at Ottawa. The most ardent Reformer could hardly believe the evidence now in possession of the Liberal leaders which would make complete the exposure of wholesale corruption, robbery, thieving, speculating, immorality and bad conduct which has existed at Ottawa for the last ten years. In spite of the almost insurmountable obstacles which Reformers have always been compelled to contend against they had the satisfaction of standing higher in the estimation of the people of the two great provinces than the Conservatives could ever hoped to stand. The government at Ottawa had ground the very life's blood out of the people to benefit a few manufacturers, who contributed liberally towards the Tory election fund. The farmers in this great barley raising district of Quinte—so known all over Canada—had to face this problem; if the land was a failure what was to become of the people. Certainly the land had depreciated in value to such an extent that crops were now actully raised at a loss and instead of buying more land as they were able to do twenty years ago the farmer was trying to sacrifice what he did own at half its value. The most obtuse Tory would admit that reciprocity with the U. S. must be beneficial to the Canadian farmer. By the policy of trade restriction now in force every farmer in Canada was losing from $250 to $500. If it was not disloyal to deal in certain articles with the States, surely it would not be more disloyal to have full freedom of trade. Lord Elgin had said to England that he could not vouch for the contentment of his people unless they were allowed to trade with U. S. He went to Washington—not to see his shadow—but to get a treaty of reciprocity with the States. He did not stay there for a few days nor weeks but after months of incessant work he succeed in going back to his country with a treaty of reciprocity. Never was a statesman in Canada more enthusiastically received than Lord Elgin. His path was strewn with roses and he was welcomed with open arms. And it was because he bore them good joy. Hon. Edward Blake said in 1876 that reciprocity was the only relief for Canada. The Tories did not expect to get all they asked for but they would get all they could. Mr. Aylsworth referred to the fact that he had bought a farm eight years ago and it had taken the earnings of a liberal salary every year to sustain it. It was so all over Canada. How many people had relatives in United States by force of circumstances. In 10 years $500,000,000 had been spent in the public works department in Canada, yet the censes returns shows that 1½ million people had gone to the States in that time. If the policy was not wrong why should such a state of affairs exist in a country possessed of all the natural advantages under the sun? It was only natural that a free man should be allowed to buy and sell in the market which would be the greatest advantage to him.

East Hastings had a good man in Mr. Aylsworth and they should not allow him to be sacrificed at the polls, through any lack of energy or work on their part.

N Vermilyea

Mr. Vermilyea said Mr. Aylsworth was making a sacrifice for his party and the party would be truly disloyal if they did not stand by him. Mr. Aylsworth was well known to the speaker as a man of sterling integrity and honesty and he was a man held in the highest esteem by both parties. His services to the county for the last twenty years had been invaluable. Let every man go into the contest with energy and vim, until Mr. Aylsworth was carried to victory at the polls. If the Reformers of East Hastings did not elect Mr. Aylsworth it would be their own fault as the circumstances would never be more favorable in the Reform interest. (cheers)

Mr. Russel, editor of the Deseronto Tribune in a neat little address strongly urged the party to stand together and elect their man. They had stood by the late Mr. Burdett in a splendid manner and he sincerely hoped that they would do as much for Mr. Aylsworth. Mr. Aylsworth was popularly known in East Hastings and many Conservatives would find it a difficult matter to vote against him.

James Farley of Sidney regretted that he had not a vote in East Hastings but he would assure Mr. Aylsworth that he would do all in his power to elect him. He called upon the farmers to elect Mr. Aylsworth if they would have legislation in their interests. The cry of disloyalty on the part of the Tories had become idiotic in the eyes of the learned. Every influencial paper in England admitted that free trade with the States was the only hope f r Canada.

G. S. Johnston explained that R. C. Clute Q. C., was absent on account of illness.

Willet Farley was loudly cheered when he arose in the audience and pledged his hearty support to Mr. Aylsworth and called upon his friends to vote for the man who would benefit the farming community. He was the right man in the right place. Mr. Farley was loudly cheered when he resumed his seat. Many people present were pleased to hear Mr. Farley put himself on record in such an emphatic manner.

Harford Ashley, W. H. Campbell, Dennis Hanley and Peter Murphy also spoke shortly, encouraging the Reformers to work earnestly for their candidate.

Biography of Mr Aylsworth

William Robert Aylsworth was born in Earnestown, Lennox Co., and was brought up at Newburg and received his education in the High School at that place. He taught school for a shart time, then served an apprenticeship with Aylsworth, Bowan & Perry, as land surveyor, and at that time became thoroughly acquainted with the counties of Lennox, Frontenac and Addington. He practiced surveying for five years in Sheffield, Addington county, after which in 1866, he came to Deseronto, then known as Mill Point, where he has ever since been in the employ of the Rathbun Co., as general agent. Mr. Aylsworth has long been before the people of East Hastings in a public capacity. For twenty years continuously he has been reeve of Deseronto, which position he now holds—a record of long, faithful and efficient service in the town of Deseronto and the County of Hastings, that has few parallels in the province. He has been twice warden of the County of Hastings, in 1878 and again in 1880. In 1878 he contested East Hastings against John White and received a majority of the votes cast, but he was counted out. He however protested Mr. White's election and had him unseated.

Mr. Aylsworth comes of good old Liberal stock. His father and grandfather before him were staunch Liberals, and were among the most earnest and determined of those who fought and won the battles against the family compact for representative government in Ontario, and gave to our province the many splendid institutions, the benefits of which we now enjoy. Mr. Aylsworth is of United Empire Loyalist descent, and as he and his father before him were both born in this Province, he is a thorough Canadian, loyal to our institutions, an ardent lover of his native land, and a firm believer in the capacity of Canadians to hold their own in fair and open contest with all the world, without being surrounded with artificial, unnatural and repressive tariff restrictions.

HON. JOHN HAGGART.

TALKS A HOUSE EMPTY AT A POLITICAL MEETING IN NAPANEE

And Gives the Cause of the Liberal Party A Big Boom—The Marked Ability of the Leader of the Tory Party in Ontario

(From Our Own Correspondent)

The campaign is at its highest and Tory boodle is flooding the concessions, nevertheless we expect to give Uriah Wilson such a beating that you won't hear of him again for many a year. Right here one would like to give our friends in east Hastings a pointer. If you want to secure the riding beyond a doubt just get John Haggart, the honorable gentleman whom the Tories of Ontario call their "chieftain," the gentleman who is mixed up with section B scandal and who holds the position of Minister of Public works, just get him to go into the riding and make a few speeches for the Tory candidate. He'll fix any doubtful riding in about three days, but in the prospect is somewhat dark send for that stalwart dignified, robust, military gentleman the honorable the minister of militia. We know whereof we speak for it has been tried in this riding. On Monday the honorable John Haggart was advertised to address a meeting at the opera house. It was quite an event to have a minister of the crown to come to Napanee especially one of such renown as Haggart. The people turned out in crowds and the opera house was packed. The first speaker was Mr. A. F. Campbell the vaulter from Algoma. He wrapped himself up in the Union Jack and waved on high the tattered and soiled old flag that annexationist Abbott had dragged through the mud. He flung his arms abroad and shouted for our queen and country and wanted to die a British subject and some had tears that he would over-exert himself so much that he would do so on the spot. The enthusiasm wouldn't come. The people came to hear the celebrated cabinet minister and could not waste their applause on such common trash, so Campbell went at it again. This time it was the prosperity trick. He told the farmers that they were prosperous and ought to be thankful for the good times they enjoyed. He waxed eloquent over the happy homes in Canada that were made so by the N. P.

He struggled hard and pranced and shouted but it would not work. It was no use, the people were there to hear the honorable gentleman from Ottawa. Campbell's oratory was well enough to toss about among the half breeds in Algoma but the Lennox farmers would not touch it. They wanted a more substantial diet than loyalty, froth and warmed up campaign prosperity soup. So the Honorable John Haggart, minister of public works was called upon. He was received with cheers. He advanced to the front of the platform. All eyes were rivitted upon him, and everyone prepared himself for a treat. The honorable gentleman commenced and in a weak ungainly fashion tried to shake the old flag a little more. People looked at one another in surprise. The honorable gentleman continued. The surprise of the audience dispersed into disgust. Still the honorable gentleman labored on. This was too much. The people of Lennox are long suffering but there is a limit to their patience. It was straining the point too far to ask the audience that had a few days previous listened to orators like Cartwright, Patterson and Dawson to tolerate such fare as was being dished out to them. They began to go out first one at a time then two, then a whole row of seats would be vacated at once. The chairman repeatedly begged them to keep order. Uriah coaxed them to listen to the honorable gentleman but they would not. Before Haggart had spoken half an hour the hall that was crowded when he began had more vacant seats than filled ones. Uriah felt very much ashamed. The situation was a most humiliating one but what could be done? Some one suggested that they close the meeting and this was done. The Tories feel very sore over the matter and the introduction of Mr Haggart aroused great dissatisfaction at his recent promotion. He was hurried away out of town as soon as possible, and is not likely to return again upon the invitation of the Tories. He was to speak again in the evening but Uriah and his friends prevailed upon him not to do so, and some new material was introduced, but it proved to be very little improvement on the afternoon supply. The people of Hastings may judge for themselves when they learn that the best speech of the whole series was made by Mr. Northrop of Belleville. His stock in trade appeared to be made up of loyalty too. It was very amusing to watch him prance around the stage and yell "God save Canada." He did'nt say a word about the annexation manifesto that his leader signed. The farmers of Lennox can't stand much of that sort of twaddle. As one man remarked after the meeting, "does that man from Belleville think we are bloody fools?" On the whole the day's performance was the worst attempt at a political convention that has ever been held in Napanee. The Tories are desperate. They know they are defeated and now the boodle is flying. They are bold and daring and trying to buy votes before our very eyes, but it is no use; the people are opening their eyes and intend to leave Mr. Wilson at home to-morrow.

Ameliasburg Items

The health of Mr. John Sprague who has been ill for some time is greatly improved.

There is a prevalence of la grippe in the village and surrounding county. The disease seeming to take an epidemic form, many of the inhabitants being prostrated with it. Several of the electors are lying ill and it will be impossible for them to exercise their franchise on the 4th inst. There is much talk and some excitement about election the people being in a political fervency A political meeting was held in the Town Hall last night in the interests of Dr. Platt. The Dr. seems to be the popular candidate everywhere, and is going to win by a large majority.

A New York Physician

"I do not hesitate to say that I frequently prescribe Hood's Sarsaparilla for my patients," said an eminent New York physician, whose name if given would be recognized as that of a specialist at the head of his branch of the profession, and I do so with a great deal of confidence."

"In the first place," he continued, "I believe in it as a pure, reliable blood purifier, with especial merit as a tonic. Then, I can rely on it as being the same medicine all the time. What I mean is this:—I can write a prescripton for a patient, who will take it to a druggist and receive medicine accordingly. The next time the patient needs about the same medicine, or when I give the same prescription to another patient, he goes to some other druggist who prepares a medicine which looks and acts entirely different from that of the first druggist. I do not mean by this to reflect upon the druggists for as a rule there is no more honorable or reliable business class of men in the country. But the most honest men may differ in understanding, belief and method. Now Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared all the time by the same men, who have given a great deal of thought and time to its composition. It is prepared in large quantities and from the same ingredients. Therefore when you buy a second, or 3rd or 4th bottle, they will be the same as the first, of equal appearance, strength and curative power. It is a good medicine and is being prescribed more and more by the medical profession."

As a cure for cold in the head and catarrh Nasal Balm is endorsed by prominent men everywhere. D. Derbyshire. president of the Ontario Creamery Association, says:—"Nasal Balm beats the world for catarrh and cold in the head. In my own case it effected relief from the first application." MORTAR-SPOTTED SKIN

About the 1st of April last I noticed some red pimples like coming out all over my body, but thought nothing of it until some time later on, when it began to look like spots of mortar spotted on, and which came off in layers accompanied with itching. I would scratch every night until I was raw, then the next night the scales being formed meanwhile were scratched off again. In vain did I consult all the doctors in the county, but without aid. After giving up all hopes of recovery, I happened to see an advertisement in the newspaper about your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and purchased them from my druggist, and obtained almost immediate relief. I began to notice that the scaly eruptions gradually dropped off and disappeared one by one, until I had been fully cured. I had the disease thirteen months before I began taking the REMEDIES, and in four or five weeks was entirely cured. My disease was eczema and psoriasis. I know of a great many who have taken the REMEDIES, and thank me for the knowledge of them, especially mothers who have babes with scaly eruptions on their heads and bodies. I cannot express my thanks to you. My body was covered with scales, and I was an awful spectacle to behold. Now my skin is as clear as a baby's.

SIR MORELL IS DEAD.

THE FAMOUS DR. MACKENZEIE NO MORE.

Prospects of Immigration to Canada—More Demands for Passage Rates Than for Years—Gladstone's Latest Manifesto The Socialists and the Chelsea Demonstration.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Sir Morell Mackenzie, the eminent physician, died unexpectedly at 10 o'clock last night.

Sir Morell Mackenzie had suffered from bronchitis and asthma following his recent attack of influenza. His illness, however, it was considered, had taken a favorable course. He was attended by his brother. His death was quite sudden. Only his wife was present when it occurred.

Sir Morell Mackenzie was born in Leytonstone, Essex, in 1837, and was educated at the London Hospital Medical College and in Paris and Vienna. He was the author of numerous publications on Laryngological subjects, and in particular of a systematic treatise in two volumes on "Diseases of the Throat and Nose," which is acknowledged to be a standard work.

Dr. Mackenzie was also the author of "Monographs on Diphtheria and Hay Fever," and of an article on "Specialism in Medicine," which appeared in The Fortnightly Review in 1885, and which excited considerable attention.

Dr. Mackenzie was in attendance on Frederick III. German Emperor during the latter's last illness and was knighted in 1887. He published in 1888 "The Fatal Illness of Frederick the Noble." At the close of that year he resigned his connection with the College of Physicians. In 1889 he contributed to The Contemporary Review some essays entitled "The Voice in Singing and Speaking."

PROSPECTS OF IMMIGRATIOM.

More Demands For Passage Rates Than for Years.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Special enquiries show that emigration prospects this season are excellent. The tenant farmers' delegates' reports of the bountiful Northwest harvest and the generally hopeful reports from Canada caused the agents to receive more demands for passage rates and literature than for years past. The hope is expressed that the Dominion Government even now will take advantage of the promising outlook to devise a thorough scheme to encourage the emigration of the right classes by co-operation with Northwest municipalities or otherwise. The settlement of the bonus system is helpful, but a mere drop in the bucket.

Plimsoll and the Cattle Trade.

Mr. Samuel Plimsoll is giving some sensational evidence before the labor commission in connection with the cattle trade. It is arousing a strong tide of public opinion against the practice of deck loading, and in regard to the bad food alleged to be furnished to the cattlemen. In reference to inland navigation, Mr. Plimsoll related some terrible hardships suffered by the crews of Canadian wood boat schooners, which he said were on the authority of some Toronto ship owners. The feeling here is that while the Canadians must legislate for themselves, when their vessels come to Great Britian they must conform to the British laws.

Mr. Plimsoll strongly abused the quarters and the feed of the seamen on boar of the secondary or "tramp" steamers. He demands more efficient inspection. Mr. Plimsoll says to-day that he hopes the agitation will result in the prohibition of the deck loading and that no timber laden vessels will be allowed to leave a port till the captain receives an official certificate that he carries no deck cargo.

Mr. Plimsoll got very excited when he was asked how he would deal with Canada's insistence on the practice of deck loading, and declared that, so far as British ports were concerned, the Canadian ships would have to observe the British law.

Sir M. Hicks-Beach and other prominent men, as well as some of the Ministers, are following the agitation carefully. It is generally agreed that, despite Mr. Plimsoll's too evident exaggerations, there is a need of legislation regarding the cases in point both here and in Canada.

CHELSEA SOCIALISTS.

Sir Charles Russell Speaks in Behalf of Free Speech.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Sir Charles Russell, in the Court of Queen's Bench yesterday moved that an order be granted to remove the Chelsea socialist cases from the County Court to the High Court of Justice and that they be tried before a special jury.

Sir Charles, during the course of his argument, said that for years past socialists and others have been accustomed to hold open air meetings at the World's End square, Chelsea, and that they have not been interfered with so long as they behaved in an orderly manner Recently the police seemed to have thought themselves bound to interfere with all such meetings and nearly every Sunday for months past have been arresting people for alleged violations of law regarding the holding of such meetings.

A great question, Sir Charles continued, was involved in these arrests and the matter must be sifted to the utmost, as there was no doubt in his mind that the rights of the community had been gravely interfered with. The order was granted.

Dr. Montague of Haldimand was present and delivered a stirring address, in which he promised his own assistance to the end of the campaign.

BEHRING SEA.

The U. S. Cabinet Discusses the Affair—Modus Vivendi to be Extended.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—At a Cabinet meeting yesterday most of the session was occupied with the Behring Sea matter. It is claimed that an arrangement to extend the modus vivendi will be made within a few days.

A change in the method of proceeding in the matter of reaching a final determination of the whole subject was discussed. According to the terms of the agreement to arbitrate the question arrived at between Secretary Blaine and Lord Salisbury there were to be seven arbitrators, three of whom shall be from a neutral country. It is now proposed, it is understood, to limit the board of arbitrators to three, who shall take the evidence furnished by their commissioners.

This change will be suggested to the proper authorities and will probably be adopted. The names of the three arbitrators are said to have been agreed upon by the parties interested.

FITZSIMMONS CAUGHT.

The Brockville Murderer Captured at New Orleans—A Cigaret Club.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 4.—Frederick Fitzsimmons, formerly of Brockville, Ont., who shot Detective David Gilkinson and almost killed Detective Murray, sawed his way out of jail just before he was to have been tried, and for five months has eluded diligent pursuit, has been captured at a cigar stand in New Orleans. Detective Murray left last night to fetch him back.

Fitzsimmons mailed a letter to the newspapers the first thing after he broke jail, and has frequently written to counsel and others. A letter to Holmes Anderson, a fellow prisoner, led to his recapture. In it Fitzsimmons made an appointment with Anderson to meet him in New Orleans some days ago.

Detectives Finney and Lang of this city have been in the vicinity of the Crescent City for weeks, shadowing their man. They were aided by the brand of cigarets he was known to smoke, and which it was found he got at the stand. Three officers pounced on him there soon after midnight and put him in irons before he could shoot.

SHORTHORN BREEDERS.

Satisfactory Statements at the Annual Meeting Yesterday.

TORONTO, Feb. 4.—The seventh annual meeting of the Dominion Shorthorn Breeders' Association opened yesterday morning in Shaftesbury Hall, Mr. Richard Gibson, president, in the chair. Those present were: Hon. John Dryden, James Hunter, Alma; F. R. Shore, White Oak; D. D. Wilson, Seaforth; F. Green, Innerkip, William Liston, Aurora; Arthur Johnston, Greenwood; F. D. Patton, St. George; James Russell, Richmond Hill; C. M. Simmons, Ivan; David Rea, Fergus; James Tolton, Walkerton; David Hill, Dublin; William Dawson, Victoria; David Crerar, Shakespeare; J. C. Hanley, Reid; William Redmond, Millbrook; R. W. Greig, Ottawa; A. W. Smith, Maple Lodge; O. Chad, Toronto; John Racey, Markham; J. Idington, Stratford, Robert Miller, Markham; John Hope, Bow Park; W. J. McNaughton, Lancaster; R. R. Sangster, Lancaster; J. Biggers, Clinton; F. Green, Innerkip; J. L. Cowan, Toronto; J. B. Bristow, Rob Roy; Richard Gibson, Delaware, and Samuel Allen, Bowmanville.

The Executive Committee presented the sixth annual report, which stated that during the year 1891 they had paid for 3162 registrations, 2889 certificates and 378 changes of ownership. Of these had been rejected 27 registrations, 16 certificates and 2 changes of ownership, returning the fee, leaving 3135 registrations, 2873 certificates and 376 transfers, against in 1890, 3166 registrations, 2889 certificates and 348 transfers, and against it in 1889, 2729 registrations, 8522 certificates and 367 transfers, showing hardly any change in numbers, which is reassuring, as the shorthorn industry has not appeared satisfactory lately. The report further stated that Volume III. of the herd books had been pleted and contained all the pedegrees up to the end of 1891. To meet the large expense of re-printing so many old pedigrees, as mentioned last year, the Agriculture and Arts Association had been again solicited and had consented to contribute another $1000 for 1892. The eight volumes which are now complete have recorded the pedigrees of 36,583 animals. The report shows that the association was formed in 1882 with a membership of 164, while there are 397 paid-up members on the roll to-day. The fees from registration increased from $2668 in 1889, $3047 in 1890 to $3152 in 1891. The committee called attention to the new rule requiring all calves born after Jan. 1, 1889, to be recorded before they are 18 months old. A double fee will be charged after that date. The financial statement showed that the receipts for the past year had been $8491 and the disbursements $8331, leaving a credit balance of $160. The assets were shown to amount to $5194, while the liabilities sum up but $590.

A large amount of formal business was transacted.

Who Will Secure the Twins?

TORONTO, Feb. 4.—An interesting dispute over the custody of two children came up at Osgoode Hall yesterday morning before Justice MacMahon. It seems that some years ago Charles S. Ellis married Mabel Hardy, daughter of George Hardy of Rose-avenue. The children of the marriage were the twin brothers, Matthew C. Ellis and Charles Q. H. Ellis, now bright and promising lads of eight years of age. In 1890 Mrs. Mabel Ellis obtained a divorce from her husband and the court allowed her the custody of the children. On the 24th ult. Mrs. Ellis died after bequeathing the custody of the children to her father, George Hardy of 50 Rose-avenue. The father, Mr. Charles S. Ellis, is now anxious to have the children handed over to him, and yesterday morning the boys were produced at Osgoode Hall in response to a writ of habeas corpus. This case will come up again at Osgoode Hall next Wednesday.

Riot at Lisbon.

LISBON, Feb. 4.—A crowd of workmen out of employment pillaged a number of baker shops in this city yesterday. Many were arrested.

Express Messengers Discharged.

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—Twenty express messengers in the employ of the Adams Express Company, it is stated here, have been discharged within two days. Most of the messengers are veterans, including Dresbach, who fought a gang of robbers at Seymour, Ind., in 1872 and successfully defended $50,000 of express money. No reason was assigned for the action of the company making the discharges. The men claim it is the result of a determination by the company's officials to exterminate the brotherhood of express messengers.

A Farmer's Suicide.

AYLMER, Ont., Feb. 4.—Elias Pressey, a married man, living in the township of Malahide, suicided last night by taking strychnine.

Mr. Thomas McGreevy a Candidate.

QUEBEC, Feb. 4.—The Hon. John Hearn is now regularly in the field as the Ottawa Government's candidate for Quebec West. The Hon. Thomas McGreevy will oppose him as an Independent. The Liberals may possibly bring forward no candidate under the circumstances.

SALISBURY'S REASONS

FOR THE DEFEATS IN MOLTON AND ROSSENDALE.

A Crowning Calamity and Disgrace to be Avoided—Euthusiastic Cheers Greet the Speaker, Who Thinks That Lukewarmness Did It.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—In his speech at Exeter Lord Salisbury ascribed the results of the recent South Malton and Rossendale elections solely to the loss of personal influence, adding that if the Unionist vote increased everywhere as there a Unionist majority might be secured. Possibly the manifest lukewarmness on the Home Rule question was due to Radicals fostering the notion that its advocates only used the Irish vote as a tool to secure office without intending to grant Home Rule. The speaker said his auditors should observe, however, that the Irish quarreled among themselves, and vied with each other to obtain the most extreme concessions from Mr. Gladstone.

"The first step in concession," declared Lord Salisbury, "will soon lead to others and eventually place protectionists in impecunious Ireland in the hands of the priests, who, in all our quarrels with Spain, America and France, invariably fight against us. What would the world think of us if we displayed such weakness? If we fail in this hour of our trial the flowers will be plucked one by one from our diadem of the empire, and we will slowly recede from the great position handed down to us by our fathers. I appeal to you to make every effort to avert such a crowning calamity and disgrace."

In responding to a vote of thanks which was passed immediately after the conclusion of his speech Lord Salisbury renewed his earnest appeal to the Conservatives. He said if he was still able to influence them to devote their whole energies to the burning question of the integrity of the empire, he would leave other matters upon which there was a divergence of views until a more fitting occasion.

LONDON, Feb. .—The long expected manifesto by Mr. Gladstone to his adherents will appear on Friday next in The Star. The document makes a leaded column of The Star.

Summed up briefly, the manifesto may be said to be a rehash of parts of the distinguished statesman's former speeches upon various subjects of interest to the voters of Great Britain and Ireland.

Mr. Gladstone does not advocate any particular policy, but simply makes some good points upon which to hang the elements of the Liberal policy.

He deals particularly with the history and conditions of rural population from the time of the severe oppression down to the present time. He considers that the conditions of the agricultural classes have slowly improved, but, he adds, the improvement is not yet sufficient and additional legislation for the agricultural population and the passage of further measures to enable them to acquire land are needed.

Public Meetings of the People.

During the course of his remarks, Mr. Gladstone refers to the distressing incidents which happened at Manchester in 1819, when 100,000 workmen held a reform meeting and while so doing were charged upon by cavalry, who rode the defenceless people down beneath] their horses' hoofs, killing 11 of them and wounding 600.

The veteran statesman contrasts that event with the present rights of the people to hold public meetings, which right he insists ought not to be hampered in the slightest by unnecessary local regulations or other restrictions.

Trades Unionism.

Mr. Gladstone then deals with the question of the repeal of the combination laws and the effects they have had upon the immense growth of trade unionism, which, he explains, has been a great benefit to laborers of all kinds and conditions.

The liberation of the press according to Mr. Gladstone is one of the greatest Liberal measures of the century, and has, in his opinion, been productive of an immense amount of good.

In former years, within the recollection of many, Mr. Gladstone also says, the highest wages an agricultural laborer received in England was nine shillings ($2.25) per week; while now the same class of workmen average 15 shillings ($3.75) per week, and there are but few cases where agricultural laborers are only able to earn 9 shillings per week. In Oxfordshire Mr. Gladstone thinks some rural laborers may only be able to earn the latter amount, but these are exceptions to the general rule.

Referring to the commissary law, settlement by which a pauper is returned to the parish where he was born, Mr. Gladstone says that he believes that it would be better to make them chargeable to the poorhouse in the district in which they reside. The present poor laws are not sufficiently broad to cope with the amount of pauperism existing. The present land laws and the large holdings made possible by them are the cause of much of the pauperism referred to.

The Landlord, the Preacher and the Farmer.

In other portions of his manifesto Mr. Gladstone prays that the rural workers may be delivered from the landlord, the clergyman and the farmer, who, he says, are holding themselves aloof from the laborers and setting themselves upon a high plane, where they are unknown and do not care for the laborers. The Liberals, by the county franchise, gave the agricultural laborers the greatest boon possible at the hands of a political party, and experience showed that the Liberals were justified in adopting this course.

Wedded to Parish Councils.

In conclusion Mr. Gladstone reviews the work done and the resolutions presented by the recent meeting in London of the Liberal delegates from the agricultural districts just previous to his departure for the Continent, and he again advocates the establishment of parish councils as being an indispensable complement to local government and advises, vaguely, that various economic remedies should be adopted which would bring social salvation to the tillers of the soil.

The formation of reading clubs for agricultural and other laborers is of the suggestions made by Mr. Gladstone with the view of improving their social and moral condition.

A Minister Uses a Whip.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 4.—Yesterday Rev. Mr. Wardell made a vicious assault on William Loveday, cutting him badly about the head and face with a whip. Wardell is high chief ranger of a court of Foresters and Wardell past chief of the order, and the assault arose out of some dispute at a recent session of the lodge. The police magistrate this morning fined Rev. Mr. Wardell $20 and costs, remarking that the attack was most brutal and unprovoked.

Provincial Legislatures to Meet.

HALIFAX, N.S., Feb. 4.—The Nova Scotia Legislature is summoned to meet March 3 for the despatch of business

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 3.—It is currently reported that the Provincial Legislature will meet Feb. 25, the same day as Parliament.

TO BE BURIED THURSDAY.

The Last Words Spoken by Charles Hadon Spurgeon.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Mr. Spurgeon's funeral will be held Thursday, the 11th inst. His body will lie at the Metropolitan Tabernacle during Tuesday and Wednesday of next week and the building will be open to visitors.

The body has been embalmed and will be sealed in a leaden shell to-day. This shell will afterwards be enclosed in a beautiful olive wood coffin.

The last quotation of Scripture made by Mr. Spurgeon: "I have fought a good fight. I have finished my course. I have kept the faith," is inscribed on his coffin.

POISONED BY AKEES.

Five Persons Die From Indulging in a Jamaican Luxury.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Feb. 4.—Mrs. Branday, wife of Mr. C. H. Branday of the Public Works Department; Arnold Branday, their child; Miss Harper, Mrs. Branday's sister; William Pitkin and another person have died here after partaking of salt fish and akees.

The akees had been taken from a tree in the yard on the previous day, but unfortunately were plucked from a branch which had been broken about three or four days previously, and it is presumed that the fruit had had time to develop its poisonous qualities.

The akee is a quince-shaped, pulpy, yellowish fruit, the centre of which is of a bright-red color and poisonous. This portion Jamaicans are careful to remove ere partaking of the fruit. It is eaten fried in oil or boiled with salt codfish. If kept too long after being picked without the centre being removed, a fermentation occurs, which causes the poison to permeate the fruit.

A Noted Newspaper Suspends Publication

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 4.—A familiar newspaper will be missed this week on the desk of every diplomatist in Europe. After an unbroken career of 37 years, Le Nord, the great Russian organ of Western Europe, has ceased to exist. It was founded in the days of the Crimean War by M. Nicolas de Poggenpohl. Le Nord always maintained a reputation for good writing and exclusive information.

Tyndall's Proposition.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Prof. Tyndall writes to the press proposing the use of sudden, powerful flash lights or gun-cotton explosives as more likely to be effectual in warning vessels off the coast during a fog than a steady glare or continuous blasts of a fog-horn. He suggests the periodical dropping of an opaque screen over the St. Catharines electric light.

The Eider's Cargo of Money.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The lifeboats this morning made several journeys to and from the stranded steamer Eider and succeeded in landing all the specie from the steamer. They also landed several sacks of mail.

Hicks-Beach Also Speaks.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, President of the Board of Trade, delivered a speech at Bristol this evening. He stated that the Government meant to have a working session of Parliament. It would puzzle the Opposition, he said, to give any real reason why in the best interests of the country there ought not to be a working session. Some cried for immediate dissolution, but for what reason? The result of the Rossendale election was a serious defeat for the Government, but it did not necessarily imply defeat in the general elections. He trusted to address his hearers again about the same time next year and still as a member of the Ministry.

ONTARIO'S FARMERS.

In Favor of Free Trade With England—What Ma kes Apples Bloom?

TORONTO, Feb. 4.—At yesterday's meeting of the Central Farmers Institute Professor Robertson, Dominion Dairy Commissioner, spoke of the possibilities of selling Canadian products at a profit in the English markets. A resolution favoring free trade was passed by a majority of 84 to 26.

Mr. Henry Brown of Chesley read a paper on the position of the Ontario farmer, looking at it from a very unfavorable standpoint.

Mr. Wolverton called attention to an article in an English fruitgrowers' paper, The Horticultural Times, which contained a long article lately on the danger of arsenic poisoning from Canadian apples asserted that the arsenic could be rubbed off the fruit with the hand. It was the arsenic in the fruit that gave it the many beautiful tints with which the English growers could not compete. The convention resolved to furnish Sir Charles Tupper such scientific information as would enable him to refute all such libelous statements.

To-day will be the last day of the convention.

Warm Weather Down East.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 4.—The weather record here for January was remarkable. The snowfall was only 14 inches, the smallest for many years and very little more than half the average, while the rainfall was over seven inches, or three times the average amount for January. It was about the warmest January on record, the average temperature being 24, or six degrees warmer than the average in January for 30 years.

Newspaper Office Damaged.

OSHAWA, Feb. 4.—The explosion of a boiler this afternoon caused a fire in The Vindicator office, Simcoe-street. The firemen responded to the call very promptly, but the fire had gained considerable headway. Three thousand dollars damage was done to stock and machinery, covered by insurance.

A Canadian In Trouble.

WINDSOR, Feb. 4.—Allan Murray, a Canadian stone cutter, who has been working in Ann Arbor for some time, was arrested in Windsor last night on advices from the sheriff of Washtenaw County, Mich., charging him with criminal assault.

Five Wives in Court.

PORT HURON, Mich., Feb. 4.—Cornelius A. Terry, the man with five wives, was convicted of bigamy in the Circuit Court to-day, when the jury rendered the verdict. The wives were present, including the Sarnia one. Some wept, some laughed, but the prisoner nearly fainted.

Struck Down the Lottery.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The United States Supreme Court handed down to-day a decision in the Louisiana Lottery case sustaining the Government at every point. The court holds that the law excluding the lottery company's circulars and other communications from the mails is constitutional and may be enforced.

Gales in Spain.

MADRID, Feb. 4.—A terrible gale is blowing in this vicinity. Considerable damage has been done in this city and neighborhood. Ten persons have been seriously injured by falling debris.

Fire at Tweed.

TWEED, Ont., Feb. 3.—Fire was discovered in Thomas Graham's furniture store and dwelling and quickly consumed the buildings and contents, [illegible] of a large amount of furniture. [illegible] Ebbs' store on the north and Wm. Campbell's on the south were both badly damaged.

THE DAILY ONTARIO

BELLEVILLE FEBRUARY 4, 1892

THE TWO CANDIDATES.

W. B. Northrup has been nominated to contest East Hastings in the Tory interests. Only last March the electors of that intelligent riding said they did not want Mr. Northrup to represent them, and on the 20th of this month they will tell him the same thing in a much more emphatic manner. A better nomination than that of Mr. Northrup could not have been made for the Liberal party, for now all fears as to the result of the election are put to rest.

In a comparison between the two men everything is in favor of Mr. Aylsworth. He possesses great local strength in the riding, which will stand him in good stead on polling day. He has for twenty years faithfully served the people of the county as a member of the county council, having twice been warden of the county. He therefore specially merits the confidence and the support of the electors of East Hastings. Efficient service in one representative position should be a good reason for the bestowal of higher honors when opportunity offers.

Then again Mr. Aylsworth is a resident of the riding, and so possesses a claim on, the suffrages of the people such as Mr. Northrup can not pretend to. Moreover having been so long a member of the county council he is intimately acquainted with all parts of the riding and knows the sentiments and needs of the constituency to an extent that will enable him to fully reflect their views in the House. Mr. Northrup, however, is a comparative stranger to the constituency he aspires to represent, and not at all in touch with the needs of the electorate.

Mr. Aylsworth is a substantial, intelligent business man. He has long been before the public and no man can point to an act in his whole life of which he need feel ashamed. His moral character is irreproachable, as is his sterling integrity, his experience is broad and far reaching, his judgment is sound and fully matured, his disposition is kind and benevolent. On the other hand many of these qualifications are lacking in Mr. Northrup. He has had no experience in public affairs, he has never been credited with any striking degree of good judgment, he has never done anything that marks him as a man who could represent the constituency with credit to it or to himself. He possesses good looks with a somewhat fluent flow of language, though with a marked paucity of ideas, but these do not constitute sufficient qualifications to entitle him to a seat at the great council of the nation.

At the present time, when corruption is so rampant among public men, it is specially important that the people should elect as their representatives men whose natures revolt at the very shadow of evil and who will unsparingly condemn corruption and immorality wherever it may be found. It is needless to say that Mr. Aylsworth fulfils the requirements of such a representative to an extent that even his best friend would not claim for Mr. Northrup—though his best friend would perhaps be less apt to claim it than those less intimate.

MR. EGAN'S GOODNESS.

HOW HE SAVED THE LIVES OF SEVERAL PEOPLE

Uncle Sam's Chilian Minister Gets a Good Dose of Taffy, Which Most People Will Take With Salt—Egan's House of Refuge—He Wants Investigation.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—A Herald special from Valparaiso says: The resolution in the House of Representatives at Washington requesting President Harrison to recall Minister Egan was read with interest in Valparaiso and Santiago. Surprise was expressed in many quarters that such a resolution should have been presented to Congress. There has been an entire change in public feeling toward Minister Egan in this country since the settlement of the diplomatic tangles that have been disturbing the relations of this country and the United States. His attitude seems now to be better understood, and his services in protecting many prominent members of the congressional party from the vengeance of the late dictator, and in granting an asylum to the refugees who sought the American Legation after the downfall of Balmaceda, are now generally recognized as having been both humane and proper. For the past 12 months Minister Egan's house has been filled with refugees. During Balmaceda's dictatorship he shielded many of the leaders of the Congressional party, and, after the fall of Valparaiso, many of those whose desire for vengeance he had thwarted sought his protection from those who had formerly asked his aid. All the time during the past year from 20 to 30 refugees, representing one or the other faction of this country, have been quartered in the American legation. They have been entertained and fed entirely at the expense of Minister Egan. He refused to accept a penny from those who sought his protection, whether they were congressionalists or Balmacedists. He has expended nearly as much as one year's salary in behalf of the refugees, whom he has kept in the legation. The public of Chili appear to be getting better acquainted with his acts, and this accounts for the general reversal of feeling in regard to Minister Egan's recall. Eduardo Matta, who is now president of the chamber of deputies, and many others whose lives were saved by Minister Egan during Balmaceda's dictatorship, favor his retention here as the American minister. Senor Pereira, minister of foreign affairs, who instructed Minister Montt at Washington to ask for Mr. Egan's recall, now appears very friendly to him and so does Senor Blanco Viel, the intendente at Valparaiso. Augustin Edwards, whose life and property were saved through Egan's influence, is the only prominent member of the old congressional party, who now seems anxious to have Egan called home. Mr. Egan was asked yesterday what he thought of the resolution introduced at Washington requesting his recall. "I court a full investigation of all my acts," said Mr. Egan. "I have no fear that anything detrimental to my reputation would be discovered. My actions throughout the difficulties have been approved by Secretary Blaine and the Administration at Washington."

"August Flower"

Dyspepsia. There is a gentleman at Malden-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., named Captain A. G. Pareis, who has written us a letter in which it is evident that he has made up his mind concerning some things, and this is what he says:

"I have used your preparation called August Flower in my family for seven or eight years. It is constantly in my house, and we consider it the best remedy for Indigestion, and Constipation we have ever used or known. Indigestion. My wife is troubled with Dyspepsia, and at times suffers very much after eating. The August Flower, however, relieves the difficulty. My wife frequently says to me when I am going to town, 'We are out of August Flower, and I think you had better get another bottle.' Constipation I am also troubled with Indigestion, and whenever I am, I take one or two teaspoonfuls before eating, for a day or two, and all trouble is removed."

THE BEST FAMILY PILL IN USE

Keep the Works in good order.

NORMAN, Ont., January 1

W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first, only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

(Concluded from yesterday.)

This is a noteworthy opinion in view of the roll of such names as Bartley Campbell, John McCullough, Tony Hart, Hawley Chapman, Charles E. Blanchette, and W. J. Scanlan.

"It may be that much an impression was not unnaturally derived from the publicity that seems to attach to the goings and doings of people on the stage. At all events, while paresis is not known to exist among savage races, it does develop itself even among negroes. Cases of this kind of paresis are observed rarely, but they do exist, in negroes who have suddenly changed their residence from the calm of the country to the bustle and excitement and novel dissipations of life in a large city."

DUE TO OVERWORKED NERVES.

"It is, indeed, a malady springing from an overworked nervous system, a deadly incident to the excitement of our modern civilization. Sober and godly and virtuous persons, who have a weak, nervous system, may in this way fall victims to paresis by a simple innocent indulgence in pleasures which do not operate to the prejudice of persons of ordinarily strong nerves.

"But I should say that the chief causes of paresis are the excessive indulgence of the passions, excessive use of alcohol, business excesses combined with worry, and those diseases which imply precedent immorality."

Dr. George De Forrest Smith has been called in as an alienist to see John McCullough, Tony Hart, Scanlan, and other of New York's mournfully prominent muster roll of paretics.

"It is a mistake," said Dr. Smith, "to infer, as so many seem thoughtlessly to have done, that the blight of paresis implies an antecedent moral blight necessarily. The very immoralities and indecencies which have given rise to this impression have in a majority of cases been the symptoms and not the cause of the disease, and this fact is thoroughly well recognized in the books and by the expert practitioner.

"It is a fearful incident to the contemplation of horrible malady, but one nevertheless to be considered, that men have incipient paresis long before their friends suspect it, and the gradual degradation of the man's moral nature and the growing depravity of his tastes—which long afterward, when the disease has passed into another stage, are mysteriously alluded to as the causes of 'poor So-and-So's fall'—were in reality only the symptoms that the frightful plague was already at work in his brain.

"The real causes? Difficult to particularize but easy recognizable and well understood by the practitioner. Overtaxation of the nervous system is the chief, either by excessive mental work or excessive dissipation. Hard drinking, by weakening the blood vessels of the brain, may lead to paresis. So may, and indeed often does, the disease of the blood which has worked such havoc among mankind since mediæval times.

"Symptoms? There are some curious facts to be observed in connection with incipient paresis. You have a friend or an acquaintance in whom you have noticed a morbid change of habit and taste; in business pursuits as well as in personal idiosyncrasies. Do not sit in judgment on him just for that. But has he developed immoral tastes? Kleptomania, perhaps, or indecencies which a year or two ago would have been unspeakably shocking to him? That is a bad sign.

"Do you observe a fixity of the eyeball or a nervous twitching or the corners of the mouth, a sudden spasmodic compression of the lips or distortion of the face muscles under the eyes?

"All these to the trained eye of the practictioner would be momentous. Is there a hesitancy of speech, a difficulty of enunciating labial sounds, all those which bring the tongue in contact with the teeth?—that is almost conclusive, with the others, as a symptom of incipient paresis.

"How does drinking, pure and simple, result in paresis? Simple enough. Excessive use of alcoholic stimulants produces repeated congestion of the brain and so weakens and diseases the blood vessels that they naturally develop paresis. It is the curse of our modern civilization the most fatal and mysterious of any now known to medical science.

"A paretic patient of mine said he owned all New York down to the City Hall. These 'delusions of grandeur,' overweening estimates of one's own importance, are almost inevitable indications of the progress of the disease."—New York Correpspondence Philadelphia Press.

Suffocated in the Tunnel.

SARNIA, Feb. 2.—The Sarnia tunnel claimed its first victim. George Hawthorn, a well-known and popular young Londoner, was suffocated here this morning and a brakeman named Joseph Whalen of Point Edward narrowly escaped meeting the same fate.

As Tunnel Conductor George Hawthorn was taking a freight train through the tunnel from the American side, when half way through the couplings of the train broke in two places; the engine went on through with the cars which had not broken loose, Conductor Hawthorn and Brakeman Joseph Whalen jumping off to couple the cars. In a short time they felt themselves being suffocated and started to run through. Hawthorn fell down exhausted on the track, and when Whalen found he could go no farther he attempted to climb one of the side ladders so that he would not be run over when the engine returned, but fell back overcome across the track. It was about an hour and a half before the men were found and got out. Medical aid was promptly on hand and Whalen was revived, but all efforts to save the life of Hawthorn were unavailing and he died. Deceased was taken to his home in London this morning on the 9.55 train.

Alaska and British Columbia.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Secretary Blaine has, through the acting secretary of the Treasury, asked Congress for an appropriation of $50,000 to complete the preliminary survey of the boundary line between Alaska and British Columbia. Secretary Blaine says that the most difficult and expensive part of the work has already been accomplished, and it is of great importance that it should be completed.

LETHBRIDGE, Feb. 2.—Ernest Kenny, aged 10, endeavored to climb on a milk wagon while it was in motion. He put his foot in the spokes of the wheel and in a twinkling the spectators were horrified to see the boy's leg, from the knee, fall to the ground on one side of the wheel while the boy fell on the other He never uttered a cry. Medical assistance was called and he may recover.

If you have a cough or cold do not neglect it; many without a trace of that hereditary disease have drifted into a consumptive grave by neglecting what was only a slight cold. Had the used Bickle's Anti-Consumtive Syrup before it was too late their lives would have been spared. Mr. A. W. Levy Mitchell, writes. "I think Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation on the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught severe cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cough. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of Consumption, and had given up hodes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickel's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieved, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured. I always recomend it for severe colds and consumption."

THE FROST FESTIVAL

A Brilliant Scene Last Evening in St. Church Church Hall

The spectacle witnessed yesterday afternoon and evening in St. Thomas Church Hall was one that will not soon be forgotten by those who were present. The hall was decorated magnificently and appropriately in honor of King Frost, who must have been delighted with what he saw were he present on the occasion. A minute description of the decorations would be impossible. Evergreens lined the walls and festooned the ceiling and mingling with this bright green, were to be seen on all sides artificial icicles and snowballs. There hung from the trees, from the ceiling, on the wall, every place where they could appropriately be. At the right of the door is a lovely, dainty little icy nook where delicious candies of all kinds that seemed to contain the essence of sweetness were disposed by handsome and smiling ladies not a whit less sweet At the left is a fish pond, beautifully decorated, with a painting in front representing a pond. In this also handsome young ladies enticed the unwary to buy snowballs &c., which were disposed of in large numbers. In the centre of the hall is an arbor which is a gem of beauty, and around the sides is displayed for sale fancy work in endless variety, for which also, a ready sale was found. At the farther end was the ice grotto beautifully contived. Icicles hung down the arched entrance, while in the beautiful interior King Frost himself might have found an abode that would have delighted his heart. Blocks of real ice arranged before a large mirror would have formed for him a regal throne. On each side of the hall at the lower end were arranged tables profusely spread with tempting delicacies both seasonable and unseasonable. There was tea and coffee for those who were cold and ice cream for those who were warm. There were oysters hot and oysters cold, cakes of all kinds—everything that even an epicure could ask for, and it is needless to say that these tables were well patronized. One novelty that attracted much attention consisted of two blocks of ice hollowed out and filled with raw oysters, which were dispensed from these frosty receptacles.

Beautiful as this room was in the afternoon, [illegible] evening when the gas was [illegible] was magnificent. The snowballs [illegible] white, the hanging mirrors, the [illegible]icles, the silver trimmings—all [illegible]ashed and scintillated and sparkled in the light in a manner perfectly bewildering.

The [illegible] waiters were all appropriately dressed [illegible] powdered and silvered hair, and presented a charming appearance. The warmth any geniality of their manner dispelled and illusions of coldness that their costumes might have raised.

One of the most pleasing features of the evening was the snowflake drill. This was given by the following sweet little wee tots; Minnie Walker, Mary Stewart, Birdie Dougall, Annie Phillips, "Sunshine" Benjamin, Ruby Milburn, Conny Weller, Evelyn Twining, Helen Holden, Edna Bird, Kathleen Stork, Amy Wallbridge. Each of those looked libe a ball of snow and as they sang their chorus and went through their snowflake drill they presented a beautiful appearance and were heartily applauded. Master Robbie Simpson played the accompaniment on a violin.

Throughout the evening music was rendered by a number of gentlemen on the violin, mandolin and banjo. The Hall at night was crowded and nearly $160 was taken in exclusive of the tickets sold beforehand. The decorations of the hall and the fancy work and prize snowballs for sale represent a lot of hard work by the ladies, and the members of the male sex can only wonder at their patience and perseverance.

The festival will be open this afternoon and evening and will be visited doubtless by even larger crowds than last night.

MRS. S. GARRATT SHOT

But it was not Done With Malice Afore thought.

Whang! And a bullet shattered a pane of glass in an upstairs bedroom in Constable Stephen Garratt's house on Pinnacle street at 7.20 this morning. The husband and wife were attending their toilet when the bullet crashing through the window, struck Mrs. Garratt on the right shoulder and fell to the carpet at her feet. The lady was fortunately not injured, as the bullet, supposed to have been a stray one from a 21 calibre revolver in the hand of a juvenile sport, had spent its force. Sports who take an early shy at bir[ds] should be more careful of the feelings [of] the feminine sex.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR SOCIETIES.

Celebrate Their Eleventh Anniversary at Deseronto

At the Christian Endeavor meeting held in the Redemer's church Deseronto, Tuesday night, a large number from the different societies in Belleville were present. Some twenty-four young people started in a large carry-all on Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock and did not reach Deseronto until half past eight. After reaching Shannonville the party had to break the roads which were impassable with snow. After reaching Deseronto refreshments were awaiting them in the basement of the church after which a splendid program was carried out by the members of the different societies. Mr. Rathbun occupied the chair and on the platform were Rev. J. L. George, Rev. Mr. Floyd, pastor of the church and prominent members of the Deseronto Christian Endeavor Society. Short addresses were given by the visiting delegates from Belleville, Kingston and Napanee which were much appreciated. At the close of the program Rev. Mr. Floyd requested the members of the church to remain afterwards and take charge of the delegates as the weather would not permit them to retutn until the following day. After the members had taken all they could accomodate Mr. Rathbun kindly sent the remainder to the Jamieson House at his expense, and at nine o'clock the following morning the Belleville party left Deseronto and reached this city at half past one in the afternoon.

The Belleville visitors are loud in their praise of she Deseronto people for their courtiess to them.

LITERARY NOTES

Prof. Lanciani's paper on "The Pageant of Rome in the Year 17 B.C." has the foremost place in the Atlantic Monthly for February. It is devoted to an account of public games held in Rome seventeen years before Christ, and instituted under the patronage of Augustus, the Senate and the College of the Quindecimviri. Most important evidences of these games have been lately discovered in Rome; and these having come under Professor Lanciani's eye, he has reconstructed an account of the games and also given a description of the important discoveries lately made, which is of the highest interest, not only to archæologists, but to the general reader. Writing of Rome reminds us of Mr. Crawford's second installment of "Don Orsino," which gives incidentally an idea of the mania for speculation and building lately rife in Rome, and contains a vivid description of the Pope assisting at a service at St. Peter's.

The February Forum has as a special feature an explanation of three of the greatest industrial problems in all history. The Nicaragua Canal (in both its commercial and its political aspects), the further development of lake commerce and of ways to the sea, and the reclaiming of a great domain by irrigation. In the same way, the largest experiments that have been made in practical philanthropy—Gen. Booth's great plan of work in England and the German labor colonies for tramps—have been investigated for The Forum by Prof. Francis G Peabooy (who is now studying social systems in Germany), and by Dr. Albert Shaw, who went to London to study the results of the first year of Gen. Booth's work with the large sum that was collected in response to his appeal in "Darkest England."

TROUBLE AMONG THE STONECUTTERS

The Point Ann Union Objects to the Employment of Scabs.

There is trouble among the non-union and union stonecutters at the Point Ann quarry which has resulted in a notice being inserted in the papers notifying stonecutters to keep away from the Stewart job now being got out at the quarry. A reporter to-day interviewed one of the officers of the local union in reference to the trouble. It appears that Mr. Hugh Stewart of Tweed recently took a sub contract for supplying stone for the new Toronto drill shed. He put on a staff of "Scabs" and the union men at once objected and called a meeting and issued notices to the outside unions. The ONTARIO'S informant stated that the contractor was giving the work out by the piece at seven cents for the running foot, fourteen inches high and fifty cents a yard for stone under twelve inches. The union rate is $3 per day. The latter claims that the work now being got out is worth twelve cents for the running foot and at least a dollar a yard for stone under 12 inches.

A New York Physician

"I do not hesitate to say that I frequently prescribe Hood's Sarsaparilla for my patients," said an eminent New York physician, whose name if given would be recognized as that of a specialist at the head of his branch of the profession, and I do so with a great deal of confidence."

"In the first place," he continued, "I believe in it as a pure, reliable blood purifier, with especial merit as a tonic. Then, I can rely on it as being the same medicine all the time. What I mean is this:—I can write a prescripton for a patient, who will take it to a druggist and receive medicine accordingly. The next time the patient needs about the same medicine, or when I give the same prescription to another patient, he goes to some other druggist who prepares a medicine which looks and acts entirely different from that of the first druggist. I do not mean by this to reflect upon the druggists for as a rule there is no more honorable or reliable business class of men in the country. But the most honest men may differ in understanding, belief and method. Now Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared all the time by the same men, who have given a great deal of thought and time to its composition. It is prepared in large quantities and from the same ingredients. Therefore when you buy a second, or 3rd or 4th bottle, they will be the same as the first, of equal appearance, strength and curative power. It is a good medicine and is being prescribed more and more by the medical profession."

Application.

It takes only this to thoroughly remove Dandruff, stop itching of the scalp, and make the hair soft and pliable. In fact Anti-Dandruff is a perfect hair tonic—all say so who use it.

Makes the Weak Strong

The marked benefit which people in run down or weakened state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves the claim that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act like a stimulant, imparting fictitious strength from which there must follow a reaction of greater weakness than before, but in the most natural way Hood's Sarsaparilla overcomes creates an appetite, purifies the blood, and, in short, gives great bodily, nerve, mental and digestive strength.

That Tired Feeling

"I derived very much benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I took for general debility. It built me right up, and gave me an excellent appetite." ED. JENKINS, Mt. Savage, Md.

Fagged Out

"Last spring I was completely fagged out. My strength left me and I felt sick and miserable all the time, so that I could hardly attend to my business. I took one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it cured me. There is nothing like it." R. C. BEGOLE, Editor Enterprise, Belleville, Mich.

Worn Out

"Hood's Sarsaparilla restored me to good health. Indeed, I might say truthfully it saved my life. To one feeling tired and worn out I would earnestly recommend a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. PHEBE MOSHER, 90 Brooks Street, East Boston, Mass.

A FACT

It is an indisputable fact that we have established a good business in a short time. And that in spite of hard times and the keenest opposition of good merchants. The reason simply is we keep abreast the times. Our stock is carefully bought and honestly handled. When we advertise bargains we have them. We are about enlarging our premises and look for a very large spring trade. Think of us when you want dry goods

MORTAR-SPOTTED SKIN

About the 1st of April last I noticed some red pimples like coming out all over my body, but thought nothing of it until some time later on, when it began to look like spots of mortar spotted on, and which came off in layers accompanied with itching. I would scratch every night until I was raw, then the next night the scales being formed meanwhile were scratched off again. In vain did I consult all the doctors in the county, but without aid. After giving up all hopes of recovery, I happened to see an advertisement in the newspaper about your Cuticura Remedies, and purchased them from my druggist, and obtained almost immediate relief. I began to notice that the scaly eruptions gradually dropped off and disappeared one by one, until I had been fully cured. I had the disease thirteen months before I began taking the Remedies, and in four or five weeks was entirely cured. My disease was eczema and psoriasis. I know of a great many who have taken the Remedies, and thank me for the knowledge of them, especially mothers who have babes with scaly eruptions on their heads and bodies. I cannot express my thanks to you. My body was covered with scales, and I was an awful spectacle to behold. Now my skin is as clear as a baby's.

The Member for Pontiac Unseated.

Ottawa, Feb. 5.—Judges Belanger and Malhoit have unseated Mr. Thomas Murray, Liberal M.P. for Pontiac, on the ground of illegal payments by his agents. Mr. Murray will appeal to the Supreme Court.

Nominations Yesterday.

Lindsay, Feb. 5.—At the nomination to-day for candidates to contest the election for the House of Commons in the South riding of Victoria the Liberals nominated Thomas Walters and the Conservatives Charles Fairbairn.

Peel.

Brampton, Feb. 5.—Nominations were made here yesterday of candidates in the bye-election in Peel county. Joseph Featherston, the unseated member, was re-nominated by the Liberals. The Conservatives nominated James Jackson. Both gentlemen are farmers residing in Toronto township, within six miles of each other. A joint meeting was held in the Concert Hall during the afternoon. The largest audience ever gathered within its walls listened to speeches by the candidates, Sir Richard Cartwright and Hon. George Foster. Sir Richard spoke for an hour and was followed by the Finance Minister for 1½ hours. Sir Richard replied in a 15-minute speech, but his opponent waived his privilege. It cannot be said that anything like the interest is shown in this election that characterized the campaign of 1891. The party which works the hardest on Feb. 11 will be the winner. During the past week Dr. Montague, Clarke Wallace and David Henderson, Halton, for the Conservatives, and Thomas Bain, Wentworth, and James McMullen, Wellington, for the Liberals, have addressed meetings in the county.

North Victoria

Fenelon Falls, Feb. 5.—At the nomination here yesterday for North Victoria Samuel Hughes (Con.), and J. A. Barron (Lib.), were nominated. The speakers on the Conservative side were Hon. M. Bowell, E. Cochrane, M.P., N. Clarke Wallace and Samuel Hughes, and for the Reformers John A. Barron and Mr. McLaughlin of Lindsay.

In East Bruce.

Walkerton, Feb. 5.—The candidates nominated yesterday for East Bruce were Mr. T. Truax, Liberal, and Mr. Cargill, Conservative. The electors were also addressed by Mr. Somerville, M.P. of Brant, and Mr. Larke of Oshawa.

Halifax.

Halifax, N.S., Feb. 5.—Jones and Farrell (Liberals), and Kenny and Stairs (Conservative), were nominated yesterday to contest Halifax for the Commons.

The Election in West Huron.

Goderich, Feb. 5.—The nomination of Hon. J. C Patterson, Secretary of State, as the opponent of M. C. Cameron, the unseated Liberal of West Huron, is followed by the announcement that the election has been fixed upon for Tuesday, Feb. 16, and elections Tuesday, Feb. 23. Mr. Patterson has accepted the nomination.

Ottawa, Feb. 5.—The writ for the bye-election in South Ontario has been issued: Nomination, Feb. 13; polling, Feb. 20.

FROM QUEBEC.

The Priests, the Pope and Count Mercier—More Secessions.

Montreal, Feb. 5.—George W. Stephens, in an interview yesterday, says he will accept the Huntingdon nomination offered by the Liberals, but will feel bound to support the De Boucherville Cabinet. His opponent DeCameron is looked upon as a mugwump Conservative and is not getting much support from the party.

Vicar-General Castongenay, rector of Ste. Cunegonde Roman Catholic parish, in an address to his parishioners says: Vote according to the dictates of your conscience, vote for the honest men and thus defeat the dishonest men. Do not mind Rouge or Bleu. Cast these thoughts aside and remember that the country demands an honest vote.

The greatest indignation prevails in Roman Catholic French circles over Mercier's action in dragging the name of the Pope into his infamous deliverances. The priests, particularly, are shocked, and next Sunday will see a blast from the pulpits of the province which, it is expected, will go far towards disposing of him.

Judge Mathieu's illness continues to keep back the work of the royal commission. It is not expected that the commission will resume until next week.

Mr. Edward Farrer of The Globe spent yesterday in the city While here he was in consultation with several well-known Liberals

ANENT DECK LOADS.

What the Deputy Minister of Marine Told a Correspondent.

Ottawa, Feb. 5.—Deputy Minister of Marine Smith was yesterday shown the cablegram from London with respect to the sensational evidence given before the Labor Commission by Mr. Samuel Plimsoll, the sailor's friend. He said Mr. Plimsoll must have overlooked the fact that at the very last session of Parliament Canada had passed a most stringent law to cover the abuses complained of by Mr. Plimsoll in his famous pamphlet attacking the Canadian mercantile marine. That law only went into force on Nov. 16 and had not had a fair trial, as the navigation season closed three weeks later. Enough had been shown, however, to prove that it would remedy most of the evils complained of, and he expected that when its operation was resumed in May next it would prove most beneficial. In reference to Mr. Plimsoll's crusade against deck loads on timber ships, the Deputy Minister stated that that subject was now under consideration by the Canadian Government.

MRS. OSBORNE ARRESTED.

The Plaintiff in the Celebrated Pearl Case Surrenders.

London, Feb. 5.—Mrs. Osborne who figured in the Hargrave jewelry theft case was yesterday arrested in this city on her return from Gisors. Mrs. Osborne was taken to the Cloak Lane police station and was there formally charged with obtaining money by false pretences. She remains in custody bail being inadmissable in her case. It is expected that she will be charged before the Lord Mayor to-morrow.

Captain Osborne says that his wife is full of courage and will not flinch or murmur at the punishment meted out to her. If she escapes with a year's imprisonent he will be content. If her sentence should be made less than a year he would regard it as a great mercy. It is stated that defence will be that prisoner was suffering from hysteria and mental weakness when she yielded to temptation and allowed a moment for confession to pass. Then she resolved to brave everything sooner than shatter the confidence which her husband and her friends reposed in her innocence. It is hoped by Mrs. Osborne's friends that the consideration of these matters and the state of the woman's health will incline her prosecutors towards clemency.

Panic on the Paris Bourse.

London, Feb. 5.—The Times' Paris correspondent says a panic was created on the Bourse yesterday. It originated by the suspension of the negotiations of the Ottoman Bank with a Swiss banking syndicate for the creation of an eastern stocks trust. Then came the rumor of the arrest of a banker, an affair which turned out to be merely a matter of deficit in an industrial enterprise guaranteed by the family of the inculpated manager. The Bourse is extremely susceptible, owing to the difficult and often uncertain position of one of its most enterprising financiers, who has been struggling for years and whose eventual collapse is expected.

Spurgeon's Remains Taken to London.

Mentone, Feb. 5.—The coffin containing the remains of the Rev. Mr. Spurgeon has been taken to the Scotch Church in this place and yesterday impressive services were held over the body. The church was decorated with palm branches and a few floral wreaths. Telegrams of condolence from the Prince of Wales and a message from Mr. Moody, the American evangelist, quoting the 25th and 26th verses of the 11th chapter of St. John, were read.

Upon the conclusion of the services the coffin was conveyed to a hearse beautifully decorated with flowers and taken to the railway station for conveyance to London.

The Boy Alone Survived.

Antwerp, Feb. 5.—The French steamer St. Andre from Havre reports that when off Fecamp she collided with and sank the Danish brig Thor. All the crew of the Thor was drowned with the exception of a boy, who was picked up by the St. Andre.

Many Women and Children Drowned.

Berlin, Feb. 5.—Thirty barges were borne from their moorings by drift ice at Breslau to-day. Several of the barges sank and it is reported that 40 persons were drowned, including many women and children.

The Pope May Inherit.

Paris, Feb. 5.—In the case of the disputed right of the late Marquise Plessis to make the Pope her universal legatee the court to-day decided that in spite of the events of 1870 and the abolition of the temporal power, the Pope is a sovereign and is entitled to inherit property in France like other sovereigns.

Farewell to the Eider.

London, Feb. 5.—Divers report that the Eider's bottom is badly damaged and that it will be impossible to float her. Work of salvage has commenced. There are still 42 mail bags in the submerged part of the vessel.

Paying the Indemnities.

Paris, Feb. 5.—Advices received from China show that the government is paying all the indemnities demanded for the killing or injuring of foreigners and for the destruction of their property.

Riots in the Soudan.

Cairo, Feb. 5.—Advices from Omdurman, one of the Mahdi's strongholds in the Soudan, show that the natives are engaged in continual riots and the state of affairs there is serious.

An Old Newspaper Man Dead.

Kingston, Feb. 5.—Edward Taylor Dartnell, who died here yesterday, was an old newspaper man, being at one time proprietor of The Limerick Standard and also a writer on The London Times. Subsequently he was manager of the Provincial Insurance Company of Toronto. For the past few years he has lived a retired life in this city.

Suicided With Strychnine.

Owen Sound, Feb. 5.—David Long, near Woodford, whose marital relations were unhappy, suicided by taking a dose of strychnine last evening. A few years ago his brother took his life in the same manner.

Dominion Rifle Association.

Ottawa, Feb. 5.—The annual meeting of the members of the Dominion Rifle Association will be held in one of the committee rooms of the House of Commons on Wednesday, March 16. That of the Dominion Artillery Association will take place on the following day.

Another Barnardo Boy Goes Wrong.

Brantford, Feb. 5.—Herbert Leitch, a Barnardo home boy, farm hand of Charles Wade, farmer, Oxford county, was tried at the police court here yesterday for stealing $111 from his employer. Leitch pleaded guilty and was sentenced to four months in the Central Prison.

Died at Quebec Cavalry School.

Quebec, Feb. 5.—Trooper Chalmers, who recently joined the cavalry school for a short course, succumbed to an attack of inflammation of the lungs yesterday. The deceased was only 20 years of age and hailed from Napanee, Ont.

FARMERS FOREGATHER.

SEVERAL IMPORTANT MEETINGS IN THE QUEEN CITY.

The Central Institute, the Sheepbreeders and the Ayrshire Cattle Men Hold Their Annual Meetings, Elect Officers and Consider Gratifying Reports of the Year's Work.

Toronto, Feb. 5.—At the morning sitting of the Central Farmers' Institute yesterday Prof. Mills read a paper on the advantages of a course of study at the Ontario Agricultural College. They have a farm of 550 acres, 80 of which is uncleared. They have nine different breeds of cattle, eight of sheep and three of pigs.

There are five heads in their course of study—agriculture, live stock and dairying, natural science, English literature and political economy, mathematics and book-keeping.

The constitution of the council was amended so that in future the president will be elected on the morning of the second day, and the members of the Executive Committee will be elected by the majority of the delegates of their respective districts.

The Torrens system of land transfer was ably discussed before the meeting by Mr. J. Herbert Mason, who enumerated the several systems and explained in which points the Torrens system is superior. After the discussion of several minor farming matters the convention broke up.

Ayrshire Breeders.

The sixth annual meeting of the Dominion Ayrshire Breeders' Association was opened yesterday morning in Shaftesbury Hall. The president, Mr. Yuile of Carleton Place, presided. The morning was taken up in discussing the difficulties that have arisen out of the late revision of the herd book.

At the afternoon session Mr. Thomas Guy of Oshawa read a paper on "The progress of the Ayrshire in Canada in 1891." Mr. James McCormack of Rockton followed with a paper on "Premature Breeding." A resolution of condolence with the family of Mr. George Morton, Roseisevan, was passed. Deceased was a prominent Ayrshire breeder.

Officers for 1892 were elected as follows: President, Thomas Guy, Oshawa; vice-presidents, one from each province, M. Ballantyne (Ontario), W. C. Edwards, M.P. (Quebec), George Steele (Manitoba), C. H. Manners (Northwest Territories), C. C. Gardiner (P.E.I.).

Directors—Messrs. Eyre, Yuille, McCormack, Stewart, William Smith, Nicholl and Caldwell.

Auditors—Messrs. Bass and Brown.

The following members were appointed as delegates to the different fairs: Industrial, Messrs. Guy and McCormack; Western, Messrs. Ballantyne and Kain; Ottawa, Messrs. Yuille and Campbell Smith; Central Farmers' Institute, Mr. Yuille; Kingston, Messrs. Bass and Eyre; delegates to World's Fair Committee, Messrs. Guy and McCormack.

The following gentlemen were recommended as judges for the different fairs: M. Ballantyne, J. M. Jones, C. Smith, H. G. Clarke, W. Crawford, D. Nicholl, A. Kain, James McCormack, Thomas Guy and William Stewart.

The Dominion Sheep Breeders' Association's Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Dominion Sheep Breeders' Association was held yesterday afternoon in Shaftesbury Hall.

Officers for 1893 were elected as follows: President, James Russell; vice-president, John Jackson; secretary, F. W. Hodson; treasurer, F. R. Shore. In choosing the executive, it is the custom to select men, each a prominent breeder of different breeds of sheep. Those elected were: R. Gibson, Delaware, Ont.; John Kelly, Shakespeare; J. C. Snell, Edmonton; William Smith, Fairfield; Hector, Springfield; James Tolton, Walkerton; John Oliver, Avonbank; John I Hobson, Mossboro; Auditors, John S. Pearse, London, and R. Gibson Delaware, Ont.

In the secretary's report it was noted with pleasure that the influence of the association was gradually increasing. The membership had also increased remarkably fast. In 1889 there were 28 names on the roll. Now, there were 94 paid members, and the prospects for a large increase during the ensuing year were very bright. Men who had never taken an interest in the association were now becoming members. Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture, had consented to print and distribute the annual report, which would allow the association to use their grant to forward the sheep interests in other directions.

The report pointed out as desirable that an annual meeting be held and that the spring and fall meetings be discontinued. This would enable the association to get up a good annual report. It was proposed that the meeting be held in December and that the association should join with Guelph Fat Stock Club, or some other association, in order to have a good fat stock show. The present financial standing of the association would warrant it in saying that $400 could be given in December next, without any increase in the grant. By taking an interest in this show it was pointed out that the members of the association would lay the foundation of what might in the future be Canada's great winter exhibition.

Cotswolds: John Thompson, J. C. Snell, Joseph Waid, William Thompson, Thomas Colley, Mr. Laidlaw, Heber Rawlings, Thomas Waters, Arthur Johnston, Hugh Crawford, Thomas Teasdale, William Petch.

Horned Dorsets: John Jewell, W. G. Hawkins, James Smith, John Jackson.

Shropshires: R. Wilson, F. R. Shore, T. M. Whiteside, D. G. Hamner, W. H. Beattie, J. Campbell, W. S. Hawkshaw, John Conworth, Alfred Brown, W. D. Reesor, R. Miller, J. McFarlane, James Cochrane, Daniel Brims.

Oxfords and Downs: Henry Askell, F. R. Shore, James Rowand, M. P.; J. Russell, William Dickison, James Tolton, Peter Arkell, James Harcourt, Robert Miller, Henry Arkell, Smith Evans, and Mr. Storey of the Ontario Agricultural College.

Leicesters and Lincolns: George Weeks, Bilton Snary, W. Cowan, John Allan, John Miller, William McKay, Joseph Pearson, J. C. Snell, W. E. Swain, Robert Miller, Andrew Telfer and John Mason.

Expert Judges for Southdowns: Arthur Simonton, George Baker, Edwin Cresswell, Simon Lemon, Thomas Wilkinson, John Davidson.

Hon. John Dryden, who was present at the meeting, read a very instructive paper on "The Future of Sheep Husbandry in Canada." One paragraph gave some particularly good advice to Canadian farmers. It was as follows:

"There are some—and their number is too great—who, when the market drops, begin at once to lose interest in the quality of their animals and who forthwith say that anything will do, there is nothing in it anyway; whereas they should double their energies if possible in the opposite direction. They should say, "Now that dulness reigns I must take greater pains in my selection and management than before, and thus as far as can be produce such quality as will induce a demand."

After finishing the paper Mr. Dryden spoke a few words, saying that the Ontario Government were anxious to make the Canadian exhibit of sheep at the World's Fair the very best one possible, and would cheerfully do anything that would tend to make it such.

The association intends to have a grand exhibit at the World's Fair. Space had been asked for 150 animals; but as there will be seven or eight different breeds to be shown it was decided to ask for space for 100 additional sheep.

The meeting was continued in the evening. Papers were read by several members and discussed at considerable length.

RECIPROCITY.

What an Associated Press Message from Washington states.

Washington, Feb. 5.—It is said at the Department of State that no formal arrangement has been made with Canadian authorities for the conference on the subject of increased trade relations between the United States and Canada, but that if the latter country sends a commission to Washington to open negotiations to that end the matter will receive the consideration it deserves.

MURDER REVIVED.

By a Petition to Release Macmahon From Penitentiary.

Chatham, Feb. 4.—A petition to His Excellency the Governor-General is being circulated in this district for the release of Benjamin Macmahon. It will be remembered that Macmahon was sentenced to be hung at the Kent Fall Assizes in 1888 for complicity in the murder of Willis Holton of Tilbury Centre.

The murder of Holton took place on the night of Jan. 16, 1888, in the old man's home near Tilbury Centre. Macmahon was immediately arrested, but his accomplices, Duff and Todd Quick, escaped. After a number of months Quick was found and both himself and Macmahon stood their trial. Quick was acquitted and Macmahon sentenced to death, the sentence afterwards being commuted to imprisonment for life. Proof was, however, afterwards brought to show that Duff, who cannot be found, was the actual murderer of Holton and that the others were only his companions on the occasion.

Now the friends of Macmahon, more especially the Orangemen, to which Order he belonged, have taken the matter up and on the plea that purely circumstantial evidence of the most untrustworthy character was produced and very grave doubts being entertained as to his guilt, urge the Governor-General to pardon him altogether, having taken into consideration that he has already served three years.

W. Dewdney's Suicide.

Victoria, B.C., Feb. 4.—The funeral of W. Dewdney, Government agent, who committed suicide at Victoria the other day, took place yesterday. Dewdney made his will a few hours before the shooting and also left a note to the constable stating that he was getting softening of the brain and that it would be as well for him to die now instead of in an asylum.

Dewdney came to British Columbia in 1858, and was with the sappers and miners until 1862. The deceased was about 50 years of age and a native of England. He was a brother of Hon. Edgar Dewdney, Minister of the Interior.

Morris, the principal owner and director of the Louisiana Lottery Company, will give notice in the newspapers to-morrow that he intends to withdraw his proposition for the re-charter of the company and that the concern will wind up its affairs and retire from the field when its charter expires in 1894.

This action is the result of the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States declaring the anti-lottery law constitutional.

TORY TRICKS IN EAST HASTINGS.

The detestable tricks by which the government succeeded in winning the elections in Prince Edward and other counties are being depended on by them in East Hastings also. Many complaints have been made in other constituencies as to the disadvantage the liberals are under in regard to the voters' list, and in East Hastings they suffer under the same disadvantage. The last proofs was sent down to Ottawa on Wednesday of this week, they must be corrected and revised there, so that at the earliest the lists cannot be ready for use before the last of next week. But undoubtedly the tories have had access to the lists as they had in other places.

The manner in which the election here was brought on, the haste that was exhibited, all indicate that underhand work is going on. There are many constituencies that have been vacant for months, for which the writs are not yet issued, yet in East Hastings the utmost haste was shown. Wednesday morning the Speaker of the House of Commons did not even know officially that East Hastings had been vacant a week or so. The government had decided, however, to rush the election there and Mr. Bowell and Sir John Thompson notified the Speaker in the legal way that a vacancy had occurred. The Speaker then issued his warrant to the clerk of the Crown in Chancery and immediately an order came to Major Chapleau from the Privy Council requesting him to issue the writ and giving him the dates, and before dark the writ was out and the whole thing done. Here is a case where the writ followed the Speaker's warrant the same day. In the case of East Simcoe, the Speaker issued his warrant January 7th and the writ is still withheld by the government. In East Huron and other places that have long been vacant the writs are not yet issued.

Now what s the reason for ail this? It is simply in order that the liberals may be placed at a disadvantage as to the voters' lists. It is known that Messrs. Corby, Reid and Northrup posted off to Ottawa even before Mr. Burdett was in the grave and no one supposed that their presence there at that juncture was accidental. Wires were to be pulled and for some sinister purpose the election was to be hurried on before the lists were completed, and probably for other reasons that may appear later on. And it seems that Messrs Bowell and Thompson, the two great moral exemplars of the Cabinet have lent themselves to the execrable trick. But unless all indications fail it will all be in vain, for Mr. Aylsworth will be elected by a large majority.

SCHOOL BOY KIDNAPPED

BEIZED WHILE ON HIS WAY TO ATTEND SCHOOL

A Note Received by His Father Demanding $6000 Ransom—He Failed to Return from School on Monday and Enquiry Showed That He Had Not Been There.

New York, Feb. 5.—Officers from Long Ridge, Conn., reported at the Westchester County Sheriff's office yesterday the kidnapping on Monday of a boy named Ward Waterbury, 8 years old, the son of a well-to-do farmer named Charles P. Waterbury of the town of Poundridge, Westchester County. The object of the kidnappers, it is said, is to obtain money from the lad's father, from whom a demand for $6000 was made, although some of Mr. Waterbury's neighbors are of the opinion that an ex-convict, who was sent to the State Prison some years ago for stealing a horse from Mr. Waterbury, can throw some light on the child's disappearance.

The lad, who is described as of slender build, with light hair and brown eyes, left his home for the public school in District No. 1, Poundridge, shortly before 9 o'clock on Monday morning. The school teacher, a Miss Stead of Bedford, in Westchester County, says he did not reach the school building. His luncheon basket was found during the day under a tree near the schoolhouse by Miss Stead. When last seen the boy was in the company of three men at the village of Middle Patent, near the Connecticut line. The men were in a wagon, and were driving in the direction of Danbury, Conn.

According to Mr. Sarle's statement the men must have been acquainted with the neighborhood and the family connections of the boy, for about 1 o'clock on Monday afternoon Charles Waterbury, jr., a young man 17 years old, son of Jared Waterbury, brother of the kidnapped lad's father, was met on the highway near the schoolhouse by two men. One was riding in a buggy and the other was walking. The man in the buggy threw Charles a note, with instructions to deliver it to Charles P. Waterbury, the kidnapped boy's father. The young man did so, little suspecting its contents. The note informed Mr. Waterbury of his child's abduction, and the further fact that if he would meet the writer at Miller's Bridge, near Long Ridge, Conn., at midnight on Tuesday, and deliver over $6000, his child would be returned.

CHEATED THE GALLOWS.

The Brockville Murderer, Fitzsimmons, Cuts His Throat in His Cell in New Orleans and Will Die.

New Orleans, Feb. 5.—Frederick C. Fitzsimmons of Brockville, Ontario, who was arrested here Tuesday charged with murder in Pittsburg, Pa., cut his throat with a penknife at 11 o'clock this morning in a cell at the parish prison. He will die. Fitzsimmons left a long letter, in which he says:

"I have pursued crime with its fatal consequences, my liberty is again jeopardized and as liberty or death is paramount in my mind I prefer the latter to imprisonment, disgrace, slow death and dragging further in the mire the good name of honorable and respected relatives."

Fitzsimmons, after writing the letter this morning, jumped into bed, threw a blanket over his head and apparently went to sleep. Half an hour later one of the attendants in the jail heard him groaning, and on going to the bed found Fitzsimmons had slashed his throat three times while under the blanket and was weak from the loss of blood.

Normal School Drawing Book Copyright.

Ottawa, Feb. 5.—A misunderstanding has arisen between T. H. McGuirl of the Normal School, Ottawa, and J. H. McPhaul, M. D., of the Normal School, Toronto, and the Education Department of Ontario, over the appropriation of drawing book designs, 75 per cent. of which Mr. McGuirl claims to be his, but which are all published in book form as the original designs of Mr. McPhaul. Mr. Henderson, of Belcourt, McCracken & Henderson, remonstrated with the Education Department and got the reply that the Department had nothing to do with inserting the name of Dr. McPhaul as the author in the copyright.

The deceased lady was born in Morayshire, Scotland, nearly 90 years ago. She married the late Mr. William Stephen in 1828 and settled in Dufton. "German Syrup"
Here is an incident from the South—Mississippi, written in April, 1890, just after the Grippe had visited that country. "I am a farmer, one of those who have to rise early and work late. At the beginning of last Winter I was on a trip to the City of Vicksburg, Miss., where I got well drenched in a shower of rain. I went home and was soon after seized with a dry, hacking cough. This grew worse every day, until I had to seek relief. I consulted Dr. Dixon who has since died, and he told me to get a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. Meantime my cough grew worse and worse and then the Grippe came along and I caught that also very severely. My condition then compelled me to do something. I got two bottles of German Syrup. I began using them, and before taking much of the second bottle, I was entirely clear of the Cough that had hung to me so long, the Grippe, and all its bad effects. I felt tip-top and have felt that way ever since."

Keep the Works in good order.
NORMAN, Ont., January 1[illegible]
W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.
DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first, only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.
Yours faithfully,

HABITS OF THE UNTAMED HORSE.

He Makes a Rover of His Domesticated Brethren When He Meets Them.

Very young students in their first attempts at composition often informed us that the horse is a useful animal. This sweeping generalization is subject to important modifications before it is accepted in all communities. There are many thousands of horses that toil not like their progenitors, but go like the wind where it listeth, and are looked upon as intolerable nuisances in the civilized regions they sometimes invade. Our Australian friends, for instance, are no lovers of the horse in his untamed state, and some of the colonies set a price upon his head, and do all they can to stimulate movements for his destruction. Seven thousand wild horses were shot in New South Wales alone in 1875. These rovers of the plains play the mischief with domesticated animals when they come among them, and the colonists are very much disgusted to observe that the noble horse, relapsing into barbarism and forgetting his oats and the other comforts of civilization, runs off with his wild brethren who have not enjoyed his superior advantages.

It must be confessed that our horses need the restraints imposed upon them to prevent them from disgracing their ancestors, who were certainly domesticated when they were introduced into this country. Years ago it used to be the custom in our Southwestern territory to brand the young stock and even many work animals and turn them loose to shift for themselves for a year or two. When they were wanted they were always as wild as Mexican mustangs. Mr. Powell wrote a book on the best method of taming wild horses. The specimens on which he exerted his talents as a tamer were, for the most part, formerly domesticated animals who had forgotten all about their restraints while wandering over the plains of our Southwestern territory.

Travellers in Western Territories are no longer in danger of such an eruption of horseflesh as Murray described in his "Travels in North America." He not only witnessed a stampede of thousands of panic-stricken horses, but the living torrent swept along toward and over his camp, trampling skins and dried meat into the ground, knocking down some of the tents, and taking with them all its horses except his riding mare, who vainly struggled to break her fastenings. They still range in much smaller herds than formerly on the plains of the Upper Colorado; but the wild horse, like the buffalo, has practically disappeared before the advance of the white man.

In spite of the experience of the Australians, many people, chiefly savage, have been able to turn the wild horse to good account. Hundreds of thousands of Mexican mustangs have been reduced to servitude. The wild horse of the South American pampas, which three centuries ago, only fifteen years after the horse was introduced from Europe, had spread to regions as remote as Patagonia, has been tamed by thousands, and as become the useful servant of Indian tribes.

Naturalists often discuss the question whether there is now in the world such a creature as an aboriginal, or truly wild horse. We know very well that the wild horses of the western hemisphere are all descendants of domesticated animals. Where, then, is the aboriginal wild horse to be found? The question will probably never be settled. Mr. J. H. Steel, who recently read an interesting paper on "Wild Horses" before the Bombay Natural History Society, thinks the evidence is in favor of the existence of the wild horse in Central Asia. Gesner, the great authority on zoology of the sixteenth century, was of the same opinion, but the fact has often been questioned, and the assertion cannot positively be made that the wild horse of the great mountain region which the Russians are now exploring, and of which they have secured some specimens, is not himself the descendant of ancient domestic animals.

Another question of importance as yet unsolved is whether two or three years' run on the pampas would rejuvenate the average street car horse, develop the latent savagery of his nature, and make a wild horse of him. If equine liberty and freedom from human restraint could achieve a miracle of such proportions it would be very interesting to know it.—Goldthwaite's Geographical Magazine.

Indian Use of Adjectives.

Major Peter Ronan, agent of the Flathead Indians of western Montana, recently purchased a fine-blooded and ugly-faced bull-dog, not to guard his pleasant quarters at the Flathead agency, but to give his Indian wards a new subject to study in the animal kingdom. The appearance of this strange quadruped caused as much excitement among these untutored sons of the forest as a behemoth of the Paleozoic age would arouse by a sudden appearance on Main street. The chiefs held a long consultation over the characteristics of the animal and finally decided to call him "a good, bad dog." The first adjective is doubtless caused by a certain Indian sense of diplomacy to be exercised in addressing the animal, while the latter is evidence of the red man's regard for the truth at all times. At all events the name is worth studying.—Helena (Mont.) Independent.

An Interesting Burns Relic.

An interesting relic has just been presented to the Burns Cottage at Ayr. It is an oak chair which thirty-five years ago was made of the printing press on which the original Kilmarnock edition of Burns' poems was printed in 1786. There is a model of Burns' bust carved on the top of the back, and a carving of Tam O'Shanter crossing the Auld Bridge of Doon below, and on the arms there are the heads of Tam and the Souter. At the centenary dinner in Ayr in 1859 the chair was used by Sir James Fergusson, the Chairman.—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Largest Animal Painting.

Rosa Bonheur has finished the largest animal picture ever painted. It is called Le Depiquage, and represents ten horses large as life, trotting over the thrashing floor still used in parts of Southern Europe. She has been working on it for three years and has refused an offer of $60,000.

Too Much Discipline.

Discipline is a good thing, but it may be overdone, in which case the result is formalism, and a formalist is the most uninteresting of human beings to the natural, unaffected men and women. Your rigid disciplinarians are apt to commit sad mistakes, especially as regards children. They insist upon making boys and girls what heaven never intended them to be—precisians. By nature children are noisy, rollicking, impulsive creatures, and it is blind cruelty to put their minds and limbs into strait jackets. Let them romp—"it is their nature to." To discipline their natural impulses out of them is to countervail the kind purposes of the Creator. Nobody attempt to interfere with the skipping of lambs. Why should the young of the human species be snubbed for being equally frolicsome?—New York Ledger.

If you have a cough or cold do not neglect it; many without a trace of that hereditary disease have drifted into a consumptive grave by neglecting what was only a slight cold. Had the used Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup before it was too late their lives would have been spared. Mr. A. W. Levy Mitchell, writes. "I think Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation on the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught a severe cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cought. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of Consumption, and had given up hodes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickel's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieved, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured. I always recomend it for severe colds and consumption."

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—A trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. Their original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No deleterious mineral ingredient is contained in it, and thoughits action is thorough in cases of costiveness it never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowel like a violent purgative. It invigorates the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney diseases scrofulous and all diseases of the blood, femole weakness, &c., &c. DR. OUGH'S DIVORCE SUIT

THE RESPONDENT DENIES ANY RELATION WITH REV MR ALLEN

Says Her pastor Only Visited Her During Her Illness—Could not put in a Defence Because She Had no Money—Her Friends Believe Her Innocent

The ONTARIO last week published the statement of Dr. Ough, before a Chicago court in applying for a divorce from his wife on the ground of adultery. Both the parties are well-known in Belleville. The respondent in the case, however, tells quite a different story in a letter to the Port Hope Guide. Mrs. Ough is now living at Millbrook with her two children:

I wish to say that I deny in the most emphatic and unqualified manner the statements reported to have been made in the Chicago court by Dr. Ough and another witness, and that I am wholly and entirely innocent of all the charges which have been made against me, and have never either directly or indirectly, been guilty of any of the offences against morality and decency of which I am accused.

Dr. Ough's statement as to a certain confession which he says I made to him is absolutely false, while those who know the other person who was called as a witness will be very slow to give credence to her evidence. During the time within which I am accused of improper conduct I was an invalid, and Mr. Allen visited me only as my pastor, and I can conceive of nothing more infamous than that my illness and the calls which he made at my house in the discharge of his duty as a clergyman should be made the occasion of such a base accusation.

The public may ask why it was that, being innocent, I did not defend the suit? My reply is that a law suit, especially in a foreign court, cannot be carried on without at least some money, and as I was entirely without means, I was obliged, much against my will, to allow the proceedings to go undefended. Had Dr. Ough but sent me during the last year the amount of money he says he did, I might have been able to prove him the offender instead of me. The people of Millbrook who have known us both for years, have almost without exception, signed a statement declaring their belief in my innocence, while I have in my possession statutory declarations made by persons who know the facts, and other matters of evidence which set up a complete defence to the action; but, though lack of means, I have been unable to use evidence at my disposal, and am obliged to be satisfied with the knowledge that those who know me best and are acquainted with the facts of the case, believe me innocent.

I do not make this statement in order to parade my wrongs before the public eye; but as the whole matter has now become public property, I think I ought, in justice to my many friends who still believe me innocent, to deny as emphatically as I can all the outrageous charges which have been made against me.

BEAUTIFUL CELESTIAL SPECTACLE

Venus And Jupiter Were in Conjunction Last Night

Star-gazers on clear nights have beheld a beautiful sight in the western heavens. The two brightest planets, Jupiter and Venus, and the new moon have been within a few degrees of each other, forming by their relative positions a radiant crescent of light. An authority says that this morning Venus and Jupiter were in conjunction. Last evening the two brilliant planets were so near each other that their rays were almost blended. This was the noblest celestial sight of the year. Venus is still oscillating eastward, but will not reach her greatest distance from the sun for another three months, when she will retrace her course. A careful observer can track the planet's path with almost the same ease that he can follow the movements of the hour and minute hands on the dial plate. Her phases when seen with the telescope are striking and brilliant. She is a crescent after inferior conjunction, a half moon at elongation, gibbous after that epoch, and her whole disk is illuminated at superior conjunction. After his meeting with Venus Jupiter will continue to draw nearer and nearer to the sun, until in March the phenomenon of conjunction between the two will occur. Saturn is already more and more conspicuous and interesting, as he rises, almost due east, about 10 o'clock in the evening, at which time his serene light is easily distinguishable, as there are but a few brilliants in his immediate neighborhood.

Love's Young Dream.

Love's young dream was a very bright one, and its fulfillment will be bright, too, of the bride will remember that she is a woman, and liable to all the ills peculiar to her sex. We remind those who are suffering from any of these, that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will renew the hue of youth in pale and sallow cheeks, correct irritating uterine diseases, arrest and cure ulceration and inflammation, and infuse new vitality into a wasting body. "Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. for many pears.

HOW IT WAS DONE.

SOME ACCOUNT OF TORY TACTICS IN PRINCE EDWARD.

The Liberals Sustain an Honorable Defeat—The Tories Win a Shameful Victory.

That the Liberals suffered a reverse yesterday in the contest in Prince Edward and Lennox must of course be admitted, In Prince Edward they simply retained the seat they previously held, though with an increased majority. Lennox they won from the liberals, though the total gain in votes was not as great there as in Prince Edward.

The liberals when the contest first began were hopeful of success, for these counties would both be immensely benefitted by reciprocity and there is no doub that if a vote were taken on that question to-morrow free from all party contest, it would receive four-fifths of the votes cast. But as the polling day drew near, and it was seen how lavishly the tories were using their old time "influences," the hopes of the liberals subsided and the re-election of Mr. Miller was expected.

It is a case in which the liberals have more reason to be proud of their defeat than the tories of their success. It was not a victory for the tory policy, but for tory whiskey and tory money. It was not a declaration in favor of tory principles, it was a barter on the part of many of the voters of their manhood and their citizenship for a few dollars of tory money stolen from the people of Canada. It was not an endorsation of Haggart and Chapleau and Dewdney, it was the triumph of a lot of pot-housef politicians supplied with the "sinews o war" from their masters at Ottawa, who willing to profit by and to connive at the buying of votes, still scorn to do the actual work itself, but handed it over to men of the stamp and calibre of some of the scamps who infested Prince Edward the past few days. It was not a victory won by fair combattants in a manly fight, it was a sickly triumph won by contemptible cowards who first tied their opponents hands and then slugged them to their hearts content.

Ameliasburg rolled up a big majority for Miller, and the Belleville brood of boodlers, who "worked the racket" there are to day hugging them selves for joy—and waiting for their reward. A Tory has boasted that $12 000 was spent in Prince Edward county, and of this the Belleville boodlers handled their full share, and seemed to have used it to good effect too. That and free whiskey did the work

It has been said that there is one thing better than success, that is to deserve success. This great glory is that of the Liberals of Prince Edward, who fought a fair and manly and honest fight, meeting their foes on every platform, and appealing to the electors on the merits of the two policies. But the tories never dared to once appear on the platform at a liberal meeting, they made use of their falsehoods and sophistries where there were no chance of contradiction; and most effective of all, passed around their crisp bank bills when they would do most good. Let them glory in their shame if they will, as does the safe cracker boast of his skill and the highwayman gloat over his plunder. As for the liberals, all they can do is to adhere manfully to their principles, to keep their hands clear, and to await the time when the public conscience shall have revolted against the still lower depths of corruption into which the country is being plunged by the present government, of which Haggart and Caron and Chapleau and Dewdney and Tupper are honored members.

DR. DAVIES AT CHRIST CHURCH

The Audience Was Not Large But it was Appreciative

Dr. Davies late of Montreal, rendered a programme of varied musical selections from the best masters, in Christ church last night. The audience was not large but most appreciative, and the Dr. held their attention throughout. A bright and artistic overture by "Weber" opened the programme and established the organist's reputation as master of the manual and an artist. A selection followed from the Octette by Schubert, which was not to say florid but displayed repose, grace and faithful interpretation. The most difficult piece was Bach's concert fugue in D. major displaying good clear manipulation and the theme well kept throughout. The two selections probably most appreciated were from Beethoven and Soderman. The former Allegro Piacevole was sparkling, sweet and well executed and in the latter, the Swedish wedding scene the melody was exquisite and the expression, superb. In Kullak's Pastora op 57, some grand and intensely dramatic passages were presented. The very charming programme was brought to a close by the Medelssohn march "Cornelius," a stately production. No more truthful presentation of the composer's works have ever been presented to a Belleville audience.

Dr. Davies like all great artists excels in subjective work, and his years of training have given him a repose and ease in execution that places him amongst the foremost in his profession.

FIRST HOCKEY MATCH

THE QUINTE TEAM MEETS TRENTON IN BELLEVILLE

The Visitors Presented a Strong Front And Apparently Know Something About Hockey Campbell of the Montrealers Did Good Work

The first Hockey Match ever played in Belleville took place last night at the Belleville Skating rink between the Trenton and the Quinte teams. The puck was faced at 7:30 when the following teams lined up:—

TRENTON.		BELLEVILLE.
Booth,	goal	Ponton,
Richardson,	point	Brophy,
Campbell (Capt)	cover point	Thomas.
Bryant, Nolan, McKinnon, Campbell A. J.	forwards	Wallbridge [Capt. Lynch, Jellett, Taber.

While the result was somewhat one-sided, the visitors winning with 8 goals to nothing, the game was by no means so, and though spirited and at times fast, was comparatively free from rough play. J. D. Campbell, of the Montrealers, probably the finest cover-point in Canada, played in fine form, rushing the puck the length of the rink and scoring several well taken goals for his team. Richardson and Booth also showed up well for the visitors as did Lynch, Wallbridge, Brophy and Thomas for the home team.

Mr. McRae made a good referee, his knowledge of the game and decisions being unquestionable.

Another match will probably be arranged between the same teams at an early date when a different result may be looked for.

Trenton Notes

The Mayor and Finance Committee took a drive this morning to look after a piece of ground for a canning factory.

Mr. Frank Hill brought the body of his mother to Trenton for burial. Mrs. Hill lived in Trenton a number of years ago but lately of Toronto.

Mr. P. Hamilton and Miles McCormack were united in Marriage on Monday. We wish them success in after life.

Capt. John Vanalstine has the keel laid and a few of the ribs up for the barge.

The Police have lost all trace of Gary, the burglar, who escaped from the Policemen at Belleville.

Tuesday night, Solomon Isaacs was played, but on account of such a cold night the hall was not filled. R. H. Baird as Solomon Isaacs, acted his part to perfection. Although it is an old play it seemed like a new one.

Wednesday night Baird's company played "My Partner" in 4 acts. The partners worked well together. R. H. Baird, the villain, which he played excellently.

Thos. Gary, the burglar, who escaped constable Beaty at the court house Tuesmorning was in Trenton Wednesday. Chief Hinde and constable Coleman and about half a dozen more men gave chase. The Chief waa at the front door and Coleman at the back door of Mrs. Jennings' house. As soon as he heard they were there he opened the door, passed the Chief, bidding him good-day and made up the street, the men in pursuit. The Chief, who was about to fall behind, fired a shot. Garry turned around and told the Chief it never touched him, One by one dropped off the pursuit and gave Gary a better chance. Coleman got a rig and another fresh man and drove up the Brighton road, they saw him getting in a sleigh but he was too sharp for them, he made across the fields again and got into the swamp darkness came on and they gave up the chase till morning.

A. G. Cuthbert has closed contracts lately with Mr. James Monk, of Montreal, for a 24 ft. yacht, also for an 18 ft. open sail boat for the same place and an 18x40 ft. racing skiff for Gravenhurst, on Lake Muskoka.

The Jubilee Singers will be in the King street Methodist church Wednesday evening.

Mr. R. H. Baird's dramatic company left for Colborne Monday morning, where they will present themselves in six theatrical plays, We trust the Colborne people will appreciate the company, as Mr Baird has proved himself to be a theatrical man from the start and is deserving of the reputation which he has gained.

The ice season is booming.

A New York Physician

"I do not hesitate to say that I frequently prescribe Hood's Sarsaparilla for my patients," said an eminent New York physician, whose name if given would be recognized as that of a specialist at the head of his branch of the profession, and I do so with a great deal of confidence."

"In the first place," he continued, "I believe in it as a pure, reliable blood purifier, with especial merit as a tonic. Then, I can rely on it as being the same medicine all the time. What I mean is this:—I can write a prescripton for a patient, who will take it to a druggist and receive medicine accordingly. The next time the patient needs about the same medicine, or when I give the same prescription to another patient, he goes to some other druggist who prepares a medicine which looks and acts entirely different from that of the first druggist. I do not mean by this to reflect upon the druggists for as a rule there is no more honorable or reliable business class of men in the country. But the most honest men may differ in understanding, belief and method. Now Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared all the time by the same men, who have given a great deal of thought and time to its composition. It is prepared in large quantities and from the same ingredients. Therefore when you buy a second, or 3rd or 4th bottle, they will be the same as the first, of equal appearance, strength and curative power. It is a good medicine and is being prescribed more and more by the medical profession."

King of Medicines

A Cure "Almost Miraculous,"

"When I was 14 years of age I had a severe attack of rheumatism, and after I recovered had to go on crutches. A year later, scrofula, in the form of white swellings, appeared on various parts of my body, and for 11 years I was an invalid, being confined to my bed 6 years. In that time ten or eleven sores appeared and broke, causing me great pain and suffering. I feared I never should get well.

"Early in 1886 I went to Chicago to visit a sister, but was confined to my bed most of the time I was there. In July I read a book, 'A Day with a Circus,' in which were statements of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was so impressed with the success of this medicine that I decided to try it. To my great gratification the sores soon decreased, and I began to feel better and in a short time I was up and out of doors. I continued to take Hood's Sarsaparilla for about a year, when, having used six bottles, I had become so fully released from the disease that I went to work for the Flint & Walling Mfg. Co., and since then on account of sickness. I believe the disease is expelled from my system, I always feel well, am in good spirits and have a good appetite. I am now 27 years of age and can walk as well as any one, except that one limb is a little shorter than the other, owing to the loss of bone, and the sores formerly on my right leg. To my friends my recovery seems almost miraculous, and I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is the king of medicines.' WILLIAM A. LEHR, 9 N. Railroad St., Kendallville, Ind.

MORTAR-SPOTTED SKIN

About the 1st of April last I noticed some red pimples like coming out all over my body, but thought nothing of it until some time later on, when it began to look like spots of mortar spotted on, and which came off in layers accompanied with itching. I would scratch every night until I was raw, then the next night the scales being formed meanwhile were scratched off again. In vain did I consult all the doctors in the county, but without aid. After giving up all hopes of recovery, I happened to see an advertisement in the newspaper about your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and purchased them from my druggist, and obtained almost immediate relief. I began to notice that the scaly eruptions gradually dropped off and disappeared one by one, until I had been fully cured. I had the disease thirteen months before I began taking the REMEDIES, and in four or five weeks was entirely cured. My disease was eczema and psoriasis. I know of a great many who have taken the REMEDIES, and thank me for the knowledge of them, especially mothers who have babes with scaly eruptions on their heads and bodies. I cannot express my thanks to you. My body was covered with scales, and I was an awful spectacle to behold. Now my skin is as clear as a baby's.

HARCOURT'S SPEECH.

And Violently Attacks Lord Salisbury's Speech.

SOUTHAMPTON, Feb. 6.—Sir William Vernon Harcourt spoke here yesterday. In the course of his address he took occasion to denounce in vehement terms what he characterized as Lord Salisbury's "unjust references to the Catholic Irish" in his speech at Exeter on Tuesday last.

He pronounced the Premier's remarks under that head as "disgraceful and worthy a violent drunken Orangeman," adding that "such an appeal to the wicked passion of of national hatred was not only shameful but mischievous on the part of a statesman in Lord Salisbury's position."

Sir William declared that if the Premier had indulged in such remarks with regard to Canada or Australia those dependencies of the Empire would not remain 24 hours in allegiance to the Queen unless British claims on their fealty were supported by cannon and bayonet.

The Distinguished Dead.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Rev. George Phillips, D.D., President of Queen's College, Cambridge and ex-Vice-Chancellor of the University died to-day. He was born in 1804. He was the author of a number of works, including "A Syriac Grammar," "A Brief Treatise on the Use of a Case of Instruments," "A Critical and Exegetical Commentary on the Psalms." He edited and translated several works from the Syriac and contributed a number of articles to different periodicals.

Dismissed in Disgrace

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 6.—A. T. Hubbenet, Privy Councillor and Minister of Ways and Communications, has been dismissed from his place in the Cabinet by the peremptory dictum of the Czar for corruption in office.

Spurgeon's Successor.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—The deacons of the Tabernacle, who have in their power the choice of a successor to the late Mr. Spurgeon, are inclined to select Charles Spurgeon, now at Greenwich, a fluent preacher and sound theologian. The choice lies between him, Dr. Purson and Archibald Brown of Shareditch.

Hungary's Professional Poisoners.

BUDA PESTH, Feb. 6.—A judicial inquiry recently held at Newsazat, Hungary, has resulted in the indictment of three men named Pioniski, Kurjakov and Kernaz for the murder of 10 peasants. It is charged that the crimes were instigated by the wives of the victims. The inquiry showed the existence of a class of professional poisoners living in villages in southern Hungary.

The Queen Depressed.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—The Queen is suffering from a more acute form of rheumatism than usual, especially in her knees. A court report adds that she is subject to long spells of depression, varied by attacks of irritability. Her physicians deny that there is any cause for alarm. Dr. Jenner's recent visits to Osborne House, which caused considerable talk, were made in accordance with his custom of seeing the Queen.

BREEDERS' OF SWINE.

Annual Convention in Toronto—This Year's Officers—Delegates Appointed.

TORONTO, Feb. 6.—The Swine Breeders' Association met yesterday afternoon in Shaftesbury Hall. J. C Snell, Edmonton, occupied the chair.

The Shire Horse Association of Canada held it fourth annual meeting in the office of the Agriculture and Arts Association, with President John Gardhouse of Highfield in the chair.

The secretary reported that the registrations during the year 1891 numbered only 33, 20 of these being stallions and 13 mares. In all 319 shires were registered on the books of the association. Eleven new members had been added during the year. At the spring stallion show held last March, a few shire horses were shown, but the space was not all filled. No trouble has been found in having shires recorded in the report pass through the American customs. At the suggestion of the treasurer it was decided to offer a sweepstake prize of $20 for shire stallions.

The following officers were elected: President, John Gardhouse, Highfield; vice-presidents—Ontario, John Dunkin, Riverview; Quebec, J. V. Papineau, Barnston; Manitoba, Henry Munn, Brandon; Prince Edward Island, Thomas Robbins, Centreville; Northwest Territories, Dr. C. J. L. Bush, Glenfell; directors, J. Y. Ormsby, V.S., Springfield-on-the-Credit; W. H. Millman, Woodstock; J. G. Wardlaw, Downsview; Robert Mackress, Tullamore; William Ferguson, Auburn; F. Greene, jr., Toronto; W. Glendenning, Ellsmere; secretary, H. Wade, Toronto.

Honoring a Citizen.

CLINTON, Feb. 6.—Mr. James Turnbull, who now resides at 116 Brunswick-avenue, Toronto, was requested to visit this town a few days ago and publicly presented with a beautiful silver service by the officers and members of Willis Presbyterian Church, with which he had long been connected. Mr. Turnbull has been principal of the Collegiate Institute here since 1868 and resigned on Jan. 1. The Collegiate Board also called upon him with a finely engrossed address.

Does Protection Protect

Certianly in one instance it does. Hood's Sarsaparilla Is the protection against the dangers of impure blood and all other diseases of this class. It has well won its name of the best blood purifier by its many remarkable cures.

The highest praise has been won by Hood's pills for their easy yet efficient action. Sold by all druggists. Price 25 cents per box.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

WHAT HER MAJESTY'S SPEECH WILL CONTAIN.

Legislation Foreshadowed—Everything in Readiness for the Opening of Parliament on Tuesday—No Amendment to be Moved by Liberals.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—The Cabinet sat for nearly three hours yesterday shaping the Speech from the Throne, with which Parliament will be opened on Tuesday. No reference will be made to the coming session as bringing the present Parliament toward the close of its career.

The speech opens with a reference to the sympathy of the nation for the royal family over its bereavement, alludes to the death of the Khedive as not altering British relations with Egypt, refers to the continued prosperity of the country and says there is no reason to fear that England will be ultimately affected by foreign tariff legislation, and congratulates the country upon the prospect of an early settlement of the Behring Sea dispute and upon the pacific aspect of foreign affairs generally.

The speech mentions the Irish local government and education bills as adding completeness to a series of measures for securing order in and the welfare of Ireland.

Other measures announced are a small holdings bill, a district councils bill and bills to reform the India Council and Scottish privvate legislation.

This last measure has importance beyond its application to Scotland as affirming and extending the principle of local government. It proposes to remove Scotch private bills from the consideration of House of Commons committees to certain districts in Scotland.

The Archbishop of Canterbury has a clergy discipline bill which the government will support. This constitutes the business of the session.

No Amendment to be Moved.

The leaders of the Opposition do not intend to move any amendment to the address.

Mr. Gladstone will not appear in the House of Commons in the first week of the session. He has delegated to Sir William Vernon Harcourt the task of questioning the Government of its intentions in regard to the dissolution of Parliament. If the reply is indefinite Mr. Gladstone will make the question the subject of a great party fight.

A meeting of the dissidents will be held at Devonshire House on Monday, at which Mr. Chamberlain will be formally accepted as leader in the House of Commons. In the evening the Duke of Devonshire will give a dinner to a few adherents.

The Pearl Case.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Mrs. Florence Osborne, who was arrested yesterday charged with stealing the Hargreaves jewels and with obtaining £550 upon them, was arraigned in the Guildhall court this morning. The Lord Mayor presided. Mrs. Osborne, who was deadly pale and in a fainting condition, was escorted to a seat at the solicitor's table.

An official from the treasury appeared at Guildhall and, to the astonishment of all present, announced that the treasury did not intend to offer any evidence against Mrs. Osborne. The Lord Mayor discharged the prisoner.

Mrs. Osborne was re-arrested shortly after leaving the Guildhall and taken to Bow-street police station, where she was formally charged with perjury. The prisoner was crying bitterly when placed in the dock. She was remanded for a week without bail.

Captain Osborne was given the privilege to remain with his wife in the Halloway jail until after the prison doctor certified that she was sick and fit for the infirmary. Then he was obliged to leave her. She was terribly prostrated, requiring constant medical attention. The official of the prison promised to inform her friends if a state of danger arose during the night. The strain of her position has told most on her since her arrest. She appears to have borne well the life of a fugitive tracked by detectives. Friends state that she was shadowed from Amiens to Rouen, thence to Eureux and thence to Gisors, where she rested a week under the name of Ogilvy. The officers, supposing that she was secreted in a convent, invaded and searched the institution at midnight, alarming the whole town. The fugitive resumed her flight in the morning, going to Bordeaux, where she awaited her husband, with the intention of starting for Buenos Ayres.

Captain Osborne, who was also watched, warned her to make her way to Cadiz. On crossing the frontier she became ill at Irun and, tiring of pursuit, decided to surrender. No plea of mental infirmity put forth in her defence is likely to lessen her sentence under two years, in view of her perjury and her blackening the reputation of intimate friends.

Dr. Mackenzie's Knighthood.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—The house occupied by the late Sir Morell Mackenzie contains a large number of gifts from celebrated people whom he had attended in sickness. A framed letter from the late Emperor Frederick hangs over the mantel, besides a letter from Queen Victoria to Emperor Frederick. The Queen's letter reads:

> DEAR FRITZ,—I shall take much pleasure in conferring knighthood on the physician who has rendered you and us such great services, for Dr. Mackenzie has indeed treated you with great skill. (Signed),
> VICTORIA R. I.

Sir Morell was a man of wealth and of striking individuality. He had long been the physician and friend of all singers and actors and he leaves a son who has already made a name as a comedian.

Viscount Chelsea Engaged.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Viscount Chelsea, son of Earl Cadogan, who was for some time a suitor for the hand of Princess Maud of Wales, has become engaged to Mildred, daughter of Lord Alington. This marriage will unite the families of the two greatest ground landlords in London, whose wealth is enormous.

Horrors of Slavery.

BERLIN, Feb. 6.—Emin Pasha, writing from Maua, confirms the stories of cruelties practised by the slave-hunters. Emin says that he pursued one hunter for six days, during which he counted 51 bodies of slaves who had been recently killed. The bodies of all were worn to a skeleton and the skulls of 39 had been beaten in.

Prince George's Wedding.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Ex-Empress Frederick will come to Windsor Castle in the spring with Princess Margaret, when it is expected the latter's marriage with Prince George will be settled. Emperor William looks with favor on the match.

The Czar's Daughter Betrothed.

COLOGNE, Feb. 6.—A despatch to The Gazette from St. Petersburg says that the Czar's eldest daughter has been betrothed to Grand Duke Alexander Michaelovitch.

SUICIDE ENDS A SUIT.

Disgraced for Speculating With a $5000 Trust Fund—He Prefers Death to Prison.

EASTON, Pa., Feb. 5.—A suicidal shot which rang through the Court House corridors this morning startled Easton and put a stop to a most sensational lawsuit by removing the defendant therein, Preston M. Gernet, one of Northampton county's most prominent young lawyers.

Mr. Gernet, who was about 35 years of age and had been so successful in his practice as to have law offices both here and in Bethlehem, was defendant in a suit wherein he was charged with misappropriating $5000 belonging to the estate of Samuel J. Kuaffman, deceased, and the trial was in progress when he fired the fatal shot.

Could Not Face Disgrace.

Many spectators were gathered in the courtroom to hear Gernet's continuation of the embarrassing testimony into whith he, as defendant, was led yesterday. The bell which rang its summons to the trial meant that Gernet must again take the witness stand and explain, under a hot cross-examination, his admission of yesterday that he had speculated in mining stocks with the $5000 which Emanuel Odenwelder, executor, had given him to deposit as attorney for the Kauffman estate.

Gernet had alleged that the money was given him to invest, and that he did so; but the investments, of which the executor approved, turned out bad, and the money was lost.

It was yesterday that the trial of the suit to recover the $5000 began and Gernet made his damaging admissions as to mining stocks. This morning he went to the Court House, and entering the Recorder's office spoke pleasantly, but did not refer to his case. He seemed downcast, and when the Court House bell rang he asked the Recorder for the key to a private toilet room, and entered. Those in the Recorder's office soon heard a noise, and rushed to the closet, when they saw smoke coming out of the door.

Forcing open the door the startled investigators found Gernet unconscious on the floor, with a ghastly wound in his right temple. He died a few seconds later. A revolver, still smoking from one of its two empty chambers, lay beside him.

The Suicide's Sad Letter.

The following letter, addressed to Mr. Gernet's wife, was found on his person:

"MY DARLING NELL,—Forgive me for what I am about to do. There is no escape for me, and, besides the cases in court, Knauss has been after me these two weeks past, although I only borrowed the money from him. I see before me perhaps ten to fifteen years in prison without ability to support you in any way. Forgive me, for I do it to save you the shame of having a husband in prison. My mother! Tell her to forgive me. I save her the shame of having a son in jail. Oh, that I might kiss you again. Good-by, forgive; forgive, good-by. Your own ROE."

Mr. Gernet, who was one of the most promising and popular graduates of Muhlenburg College, was prominent in local Masonic circles. The suicide of no other citizen of Easton could have created a greater sensation.

TRADE PROSPECTS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Special telegrams to Bradstreet's on the whole are more favorable as to the course of general trade than in any preceding week this year. Nearly every despatch records some improvement.

General trade is only moderately active in the Province of Ontario. Feb. 4 was settling day and payments were fairly well met. In the Province of Quebec the reverse was true, renewals being quite conspicuous.

Business failures in the Dominion of Canada this week equal 34, against 44 last week and 58 one year ago.

REVOLT IN MANCHURIA.

ATROCITIES BY BANDITS OUTSIDE THE GREAT WALL.

Massacres By Wholesale—Men Imprisoned and Burned to Death—The Terrible Revenge of the Victorious Chinese Army—A Blood-Thirsty Amazon.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5.—Eye-witnesses of the suppression of the recent revolt in Manchuria have reached Shanghai, and the steamer China brought letters giving a vivid picture of horrors such as have never been known since the Mahdi captured Khartoum. Last spring, the bandits who roam over the country just outside the great wall of China, joined forces and entered upon a regular campaign of plunder. They were armed with repeating rifles, and being mainly composed of prescribed Chinese criminals, fought desperately and defeated all local troops sent against them. Some of the large bands were led by Buddhist priests. One of the most famous of these priestly marauders was Han Chan Chung, lately killed in an engagement with the Viceroy Li's troops at Mo Who Kun, about 200 miles northeast of Jehol.

It was he, in company with another member of the church militant, who led the attack on the large city of Cho Yang when it was captured in November. On that occasion, which was the most important incident in the rebellion, the rebels mustered a force of some 3000 men. Twenty or 30 ordinary bands joined together for the occasion. Horrible atrocities were perpetrated by these desperadoes, who showed unusual daring and ferocity. Eye-witnesses tell of the massacre of almost entire villages, the burning alive of children, the brutal treatment of women, and the carrying off of everything from the houses of the wretched people.

In a large Manchu village in the Jehol district 500 marauders swooped down in the night, captured all whom they did not kill outright, carried off all the women, and then put 60 men in a corn storehouse, securely fastening the doors, after which they set the building on fire, while the terrified children and the few women who had escaped into the surrounding hills could hear the shrieks of the fathers, husbands and brothers as they were being burned alive. This village was Kwulan, in the Jehol prefecture. It is only one of a dozen such incidents.

The rebels are not particular whether they destroy Christian or heathen villages so long as they get plunder. They generally indulge in peculiar and revolting deviltry when their wretched victims are known to be friends of the religion of the Foreign Devils, and they have gone great distances to wreak their vengeance upon professors of the western faith. At a place called Talijow, which has been Christian for two centuries, they massacred nine Christian sisters, or nuns, and burned an orphanage with its 60 little inmates. Such amusements as piercing the bodies of victims with heated bayonets and spears, gouging out eyes, disemboweling or burying alive can be heard of wherever these outlaws have passed.

One band is said to be led by an Amazon who rides astride like a man and is reputed to drink blood to maintain her courage. Li Hung Chang takes the credit for promptly suppressing the revolt, but it was really the extreme cold which settled the rebellion. The robbers couldn't endure campaigning in wintry weather and they retired to their fastnesses in the hills. Their power is broken, however, and spring will not see them on the warpath again.

The imperial troops showed no mercy to the conquered rebels. Many prisoners were taken, and the punishment meted out to the rebels was of a most revolting character, and executions were conducted on a wholesale scale. Men were beheaded in hundreds and entire trunks of trees were utilized as blocks along which the prisoners were ranged in lines, and their executioners simply mowed off their heads when the signal was given. Generally in China condemned persons are ranged in small knots kneeling before the executioner, but here the wretched miscreants were too numerous for the usual rules to be observed, and they were seized by the queues by soldiers from the other side of the improvised blocks and their heads lopped off. They were not even tied. The heads were hung in long rows on poles as a warning to others, and in a very short time the intense cold froze the bodies stiff, but not before the camp followers had stripped them of clothing.

MR. NORTHRUP'S QUALIFICATIONS.

The Intelligencer says: "Mr. Aylsworth is a good citizen and an able municipal legislator, but his gifts are not those of a prominent parliamentary representative." This is a truly remarkable dictum, all the more remarkable as coming from a paper that is supporting the candidature of W. B. Northrup.

Perhaps our contemporary would give its readers some idea as to what "gifts" should characterize a parliamentary representative and will point out wherein Mr. Aylsworth is deficient. It admits that he is a good citizen and an able municipal legislator. Surely a man who in the county council has proved his worth is the safest and best kind of a man to elect for a higher position.

Perhaps, also, our contemporary will enumerate those "gifts" of Mr. Northrup that qualify him for the position of a prominent parliamentary representative. What has been his experience in municipal work? One year in the city council, and he certainly did not particularly distinguish himself in that position. Has he been a conspicuous success in his profession? How has he earned his bread and butter? Who maintained him while in Toronto? What has he ever done that has been of any benefit to his fellow citizens? How does he stand in his profession? Surely a comparison between the two men is quite impossible.

Perhaps our contemporary will refer to his fluent oratory. But his oratory it is mere verbiage, unmarked by deep thought, wide knowledge or good logic. And the Intelligencer cannot claim oratory as a necessary qualification, for it opposed Mr. Clute, one of the finest speakers in Ontario, in favor of Mr. Corby who cannot speak at all.

Yet even on the platform Mr. Aylsworth would compare favorably with Mr. Northrup. While perhaps not an eloquent man, yet he is an easy graceful speaker, and what is better, is full of good ideas, is always well posted on what he talks about, sees the strong points in favor of what he is advocating, and presents his arguments in a terse and telling style that brings conviction and secures for him always a respectful and sympathetic hearing. In the House he would always be listened to with interest, while Mr. Northrup would soon fail to command attention. He has this advantage over Mr. Northrup. When the latter makes a speech his hearers go away with the conviction that he is a pleasing speaker—and that is all. He leaves nothing but this impression behind him. When an audience has heard Mr. Aylsworth they go away with the impression that here is a manly man, a man of good judgment, and clear head and sound views, they go away with fruitful thoughts to occupy their minds. Mr. Aylsworth is an infinitely better speaker than either Mr. Haggart or Mr. Bowell or Mr. Smith, and better even than Mr Carling. So if the gifts of those men qualify them for the ministry Mr. Alysworth's qualify him for the House.

In him East Hastings will have a representative much superior in all good respects to that of West Hastings and beyond compare superior to what they would have were Mr Northrup their representative.

The Intelligencer also says that Mr. Aylsworth and in fact that all liberals favor annexation. This is mere impudence—all the more so because Mr. Alysworth is of United Empire Loyalist descent. When our contemporary makes such charges against its betters, against men who are so loyal that they do not deem it necessary to be forever making protestations of loyality, it is guilty of an impertinance—that's all.

Too Careless with the English Language

A clothing dealer, in Boston, advertised all-wool pantaloons for $2, advising the public to make haste and secure the great bargain, saying: "They will not last long." Probably they would not. Neither will your health last long if you don't take care of it. Keep Dr. Pierce's pleasant pellets in your house. They are indispensable to every family, as they positively cure biliousness, with its endless train of distressing ailments - sick headache, irritability, constipation, dizziness and indigestion; a marvellous specific for liver and kidney troubles and a pure vegetable compound. They are sugar-coated, the smallest pills made and the best, because they do all they promise. All druggists sell them and the proprietors guarantee them and refund the price if they fail.

A Cure For Constipation And Headache

Dr. Silas Lane while in the Rocky Mountains discovered a root that when combined with other herbs makes an easy and certain cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots and leaves, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick headache in one night. For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for clearing up the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50 cents a package.

30 MINUTES IN HEAVEN

REV. DR TALMAGE CHOOSES A VERY CURIOUS TEXT.

Rev. viii, 1; "There was Silence in Heaven About the Space of Half an Hour".

A Description Worth Reading—The Busiest Place in the Universe.

BROOKLYN, N.Y., January 31, 1892.—Dr. Talmage has of late been preaching on texts of Scripture that seem to have been neglected, and here is a sermon on a beautiful text which probably was never before selected for a discourse, Revelations 8; 1: "There was silence in Heaven about the space of half an hour."

The busiest place in the universe is Heaven. It is the centre from which all good influences start; it is the goal at which all good results arrive. The Bible represents it as active with wheels and wings and orchestras and processions mounted or charioted. But my text describes a space when the wheels ceased to roll and the trumpets to sound and the voices to chant. The riders on the white horses reined in their chargers. The doxologies were hushed and the processions halted. The hand of arrest was put upon all the splendors. "Stop Heaven!" cried an omnipotent voice, and it stopped. For thirty minutes everything celestial stood still. "There was silence in Heaven for the space of half an hour."

From all we can learn it is the only time heaven ever stopped. It does not stop as other cities for the night, for there is no night there. It does not stop for a plague, for the inhabitants never say, "I am sick." It does not stop for bankruptcies, for its inhabitants never fail. It does not stop for impassable streets for there are no fallen snows or sweeping freshets. What, then, stop it for thirty minutes? Grotius and Professor Stuart think it was at the time of the destruction of Jerusalem. Mr. Lord thinks it was in the year 311, between the close of the Diocletian persecution and the beginning of the wars by which Constantine gained the throne. But that was all a guess, though a learned and brilliant guess. I do nto know when it was and I do not care when it was, but of the fact that such an interruption of sound took place, I am certain. "There was silence in heaven for the space of half an hour."

And, first of all, we may learn that God and all heaven then honored silence. The longest and widest dominion that ever existed is that over which Stillness was Queen. For an eternity there had not been a sound. World-making was a later day occupation. For unimaginable ages it was a mute universe. God was the only Being, and, as there was no one to speak to, there was no utterance. But that silence has been all broken up into worlds, and it has become a noisy universe. Worlds in upheaval, worlds in congelation, worlds in conflagration, worlds in revolution. If geologists are right (and I believe they are) there has not been a moment of silence since this world began its travels, and the crashings and the splittings and the uproar and the hubbub are ever in progress. But when among the supernals a voice cried "Hush!" and for half an hour heaven was still, silence many of us have yet to learn. We are told that when Christ was arraigned "He answered not a word." That silence was louder than any thunder that ever shook the world. Oftimes, when we are assailed and misrepresented, the mightiest thing to say is to say nothing, and the mightiest thing to do is to do nothing. Those people who are always rushing into print to get themselves set right accomplish nothing but their own chagrin. Silence! Do right and leave the results with God. Among the grandest lessons the world has ever learned are the lessons of patience taught by those who endured uncomplainingly personal or domestic or social or political injustice. Stronger than any bitter or sarcastic or revengeful answer was the patient silence. My friends, the tossing sea of Galilee seemed most to offend Christ by the amount of noise it made, for he said to it, "Be still!" Heaven has been crowning kings and queens unto God for many centuries, yet heaven never stopped a moment for any such occurrence, but it stopped thirty minutes for the coronation of Silence. "There was silence in heaven for the space of half an hour."

Learn also from my text that heaven must be an eventful and active place, from the fact that it could afford only thirty minutes of recess. There have been events on earth and in heaven that seemed to demand a whole day or whole week or whole year for celestial consideration. If Grotius was right and this silence occurred at the time of the destruction of Jerusalem, that scene was so awful and so prolonged that the inhabitants of heaven could not have done justice to it in many weeks. After fearful besiegement of the two fortresses of Jerusalem — Antonio and Hippicus — had been going on for a long while, a Roman soldier, mounted on the shoulder of another soldier, hurled into the window of the Temple a firebrand, and the Temple was all aflame, and after covering many sacrifices to the holiness of God, the building itself became a sacrifice to the rage of man. The hunger of the people in that city during the besiegement was so great that as some outlaws were passing a doorway and inhaled the odors of food, they burst open the door, threatening the mother of the house, hold with death unless she gave them some food, and she took them aside and showed them that it was her own child she was cooking for the ghastly repast. Six hundred priests were destroyed on Mount Zion because the temple being gone there was nothing for them to do. Six thousand people in one cloister were consumed. There were one million one hundred thousand dead according to Josephus. Grotius thinks that this was the cause of silence in heaven for half an hour. If Mr. Lord was right and this silence was during the Diocletian persecutions, by which eight hundred and forty-four thousand Christians suffered death from sword and fire, and banishment and exposure, why did not Heaven listen throughout at least one of those awful years? No! Thirty minutes! The fact is that the celestial programme is so crowded with spectacle that it can afford only one recess in all eternity and that for a short space. While there are great choruses in which all Heaven can join, each soul there has a story of divine mercy peculiar to itself, and it must be a solo. How can Heaven get through with all its recitatives, with all its cantatas, with all its grand marches, with all its victories? Eternity is too short to utter all the praise. In my text Heaven spared thirty minutes, but it will never again spare one minute. In worship in earthly churches, when there are many to take part, we have to counsel brevity, but how will heaven get on rapidly enough to let the one hundred and forty-four thousand get through each with his own story, and then the one hundred and forty-four million, and then the one hundred and forty-four billion, and then the one hundred and forty-four trillion.

Besides, heaven is full of children. They are in the vast majority. No child on earth who amounts to anything can be kept quiet half an hour, and how are you going to keep five hundred million of them quiet half an hour. You know heaven is much more of a place than it was when that recess of thirty minutes occurred. Its population has quadrupled, sextupled, centupled. Heaven has more on hand, more of rapture, more of knowledge, more of intercommunication, more of worship. The most thrilling place we have ever been in is stupid compared with that, and, if we know we have no time to spare, we will then have no eternity to spare. Silence in heaven only half an hour.

My subject also impresses me with the immortality of a half hour. That half hour mentioned in my text is more widely known than any other period in the calendar of heaven. None of the whole hours of heaven are measured off, none of the years, none of the centuries. Of the millions of ages past, and the millions of ages to come, not one is especially measured off in the Bible. The half hour of my text is made immortal. The only part of eternity that was ever measured by earthly timepiece was measured by the minute hand of my text. Oh, the half hours! They decide everything. I am not asking what you will do with the years or months or days of your life, but what of the half hours. Tell me the history of your half hours, and I will tell you the story of your whole life on earth and the story of your whole life in eternity. The right or wrong things you can think in thirty minutes, the right or wrong things you can say in thirty minutes, the right or wrong things you can do in thirty minutes are glorious or ful, inspiring or desperate. Look out the fragments of time. They are p of eternity. It was the half hours bet shoeing horses that made Elihu B the learned blacksmith, the half between professional calls as a phy that made Abercrombie the Christian osopher, the half hours between his c as schoolmaster that made Salmon P. C chief justice, the half hours between lasts that made Henry Wilson Vice-P dent of the United States, the hours between canal boats that James A. Garfield President. The hour a day for good books or books, the half hour a day for pray indolence, the half hour a day for h ing others or blasting others, the h hour before you go to business, and half hour after you return from busine that makes the difference between t scholar and the ignoramus, between the Christian and the infidel, between the saint and the demon, between triumph and catastrophe, between Heaven and hell. The most tremendous things of your life and mine were certain half-hours. The half-hour when in the parsonage of a country minister I resolved to become a Christian then and there; the half-hour when I decided to become a preacher of the Gospel; the half-hour when I first realized that my son was dead; the half-hour when I stood on the top of my house in Oxford street and saw our church burn; the half-hour in which I entered Jerusalem; the half-hour in which I ascended Mount Calvary; the half-hour in which I stood on Mars Hill; the half-hour in which the dedicatory prayer of this Temple was made; and about ten or fifteen other half-hours, are the chief times of my life. You may forget the name of the exact years or most of the important events of your existence, but those half-hours, like the half-hour of my text, will be immortal.

Again, my text suggests a way of studying Heaven so that we can better understand it. The word "eternity" that we handle so much is an immeasurable word. Knowing that we could not understand that word, the Bible uses it only once. We say, "For ever and ever?" But how long is "For ever and ever?" I am glad that my text puts under our eye Heaven for thirty minutes. As when you would see a great picture, you put a sheet of paper into a scroll and look through it, or join your forefinger to your thumb and look through the circle between, and the picture becomes more intense, so this masterpiece of Heaven by St. John is more impressive when we take only thirty minutes of it at a time. Now, we have something that we can come nearer to grasping, and it is a quiet Heaven. When we discourse about the multitudes of heaven, it must be almost a nervous shock to those who have all their lives been crowded by many people, who want a quiet Heaven.

But how will you spend the first half hour of your heavenly citizenship after you have gone in to stay? After your prostration before the throne in worship of Him who made it possible for you to get there at all, I think the rest of your first half hour in heaven will be passed in receiving your reward if you have been faithful. I have a strangely beautiful book containing the pictures of the medals struck by the English Government in honor of great battles; these medals pinned over the heart of the returned heroes of the army, on great occasions, the Royal family present, and the Royal bands playing; the Crimean medal, the Legion of Honor, the Victoria Cross, the Waterloo medal. In your first half hour in heaven in some way you will be honored for the earthly struggles in which you won the day. Stand up before all the Royal House of Heaven and receive the insignia while you are announced as Victor over the droughts and freshets of the farm field. Victor over the temptations of the stock exchange, Victor over professional allurements, Victor over domestic infelicities, Victor over mechanic's shop, Victor over the store-house, Victor over home worriments, Victor over Physical distresses, Victor over hereditary depressions, Victor over sin and death and hell. Take the badge that celebrates those victories through our Lord Jesus Christ. Take it in the presence of all the galleries, saintly, angelic and Divine! While all Heaven chants: "These are they who came out of great tribulation and had their robes washed and made white in the blood of the Lamb."

Thy saints in all this glorious war,
Shall conquer though they die
They see the triumph from afar
And seize it with their eye.

"August Flower"

Doubting Thomas.

Perhaps you do not believe these statements concerning Green's August Flower. Well, we can't make you. We can't force conviction into your head or medicine into your throat. We don't want to. The money is yours, and the misery is yours; and until you are willing to believe, and spend the one for the relief of the other, they will stay so. John H. Foster, 1122 Brown Street, Philadelphia, says: "My wife is a little Scotch woman, thirty years of age and of a naturally delicate disposition. For five or six years past she has been suffering from Dyspepsia. She became so bad at last that she could not sit down to a meal but she had to vomit it as soon as she had eaten it. Two bottles of your August Flower have cured her, after many doctors failed. She can now eat anything, and enjoy it; and as for Dyspepsia, she does not know that she ever had it."

GREEN INDEED.

His Experience With "Green Goods" Men Has Cost Him $310.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—In the Yorkville Police Court yesterday morning an alleged "green goods" swindler, who gave his name as James Miller, was arraigned on the complaint of Samuel Price, a blacksmith of Dixey, Canada.

Price does not look like one who could be fleeced so easily. He went to Newburg, N.Y., on Jan. 21, in response to letters and circulars purporting to come from Miller, who offered to sell him $1000 in "green goods" for $100.

Price said that, on arriving here, they walked a few blocks, not far from the Grand Central Station, and there negotiated for the purchase of $3000 in "green goods," for which was demanded $475. As he had only brought $200, he paid $170 on account, and took Miller's receipt for the money. He also returned subsequently and paid Miller another $140. The "green goods" were to be supplied after the balance was paid. Miller was remanded.

WILL BE CREMATED.

A Woman Dies in Washington Who Has Three Sisters in Toronto.

WASHINGTON, Feb 6.—The will of Mrs. E. A. Townsend, better known as Ollie Astor, proprietress of a resort in Thirteenth-street, was offered for probate yesterday. The will directs that the estate be equally divided between three sisters who live in Toronto, Canada. The estate consists of the furniture in the house, cash in a safe deposit company, carriages and horses, jewelry, and several deeds to valuable real estate in this city. Miss Astor's will contained a clause providing for the cremation of her remains. Yesterday her remains were embalmed and removed to Harvey's undertaking establishment, to be held until her relatives are heard from.

Agricultural Implements on the Free List

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Representative Fithian (Ills.) yesterday introduced in the House a resolution instructing the Ways and Means Committee to report a bill at an early date placing all kinds of agricultural implements on the free list. A preamble to the resolution recites that it has been established by satisfactory evidence that manufacturers of farm implements in this country are selling farm implements abroad and to jobbers for export for a less price than is paid by farmers here.

Removal of Messrs. Skinner.

HAMILTON, Feb. 6.—It is expected that Messrs. James A. Skinner & Co., whose removal to Toronto has been announced, will have perfected arrangements for the change by the end of the present month. Last evening the employes gave a dinner at Newport's, which was a decidedly pleasant affair.

A Frozen Toe and Death.

ALMONTE, Feb. 6.—Richard Tennant died in great agony at his residence in Lanark township. Three years ago his big toe was frozen. It never gave him much trouble until about three weeks since, when it began to turn black and pain him. The pain increased in violence every day. Drs. Preston and Brown consulted together and advised amputation, but Dick was unwilling, as he thought he was doomed anyway.

Death Has No Terrors For Him.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Carlyle W. Harris, the young medical student convicted of poisoning his wife, applied for a new trial. When the verdict sending him to the chair of fire was pronounced by the jury Harris was nonchalant and indifferent. No one in the court room was as callous or careless as he. The frightful testimony to his heartlessness brought no drop of blood to his cheeks. Dr. Fowler's recital of the conversation held in the room where the body of his wife lay did not move him in the least. When the jury retired he quietly lighted a cigar to mitigate ennui; when the jury returned with their verdict he laid the cigar on the window sill and listened to that fateful word "Guilty!" as though he had no personal interest in the affair, and when his doom was sealed he took up his cigar, relighted it and puffed away as though nothing of importance had happened.

Manufacturers Must be Included.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—A Washington special to The Herald says: Politics for home consumption and not reciprocity, that is what seems to be the real meaning of a contemplated visit here next week of Sir John Thompson and Finance Minister Foster of Canada. It is suspected here that the Ministers who are coming do not expect to accomplish any practical result as to reciprocity. What effect their pretended efforts may have upon the bye-elections at home remains to be seen. But if the commissioners should offer a full reciprocity of manufactures as well as natural products, there is every reason to believe the American Government would listen to their propositions.

Slashed His Wife 38 Times.

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—This afternoon Patrick Hirst, a laborer, attacked his wife with a knife while she was sick in bed, stabbing her again and again until he had slashed her 38 times. Many of the cuts were inflicted after the woman was dead. Hirst was arrested. He shows no concern and only says, "I killed her because she would not take care of me for the past 25 years." Hirst is believed to be insane.

Died En Route Home From School.

GRAND VALLEY, Ont., Feb. 6.—Miss Stevenson, teacher at Newson's Corners, died suddenly while on her way home from school, where she had been teaching all day in her usual health.

A Fatal Fall.

NEWMARKET, Feb. 6.—Mrs. Eliza Allan, aged 87, fell from her chair, receiving injuries from which she has since died. All her property was willed to the trustee board of the Methodist church.

Death of Dr. Bowie.

MONTREAL, Feb 6.—Dr. James Bowie, late of Mitchell, Ont., died at the residence of his son, here, yesterday, aged 90.

Concealment of Birth.

STRATHROY, Feb. 6.—Mrs. McKay and Susan Wells have been committed for trial on a charge of having deposited the child of a daughter of the first-named in a raisin box and thrown the box in the road in Caradoc township.

Destructive Fire at Regina.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 6.—The second big fire in the history of the town of Regina occurred yesterday, the fine Windsor Hotel, Lunau's livery stables and several smaller buildings being totally destroyed. Members of the Mounted Police worked nobly and prevented the fire from further spreading.

Found Dead in Bed.

RICHMOND HILL, Feb. 6.—John Wilson, aged 68, a weaver, released from the Industrial Home a few days ago, was found dead in bed at Victoria-square. When searched $60 was found in his pocket.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

If you have a cough or cold do not neglect it; many without a trace of that hereditary disease have drifted into a consumptive grave by neglecting what was only a slight cold. Had the used Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup before it was too late their lives would have been spared. Mr. A. W. Levy Mitchell, writes. "I think Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation on the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught a severe cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cough. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of Consumption, and had given up hodes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickel's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieved, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured. I always recommend it for severe colds and consumption."

Snipe and plover are unusually numerous this year.

The Secret of His Wealth

A millionaire said "the secret of my wealth" is the word, S-A-V-E; and the secret of my health is word S-A-G-E. By this last he meant Dr. Sage, whose Catarrh Remedy cured him of one of the worst cases of Catarrh, and thereby saved him from much suffering and premature death, enabling him to make his millions, and enjoy life. A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—A trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. Their original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No deleterious mineral ingredient is contained in it, and though its action is thorough in cases of costiveness it never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowel like a violent purgative. It invigorates the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney diseases scrofulous and all diseases of the blood, female weakness, &c., &c. Price $100. Sample bottle 10 cents. Ask for Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. The wrapper bears a fac-simile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers.

READ THIS CAREFULLY—Professors Lallemand and Perrin, assisted by the chemist Duroy, after a thorough study of the effects of alchol and a series of observations, on which they have written a book, have noticed the peculiar tendency of alchol to accumulate in the brain, the the liver and the kidneys, where it is found after the death of inebriates. According to their observations the selective power of alcohol for the brain is nearly three times as great as that for other tissues. The Father Mathew Remedy is the only specific known against the deleterious effects of alcohol.

Hockey

Quite an interest in this game has been aroused in the city and it has been proposed to arrange for a match with some neighboring club, Kingston if possible. If this could be brought about, there is no doubt that it would draw a large audience as there is an old time feeling of rivalry existing between Belleville and the Limestone city which the result of this game would in a manner determine.

Stop my Paper

After you get angry and make up your mind to stop your paper, just poke your finger into water and then pull it out, and look for the hole. Then you know how sadly you are missed. A man who thinks a paper can't survive without his support ought to go off and stay awhile. When he comes back he will find that half his friends did know he was gone and the other half didn't care a cent, and the world at large did not keep any account of his movements. You will find things you cannot endorse in every paper. Even the Bible is rather plain and hits some hard licks. If you were to get mad and burn your Bible the hundreds of presses would go on printing more; and if you were to stop your paper and call the editor all sorts of ugly names, the paper would still be published; and what is more you'd sneak around and borrow a copy of it every day from your neighbor. It would be much better to keep your vest pulled down and your subscription paid in advance.—Berlin News.

Encores

What is an encore? By rights it should be a very high compliment; it should mean that the artist has succeeded in pleasing his audience to an unusual extent. To be valuable as a compliment the audience should be a discriminating one, should recognize good work and recognize bad work as well. It should be a distinct favor for an artist to get such a mark of approbation. Now does an encore mean all this in Belleville? To get an answer to this question we have only to attend a few entertainments and mark the reception given to the performers. We were a short time ago present at a concert which was lengthened to nearly forty numbers and lasted nearly three hours. This is an absurdity; a recall from such an audience means simply that the recipients have escaped utter failure, and not necessarily more. An audience which lavishes its favors in such a manner leaves itself powerless to reward exceptional merit; encores are so cheap that they leave the good artist on the same footing as the mediocre. We by no means wish to say that Belleville audiences are never discriminating, have no sense of the excellent. But we declare that many, too many, audiences seem to think they are wronging management, artists and all if they do not recall from the first number to the last; some day some enthusiast will get absent minded and encore."God Save the Queen

Mr. Getman is an American horse buyer who frequently visits Belleville where he buys and ships a large number of horses. The conservative cry that the Canadian farmer does not pay the duty has so little reason that the point is not worth serious argument. Mr. Getman was in the city week and was approached by a Conservative farmer when the following conversation took place:

Farmer—"What will you give me for my horse?"

Mr. Getman. "Seventy dollars."

Farmer- "I place its value at $110 at least."

Mr Getman—"If you will deliver the horse to me at the Cape I will give you $110, but after paying the duty of $30 and the freight charges I cannot afford to pay more than $70 for a Canadian horse.

LITERARY NOTES

A Unique Magazine

A unique experiment will be tried in the February issue of The Ladies' Home Journal. The entire number has been contributed in prose, fiction and verse by the daughters of famous parentage, as a proof that genius is often hereditary. The work of thirty of these "daughters" will be represented. These will comprise the daughters of Thackeray, Hawthorne, Dickens, James Fenimore Cooper, Horace Greely, Mr. Gladstone, President Harrison, William Dean Howells, Senator Ingall, Dean Bradley of Westminister, Julia Ward Howe, General Sherman, Jefferson Davis and nearly a score of others. Each article, poem or story printed in this number has been especially written for it, and the whole promises to be a successful result of an idea never before attempted in a magazine.

Ever since the announcement made last winter that the author of "Robert Elsmere" had a new novel under way, expectation has been eager to know when it would appear, and what title it was to bear. Mrs Ward has shown herself to be a writer of incontestable genius. Her high enthusiasm for the moral elevation of the race is at one with the artistic impulse that has guided her pen. Like George Eliot she has once more taught us that fiction, far from being a merely superficial representation of passing situations and emotions, may grapple with the greatest problems and teach men noble truths. It is with pleasure, therefore, that we publish the fact that Mrs. Ward's new book is from the press of the Copp, Clark Publishing Company, Toronto, and that it is called "The History of David Grieve." The book traces the career of the Elsmerian doctorines in his work among the poor of London. Messrs. Copp and Clark the Canadian Publishers are to be complimented on their enterprise in securing this valuable book, for which we predict a great demand. "History of David Grieve" is for sale at the Book Stores, or will be sent post-paid by the Publishers Messrs. Copp, Clark Publishing Company, Toronto.

A DETROIT MIRACLE.

A GREAT TRIUMPH FOR CANADIAN MEDICAL SCIENCE

Particulars of One of the Most Remarkable Cure on Record Described by the Detroit News—A Story Worth a Careful Perusal

DETROIT Mich., Jan. 29th, 1892.—A case has just come to light here, the particulars of which are published in the Evening News, which will be read with considerable interest by all Canadians, as it records the remarkable achievement of a Canadian medical discovery, which has already, in its own country, won great and enduring fame. At this added triumph there is no doubt the fellow countryman of the proprietors will rejoice, as it sheds lustre on Canadian science The Story is told by the News as follows:—

The following paragraph, which appeared in the News a short time ago, furnished a basis for this information—a case that was so wonderfully remarkable that it demanded further explanation. It is sufficient importance to the News' readers to report it to them fully. It was so important then that it attracted considerable attention at the time. The following is the paragraph in question.—

"C. B. Northrop for 28 years one of the best known merchants on Woodward avenue who was supposed to be dying last spring of locomotor ataxia, or creeping paralysis, has secured a new lease of life and returned to work at his store. The disease has always been supposed to be incurable, but Mr Northrop's condition is greatly improved, and it looks now as it the grave would be cheated of its prey.

Since that time Mr. Northrop has steadily improved, not only in looks, but in condition till he has regained his old time strength.

It had been hinted to the writer of this article, who was acquainted with Mr. Northrop, that this miraculous change had been wrought by a very simple remedy called Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale people. When asked about it Mr. Northrop fully verified the statement, and not only so, but he had taken pains to inform any one suffering in a similar manner when he heard of any such a case. Mr Northrop was enthusiastic at the result in his own case of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It was a remedy he had heard of after he had tried everything he could hope to give him relief. He had been in the care of the best physicians who did all they could to alleviate this terrible malady, but without any avail. He had given up all hope when a friend in Lockport, N. Y., wrote him of the case of a person there who had been cured in similar circumstances by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. The person cured at Lockport had obtained his information respecting Dr Williams' Pink Pills from an article published in the Hamilton, Ont. Times. The case was called "The Hamilton Miracle" and told the story of a man in that city who, after almost incredible suffering, was pronounced by the most eminent physician to be incurable and permanently disabled. He spent hundreds of dollars in all sorts of treatment and appliances only to be told in the end that there was no hope for him, and that cure was impossible. The person alluded to (Mr. John Marshall, of 25 Little William St., Hamilton, Ont.,) was a member of the Royal Templars of Temperance, and after having been pronounced permanently disabled and incurable by the physicians, was paid the $1,000 disability insurance provided by the order for its members in such cases, for years Mr. Marshall had been utterly helpless, and was barely able to drag himself around his house with the aid of his crutches. His agonies were almost unbearable and life was a burden to him, when at last relief came. Some months after he had been paid the disability claim he heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and was induced to try them. The result was miraculous; almost from the outset an improvement was noticed, and in a few months the man whom medical experts had said was incurable, was going about the city healthier and stronger than before. Mr. Marshall was so well known in Hamilton that all the city newspapers wrote up his wonderful recovery in detail, and it was thus as before stated, that Mr. Northrup came into possession of the information that led to his equally marvelous recovery. One could scarcely conceive a case more hopeless than that of Mr. Northrop. His injury came about in this way: One day nearly four years ago, he stumbled and fell the complete length of a steep flight of stairs which were at the rear of his store. His head and spine were severely injured. He was picked and taken to his home. Creeping paralysis very soon developed itself upon him. For nearly two years he was perfectly helpless. He could do nothing to support his strength in the least effort. He had to be wheeled about in an invalid's chair. He was weak, pale and fast sinking when his timely information came that veritably snatched his life from the jaws of death. Those, who at that time saw a feeble old man wheeled into his store on an invalid's chair would not recognize the man now, so great is the change that Dr. Williams Pink Pills have wrought. When Mr. Northrop learned of the remedy that had cured Mr. Marshall in Hamilton and the person in Lockport he procured a supply of Dr. William's pink pills through Messrs. Basset & L'Hommedieu, 95 Woodward Avenue, and from the outset found an improvement. He faithfully adherod to the use of the remedy until now he is completely restoree. Mr. Northrop declares that there can be no doubt as to pink pills being the cause of his restoration to health, as all other remedies and medical treatment left him in a condition rapidly going from bad to worse, until at last was declared, there was no hope for him and he was pronounced incurable. He was in this terrible condition when he began to use Dr. William's pink pills, and they have restored him to health.

Mr. Northrop was asked what was claimed for this wonderful remedy, and replied that he understood the proprietors claim it to be a blood builder and nerve restorer; supplying in a condensed form all the elements necessary to enrich the blood, restore shattered nerves and drive out disease. It is claimed by the proprieters that Pink Pills will cure paralysis, rheumatism, sciatica, palpitation of the heart, headache, and all diseases peculiar to females, loss of appetite, dizziness, sleeplessness, loss of memory, and all diseases arising from overwork mental worry, loss of vital force, etc.

"I want to say," said Mr. Northrop, "that I don't have much faith in patent medicinas, but I cannot say too much in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The proprieters, however, claim that they are not a patent medicine in the sense in which that term is used, but a highly scientific preparation, the result of years of careful study and experiment on the part of the proprietors, and the pills were successfully used in private practice for years before being placed for general sale. Mr. Northrop declares that he is a living example that there is nothing to equal these pills as a cure for nerve diseases. On enquiry the writer found that these pills were manufactured by Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and Morristown, N. Y., and the pills are sold in boxes, (never in bulk by the hundred) at 50 cents a box, and may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., from either of above addresses. The price at which these pills are sold makes a course of treatment with them comparatively inexpensive as compared with other remedies medical treatment. This case is one of the most remarkable on record, and as it one right here in Detroit and not a thousand miles away, it can be easily verified. Mr. Northrop is very well known to the people of Detroit, and he says he is only too glad to testify of the marvelous good wrought in his case. He says he considers it his duty to help all who are similiarly afflicted by any word he can say in behalf of the wonderful efficacy of Williams' Pink Pills. If any of the News readers want any further information, we feel sure Mr. Northrop would willingly oblige them, as he has the writer in relating these facts to him.

A New York Physician

"I do not hesitate to say that I frequently prescribe Hood's Sarsaparilla for my patients," said an eminent New York physician, whose name if given would be recognized as that of a specialist at the head of his branch of the profession, and I do so with a great deal of confidence."

"In the first place," he continued, "I believe in it as a pure, reliable blood purifier, with especial merit as a tonic. Then, I can rely on it as being the same medicine all the time. What I mean is this:—I can write a prescripton for a patient, who will take it to a druggist and receive medicine accordingly. The next time the patient needs about the same medicine, or when I give the same prescription to another patient, he goes to some other druggist who prepares a medicine which looks and acts entirely different from that of the first druggist. I do not mean by this to reflect upon the druggists for as a rule there is no more honorable or reliable business class of men in the country. But the most honest men may differ in understanding, belief and method. Now Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared all the time by the same men, who have given a great deal of thought and time to its composition. It is prepared in large quantities and from the same ingredients. Therefore when you buy a second, or 3rd or 4th bottle, they will be the same as the first, of equal appearance, strength and curative power. It is a good medicine and is being prescribed more and more by the medical profession."

Dyspepsia

Intense Suffering for 8 years—Restored to Perfect Health.

Few people have suffered more severely from dyspepsia than Mr. E. A. McMahon, a well known grocer of Staunton, Va. He says: "Before 1878 I was in excellent health, weighing over 200 pounds. In that year an ailment developed into acute dyspepsia, and soon I was reduced to 162 pounds, suffering burning sensations in the stomach, palpitation of the heart, nausea, and indigestion. I could not sleep, lost all heart in my work, had fits of melancholia, and for days at a time I would have welcomed death. I became morose, sullen and irritable, and for eight years life was a burden. I tried many physicians and many remedies. One day a workman employed by me suggested that I take Hood's Sarsaparilla, as it had cured his wife of dyspepsia.

Suffering

I did so, and before taking the whole of a bottle I began to feel like a new man. The terrible pains to which I had been subjected, ceased, the palpitation of the heart subsided my stomach became easier, nausea disappeared, and my entire system began to tone up. With returning strength came activity of mind and body. Before the fifth bottle was taken

8 Years

I had regained my former weight and natural condition. I am today well and I ascribe it to taking Hood's Sarsaparilla."

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other.

MANY SCORE OF VICTIMS.

ANOTHER NEW YORK HOTEL HOLOCAUST.

Many Charred Bodies Taken From the Ruins and It is Believed That There Are Still a Number of Others There —Heartrending Scenes.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—An appalling catastrophe paralleling in horror and perhaps exceeding in loss of life the Park Place disaster of last summer, occurred in the city at an early hour yesterday morning. The Hotel Royal at 6th-avenue and 40th-street, opposite Bryant Park, was completely destroyed by fire and a large number of people were burned and suffocated in the ruins.

The Hotel Royal was built more than 25 years ago. The house was the home of many persons in the theatrical profession and was patronized chiefly by transients for the night that class which keeps late hours in the upper part of the tenderloin district.

All Means of Escape Cut Off.

The fire broke out shortly after three o'clock this morning and spread with fearful rapidity, the flames soon enveloping the entire building and cutting off all means of escape for the guests rooming in the upper stories of the building.

The origin of the fire is unknown. It started in the basement near the elevator shaft, which was located in the middle of the building.

The fire department arrived within a few minutes after the alarm was given by an engineer on the elevated railroad, but meanwhile the most heartrending and sickening scenes were being enacted.

The horror-stricken crowd that had quickly gathered in the streets about the doomed building, saw men and women clad only in their night clothes, jump from the upper stories and fall upon the stone flagging of the sidewalks crushed to death or seriously injured.

Eye witnesses tell of the appearance at the upper windows of terror-stricken men and women who, unable to find escape, fell back overcome by the smoke and flames. Every window of the building seemed filled with men, women and children, crying out piteously for those below to save them. Many of those were certainly burned to death.

The fire escapes in the rear of the building afforded a means of escape to some, whilst the fire ropes provided in all the rooms were utilized by many male guests in reaching the street.

According to the most reliable reports there were about 150 people all told, sleeping in the hotel last night. How many of these were lost may not be ascertained for several days.

Every Room Was Occupied.

Nearly every room of the 124 rooms which the hotel had on its five floors was occupied last night by guests both permanent and transient, in fact all rooms save four had been taken at 1 o'clock in the morning when Richard Mears, the proprietor, went to bed.

At 3.05 o'clock Mears and his wife, who occupied a room on the third floor 40 feet from the staircase, were aroused and found the staircase in flames. Mears groped his way to a window through blinding smoke and escaped, and his wife was subsequently rescued by firemen in an unconscious condition.

Many Leap to Death.

Just as she reached the ground the body of an unknown man, who had jumped from a third-story window, struck the pavement and his brains were dashed out.

A moment later another man leaped from a window on the 40th-street side and was instantantly killed. Shortly afterward two women jumped from windows on the 6th-avenue side and were dead when picked up.

The Walls Tumble.

Suddenly the walls fell. At the time people could be observed at several windows on the top floor, crying for help, but they fell back and were soon burned in the ruins.

Five burned, crushed and disfigured bodies, two women and three men, were removed to the morgue.

It is feared, however, that a search of the vast smoking pile of debris in the cellar of the hotel will reveal many ghashly finds. It was reported at a late hour to-night that no less than 100 people are still unaccounted for.

RAILWAY WRECK.

A Passenger Train Dashes Into a Stock Train with Fearful Results.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 8.—The limited passenger train No. 52 from Chicago bound for Kansas City left Centralia at 6 o'clock yesterday behind time. Before reaching Larabee, five miles west of Centralia the train had attained a speed of 45 miles an hour. At Larabee the switch of a siding had been left open and the passenger train dashed through it and into a stock train that was standing on the siding. The presence of mind of the engineer doubtless saved the lives of many passengers. When the train passed the switch he put on the air brake and before the engine crashed into the stock train the speed of the passenger train had been materially reduced. The two engines came together with such force that they wedged tightly together. The mail and baggage cars were derailed, but were not wrecked. Two of the stock cars loaded with cattle were demolished and many of the cattle killed. The fireman and engineer of the stock train were instantly killed, and the fireman of the passenger train so severely injured that he died within an hour. The baggage man of the passenger train had his arm broken and the engineer of the passenger train had a leg broken. Not a passenger received so much as a scratch.

Hammoned Pardoned.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 7.—Charles R. Hammond of Cleveland-street, London, notoriety, who has been in jail here on a charge of grand larceny for over a year, has been pardoned by Governor Ferry. Hammond was sentenced in December, 1890, to two years.

A New Star in the Firmament.

BOSTON, Feb. 6.—A new star has appeared in the firmament about two degrees south of the medium bright star "Chi-awriga." It may be seen with a good opera glass. It is of the fifth magnitude. The stranger first came within the range of the astronomers notice about Dec. 10. Dr Copeland, the Scottish astronomer, saw it on Feb. 1.

STEAMSHIP DISASTERS.

The Polynesian Runs Aground Near Cape Henry, But is Floated—Loss of a Greek Steamer.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 8.—The Allan Line steamship Polynesian, Captain MacDougall, from Liverpool via Halifax, for this city, with a small number of passengers and a general cargo, went ashore at Cape Henry Friday, where she remained until to-day, when she was floated and proceeded to her destination. The vessel did not suffer any serious damage. There was no excitement among the passengers.

Loss of the Greek Steamer Embiricos

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The Greek steamer Embiricos, bound from Cardiff for Malta, has been lost on St. Martin, one of the Scilly Islands. Fifteen of her crew were saved, but 10 are missing, among the latter being the captain, mate and engineers. The steamer left Cardiff yesterday, and went ashore during a dense fog last night.

Two of the Etruria's Seamen Injured.

QUEENSTOWN, Feb. 8.—The Cunard Line steamer Etruria, Captain Hains, which arrived here yesterday from New York, reports that during a fierce gale which prevailed on Sunday one of her seamen had a leg fractured and another had his head injured.

Other Accidents to Vessels.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The steamer Angolus, outward bound, came into collision with the steamer Philomel, which was lying at anchor at Deptford. The Philomel was badly damaged forward. The British steamer Stanwick, 691 tons, at Madeira, from Demerara, bound for Liverpool, has been aground and has sustained much damage. She is leaky, and will discharge her cargo to repair.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The steamer Venezuela, which ran aground on Brigantine Point last Friday, was floated this morning, reaching here at noon. She sustained but little damage.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—The fishing smack Daisy, which has arrived at Hull, reports that during a series of gales which she encountered, three of her crew were washed overboard and drowned.

Captain Kennedy of the Germanic.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Captain Charles William Kennedy of the famous Germanic of the White Star Line has fallen upon a serious affliction and his services to the company have become a reminiscence. A cataract formed on one eye and he was forced to resign his command. The most skilled oculists were consulted, but science shook its head and the old sea dog is now nearly blind. He is left without the wherewithal to support himself or his family, and The New York Herald is taking up a subscription in his behalf.

BLAINE NOT A CANDIDATE.

His Name will Not Go Before the Republican Convention.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The following letter explains itself:

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6, 1892.

Hon. J. S. Clarkson, Chairman of the Republican National Committee:

MY DEAR SIR,—I am not a candidate for the presidency, and my name will not go before the Republican National Convention for the nomination. I make this announcement in due season to those who have tendered me their confidence. They will, I am sure, make earnest effort in the approaching contest, which is rendered specially important by reason of the industrial and financial policies of the Government being at stake. The popular decision of these issues is of great moment and will be of far-reaching consequence. Very sincerely yours,

JAMES G. BLAINE.

DISTINGUISHED RELATIVES.

Fitzsimmons Told the Story of His Life Before He Died.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Feb. 8.—Since Wednesday last the sole topic of conversation in this town has been the capture in New Orleans and subsequent suicide of Frederick C. Fitzsimmons, the young Brockvillian who escaped from Pittsburg jail while awaiting trial for the murder of Detective Gilkinson. The fact that the murderer was a well-known Brockville boy, and a member of one of our best known and most respected families, naturally served to excite more interest here than perhaps at any other point in the country. The news of the arrest was soon made by large crowds.

Of course it is impossible to say just at present what disposition will be made of the body. One member of the family said be thought likely that the remains would be brought here. He will likely go to Pittsburg at once to identify the remains, but no definite decision has as yet been made with reference to their final resting place.

The little girl, whose photograph was found in the hand of the dying suicide, was brought here soon after the Pittsburg shooting, and is now residing with relatives of the deceased. She is a nice looking, winsome little body, full of childish vivacity, and has found a happy home.

Fitzsimmons told his lawyer his life history. He is a Canadian by birth, the second youngest of a large number of brothers and sisters, his father having been married four times. His father and mother are both dead, and the balance of his family are residing at Brockville, Canada. His father was a successful merchant, mayor of the city and school trustee for a number of years. His uncle, William Fitzsimmons, was a member of Parliament for years for the constituency of Leeds and Grenville, Ontario, and is at the present time a Past Master of the Masonic fraternity. He was always well supplied with money. At the death of his father he fell heir to $19,000. He is now the owner of a valuable piece of property at Homestead, Pa.

Fitzsimmons says he followed the avocation of peddling "fake" jewelry for a number of years through the country parishes of Louisiana, and realized a good income from it. About three years ago he went to live at Pittsburg and secured a country home for himself, his wife and 5-year-old child. He secured employment in a large mercantile house and finally started in business for himself, selling goods on the installment plan.

Fell Through Business Reverses.

This business proved unsuccessful and he went into the brokerage business, which was also a failure, and he lost considerable money. He became disheartened with his misfortunes, fell from the path of rectitude and became a thief and a burglar. The murder of Detective Gilkinson while attempting to arrest him for a burglary, being the natural end of his career.

He was asked if his wife was a native of Louisiana. He said she was the daughter of an old-time planter, who had died since the war, but whose name he refused to divulge, as he thought it would not benefit him any just now. She was a distant relative of Andrew Jackson.

Mrs Fitzsimmons is now in Pittsburg jail serving a term for complicity in Gilkinson's murder. The fact of his suicide was communicated to her and almost drove her insane. She is in a bad physical condition and it is feared an epileptic fit may end her life.

Montreal Gambling Den Raided.

MONTREAL, Feb. 8.—Andy Maloney's gambling den, 1960 Notre Dame-street, was raided Saturday and the proprietor and seven men captured, besides a full faro layout.

Crushed by an Elevator.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 8.—Freda Stevenson, a young woman employed in the Clarendon Hotel, was fearfully crushed by a passenger elevator on Saturday and died shortly afterwards.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN.

MRS. OSBORNE WAS TERRIBLY PERSECUTED.

Parliament to be Asked Some Pertinent Questions Concerning the Action of the Treasury Department in the Matter—The Prince of Wales Said to be Anxious to Adopt Princess May.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Much disgust and indignation are being expressed at the shameful and cruel mismanagement of the Government prosecution of Mrs. Florence Ethel Osborne.

In the first place, at the Lord Mayor's Court, the wretched woman was kept waiting over an hour before any one representing the Treasury condescended to put in an appearance at all Then a Treasury solicitor, knowing that the charge would not hold good, coolly asked that the warrant for false pretences be withdrawn, and by way of exhibiting some zeal, applied for another warrant on the charge of perjury. Upon this Mrs. Osborne will have to stand trial. She was hauled from one court to another, half mad with distress and fainting from exhaustion.

This guilty but most unhappy and afflicted woman has been cast into prison on remand simply because the Treasury grossly mismanaged the case.

Nobody demands this prosecution. Full reparation has been made to all the injured persons, and the Treasury is not obliged to interfere, but if it has interfered in the name of justice let it pursue the paths of justice and not inflict tortures upon a broken-hearted woman such as Judge Jeffries himself might well have been ashamed of. I believe the subject will be brought up in Parliament next week.

Mrs. Osborne a Heroine.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—G. W. Smalley cables: Mrs. Osborne has suddenly become a sort of heroine. Her surrender is understood to nave been at her own wish, and her treatment by the Treasury officials is deemed unhandsome. Hence the curious outburst of feeling in her favor. She expected to take her trial for obtaining money on false pretences, and has now to face a charge of perjury, on which she is remanded without bail.

The Anti-Parnellite Chairmanship.

DUBLIN, Feb. 8.—The Independent (Parnellite) says the re-election Saturday of Justin McCarthy as chairman of the section of the Irish parliamentary party, opposed to the policy of the Parnellites, was due to a compromise arrived at in order to avoid offending the numerous aspirants for the chairmanship, none of whom could command a majority, but whose defeat would have split the McCarthyites into several sections.

The Freeman's Journal (McCarthyite) admits that other anti-Parnellites are better qualified than Mr. McCarthy for the chairmanship, but in the present organization of the party their services are best given from the ranks.

Salisbury's Strong Sentences.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The portion of Lord Salisbury's Exeter speech which called forth the soreness of Sir Vernon Harcourt's reply is contained in these sentences: "England is the Protestant nation of the world. England, more than any other country, has resisted the denomination of the clerial profession. Yet now you are going to create an ultra-clercial state under the government of Archbishops Croke and Walsh. Ireland consists of a majority and a minority. You are going to give to that majority, which contains all that is backward, all that is unprogressive, all that is contrary to civilization and enlightenment, power over all that is enlightened, civilized and progressi ve."

Sir Morell Never a Strong Man.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—G. W. Smalley cables: Extraordinary as was his power of work, Sir Morell Mackenzie never was a strong man. He lived on his nerves. Work with him always meant overwork. His devotion to his profession and his patients knew no bounds. No matter what jealousy or detraction might say of him, he stood admittedly at the head of his profession. He was not only at the head, he had no rival, either in England or the Continent.

Wales Wishes to Adopt Princess May.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—An intimate friend of the Prince of Wales states that His Royal Highness desires to adopt the Princess May as his daughter. Prince George is very attentive to May, and is often in her company. Prince George is troubled a deal with insomnia. Princess May surprised him the other day by giving him a pillow of hemlock, which she had thoughtfully obtained in America. The cover was embroidered by her own hands. The possibility of George and May being married continues to be discussed.

PARIS, Feb. 8.—An old woman living in Rue Rambuteau, was found yesterday by her paramour, a man named Guichon, lying dead on the floor of her home. The body was terribly gashed and an investigation showed that robbery was the motive for the murder, but only 25 sovs. were obtained.

The man Guichon, who yesterday reported the murder of his paramour, has been arrested on suspicion.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—In consequence of the many letters lately received from the United States in regard to the standing of William Lord Moore, as an agent in London to prosecute claims to property in England, the United States legation in this city, with the aid of the police, has investigated and established the fact that Moore is a swindler with a New York connection.

His Name Was a Flag.

GUELPH'S PAGEANTRY OF WOE.

Imposing Funeral Services at Guelph—The Body Lay in State at the City Hall. 10,000 Persons Present.

GUELPH, Feb. 8.—The funeral of the late Mayor of Guelph, Thomas Goldie, took place Saturday afternoon and was the most imposing ever witnessed in the city, fully 10,000 persons, including representatives of many cities in Ontario, attending the obsequies. At 10.15 the council assembled at the City Hall and drove to Rosehurst Just before they reached the residence the employes of Goldie's mill, about 50 in number, were drawn up in line to allow them to pass, after which they followed into the house to hear the funeral services. There were present almost all the prominent residents and officials of the city. The house was filled with mourners, many women being present. The services were solemn and impressive. The Rev. B. B. Williams, pastor of the Congregational Church, read selections of scripture. Rev. R. J. Beattie, deceased's pastor, offered up a solemn and sympathetic prayer.

The coffin was borne by the following pall-bearers: Dr. Lett, Henry Hortop, J. B. Powell, Joseph Heffernan, Robert Harvey, W. Wilson, Toronto; Colonel Macdonald, W. A. McLean.

The procession then formed and took its way to the city. At the Eramosa bridge the council and officials of the city and county left the carriages and preceded the company on foot to the city hall.

The mournful procession was watched by hundreds of people.

Both railways made special arrangements to carry from Toronto to this city any friends or acquaintances of the late mayor who desired to attend the funeral and several hundred took advantage of the privilege, including the members of the Board of Trade, the Albany Club and the Ontario Cricket Association and other friends of the deceased.

The Toronto contingent arrived at 2.15 and at once proceeded to the City Hall, where the order of procession was formed as follows:

Guelph Fire Company,
Sons of Scotland.
Ancient Order United Workmen.
The clergy.
Hearse.
Chief mourners.
Mr. Goldie's employes.
City Council.
Officials and guests.
School Boards.
Conservative Association.
Reform Association.
Board of Trade.
Government and county officials.
Citizens.

It was estimated that fully 5000 persons walked to the cemetery, the streets being lined with as many more.

Notes.

The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful, and of them perhaps the most appropriate was that of the employees of the mill, "The broken wheel," with five spokes, representing the five brothers, one spoke and the tire broken, emblematic of the great break in the family. An anchor, sent by the employes in the cooperage, was also very beautiful. Among other offerings were: A pillow from the Conservative Association, North Waterloo, with the card, "The Conservative Association of North Waterloo mourns the loss of a loyal friend." Wreath from the Ontario Cricket Association; Anchor, Railway Friends, Toronto; City Council, Pillow, and the words "Our Mayor;" Managers Knox Church, Wreath; Guelph A.O.U.W., Anchor and Shield with the motto C.H.P.

Owing to the illness of Mr. James Goldie, he was unable to be present at the service.

It is a matter worthy of note that the meeting of the Conservative Association of this riding was held just eight months ago to pass resolutions respecting the death of, and appoint a deputation to attend the funeral of, the late Sir John A. Macdonald. At that meeting there were present, and were appointed on the deputation, three gentlemen who have since followed their political leader into the Silent Land. They were the late Judge Drew, Mr. F. J. Chadwick and Mr. Thomas Goldie.

THE DAILY ONTARIO

BELLEVILLE, FEBRUARY 8, 1892

TO THE ELECTORS OF EAST HASTINGS.

You are of course aware of the result of the election contest in Prince Edward and Lennox on Thursday last, and a majority of you heard of it with much regret, as it seems to put off still further the day you so much hope for, when you will have free access to the great American market. But while you may be aware of the result of the contest you may not be fully cognizant of the manner in which that result was brought about. You, of course, know that Tory logic convinced no voters. When tory sporters tell you intelligent farmers that protection enhances the value of farm produce, that it is the American consumers and not yourselves that pay the duties on barley, eggs, horses, etc., that the British market is your best and most natural market, and reciprocity would rather injure than benefit the farming community, you can see the fallacy of their reasoning and you know how absurd their contentions are. Nor can the Tories appeal to you on the excellence of their record or on the purity of their administration. You all know that the government for the past decade has been most corrupt, and that they have been retained in power only by the most reprehensible means.

How then was the contest is Prince Edward won? By the lavish use of money and whiskey. It is known that liquor was dispensed at the Point in limitless quantities. It is known that it was distributed all through the county, and more especially in Ameliasburgh where I X L flowed like water. In the city of Belleville right adjoining the market square, there was a whiskey den where whiskey and beer was kept, and from which after the election, a load of kegs and bottles were carted away. This was kept especially for the benefit of Prince Edward electors, kept up by the tories of Belleville, who went out from this infamous den to go upon the platform to preach political purity, to denounce the corrupt acts of Mercier, to shout about loyalty, which is disgraced by its advocates, to wave the old flag, which is soiled and contaminated by their touch, to cry "God save the Queen," from mouths unfit to utter her name; using the symbols of purity, using the unsullied flag of England to cover their nefarious acts, and trying to divert attention from their infamous tactics by hiding behind our pure and noble Queen.

But these bombastic praters of loyalty—strictly for revenue only of course—did not depend on whiskey only. They spent money with an unsparing hand and boasted that they had $12,000 for that constituency.

Now the means that were employed in Prince Edward will also be attempted in East Hastings. The tories of Belleville openly boast that they have $10,000 for that riding and do not scruple to state on the streets that they intend to buy the victory for Mr. Northrup, and money and whiskey will passed around there as freely ly as in Prince Edward. The advice has been given electors to take the money and then vote as they choose. But the tory manipulators are up to all the tricks of the trade and propose to obviate that difficulty. They state they will not buy men to vote for the Tory candidate; they will simply bribe them to stay at home and not vote at all. They can then see that they earn their money and they will tell them that if they offer to vote they will be sworn.

We appeal to the electors of East Hastings to resent this attempt to purchase your manhood and citizenship, to stifle your free expression of opinion, to induce you for a small monetary consideration to vote against your own interests. The very boasts the Tories are making on the streets are a gross insult to every honest elector in the constituency, an insult that should be resented in such a manner as to forever prevent it being repeated. You should remember that this attempted wholesale bribery is to be undertaken by disreputable outsiders who have no interest whatever in East Hastings, and that they are doing their work simply for what money they can make out of it. You should recollect that the money that is to be expended was wrung from yourselves for the benefit of monopolists and contraction, who in return for favors received from the government by which they made immense gains, now give freely of their ill-gotten gains to rivet the chains with which they have bound you, and to retain in power the government from which they hope for still greater favors in the future.

You will recollect that this is an attempt to induce you to vote against your own interests, against the interests of your country, in order that these monopolists may be able to make still more unjust gains at your expense and in the benefits of which you do not share, and for which you receive no compensating advantages. You should remember that, while you may be offered twenty-five or fifty dollars to vote for Mr. Northrup, or not vote at all you lose from $200 to $400 every year in consequence of the policy they will attempt to bribe for to retain. Remember that this government with whose knowledge and by whose instructions these political blacklegs are doing their work, has done absolutely nothing for the farmer and much against him, and that having first tried to impoverish you they now seek to trade upon your needs and hope to buy your support with the hard earned money of which they have robbed you.

This "brawling broad of bribes" will assuredly infest the riding between now and election day and will put forth their utmost efforts to buy you like sheep in the shambles. Can they do so? We have enough faith in the intelligence, the patriotism, the manly principles of the sturdy farmers of East Hastings to believe they will repel all such attempts, and will meet the insulting approaches of the would-be ravishers of honest citizenhood and moral principle with a warmth of stout boot and supple whalebone that will send them howling back again to their dens.

MONTREAL, Aug. 4th, 189

My head was literally full of Dandruff and nothing applied gave visible releit until using Ati-Dandruff, a few applications of which has so thoroughly removed the dandruff there's not a grain to be found.

BARTRAM'S KNIFE BLADE

IT WAS SUPPLIED TO HIM BY A YOUNG BIGAMIST.

The Governor of Brantford Jail Explains How It Came About That the Alleged Heslop Murderer Had a Knife Blade in His Boot—Was He Preparing to Commit Suicide?

BRANTFORD, Feb. 8.—Governor Kitchen of Brant Jail, asked what he thought of the item in the papers regarding the piece of knife blade found in "Jack" Bartram's shoe when he was taken to Hamilton by Detective Greer said:

I have no doubt they found the piece of knife blade as they state.

When Herbert Smith, alias La Murtes, the young bigamist, was arrested we had to put him in the same corridor as Bartram, owing to a lack of room in the jail. Smith's relatives brought his meals to him. They brought a knife and fork. One day when they were going out we discovered that the knife had not been brought out. A search was immediately instituted, and the missing knife found. About two or two and a half inches of the blade was missing and could not be found. It was a common table knife, and I have it here.

The knife was produced and it was easily seen that it had been broken off. There were marks on the blade showing that it had been used for cutting tobacco.

I do not think Bartram had concealed it with the intention of taking his life. If Bartram wanted to take his life he could find plenty of ways to do so.

P.C. Wallace went to the Central Prison to-day to bring Herbert J. Smith back to this city, where he will have to stand a trial on a charge of embezzlement from the Bell Telephone Company. After his apprehension it was found that there was a deficiency of something like $60.

ROYALTY AT A FIRE.

He Superintends the Flame Fighters and Receives an Ovation.

ROME, Feb. 8.—An immense fire which caused much excitement occurred Saturday in Panlanelles' large flour warehouses in this city. The inflammable materials with which the warehouses were filled burned fiercely, and the flames spread quickly to all parts of the buildings. The whole sky was lit up by the glare caused by the burning buildings, and attracted an enormous crowd to the scene of the conflagration.

King Humbert, who was proceeding on his way to a ball given at the German embassy, which is situated in the vicinity of the warehouse, ordered his carriage to be stopped when he reached the scene of the fire. The King was quickly recognized by the crowd and received an ovation.

The Connolly Books.

QUEBEC, Feb. 8.—Among the judgments rendered in the Court of Appeals Saturday was the case of the Federal Government v. Messrs. M. & N. K. The Court of Appeal reversed the order of Judge Caron surrendering the books to the Government.

"German Syrup"

Martinsville, N.J., Methodist Parsonage. "My acquaintance with your remedy, Boschee's German Syrup, was made about fourteen years ago, when I contracted a Cold which resulted in a Hoarseness and a Cough which disabled me from filling my pulpit for a number of Sabbaths. After trying a Physician, without obtaining relief—I cannot say now what remedy he prescribed—I saw the advertisement of your remedy and obtained a bottle. I received such quick and permanent help from it that whenever we have had Throat or Bronchial troubles since in our family, Boschee's German Syrup has been our favorite remedy and always with favorable results. I have never hesitated to report my experience of its use to others when I have found them troubled in like manner." REV. W. H. HAGGARTY, of the Newark, New Jersey, M.E. Conference, April 25, '90.

A Cure For Constipation and Headache

Dr. Silas Lane while in the Rocky Mountains discovered a root that when combined with other herbs makes an easy and certain cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots and leaves, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick headache in one night. For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for clearing up the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50 cents a package.

AN IMITATION.—Ground glass may be successfully imitated in the following manner: Cut from tissue paper or white muslin fancy figures, and then with transparent gum or paste fasten the paper or muslin on the glass. Glass doors and windows covered in this way need no screen to keep out questioning eyes or unpleasant sights. The same end may be obtained by applying to the windows with a brush a hot saturated solution of sal ammoniac or of Glauber's salts, or of Epsom salts. The crystallizations in the first instance will be in straight lines diverging from a point. The Epsom salts will form four sided prisms, and the Glauber's salts six-sided prisms. A perfect and beautiful screen may thus be obtained.

HOUSE PLANTS.—An easy method of protecting house plants in cold weather, and one, too, which has proved effectual as far as tried, except where the house is very cold or the weather extremely severe, is to place the plants at night, before the room has become cool, in a compact form on the floor or table, and then encircle them with a stiff board or paper such as is used for building purposes, of sufficient width to inclose the plants, making a top of the same material, or covering with carpets or blankets, or both; also, laying cloths around the lower edge of the paper. Shielded in this way, the plants will go through unharmed, when water freezes in the room outside.

A New York Physician

"I do not hesitate to say that I frequently prescribe Hood's Sarsaparilla for my patients," said an eminent New York physician, whose name if given would be recognized as that of a specialist at the head of his branch of the profession, and I do so with a great deal of confidence."

"In the first place," he continued, "I believe in it as a pure, reliable blood purifier, with especial merit as a tonic. Then, I can rely on it as being the same medicine all the time. What I mean is this:—I can write a prescripton for a patient, who will take it to a druggist and receive medicine accordingly. The next time the patient needs about the same medicine, or when I give the same prescription to another patient, he goes to some other druggist who prepares a medicine which looks and acts entirely different from that of the first druggist. I do not mean by this to reflect upon the druggists for as a rule there is no more honorable or reliable business class of men in the country. But the most honest men may differ in understanding, belief and method. Now Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared all the time by the same men, who have given a great deal of thought and time to its composition. It is prepared in large quantities and from the same ingredients. Therefore when you buy a second, or 3rd or 4th bottle, they will be the same as the first, of equal appearance, strength and curative power. It is a good medicine and is being prescribed more and more by the medical profession."

It you have a cough or cold do not neglect it; many without a trace of that hereditary disease have drifted into a consumptive grave by neglecting what was only a slight cold. Had the used Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup before it was too late their lives would have been spared. Mr. A. W. Levy Mitchell, writes. "I think Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation on the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught a severe cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cought. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of Consumption, and had given up hopes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickel's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieved, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured. I always recomend it for severe colds and consumption."

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—A trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. Their original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No deleterious mineral ingredient is contained in it, and thoughits action is thorough in cases of costiveness it never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowel like a violent purgative. It invigorate the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney diseases scrofulous and all disaases of the blood, femole weakness, &c., &c. MORTAR-SPOTTED SKIN

About the 1st of April last I noticed some red pimples like coming out all over my body, but thought nothing of it until some time later on, when it began to look like spots of mortar spotted on, and which came off in layers accompanied with itching. I would scratch every night until I was raw, then the next night the scales being formed meanwhile were scratched off again. In vain did I consult all the doctors in the county, but without aid. After giving up all hopes of recovery, I happened to see an advertisement in the newspaper about your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and purchased them from my druggist, and obtained almost immediate relief. I began to notice that the scaly eruptions gradually dropped off and disappeared one by one, until I had been fully cured. I had the disease thirteen months before I began taking the REMEDIES, and in four or five weeks was entirely cured. My disease was eczema and psoriasis. I know of a great many who have taken the REMEDIES, and thank me for the knowledge of them, especially mothers who have babes with scaly eruptions on their heads and bodies. I cannot express my thanks to you. My body was covered with scales, and I was an awful spectacle to behold. Now my skin is as clear as a baby's.

Keep the Works in good order.

NORMAN, Oct., January 1[illegible]

W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first, only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

TORY CORRUPTIONISTS.

CARON, THE NEW POSTMASTER-GENERAL INVOLVED.

They Drew on the McGreevy Fund for Election Purposes—The Vouchers and Receipts Produced—An Investigation Demanded

The Globe contains a statement from Montreal by a director of one of the leading monetary institutions of the country which should carry conviction home to every independent minded elector as to the iniquitious system that prevails at Ottawa in carrying on the elections. This statement shows that the Government has been for years drawing enormous sums of money, to be used in elections, from Thomas McGreevy, which was part of the stealings of McGreevy, Connolly & Co, from the public treasury—the statement being backed up by fac-simile orders and receipts signed by Sir Adolphe Caron, a member of the Ministry Two of the orders call for $2,000 and several others are for smaller amounts, and the writer states authoritatively that McGreevy expended upwards of $470,000 in this way.

The statements he makes, together with the drafts and receipts which he exhibits are samples of scores of similar documents. It is now shown not only that Ministers profited by the funds in McGreevy's possession but that Mr. Tarte who laid the charges last session got some of the money himself. No doubt he will explain the use to which he put it. It is stated further, and the documents sustain the assertion, that the reptile system was carried on in the Quebec district under the direct personal superintendence of Ministers of the crown and upon regular business principles. Every one who had a Government contract was expected to contribute to the fund that was employed in corrupting the newspapers and the people. The understanding with the contrators was that they were to be recouped at the expense of the ratepayers. It was obvious that they would not have contributed a dollar on any other ground. The money thus amassed was placed in a general fund and disbursed upon the written orders of Ministers and their chief supporters, receipts being taken from the persons, usually Tory candidates for Parliament, into whose hands it found its way prior to reaching the pocket of the elector. The whole affair was conducted as systematically as the business of a bank or counting house. Over $110,000 was spent upon the 28 constituencies which Sir Hector and Sir Adolphe "looked after" in 1887. A number of members of the existing House of Commons shared as candidates in the outlay. A couple of the vouchers printed in fac simile show the payment $2,000 to Mr. Philip Landry upon the the order of Sir Adolph. It is reported that Mr. Landry is to be made a Senator in a few days. If he goes to the senate he will find several men like himself who were "helped" out of the reptile fund.

The Globe asks that on the opening of Parl'ament a committee of enquiry be appointed to investigate these charges

"We do not ask Lord Stanley," it says, "to follow the example of Governor Angers and nominate a commission of inquiry with a personnel hostile to his Ministers. We merely ask him with all respect to take care that his Ministers allow parliament to resume an enquiry which promises to make an end of the long reign of rascality by exposing the real criminals." In conclusion it says:—"If any of the persons whose names figure in the documents published to-day or at any future time imagine that we have done them a wrong, we invite them to try a fall with us in a civil or criminal action for libel, either in the courts of Ontario or Quebec. The Globe is prepared to do its duty to the community, but Parliament has likewise a duty to perform in the matter as the trusteee of its own honor and that of the Dominion at large.

STOCKHOLDER.

'What a pity it is that his face is all pimples;
He would be a very fine looking if 'twas'nt for that,"
Said pretty Miss Vere with a smile at the dimples
Reflected from under the nobby spring hat—
As she looked at herself in the glass, softly sighing.
That she had for the young man a tender regard.

There wasn' the least need of denying—for everyone knew it. "His beauty is marred by the frightful red blotches all over the his face. I wonder if he couldn t take something to cleanse his blood, and drive them away?"

He heard what she said about his looks. It hurts his feelings, but he couldn't deny she told the truth. He remembered a friend whose face used to be as bad as his. It had become smooth and clear, He went to him and asked how the change had been brought about. "Simply by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery." was the reply. "Take that, and I'll warrant you to get rid of your pimples."

He did so.
His face became healthy and clear
And next week he'll be married to pretty Miss Vere.

OUR EGG TRADE.

EXPERIENCE OF THE LARGEST DEALERS IN HEN FRUIT

They State That the American Market is the Better one and That the Farmers Lose Three or Four Cents a Dozen in Consequence of the Duty

At the meeting last week at Toronto of the Central Farmers Institute Mr. D. D. Wilson of Seaforth, the "egg king," said that he had been trying the experiment of shipping eggs to England since Canada was threatened with the McKinley tariff. Before that tariff had been adopted he sent his first shipment to England with rather a disappointing result. He received four cents a dozen less in England for large selected eggs than he could have got for all sizes of eggs, large and small, at New York. The eggs sent to England had to be culled, as the small ones were not saleable there. Hence the small ones had been sold in Toronto and Montreal and other Canadian and American cities. He had tried to accomodate himself to the English demands by putting the eggs up in the way that the buyer wanted them. In the spring and fall and winter the eggs he sent over were in good condition, but in the hot weather of summer some of the shipments were not in a merchantable condition when they arrived at the market. The English market was very far away, and therefore the utmost expedition was necessary in getting the eggs into the hands of the consumer. Refrigerator cars and steamers were used in the transportation of the eggs, but even this care did not keep the eggs good in hot weather.

"The McKinley tariff," said Mr Wilson "is a wall put up against us, and we have to make up our mind to take less money for the product of the hen than we have been getting hitherto, because the English market is not as uniform in price, not as steady, and it is so much farther away that we cannot get the article into the market as fresh as it can be got from other countries near by, such as France. That market is not as good or profitable as the United States was before the McKinley tariff came into force. Since that barrier has been placed against us there is nothing for us to do but to make the most of the English market, but it will not enable shippers to pay the price for the eggs that they have been paying in the past and would have been able to pay in the future if that tariff had not been placed against us. I have given you my experience, and, without boasting, I may say I suppose I have shipped more eggs to England last year than any other man in the country."

Had it not been for the McKinley tariff, he went on, the farmers would have received three cents a dozen more for their eggs during the past year than they did receive, notwithstanding the efforts of shippers to comply with the requirements of the English market.

Mr. Wilson also stated that in former years, before the McKinley tariff came into force, the Canadian egg dealers paid about half a cent a dozen more for eggs than the dealers in Michigan, but after the McKinley tariff took effect the Michigan dealers paid about four cents per dozen more than the Canadian dealers, and all can thus see the effect of the high tariff wall.

"I am of the opinion," Mr. Wilson concluded, that the English market for that article is not so good as the United States market without a tariff wall. I am not one of those who would trade with brother Jonathan for the love of trading with him, but, I am one of those who feel as a Canadian that it is better for us to have free access to the markets of the world as possible. I feel that for this and a number of other articles the United States is our market, and if we can by any means throw that market open to the Canadian public it would be a step in the right direction. I know very well that some people will raise an objection to this. "Where are you going to get a revenue? they ask. For my part I would ten times rather put my hand in my pocket and pay direct taxes than pay a tax three times over in an indirect way. It is meet that you should have the best market not only for your eggs but for everything that you produce. I feel that it means success to me as a farmer that I get the highest price possible.; but so long as we keep building higher walls—Chinese walls—around our country to prevent trade floating in the natural directions, so long will we be selling our productions at lower prices than we might get if we had freer trade."

Mr. J. F. Beam of Welland said that the nearest market for the farmers in his county was Buffalo, which, however, they were now debarred from. Land in the vicinity of Buffalo used for farming and gardening purposes was rented for $30 and $45 an acre, while similar land, also near Buffalo, but on this side of the river, would only rent for about $1.50 an acre. If they had the Buffalo market their land would rise in value, and should they not do everything in their power to get it? Why should we pay freight to Montreal and thousands of miles across the ocean when we have a better market right at hand? Buffalo is the largest sheep market in the world, the second largest cattle market and one of the largest horse markets.

Mr. W. H. Thompson of Prescott said that he desired to confirm what Mr. Wilson had said. He was a large shipper of eggs, cheese and butter. Large eggs sent to England brought smaller prices than small eggs brought on this side of the ocean—10 to 40 per cent. less. The last shipment brought 8 shillings 6 pence for 10 doz or about 20 cents a doz. for large selected eggs, but the expenses were so great that no margin of profit was left. So far as the egg trade was concerned Canadians would have to accept lower prices as long as the McKinley tariff existed. The egg trade had received a black eye from the McKinley Bill.

Too Careless with the English Language

A clothing dealer, in Boston, advertised all-wool pantaloons for $2, advising the public to make haste and secure the great bargain, saying: "They will not last long." Probably they would not. Neither will your health last long if you don't take care of it. Keep Dr. Pierce's pleasant pellets in your house. They are indispensable to every family, as they positively cure biliousness, with its endless train of distressing ailments—sick headache, irritability, constipation, dizziness and indigestion; a marvellous specific for liver and kidney troubles and a pure vegetable compound. They are sugar-coated, the smallest pills made and the best, because they do all they promise. All druggists sell them and the proprietors guarantee them and refund the price if they fail.

Halifax Tweed Suits

Did you ever see a bad piece of Halifax tweed? Such a thing is yet to be found, They are good to wear and the colors are good. It takes seven yards to make a suit, the trimmings, cutting and making any way you like to take it the suit will cost you $10 and probably $12. At the Oak Hall you can get a suit for $6 well made and trimmed, cut in good style and your choice in four colors, boys sizes, long pants $5. These are the cheapest suits ever offered in Belleville. The Oak Hall is the place.

THE PRINCE EDWARD ELECTION.

Won by the Tories Most Glaring Corruption

The Picton Times has this comment on the contest in Prince Edward County:—"The election on Thursday was, to say the least, one of the most hotly contested elections of the many such elections that have come off in this county. From beginning to end the Liberals fought a brave and magnificent battle. But the result is, we regret to say, what is to be found elsewhere in this issue. The causes of this result are clearly evident to every one who took an active part in the contest. The floodgates of corruption were open to their widest extent. An avalanche of boodle and whiskey overspread the county. The peculiar methods of carrying election contests which the Tories after long practice have reduced to a science, were given full scope and produced the inevitable result." It is believed the Conservatives spent not less than $12,000 in the constituency, They were determined to carry a "barley county" at any cost.

LITERARY NOTES

The Laymen's Movement

The groupe of articles under the general title of "The Laymen's Movement,' in the Review of Reviews for February, is perhaps the most notable contribution that has recently been made to the discussion of the developements of a practical working christianity. Mr. Theodore F. Seward writes of his growing Brotherhood Christian Unity; Mr. Richard B. Hassel of South Dakota describes a recent laymen's congress in that State, called for the purpose of devising means to break down useless or extravagant denominational rivalries in home mission work; President Hyde of Bowdoin College writes of the recent movement for denominational co-operation in Maine and New England; and Mr. W. T. Stead, the English editor of the Review is represented by an address recently made at Newcastle, entitled "The Next Step towards the Civic Church," an address in which he makes many radical but feasible suggestions for the union of all good people in the moral and social improvements of great towns.

BAD ECZEMA ON BABY

Head one Solid Sore. Itching Awful. Had to Tie His Hands to Cradle. Cured by Cuticura.

Our little boy broke out on his head with a bad form of eczema, when he was four months old. We tried three doctors, but they did not help him. We then used your three CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using them eleven weeks exactly according to directions, he began to steadily improve, and after the use of them for seven months his head was entirely well. When we began using it his head was a solid sore from the crown to his eyebrows. It was also all over his ears, most of his face, and small places on different parts of his body. There were sixteen weeks that we had to keep his hands tied to the cradle and hold them when he was taken up; and had to keep mittens tied on his hands to keep his fingernails out of the sores, as he would scratch if he could in any way get his hands loose. We know your CUTICURA REMEDIES cured him. We feel safe in recommending them to others.

THE EVE OF THE OPENING OF PARLIAMENT.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain Elected Leader of the Liberal-Unionists in Succession to the Duke of Devonshire—Entertaining the Members at Dinner.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—A meeting was held at Devonshire House yesterday to elect a successor to Lord Hartington, now Duke of Devonshire, as Liberal-Unionist leader in the House of Commons. Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, M.P. for Birmingham, who has long been talked of as the successor of Lord Hartington as parliamentary leader, was formally elected to the position.

Mr. Chamberlain, in a speech, said the Duke of Devonshire would still direct the policy of the party. He maintained his position was that of a Liberal. All the opinions he had expressed throughout the fight for the maintenance of the union he still firmly adhered to.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Lord Salisbury and Mr. Balfour gave a dinner to their prominent supporters this evening as is customary on the eve of the reopening of Parliament.

The Queen's speech, which is exactly as outlined in Friday's despatches, was read to the guests.

Lord Derby and the Duke of Devonshire gave dinners to the dissident leaders and Sir William Vernon Harcourt entertained the principal Liberals.

The Era of Recrimination Past.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—T. P. O'Connor says in yesterday's Sun:

"The stillness of the Irish political atmosphere just at present indicates, we have reason to believe, the coming, or at least a belief in the coming, of a reunion of the factions. The Irish are a little tired and also a little ashamed of continuing a struggle the cause for which no longer exists. It must be admitted that there is still much bitter animosity, but a change in the situation is apparent.

"The more rational members of the minority have altered the tone of their speeches and no longer indulge in insults and calumnies. There is a suspicion that this is due to pressure brought upon the mouthpieces of the faction by their own supporters.

"Whether there is to be permanent peace or not it is too early to state with confidence, but there is at present something in the nature of a truce. And we are rejoiced to believe that the era of bitter personal recriminations is past."

Referring to the recent caucus meeting of the McCarthyites, Mr. O'Connor says:

"We never saw a gathering more serious, more under control. The speeches were listened to with unbroken attention, and debateable questions were talked over without unreasonable criticism. We asked several members the reason for this unanimity, and received from all the same answer in substance, namely, that it was the effect of the terrible lesson taught by the occurrences in committee-room 15."

Scotland Yard Detectives Break Up a Spurious Legacy Agency.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Scotland Yard detectives have succeeded in breaking up the business of one of the most important of the spurious "Claim Agencies" that do business with silly Americans and colonials, who believe that large fortunes have been left them in England, or that they are legitimate heirs of valuable estates now in possession of Englishmen. E. Ross and William Lord Moore are the names under which the head of the concern did business. An enormous number of letters from the dupes of this "agency" were found at the place in Ingersoll-road, which is a small ordinary dwelling house. The modus operandi of its business is interesting.

The dupe first gets a circular informing him that search is being made for a person of his name who is heir to a large estate in Great Britain, or to a fortune in chancery, or to a deposit unclaimed in the Bank of England, and requesting him to communicate with "the European Claims Agency" in New York. If he does so, he gets a reponse, stating that he is entitled to $1715 and asking that $25 be sent for the bondman who will prosecute the claim. If the $25 is sent that is the end of it.

Major Anson escaped unhurt, but his wife received injuries which a few hours later proved fatal.

Heavy Fees in Mrs. Parnall's Case.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The costs in Mrs. Parnell's will suit, which will be tried early in March and involves a sum of £200,000, are enormous. The Attorney-General and Sir Charles Russell receive each 800 guineas as a fee and 200 guineas for reading the massive pile of papers in the case. The Solicitor-General has 600 guineas fee and 200 guineas for reading the papers, and fees of a similar character will be given to the other counsel.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The bill has been deposited in the House of Commons authorizing the construction of a new underground electric railroad from Waterloo station under the River Thames to the Baker-street station. "LET HER GO!"

Were the Last Words of Murderer McElvaine Before His Electrocution.

SING SING, N.Y., Feb. 9.—Charles McElvaine was electrocuted at 11.26 yesterday. Just as the first current was about to be applied, McElvaine shouted "Let her go!" At that moment the current was turned on and all the sound ceased.

There was a quick convulsive jump of the subject following the application of the current. A livid shadow crept into the hollows of the dying man's face at the sides of the nose, the lips became purple, the wrists were ashen first and then welts of purple color showed around the edges of the straps. Meanwhile the current, alteranting 230 times each second, was beating at the nerve cells and exhausting the oxygen from the blood corpuscles. There was no movement in any part of the entire frame.

"Close!" commanded Dr. McDonald, and the small lever at the switchboard was pushed back to its place and the current was cut off. The hour was 11.12 49 a.m. The power of 1600 volts of electromotive force had been busy 49 seconds with the life centres of the silent, motionless figure.

Not Dead at the First Contact.

Dr. Ward reached down into the cell on the right side of the chair and was feeling for pulse beats, when from the livid lips of the subject there showed an exudation of mucus and almost at the same instant there came from the throat a broken exhalation of air from the lungs, which had thus expelled the last inhalation of air taken in at the last moment as the condemned man nerved himself for the death stroke.

Then came a shorter gasp, which was cut short in a gurgle by the reapplication of the current, which at the moment was flowing at 1500 volts and 10 amperes. Quickly there came to the ears of those nearest the chair the sound of a gentle hiss—steam simultaneously curled up from the electrode on the calf of the bared leg. There was no smell of burnt surface, though a few minutes later and after all was over there hung in the air a suggestion of smoke from burning flesh, probably the result of blistering under the heated water in the electrode.

"Stop!" again ordered Dr. McDonald and the little lever again cut off the current from the subject.

Dr. Wood again advanced and tested the wrists for possible pulse beats. There were none, showing beyond doubt that the man was dead. There came no more tremor of action anywhere, and when the mask on the purple face was loosened the neck relaxed and the entire frame sank down a senseless substance.

The Body Burned.

When the body was laid upon a table for the autopsy it was observed that there were slight blisters from the heated water in the electrode at the temples; the hands, which had remained completely immersed, were in a degree disfigured on the surface, but the wrists had each a slight blistered ring about them where they had been wet upon immersion, but had been withdrawn at the convulsion attending the first contact. At the calf of the leg, where the second contact had been made instead of at the hands, there had been something more than blistering, the rigid tightening of the muscles having pressed the sponge dry and heat resulting to singe the surface. The first period of contact was 50 seconds; period of second contact, 36 seconds.

The autopsy demonstrated that McElvaine was thoroughly sane, the substance and the tissues of the brain being entirely normal.

Immediately after the execution Dr. McDonald said that the experiment demonstrated that contacts with the leg and the forehead are the best.

The total number of persons apprehended or summoned in the city was 9884 against 11,195 in 1890, a decrease of 1310. A comparison of the tabulated statements for the past two years show that crime of a serious nature declined, and the minor offences also fewer in number.

DEEPENING THE CANALS

IMPORTANT RESOLUTION INTRODUCED IN CONGRESS.

Proposed Opening of Negotiations With the Canadian Government to Deepen the Welland and St. Lawrence Canals—Tributaries to the Commerce of the Great Lakes.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—An interesting report was yesterday submitted to the House to accompany a resolution reported by instruction of the Committee on Foreign and Inter-State Commerce, requesting the President to negotiate with Canada to secure the speedy improvement of the Welland and St. Lawrence Canals so as to make them conform in depth to the standard adopted by the United States for its improvements within the great lakes.

The report says that the great lakes furnish a highway for the interchange of productions that has no parallel in any other country.

No Pent-Up Utica.

Thus far the traffic upon them has been confined almost wholly to the trade with Canada and the internal commerce between the States. The recent development of the untold resources of the great Northwest has, however, made the productions of that region not only a vital part of our internal commerce, but the leading factor of our foreign trade. To facilitate the internal commerce Congress has not hesitated to vote appropriations by millions. Its action in this behalf has met the country's approval. The committee believe that it is now equally important to take the proper steps to secure a deep-water outlet for the foreign commerce originating in states tributary to the great lakes. The impracticability of deepening or improving of the Erie Canal so as to admit the passage of ocean-going crafts, the report says, seems to be admitted on all sides. It is hoped that the claims that it is feasible, however, to construct a deep-water canal from Oswego to the Hudson are well founded, but this, the report says, would require many years for its execution and cost from $40,000,000 to $100,000,000.

Pending this the committee think the great interest involved should be served by other means if available.

Available to the Commerce of the World.

Nature has provided an outlet by way of the St. Lawrence River which needs but comparatively little improvement to make the great lakes as available to the commerce of the world as they now are to the internal commerce of the United States and of Canada, and in support of this statement the report quotes from a letter of Col. O. M. Poe of the engineer corps: "This natural outlet Canada has already improved by the construction of the Welland Canal and the series of shorter canals along the St. Lawrence. These canals cover the entire distance where canals are required between Lake Erie and the sea. Their aggregate length is only 70 miles, while the Erie Canal is 363 miles long. The Welland has been deepened 14 feet and in three years the other canals should be deepened if appropriations are kept up.

A Proof of Practicability.

The trip of the "whaleback" Wetmore carrying 80,000 bushels of wheat from Duluth to Liverpool is cited as showing the importance of the work already done. This trip, though experimental, proved remunerative. It demonstrates that with the completion of the improvements now in progress steamers of the size and capacity of the Wetmore can be despatched from the great lakes to any port in the world provided we can use the canals in common with the Canadians. If the canals were further deepened so as to correspond with the new "Soo" Canal Duluth, Milwaukee, Chicago, Cleveland and Buffalo would enjoy all the advantages of seaboard cities with reference to foreign trade.

Using Them Only Through Suffrance.

The report concludes: While we are now enjoying the use of these Canadian canals as the Canadians are ours, we should not lose sight of the fact that such enjoyment is not based on permanent treaty rights, and that the right to such enjoyment may be terminated on two years' notice. President Cleveland's administration claimed that notice of abrogation has already been abrogated, so that we are now using those canals by suffrance only. For these reasons it is deemed important by this committee that appropriate action should be taken by this Government to secure by a fair arrangement with the Canadians the permanent right to use these canals for our commerce in common with and on the same terms as the citizens of that country.

The Time is Opportune.

It also appears to your committee that the present time is exceedingly opportune for urging such action in behalf of the commerce of the great lakes. It is reported that representatives of the Canadian Government will shortly arrive in this city to negotiate with our Government for closer trade relations between the two countries.

OFF TO WASHINGTON.

The Canadian Ministers Go to Interview Blaine on Trade Matters.

OTTAWA, Feb. 9.—At 2 o'clock yesterday Sir John Thompson, Minister of Justice; Hon. M. Bowell, Acting Minister of Customs; Hon. George E. Foster, Finance Minister, accompanied by Mr. Parmalee, Assistant Commissioner of Customs, and Mr. Douglas Stewart, private secretary to the Minister of Justice, who will act as secretary to the delegation, left to-day for Washington by special car by the Canada Atlantic Railway, West Shore and Pennsylvania Railway. A meeting of the Cabinet was held this forenoon to complete the arrangement for the trip, as Mr. Foster did not arrive in time on Saturday to attend the meeting. They meet President Harrison and Secretary Blaine on the 10th inst.

The Meetings to be Secret.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The Behring Sea Joint Commission, consisting of Sir Baden-Powell and Dr. Dawson of Great Britain and Professors Mendenhall and Merrian of the United States, met for the first time today at the Arlington Hotel and made preliminary arrangements for a series of sessions on the general subject of the seal hunting industry. These meetings will be held at the State Department, beginning to-morrow, and will be secret.

These meetings are for the purpose of comparing the results of the investigations made by the Commissioners independently last summer, with a view to the formulation of a joint report which may be accepted by the board of arbitrators, when appointed, as final on all questions touching the character and extent of the sealing industry.

Meanwhile arrangements are being made for settlement of the question of jurisdiction over Behring Sea by arbitration, and it is expected that a treaty to the effect between Great Britain and the United States will be in shape for submission to the Senate for ratification next week.

EXIT, FRED. FITZSIMMONS

THE BROCKVILLE MURDERER BURIED AT NEW ORLEANS.

The Money in His Pockets Paid For the Funeral, Although Mrs. Fitzsimmons and His Canadian Relatives Telegraphed Their Willingness to Bear the Expense.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 9.—In No. 307, second tier of the public vaults of St. Vincent de Paul Cemetery, parish of Orleans, lies all that is mortal of Frederick C. Fitzsimmons. There were no mourners at the funeral, no minister, no flowers, no music but the clinking of the bricklayer's trowel. So was illustrated these words found in the memorandum book of the murderer and suicide:

'Tis the twinkle of an eye, 'tis the draught of a breath,
From the blossom of health to the paleness of death.

Where the Knife Was Concealed.

The instrument with which Fitzsimmons killed himself is what is known by surgeons as a bitouri. It is very small, but very sharp, and is capable of cutting up the whole human body without any difficulty. Dr. W. H. Robin, who was the first physician called in to sew up the wounds, told me that the knife had been concealed by Fitzsimmons in his rectum, so that all the usual prison searches in the world would not have revealed its presence. He said that before he left Fitzsimmons he had made an examination which had convinced him of this beyond doubt.

His Unique Funeral.

As Fitzsimmons' murder of Gilkinson was cold-blooded, his escape from jail bold, his hiding for over four months remarkable, and his suicide nervy and mysterious, so was his funeral unique. Captain Journee of the New Orleans police let drop the information that there was $70 cash belonging to Fitzsimmons at headquarters. It was decided to place the remains in a vault, subject to the orders of Fitzsimmons' relatives, there to remain, unless they are ordered elsewhere for one year, and then buried.

In this city it is not possible to dig down more than three feet without striking water, and there are few spots hereabouts where even this is possible. The dead are therefore deposited in the vaults of marble or brick above the ground, which are sealed, numbered and suitably inscribed. The cemetery of St. Vincent de Paul is a Catholic institution owned by Mrs. Manuel Suraez. It contains the bodies of many thousands. Fitzsimmons was deposited in the commonest kind of a vault, such as rents for a year at $20. At the end of that time the bones of the deceased are removed, placed in a box and buried in a shallow grave in another part of the cemetery enclosure.

The Last Chapter.

It was 3.30 o'clock when the funeral procession left the doors of the prison. The body had been sewed together, the gashes in the neck closed, and the remains dressed in a neat silk faced shroud, with collar, tie and cuffs of the most approved funeral style. The coffin was of imitation cherry, with imitation silver mountings. Upon the lid was the customary "Rest in Peace," and upon the head a large cross. Four vagrants bore the remains from the hospital ward through the long corridors and down the winding steps of the prison to the hearse, pushed it into place, slammed the door to and then trotted back within the prison walls to finish their 90 days each. The hearse was of the finest, tastefully draped with crepe. The undertaker started off on the two mile drive to the cemetery at a lively pace.

Upon arrival at the cemetery a bricklayer quickly pulled out the loose bricks with which the opening to the vault had been closed, while a hodcarrier hurried away to the mortar box for a barrow of mortar. There was two minutes' delay waiting for this, and then, without a word, a prayer, hymn or benediction, the coffin containing the dead desperado was thrust into the vault. In two minutes more the vault door had been bricked in and the bricks faced with a coating of cement. Somebody remarked that at last Fitzsimmons was in a prison from which no saw could save him and no knife release him, and the funeral was over.

From His Wife and Home.

Just about that time Chief of Police Gaster received the following message from Chief of Police Rose of Brockville, Ont.:

Are you sure it's Fitzsimmons? If so, hold the body and answer me immediately. You will hear from me soon as I get reply. Any expense incurred will be paid by me.

Chief Gaster replied that the body had already been buried properly, but that the relatives could have it if they desired. Later a telegram stating that Mrs. Fitzsimmons would authorize the expenditure of $150 to secure a proper burial was received.

Fraud and Sentiment.

Coroner Lemonnier made an examination of Fitzsimmons' effects this afternoon. Among other things he found two sets of dice and what is known as a "spiel" dollar. The latter is a bogus silver dollar with a false head side to it, into which the dollar proper fits. An expert in crooked devices like Fitzsimmons could so manipulate the thing when "heads" were described as to win on every throw he made.

The lock of little Lucy Fitzsimmons' hair, wrapped in chamois skin, was opened. About it was a bit of paper, upon which was the following writing by Fitzsimmons:

The world may lose its motion,
Bright heaven may cease to be;
The storm may rule the ocean,
But I'll never prove false to thee.

The little book also contained many miscellaneous clippings and countless quotations on all manner of themes, including Robert G. Ingersoll's eulogy at the burial of his brother. On a page by itself was this in Fitzsimmons' handwriting:

'Tis hard to venture where our betters fail,
Or lend fresh interest to a twice-told tale.

Fake Jewelry and Weapons.

In the valise which the police had found was a lot of jewelry purchased by Fitzsimmons in Chicago and St. Louis. There were two dozen watches, two dozen chains, three dozen rings with settings and a great bundle of collar buttons, studs, rings, etc. It was all of the fake gold variety. It was Fitzsimmons' scheme to sell the stuff among the negroes in the Bycu Teche country near here. The bills for the goods showed that they had cost about $125. There were two big Colt's revolvers and the most murderous-looking clasp knife imaginable. This weapon had a blade on it fully five inches long, which sprang open at the touch of a spring, and was ground to a razor edge.

The Lawyer Opens His Will.

Fitzsimmons' lawyer, Richardson, opened Fitzsimmons' will, which had been sealed and directed to William and C. H. Fitzsimmons and David B. Jones, Brockville, as executors. It merely bequeathed his estate to his wife during her lifetime.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Ottawa Government pays a striking tribute to the strength of the feeling throughout the country in favor of reciprocity when they send emissaries to Washington on a reciprocity mission. The offer will not be honestly made, and they will not be willing to give a quid pro quo to the Americans. The whole move is simply made to blind the eyes of the farmers till the pending bye-elections are over. But all the same it shows that they realize how powerful the sentiment in favor of reciprocity is.

It is rather a striking fact that the combines which are securing control of Canadian manufacturing industries are largely American. The National Cordage Company, which recently purchased the Dartmouth ropeworks and now controls all the cordage works in Canada, is largely American. So is the cotton combine which has already gobbled up nearly all the cotton mills in Canada. It is these American combines who are furnishing the election fund with which the Tories bribe the electors. It is in order that these American monopolists may get rich that the farmers of Canada are asked to submit to a tax of from $200 to $400 a year each.

The egg question received its quietus last week at the meeting of the Central Farmers' Institute in Toronto. The testimony of D. D. Wilson and W. H. Thompson, the largest shippers of eggs in Western and Eastern Ontario respectively, proves conclusively that the farmers have during the past year lost three to four cents a dozen on all the eggs they sold and will continue to so lose so long as the tariff walls are retained. These practical men say that the English market is not as steady and reliable as the American market, nor as remunerative. Some of the Tory editors will no doubt dispute these assertions, but the farmers of Canada will place more confidence in the statements of the actual experience of our largest shippers, than in the theories of subsidized Tory organs.

The Milk Turned Sour.

I will not tell you her name, but one o the neighbors says that during her brie visit the other day the milk turned sour. Her countenance looks a yard long. She sighs perpetually. The cloud on her brow is deep. If beaten out thin, I believe it would cover the sky. Her voice is doleful, and her eyes show no radiance. Her wrinkles are numberless. She is a sorry picture, and all because she is the victim of one of those complaints common to women. Her system is deranged. She needs a course of self-treatment with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This will eradicate thoroughly those excruciating periodical pains and functional weaknesses incident to her sex, and at the same time build up and invigorate her whole system by its health-imparting influence. A trial bottle will convince.

THE NEW YORK FIRE.

Portions of Eleven Burned and Blackened Bodies Recovered in the Wreck of the Hotel Royal.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The gruesome work of searching for the blackened corpses of the victims of the fire at the Hotel Royal Sunday was kept up uninterruptedly to-day, and up to midnight the bodies of six victims had been recovered, making the total death list to date eleven.

All the bodies were taken to the Morgue, together with numerous articles that may assist in the identification of the victims.

So far few of the corpses have been recognized. Charles Blake of Stamford, Conn, identified the remains of his sister Sarah, aged 49. A stylishly-dressed woman of dissipated appearance identified one of the bodies as that of an inmate of her establishment, who had left the house in company with Mr. Levy, whose body was found in the ruins. Samuel Cherley, the bell-boy at the Hotel Royal, recognized one body as that of Mrs. Lewis, the bookkeeper's wife, and thinks the remains in box 4 are those of her husband. The body of Housekeeper Begley was recognized by her teeth.

A steam derrick has been put to work on the ruins and the search will be prosecuted all night by the aid of electric lights.

During the night the trunk of a woman was found near the Fortieth-street entrance to the hotel. It was marked "Body No. 12." The legs and arms were gone and nothing was found near it by which it could be identified. Shortly afterwards the laborers found the foot of a human being wedged in under a piano.

There was found in the ruins a black alligator hand-satchel containing a 100 mile ticket on the Long Island Railroad made out in the name of J. H. May. The name of May is not on the hotel register; but it is thought he may have been one of those who registered under a false name.

Mrs. Hattie VanWorden, wife of H. J. VanWorden, manager of the Royal Worcester Corset Co., was undoubtedly among those who perished. Her husband says she had jewels worth $30,000 in her possession.

Another Hotel Burned.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 9.—At 9.30 last night the building No. 230 Main-street, occupied by the Bruse Berne Hat Co., was destroyed by fire, which communicated to Leubrman's Hotel, probably the finest south of the Ohio River, which was destroyed.

The "Ruby" saloon and a large harness factory and another building were also burned. It is thought no lives were lost in the Leubrman Hotel as guests had ample opportunity of escaping before the fire communicated to the hotel.

The loss will foot up in the hundreds of thousands, as the burned portion was the finest building site in town.

Leaped Back Into the Flames.

BERLIN, Feb. 9.—A mother, her mother-in-law and her three boys perished in a tenement house fire at Barsinghassen. The house was occupied by four families.

The mother had a chance to save herself without the children, but threw herself back into the flames when she saw them burning.

The mother-in-law tried to carry one of the children out in her arms, but was suffocated by the smoke and perished with the rest of the family.

Eighteen Passengers Cremated on a Turkish Railway Train.

BUCHAREST, Feb. 9.—A first-class carriage attached to an express train bound for Braila was burned last night, and 18 passengers who were asleep when the fire broke out perished in the flames, the doors of the carriage being locked.

Escaped in Their Nightclothes.

GANANOQUE, Ont., Feb. 9.—Fire yesterday morning caused these losses: Grocery store occupied by Robert Fair, loss $1000, fully insured; Robert Leaky's harness shop, loss $1200; building owned by G. Stunden, loss $1700, insurance $1200, and the millinery store and dwelling of Mrs. K. E. Baker, loss $6000, insured for $4100. The inmates barely escaped with their lives in their nightclothes.

Blown Up with the Engine.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 9.—By the explosion of an engine on the Rerding Railroad here last night the firemen of the engine, George Reardon, and two unknown boys who were stealing a ride, were killed and five other men injured, one fatally. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

"August Flower"

"I inherit some tendency to Dyspepsia from my mother. I suffered two years in this way; consulted a number of doctors. They did me no good. I then used Relieved in your August Flower and it was just two days when I felt great relief. I soon got so that I could sleep and eat, and I felt that I was well. That was three years ago, and I am still first-class. I am never Two Days. without a bottle, and if I feel constipated the least particle a dose or two of August Flower does the work. The beauty of the medicine is, that you can stop the use of it without any bad effects on the system. Constipation While I was sick I felt everything it seemed to me a man could feel. I was of all men most miserable. I can say, in conclusion, that I believe August Flower will cure anyone of indigestion, if taken Life of Misery with judgment. A. M. Weed, 229 Bellefontaine St., Indianapolis, Ind."

IS AUSTRIA DOOMED?

AN ARGUMENT TO PROVE THAT HER DISSOLUTION IS INEVITABLE.

A Country That Has Proved False to the Expectations Indulged That She Would be an Impartial and Hetrogeneous and United Monarchy.

Our late historian, Palacky, declared once that in case of dissolution of the Austrian monarchy the Slavs living outside of Russia would have to re-establish it. He clearly foresaw the instability of Turkey on the European continent. Austria was destined to be a heterogeneous monarchy, a union of various people capable of independent existence, people who would find sufficient security under her protection.

Austria was to rule over the Bohemians, the Magyars, the Poles, the Croatians—over the Balkan estates even, if necessary. But she was to rule impartially—arresting the progress of none and giving a fair chance of development to all. The very heterogeneity was to curb and regulate the strength of these States within a reasonable limit, wherein was seen the safety of Europe. The nations thus united were to preserve entire independence and self-government, with no other ties but the mutual defence of the country.

Austria has not only proved herself false to all these expectations, but she allowed her policy to drift in a direction exactly opposite to that outlined above. She has become a vanguard of Germanizing tendencies. This resulted in her collision with Russia and in the support of Turkey by France and England. Besides, these Germanizing tendencies becoming obvious, the situation had changed; it was no longer safe to intrust her with the happiness of these millions of people. England, powerful as she is, had no occasion to fear Germany's greatness; she therefore upheld Austria's policy, inasmuch as it ran counter to the schemes and the disadvantage of Russia.

The Balkan Peninsula, then, is the true seat of troubles. Here European powers vie with each other for supremacy. Russia tries to check the encroachment of Austria, which power, through her very policy, is advancing the interests of Germany. That power again, through her Austrian tool, is frustrating the designs of Russia, perpetuating thereby the suzerainty of the Porte. That Russia was never unfriendly to Austria was demonstrated in 1849, when she assisted in quelling the Hungarian revolt. What was the aim of this rebellion?

Was not its object the annihilation of Austria? If successful, Germany would have grasped the western possessions of Austria, including the Bohemian crown. Hungary, assisted by England and Germany, would have done the same with the Balkan States. But as Germany would have had it all her own way in this event (the Hungarians being used ostensibly to further the interests of Germany), Russia lent, therefore, her aid to Austria, still hoping that that monarchy would remain true to her trust.

Even France, her statesmen underrating the strength of Germany, allowed herself to be drawn into the combination, and sided with the Germans and the English. Soon Bismarck appeared, and with him the aggressive policy of Germany became manifest. Defeating Austria in 1866, after she had helped him to adjust the Danish boundaries controversy, he forever put an end to Hapsburg domination in Germany. By crushing France in 1871 he had demonstrated the superiority of Germany on the continent.

With these achievements behind him, he began to press the vanquished Austrians toward the Balkan. To the Magyars he promised the rule over the Slavs on the Balkan, and the first step in that direction was forcing Austria into adoption of dualism. While the Balkan provinces are controlled by the Porte and by German Princes, Hungary, being encouraged by Austria (which in turn is prompted by Germany), is pursuing a most revolting policy of Magyarizing the Hungarian Slavs, and thus preparing the field for future conquests.

Italy was promised, in exchange for her support of Germany, a slice on the Adriatic coast, while England was won over by promises of anti-Russian policy. Thus, everything being in readiness, the matters rest, awaiting only a propituous moment for their consummation. Were the events allowed to run in this track a hundred years hence, they would result in something like this: Roumania is being prepared for Germany by the reigning Hohenzollern prince; in Bulgaria, the German policy is fostered by Prince Coburg; in Servia, ex-King Milan of unsavory reputation, protected the German interests: the Magyars do the work among the Croatains, already casting yearning looks toward Bosnia and Herzegovina; and, lastly, the Germans themselves "attend" to the Slavs on this side of the Leitha. The Poles look stupidly on.

From all this it would seem that Austria is lacking much of that determination which Palacky and the Russians mistakenly attributed to her, for instead of neutralizing the influence of Germany through her various races she has persistently Germanized them, betraying thus her original trust and hurrying herself to destruction through these same elements of which she is composed—the Slavic people. Germany herself, when Austria can no longer serve her purposes, will give her the first blow when the tremendous struggle between the Slavs and the Germans comes.

If in that conflict the Slavs should refuse to go to war with their Russian brethren, it is probable that victorious Germany would occupy their possessions, annexing permanently the whole of Austria on this side of the Leitha. This she might do even at the cost of sacrificing her Polish provinces, out of which could be reconstructed new Poland under the protectorate of Germany. The Bohemians and the Slavonians would have to assume the role of the Poles, thus released from Germany, while the Hapsburgs, shorn of their possessions, would be compelled to move eastward—to Buda-Pesth.

Such, apparently, were the plans of Bismarck, and such results did he anticipate from his victory over France. No matter, then, what power wins in the approaching conflict, the organization of Austria will undoubtedly undergo a great change. Were Russia to win, the country would have to be re-organized by the Slavs with a policy strong enough to resist the pressure of Germanism; on the other hand, Germany being victorious, the Hapsburgs would be driven eastward. — Translated from the Pokrok Zapadu in the Baltimore American.

"Do you think that Col. Yerger is going to run again for the legislature?" asked a Texas gentleman of a friend.

"I know that he is."

"Did he tell you so?"

"No."

"Then how do you know he is going to run again?"

"You see I live near him, and his wife is beginning to pay back the tea and coffee they borrowed a year ago, just after he was defeated. He is beginning already to win over the dissatisfied element of his party."

If you have a cough or cold do not neglect it; many without a trace of that hereditary disease have drifted into a consumptive grave by neglecting what was only a slight cold. Had the used Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup before it was too late their lives would have been spared. Mr. A. W. Levy Mitchell, writes. "I think Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation on the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught a severe cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cought. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of Consumption, and had given up hopes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickel's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieved, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured. I always recomend it for severe colds and consumption."

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. Their original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No deleterious mineral ingredient is contained in it, and though its action is thorough in cases of costiveness it never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowel like a violent purgative. It invigorates the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney diseases scrofulous and all diseases of the blood, female weakness, &c., &c. Price $1.00. Sample bottle 10 cents. Ask for Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. The wrapper bears a fac-simile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers.

The Newfoundland Troubles.

When the House of Lords met subsequently to adjourn, the Earl of Kimberley (Liberal), formerly Secretary of State for the Colonies, expressed surprise that the Queen's speech made no reference to the dispute between Great Britain and France in regard to the claims of the latter country in Newfoundland. Parliament, he declared, ought to obtain an explicit and early statement of the position of affairs. The Earl said he concurred in the tones of the speech in its references to the loss sustained by Her Majesty and the nation in the death of the Duke of Clarence and Avondale.

Salisbury on Ireland.

Lord Salisbury said that the absence of special reference in the Queen's speech to the order and prosperity prevailing in Ireland showed the confidence of the Government in the country's fitness for local self-government. The fact that an Irish Local Government Bill was proposed implied that conditions now prevailed in Ireland which justified the Government in giving that country extended powers of local control.

With regard to Egypt Lord Salisbury said that after the sacrifices Great Britain had made in connection with that country he believed that England would never surrender its supremacy there to another power.

Replying to the criticism of the Earl of Kimberley regarding the absence of any reference to Newfoundland in the Queen's speech, Lord Salisbury said that the present settlement of the question was not due to the action of the Government, but to the people of Newfoundland themselves.

The address in reply to the speech was then passed by the House of Lords.

Harcourt in the Commons.

In the House of Commons Mr. Hodge moved the adoption of the address in reply to the Queen's speech.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt said it was his first duty to express the sympathy of the Opposition for the Royal Family in the loss sustained in the death of the Duke of Clarence and Avondale. Next he said the Opposition recognized the merits of Mr. Balfour as the new Government leader in the House, and added, he believed that Mr. Balfour would always sustain the honor and privileges of the House of Commons.

Balfour Replies.

Responding to Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Mr. Balfour made reference to the death of the Right Hon. William Henry Smith and said he desired to walk in the footsteps of that admirable leader of the House. Sir William, Mr. Balfour stated, had distorted the meaning of Lord Salisbury's remarks in his Exeter speech. The proposals of the Ministers granting an extension of local government, as well as an education measure to Ireland, would show that the Government had confidence in a Catholic majority. He hoped that Sir William's silence on the other topics in the Queen's speech indicated that the debate on the address in reply would not be prolonged.

A RACY CASE REPORTED FROM ST. CATHARINES.

Swore on His Wedding Day and Objected to His Wife Singing at Church Concerts—Another Fatal Coasting Accident—Mother and Babes Burned to Death.

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 10.—Before Judge Senkler yesterday the suit was heard of Muir v. Muir, an action brought by Mrs. Alberta Muir, wife of Mr. John A. Muir of Port Dalhousie, for the recovery of her daughter, Gladys, a child of about 2 years of age, now in the possession of its father.

Before any evidence was taken Mr. Osler asked if all charges were withdrawn and bygones treated as such would Mrs. Muir return to her husband.

Mrs. Muir emphatically said no, adding that she was afraid of him; further, that she did not care for him at all.

Mrs. Muir was then sworn and gave her evidence at great length. They were married in 1883 and the child was born in 1889. The trouble originated in the first place about church matters, the husband being a Presbyterian and the wife an Episcopalian.

Kicked Her Out of Bed.

Witness then stated that his abuse consisted in twisting her arm, pulling her hair, threatening to strike her, which he did with a soap dish, and also kicked her out of bed. She did not constantly refuse to submit to him, but wished not to have any more children. She locked herself in her bedroom alone and kept the window open so she could escape if he broke the door. He once slapped her face.

Objected to Her Little Pleasures.

She had a good voice and was fond of singing. When married she was taken to a comfortable home. Her husband is a sober and industrious man—a very domestic man—and appears to be an affectionate father, but he objects to her little pleasures, such as singing in churches.

She was horrified to hear him curse the day upon which he was married. He tried to force her to go to his church and used terrible words after Gladys was born. On another occasion, in presence of Miss Crane, he threw a goblet of black currant juice in her face and threatened to hit her with a jug.

Wanted to Go to Singing School.

Mr. W. Muir, father of the defendant, was examined by Mr. Rykert and gave some general evidence, showing the first difficulty arose between them over church matters. He was tired of hearing about their domestic troubles and had not visited their house in two years. He was not aware that John was an ill-tempered man, but like all other men he would not be nagged at or provoked without reason. She always complained that he did not give her money or take her into society, and after her marriage even wanted her husband to send her to a Boston music school. The case was enlarged for a week.

KILLED THE CHILD.

Whether Wilfully or Accidentally a Coroner's Jury Will Determine.

CASTLETON, Ont., Feb. 10.—Sunday the little daughter of Mr. John Robinson, boot and shoemaker, died after only being ill about eight hours. Later on a laudanum bottle partly filled was found to be missing. Mrs. Robinson, the child's stepmother, then said she had given the child laudanum, and as she had destroyed the bottle the amount taken could not be ascertained. An inquest will be held.

Squire Gillespie Dead.

CANNINGTON, Ont., Feb. 10.—Malcolm Gillespie, aged 78, one of the oldest and most respected residents of this vicinity, ate a hearty supper and retired to bed feeling as well as usual. About 11 o'clock he complained of a severe pain in his head, and six hours later died. The squire, as the deceased was familiarly called, had resided in this vicinity for upwards of 40 years. He held the position of reeve of Brock for 12 years, and in 1878 was warden of Ontario county. In 1867 he contested this riding for the Legislative Assembly against the late Sheriff Paxton, but was defeated. Deceased was 78 years of age and leaves a wife and 13 children. Three of the sons are physicians: Dr. W. K. Gillespie (Toronto Junction), Dr. H. A. Gillespie (Cannington) and Dr. J. Gillespie.

"August Flower"

"I inherit some tendency to Dyspepsia from my mother. I suffered two years in this way; consulted a number of doctors. They did me no good. I then used your August Flower and it was just two days when I felt great relief. I soon got so that I could sleep and eat, and I felt that I was well. That was three years ago, and I am still first-class. I am never without a bottle, and if I feel constipated the least particle a dose or two of August Flower does the work. The beauty of the medicine is, that you can stop the use of it without any bad effects on the system. While I was sick I felt everything it seemed to me a man could feel. I was of all men most miserable. I can say, in conclusion, that I believe August Flower will cure anyone of indigestion, if taken with judgment. A. M. EDITORIAL NOTES

The Ottawa Government pays a striking tribute to the strength of the feeling throughout the country in favor of reciprocity when they send emissaries to Washington on a reciprocity mission. The offer will not be honestly made, and they will not be willing te give a quid pro quo to the Americans. The whole move is simply made to blind the eyes of the farmers till the pending bye-elections are over. But all the same it shows that they realize how powerful the sentiment in favor of reciprocity is.

It is rather a striking fact that the combines which are securing control of Canadian manufacturing industries are largely American. The National Cordage Company, which recently purchased the Dartmouth ropeworks and now controls all the cordage works in Canada, is largely American. So is the cotton combine which has already gobbled up nearly all the cotton mills in Canada. It is these American combines who are furnishing the election fund with which the Tories bribe the electors. It is in order that these American monopolists may get rich that the farmers of Canada are asked to submit to a tax of from $200 to $400 a year each.

The egg question received its quietus last week at the meeting of the Central Farmers' Institute in Toronto. The testimony of D. D. Wilson and W. H. Thompson, the largest shippers of eggs in Western and Eastern Ontario respectively, proves conclusively that the farmers have during the past year lost three to four cents a dozen on all the eggs they sold and will continue to so lose so long as the tariff walls are retained. These practical men say that the English market is not as steady and reliable as the American market, nor as remunerative. Some of the Tory editors will no doubt dispute these assertions, but the farmers of Canada will place more confidence in the statements of the actual experience of our largest shippers, than in the theories of subsidized Tory organs.

The Milk Turned Sour.

I will not tell you her name, but one o the neighbors says that during her brie visit the other day the milk turned sour. Her countenance looks a yard long. She sighs perpetually. The cloud on her brow is deep. If beaten out thin, I believe it would cover the sky. Her voice is doleful, and her eyes show no radiance. Her wrinkles are numberless. She is a sorry picture, and all because she is the victim of one of those complaints common to women. Her system is deranged. She needs a course of self-treatment with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This will eradicate thoroughly those excruciating periodical pains and functional weaknesses incident to her sex, and at the same time build up and invigorate her whole system by its health-imparting influence. A trial bottle will convince.

...TS [the Canadian Conservative pol... icy] REAL TENDENCY HAS BEEN TOWARDS DISINTEGRATION AND ANNEXATION INSTEAD OF CONSOLIDATION AND THE MAINTENANCE OF THAT BRITISH CONNECTION OF WHICH THEY CLAIM TO BE THE SPECIAL GUARDIANS.

"It has left us with a small population, a scanty immigration and a North West empty still; with enormous additions to our public debt and yearly charge; an extravagant system of expenditure, and an unjust and oppressive tariff; with restricted markets for our needs, whether to buy or to sell, and all the hosts of evils (greatly intensified by our special conditions) thence arising; with trade diverted from it natural into forced and therefore less profitable channels, and with unfriendly relations and growing tariff walls, ever more estranging us from the mighty English speaking nation to the south, our neighbors and relations, with whom it ought to be, and it was promised that we should be, living in generous amity and liberal intercourse.

"WORSE! FAR WORSE! It has left us with lower standards of public virtue, and a death-like apathy in public opinion, with racial, religious and provincial animosities, rather inflamed than soothed, with a subservient parliament, an autocratic executive, debauched constituencies and corrupting classes; with lessened self-reliance and increased dependence on the public chest and on legislative aids; and possessed withal by a boastful jingo spirit far enough removed from true manliness, loudly proclaiming unreal conditions and exaggerated sentiments, while actual facts and genuine opinions are suppressed,"

"It has left us with OUR HANDS TIED; our FUTURE compromised, and in such a plight that, whether we stand or move, we must run some risks which else we might have either declined, or encountered with greater promise of success."

Could there be any stronger arraignment of any government than this?

A New York Physician

"I do not hesitate to say that I frequently prescribe Hood's Sarsaparilla for my patients," said an eminent New York physician, whose name if given would be recognized as that of a specialist at the head of his branch of the profession, and do so with a great deal of confidence." "In the first place," he continued, "I believe in it as a pure, reliable blood purifier, with especial merit as a tonic. Then, I can rely on it as being the same medicine all the time. What I mean is this:—I can write a prescripton for a patient, who will take it to a druggist and receive medicine accordingly. The next time the patient needs about the same medicine, or when I give the same prescription to another patient, he goes to some other druggist who prepares a medicine which looks and acts entirely different from that of the first druggist. I do not mean by this to reflect upon the druggists for as a rule there is no more honorable or reliable business class of men in the country. But the most honest men may differ in understanding, belief and method. Now Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared all the time by the same men, who have given a great deal of thought and time to its composition. It is prepared in large quantities and from the same ingredients. Therefore when you buy a second, or 3rd or 4th bottle, they will be the same as the first, of equal appearance, strength and curative power. It is a good medicine and is being prescribed more and more by the medical profession."

It takes only this to thoroughly remove dandruff, stop itching of the scalp, and make the hair soft and pliable. In fact Anti-Dandruff is a perfect hair tonic—all say so who use it.

ALMOST A SPR ING DAY.

Beautiful Weather and Crowds of People in the Streets.

The beautiful weather brought out a big crowd of people on the streets to-day. The sun shone like a spring-day sun, and the snow melted beneath his attention in a way to seriously threaten the sleighing. On this account there was a grand rush for cutters, and the liverymen were a busy lot. There was a great deal of driving during the day. It was a veritable spring day, and one could almost fancy that the winter was going out. It was so bright and cheerful, so calm and peaceful, that a new hope seemed to be born in the hearts of the citizens, and everyone looked happy. Pleased to see the snow come, and pleased to see it go again—it is always thus with man. He sighs for something till he gets it, and then he sighs for something else, and the one excuse that is common to us all is that old familiar one, "a change is as good as a rest." There were more pedestrians on the street to-day than any day since New Year. The furs and wraps which have been so popular of late were not in it, and many a foolish man went out without his overcoat.

Mother and Child are Doing Well.

Mrs. Brown was sick. Her friends said she would never get well. "What's the trouble?" "O, some kind of female weakness. The doctors have given up her case as hopeless. She may live for some time time, they say, but as for a cure, that is quite out of the question."

"I don't believe it," said a woman, who heard the sad news, "I don't believe she's any worse off than I was, five years ago from the same trouble, and I don't look very much look like a dead woman, do I?" She certainly did not, with her red, plump cheeks, bright eyes, and 150 pounds of good healthy bone, blood and flesh. "I'm going to see her and tell her how she can get well." She did so. She advised Mrs. Brown to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Mrs. Brown took the advice, also the medicine which cures all kinds of delicate diseases so common among women, and—got well. That was two years ago. Last month she presented Mr. Brown with a ten-pound son, and "mother and child are doing well."

The February Overland

The Overland Monthly for February is a very attractive magazine in its new cover, which is still familiarly like the old one, but with a more artistic and unique character. Its contents are beautifully and profusely illustrated, especially the leader, an account by Prof. Geo. Davidson of the great exploit of the Coast Survey in occuping the all but inaccessible tip of Mt. Conness for a signal station, a year and a half ago. They actually built and have kept up an observatory on a summit barely big enough to hold it, reached by crawling across a knife-edge rock, a few inches wide, with a thousand feet precipiece on either side.

Camping with Fox Hounds in Southern California, and An American Tin Mine, are also finely illustrated and very readable articles.

The magazine has a stirring story of A Night Ride in Apache Land; another story is a pretty Hawaiian legend, The Stone Maiden; and other stories, poems, and sketches, make up a most interesting number.

Purify

The importance of keeping the blood in a pure condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is heredited and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

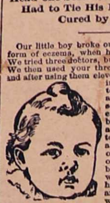
NEVER FAILS. CURES COLD IN HEAD AND CATARRH



BAD ECZEMA ON BABY

Our little boy broke out on his head with a bad form of eczema, when he was four months old. We tried three doctors, but they did not help him. We then used your three CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using them eleven weeks exactly according to directions, he began to steadily improve, and after the use of them for seven months his head was entirely well. When we began using it his head was a solid sore from the crown to his eyebrows. It was also all over his ears, most of his face, and small places on different parts of his body. There were sixteen weeks that we had to keep his hands tied to the cradle and hold them when he was taken up; and had to keep mittens tied on his hands to keep his finger-nails out of the sores, as he would scratch if he could in any way get his hands loose. We know your CUTICURA REMEDIES cured him. We feel safe in recommending them to others.

SAVED BY THE SNOW.

Snow Makes it Easier to Convey Food to the Distressed Russians.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 10.—Little is now heard here of the famine. Heavy snows have fallen, a strong crust has formed and goods and grain may be conveyed in sledges to any part of the Empire. Much grain has already reached the famine-stricken provinces, and according to the reports received here the condition of the sufferers has much improved.

It is the general opinion here that the distressed provinces will now be enabled to hold out until spring.

SPURGEON'S REMAINS.

The Crowd Break Up the Wooden Case of the Coffin for Relics.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—From 7 o'clock yesterday the body of the late Rev. Charles H. Spurgeon has been lying in state in the Metropolitan Tabernacle. An enormous crowd was waiting for the doors to open and as soon as they were permitted the throng began to move past the coffin. Thirteen thousand persons had viewed the body before 11 o'clock. The coffin is covered with palm branches.

The coffin was originally inclosed in a wooden case, and before it was taken to the train that was to convey it to London this case was taken off. It was broken to pieces, and the crowd eagerly seized upon the bits of wood and carried them off as relics.

Mrs. Frank Carew Divorced.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Miss Edith Chester, the actress, to-day obtained a divorce from Frank Carew, with the custody of her children. Carew treated her badly, and on one occasion struck her. He was, moreover, found guilty of infidelity.

Miss Edith Chester is known here as a former member of Rosina Vokes' Comedy Company, when she went under the name of Miss Leslie Chester.

HESLOP MURDER.

Tom Young and His Wife Both Down with Grip—Over the Ground.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 10.—Thomas Young and his wife, who are witnesses in the Heslop murder case, have both been very ill with la grippe.

The Heslop residence remains as it was on the night of the murder. The basket upon which Mr. Heslop's head rested when his wife and daughter reached him, after his life had been taken, is still in the same spot, and nothing will be touched until after the trial is concluded.

The Lottridge family feel confident that John Lottridge will be released on the day of the trial. Mr. Thomas Lottridge, father of the accused, is a very respectable man and feels the position of his son very keenly.

Whatever the defence propose to set up they are doing it in a manner that the prosecution cannot gain any information about it.

TO MEET BLAINE TO-DAY.

The Canadian Ministers Have Arrived at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The Canadian reciprocity commissioners arrived yesterday. They will be received by Mr. Blaine to-day.

The New Ontario License Inspector

OTTAWA, Feb. 10.—Ex-Ald. J.K. Stewart, who has just been appointed provincial license inspector, was to-night given a reception at the City Hall. Hon. E. H. Bronson, on behalf of the citizens, presented him with a farewell address. Senator Clemow presented a gold watch and Mayor Durocher handed him a well-filled purse, to which all classes and men of every shade of politics had subscribed.

The N.Y. Life's New President.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—The presidency of the New York Life Insurance Company has been offered to John A. McCall, comptroller of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, and formerly superintendent of the State Insurance Department. Mr. McCall has until to-morrow to decide whether he will accept the office. It is understood the salary of the new president is to be $50,000.

Cremated in a Box.

VIENNA, Feb. 10.—Additional news from the scene of the railway disaster, between Bucharest and Brakelov, shows that the disaster was a terrible one. In one carriage no less than 20 people were locked in together. When the car caught fire the imprisoned ones shouted for aid, but before succor came all but two were burned to death or suffocated.

Danced Herself to Death.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 10.—Miss Amanda Jenson attended a dance at Turner Hall last Saturday evening and died a few hours later of heart disease. She had been repeatedly warned by physicians that she must not dance, but could not resist the temptation. She went home from the ball in high spirits, threw herself upon the bed in her room, chatted gayly with her roommate a few minutes and then fell into a stupor, from which she could not be aroused.

Another Coasting Fatality.

FERGUS, Ont., Feb. 10.—A farmer named Joseph Hall of Garafraxa and his son, aged 17, were going up Tower-street hill with a team, when they encountered some boys coming down the hill on a hand sleigh. The horses took fright, throwing both father and son out of the sleigh. The young man was almost instantly killed and the father seriously hurt.

A Man Drowned in a Pail of Water.

PICKERING, Feb. 10.—Frank Clark, aged 19, the adopted son of Smith Clark of this place, was this morning found dead, being drowned in a pail of water. Deceased was subject to fits and had fallen face downward. When found his face was in the water and life was extinct.

And Still Yielding.

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 10.—One hundred and ten tons of rock from the Lingham gold mine in Belmont yielded $1100 worth of gold, and the cleaning up is not yet completed.

Calamity in Mattawa.

MATTAWA, Ont., Feb. 10.—Early yesterday fire broke out in a frame building in Main-street, owned by the Earl estate and occupied by Rothschild's tailor shop. Mrs. Rothschild, a little girl aged 6 and a baby of 16 months, who were in the upper flat, perished in the flames. The building, which was wholly of pine, rapidly succumbed, and the flames communicated to M. Gauvreau's large storehouse and ginger ale factory, all of which were destroyed. Loss about $12,000; partly insured.

The Best Authorities.

Such as Dr. Dio Lewis, Prof. Gross, and others, agree that catarrh is not a local but a constitutional disease. It therefore requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which effectually and permanently cures catarrh. Thousands praise it.

Hood's Pills cure liver ills, jaundice, biliousness, sick headache, constipation, and all troubles of the digestive organs.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT

OPENED WITH THE CUSTOMARY FORMALITIES.

The Speech From the Throne—The Death of the Young Prince—Local Government for Ireland of the English Local Government Pattern—A Land Bill.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Everything was in readiness for the opening of Parliament when day dawned. The House of Commons had been swept and garnished, sulphur burned to drive out influenza microbes, Guy Fawkes searched for in the cellar and wigs, gowns and court suits had been brushed up for their last appearance in the Parliament which is on its last legs.

Not a single one of the leaders who filled the public eye last session is present to-day. Parnell and Smith are in their graves, Hartington has gone to the House of Lords and Gladstone will appear a little later.

Many a member whose face was familiar has disappeared during the last six months. One is in jail, and another is to be expelled almost as soon as the House meets.

There is something ghastly about Parliament in its sixth year. All the fire and spirit have gone out of it. We seem to be walking over the ashes and the spirit of the dead. It reminds one of the blood-curdling song which they say the British regiment on the Gold Coast used during the ravages of yellow fever, when men dropped out of the ranks of the living every day. It had for chorus, "Three cheers for the dead already and one for the next who dies!"

One by one this very winter Mr. Gladstone has seen his contemporaries swept away by the Dark River. He is like one of the last of the small group of survivors at the Waterloo banquets which the old Duke of Wellington gave until the vacant places at the table became so numerous that it was a heartbreaking affair to see the anniversary come around. The spectres at the feast scared away the handful of guests.

The interest of the aristocrats, especially the largest portion of this class, was centered in the House of Lords where the Earl of Dudley, noted for his skill as a gentleman rider, was selected to make his maiden Parliamentary effort by moving the address in reply to the Queen's speech.

The Queen's Speech.

There was a general buzz of conversation in the Commons until Black Rod called the Commoners to the bar of the House of Lords to hear Her Majesty's speech read. The Lord Chancellor read the speech as follows:

MY LORDS AND GENTLEMEN,—I am persuaded that you have deeply participated in the terrible sorrow which has afflicted me and my family in the loss at a moment when the prospects of his life appeared happiest of my dearly beloved grandson, Prince Albert Victor, Duke of Clarence and Avondale. It has been a solace to us in our grief to have received from all classes and conditions of my subjects, from all parts of the Empire, as well as from foreign countries, most touching assurances of deep sympathy under our grievous affliction and the expression of their affectionate regard and appreciation for the dear young Prince, whom they have lost by this great calamity.

My relations with other powers continue friendly. I have lost in the Viceroy of Egypt a loyal ally whose wise government had, in the space of a few years, largely contributed to restore prosperity and peace to his country. I have entire confidence that the same sagacious policy will be followed by his son, who has been named his successor in accordance with previous firmans by His Imperial Majesty the Sultan.

An agreement has been concluded with the United States defining the mode in which the dispute as to the sea fisheries in the Behring Sea shall be referred to arbitration.

Zanzibar has been established as a free port by the Sultan with my concurrence. I trust this measure will conduce both to the development of the Sultan's dominion and to the promotion of British commerce on the East African coast.

GENTLEMEN OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS,—The estimates for the public service of the ensuing year will be laid before you. They have been prepared with due regard to financial economy.

MY LORDS AND GENTLEMEN,—Proposals will be laid before you for applying to Ireland the general principles affecting local government which have already been adopted in Great Britain. I trust it may be possible to consider provisions as to English local government which, for want of time, it was necessary to omit from the bill.

Measures for increasing the number of small holdings of land in agricultural districts in Great Britain will be submitted for approval.

You will be asked to consider a bill for extending the advantages of assisted education to Ireland for other purposes connected with elementary education in that country.

A scheme for modifying the existing system of procedure on private bills, so far as it affects Scotland and Ireland, will be brought before you.

A measure will be introduced for the improvement of legislative councils in India.

A bill will be laid before you for relieving public elementary schools in England from the present pressure of local rates.

Proposals for improving the discipline of the Established Church in regard to moral offences, for enabling accused persons to be examined on their trial, for revising the existing agreements between the Government and the Bank of England and for amending the law with respect to the liability of employers for injuries incurred in their employment will also be commended to your attention.

I pray that Almighty God may guide you in the performance of your weighty functions.

Many Ladies Present.

A large number of ladies filled the three back benches in the House of Lords and the strangers' gallery in that chamber was also crowded with ladies who desired to see the formal opening of the session. All the ladies were attired in mourning out of respect to the late Duke of Clarence and Avondale.

After the Queen's speech had been read in the House of Lords and the House of Commons they adjourned until 4 o'clock.

When the House of Lords re-assembled Lord Salisbury, the Prime Minister, presented to the peers the new Duke of Devonshire, Lord Hartington, who then took the oath as a member of the House of Lords.

The chief interest after the reassembling of Parliament was centered in the House of Commons, where the popular members as they entered and took their seats were welcomed with hearty cheers. The Rt. Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, the successor to the late Rt. Hon. William Henry Smith, Government leader, received a prolonged ovation from his supporters and friends.

W. L. Jackson, the newly-appointed Chief Secretary for Ireland, was loudly cheered as he took his seat.

John Henry Maden, the Gladstonian who was elected to succeed Lord Hartington (Liberal-Unionist) as member for the Rossendale division of Lancashire, was cheered by the Opposition when he entered.

George Lambert (Gladstonian), who in the South Molton division of Devonshire turned a Liberal-Unionist majority of 1600 into a minority of 1200, came into the House for the first time as a member for that constituency. He received an enthusiastic welcome from the Opposition benches.

Mr. Balfour gave notice that he would introduce the Irish local government bill and that he would move on Thursday next that Edward DeCobain, member for East Belfast, who is a fugitive from the country, be requested to attend the House on Tuesday, Feb. 23. The notice of Mr. Balfour leads to the inference that steps are to be taken shortly to expel DeCobain, who is charged with a heinous crime, unless he returns to England.

The Newfoundland Troubles.

When the House of Lords met subsequently to adjourn, the Earl of Kimberley (Liberal), formerly Secretary of State for the Colonies, expressed surprise that the Queen's speech made no reference to the dispute between Great Britain and France in regard to the claims of the latter country in Newfoundland. Parliament, he declared, ought to obtain an explicit and early statement of the position of affairs. The Earl said he concurred in the tones of the speech in its references to the loss sustained by Her Majesty and the nation in the death of the Duke of Clarence and Avondale.

Salisbury on Ireland.

Lord Salisbury said that the absence of special reference in the Queen's speech to the order and prosperity prevailing in Ireland showed the confidence of the Government in the country's fitness for local self-government. The fact that an Irish Local Government Bill was proposed implied that conditions now prevailed in Ireland which justified the Government in giving that country extended powers of local control.

With regard to Egypt Lord Salisbury said that after the sacrifices Great Britain had made in connection with that country he believed that England would never surrender its supremacy there to another power.

Replying to the criticism of the Earl of Kimberley regarding the absence of any reference to Newfoundland in the Queen's speech, Lord Salisbury said that the present settlement of the question was not due to the action of the Government, but to the people of Newfoundland themselves.

The address in reply to the speech was then passed by the House of Lords.

Harcourt in the Commons.

In the House of Commons Mr. Hodge moved the adoption of the address in reply to the Queen's speech.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt said it was his first duty to express the sympathy of the Opposition for the Royal Family in the loss sustained in the death of the Duke of Clarence and Avondale. Next he said the Opposition recognized the merits of Mr. Balfour as the new Government leader in the House, and added, he believed that Mr. Balfour would always sustain the honor and privileges of the House of Commons.

Balfour Replies.

Responding to Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Mr. Balfour made reference to the death of the Right Hon. William Henry Smith and said he desired to walk in the footsteps of that admirable leader of the House. Sir William, Mr. Balfour stated, had distorted the meaning of Lord Salisbury's remarks in his Exeter speech. The proposals of the Ministers granting an extension of local government, as well as an education measure to Ireland, would show that the Government had confidence in a Catholic majority. He hoped that Sir William's silence on the other topics in the Queen's speech indicated that the debate on the address in reply would not be prolonged.

COLUMN OF CANADIAN.

A RACY CASE REPORTED FROM ST. CATHARINES.

Swore on His Wedding Day and Objected to His Wife Singing at Church Concerts—Another Fatal Coasting Accident—Mother and Babes Burned to Death.

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 10.—Before Judge Senkler yesterday the suit was heard of Muir v. Muir, an action brought by Mrs. Alberta Muir, wife of Mr. John A. Muir of Port Dalhousie, for the recovery of her daughter, Gladys, a child of about 2 years of age, now in the possession of its father.

Before any evidence was taken Mr. Osler asked if all charges were withdrawn and bygones treated as such would Mrs. Muir return to her husband.

Mrs. Muir emphatically said no, adding that she was afraid of him; further, that she did not care for him at all.

Mrs. Muir was then sworn and gave her evidence at great length. They were married in 1883 and the child was born in 1889.

The trouble originated in the first place about church matters, the husband being a Presbyterian and the wife an Episcopalian.

Kicked Her Out of Bed.

Witness then stated that his abuse consisted in twisting her arm, pulling her hair, threatening to strike her, which he did with a soap dish, and also kicked her out of bed. She did not constantly refuse to submit to him, but wished not to have any more children. She locked herself in her bedroom alone and kept the window open so she could escape if he broke the door. He once slapped her face.

Objected to Her Little Pleasures.

She had a good voice and was fond of singing. When married she was taken to a comfortable home. Her husband is a sober and industrious man—a very domestic man—and appears to be an affectionate father, but he objects to her little pleasures, such as singing in churches.

She was horrified to hear him curse the day upon which he was married. He tried to force her to go to his church and used terrible words after Gladys was born. On another occasion, in presence of Miss Crane, he threw a goblet of black currant juice in her face and threatened to hit her with a jug.

Wanted to Go to Singing School.

Mr. W. Muir, father of the defendant, was examined by Mr. Rykert and gave some general evidence, showing the first difficulty arose between them over church matters. He was tired of hearing about their domestic troubles and had not visited their house in two years. He was not aware that John was an ill-tempered man, but like all other men he would not be nagged at or provoked without reason. She always complained that he did not give her money or take her into society, and after her marriage even wanted her husband to send her to a Boston music school.

The case was enlarged for a week.

KILLED THE CHILD.

Whether Wilfully or Accidentally a Coroner's Jury Will Determine.

CASTLETON, Ont., Feb. 10.—Sunday the little daughter of Mr. John Robinson, boot and shoemaker, died after only being ill about eight hours. Later on a laudanum bottle partly filled was found to be missing. Mrs. Robinson, the child's stepmother, then said she had given the child laudanum, and as she had destroyed the bottle the amount taken could not be ascertained. An inquest will be held.

Squire Gillespie Dead.

CANNINGTON, Ont., Feb. 10.—Malcolm Gillespie, aged 78, one of the oldest and most respected residents of this vicinity, ate a hearty supper and retired to bed feeling as well as usual. About 11 o'clock he complained of a severe pain in his head, and six hours later died. The squire, as the deceased was familiarly called, had resided in this vicinity for upwards of 40 years. He held the position of reeve of Brock for 12 years, and in 1878 was warden of Ontario county. In 1867 he contested this riding for the Legislative Assembly against the late Sheriff Paxton, but was defeated. Deceased was 78 years of age and leaves a wife and 13 children. Three of the sons are physicians: Dr. W. K. Gillespie (Toronto Junction), Dr. H. A. Gillespie (Cannington) and Dr. J. Gillespie.

"August Flower"

"I inherit some tendency to Dyspepsia from my mother. I suffered two years in this way; consulted a number of doctors. They did me no good. I then used your August Flower and it was just two days when I felt great relief. I soon got so that I could sleep and eat, and I felt that I was well. That was three years ago, and I am still first-class. I am never without a bottle, and if I feel constipated the least particle a dose or two of August Flower does the work. The beauty of the medicine is, that you can stop the use of it without any bad effects on the system. While I was sick I felt everything it seemed to me a man could feel. I was of all men most miserable. I can say, in conclusion, that I believe August Flower will cure anyone of indigestion, if taken with judgment. A. M. THE DAILY ONTARIO

BELLEVILLE, FEBRUARY 10, 1892

OUTSIDE THE TRACES.

When so hard and fast a tory paper as the Intelligencer loses faith in the government things must be in a bad way. Yet such is now the condition of affairs. Our contemporary has labored earnestly the past months in an endeavor to prove that the Canadian farmer would not be at all benefitted by reciprocity and quoted cooked prices by the column to support its contention. Of course it did not succeed in its efforts, but it tried hard enough at any rate. Now we are told that this week three Canadian ministers, one of whom is Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, have gone to Washington to try to negotiate a reciprocity treaty in those very kinds of farm produce the prices of which the Intelligencer says would not be enchanced by reciprocity. We are even told the government is prepared to offer substantial concessions to secure this boon for the Canadian farmer. Of course the effort is not an honest one and will not be effectual, but the Intelligencer would not admit that of course. So it is in the position of opposing the government's avowed policy and of telling them they are spending the people's money to try to secure that which would be actually an injury to the farmers. Here are its exact words: "The home market affords the best markets by long odds. How long would the prices of farm produce remain at their present rates if unrestricted reciprocity were obtained or obtainable?" Mr. Bowell should whip his organ into the traces. Of course it does not mean to be independent, it wouldn't commit that heinous sin for the world. It simply doesn't know any better. Or can it be that it has an idea how hypocritical the government's avowed reciprocity policy is?

WHY IS IT?

The foreign trade of Canada now has increased less than a million dollars since 1873, when we had a 15 per cent tariff. It fluctuates more or less every year. In 1873 it was $217,801,203. It reached its highest point in 1883, when it was $230,339,829. The next year it was $207,803,531; in 1886 only $189,675,875. Last year it was $218,384,934, which though only a few thousand dollars above what it was in 1873 or 1874 is above the average of the past ten years.

How does this compare with the rest of America? The foreign trade of the United States since 1870 has increased from $913,000,000 to $1,613,000,000, or 76 per cent.; Mexico has increased $23,000,000, or 38 per cent.; Central America 39 per cent.; the West Indies $65,000,000, or 34 per cent. The South American countries show an increase of $396,405,645, or 90 per cent.

How is it that we alone are stagnant? The tories account for the greater increase of population in the United States by saying that they have a dozen Ontarios and we only one.

Then why is it that their Ontarios increase many times as fast in population as ours? Let us see: Ontario has increased 186,000 in ten years. In the same period

Michigan has increased	453,000
Ohio has increased	468,000
Kansas has increased	427,000
Minnesota has increased	520,000
Massachussets has increased	450,000
Nebraska has increased	604,000
New York has increased	898,000
Pennsylvania has increased	966,000 and so on. No state that is to be compared to Ontario but has increased several time in population to what we have.

"When I was a young man," said John than Gray,
"If a fellow took physic he knew it, you bet.
It would cramp him all up in a collicky way,
And, good Lord, what a twisting his insides would get!
But the pills in use now-days by sensible folks
Are as easy to take and as pleasant as jokes."

Of course, the kind referred to by Mr. Gray was Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the very best Liver Pill ever made—mild but sure and effective. The only pills, sold by druggists, absolutely on trial! Satisfaction guaranteed, or your money is returned.

TORONTO CANADA

TWO CANADIAN VICTIMS.

A LONDON MAN AND A TORONTO WAYWARD WOMAN

Perish in the Flames of the Hotel Royal, New York—Still Dragging Out Unrecognizable Bodies—The Bulk of the Bodies Not Yet Discovered—Terrible Scenes.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Tuesday morning Archibald Jacobs of 1215 Broadway visited the morgue and identified body No. 1, taken from the ruins of the Hotel Royal fire, as that of Mrs. J. Cohen of Toronto, Canada, and body No. 4 as that of Louis Levy of London, Ont. Mr. Levy and Mrs Cohen came to this city together from Canada.

[Mrs. Cohen, who perished in the fire, was the wife of Mr. J. Cohen, who keeps a shoe store at 97 Queen-street west. Two years ago last August she eloped with Louis Levy of London, Ont., another victim of the fire. For some time they lived in Chicago, but recently moved to New York, where they met their doom together in the fatal hotel. The family of Mrs. Cohen lives in New York and as soon as her body was recognized her brother sent a message to the deserted husband. Mr. Cohen in response left for New York.

Louis Levy is well known in Toronto as an inveterate gambler and poker player. Last spring he attended the Jockey Club meeting and played the races. Shortly afterwards he went to New York.

Caused by Carelessness.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Fire Marshal Mitchell from investigations thus far made is of opinion that the Hotel Royal fire resulted from the careless use of matches or lighters in and about the elevator.

Quite a number of additional bodies were found to-day. Up to 2 o'clock this afternoon 17 bodies in all had been found. The last three were those of women. In several cases the arms and legs were missing or burned to a crisp, while the heads and faces of others were burned to a crisp.

MRS. OSBORNE'S JOURNEY.

Her Husband's Extraordinary Devotion—Spanish Peasants in Sympathy.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Dwarf, a society paper, prints an interview with Captain Osborne on the pearl case, and gives the movements of Mrs. Osborne after the celebrated case came to an untimely end.

According to this story Captain Osborne soon discovered the terrible denouement to his wife's case. At the conference held by counsel on the following Saturday morning he directed the proceedings to be abandoned on the same night. Despite the vehement entreaties of his wife that he should let her stay and give herself up to justice he almost forcibly, knowing her precarious condition of health, rushed her across the Channel.

They stayed in Paris three days and three nights, where they learned that a warrant had been issued. Captain Osborne thereupon lost no time in taking his wife across the Pyrenees. They settled down at a small place not far from Irun.

Had the detectives been fortunate enough to trace them they would have met with some difficulty in their endeavor to capture their prey, for Captain Osborne and his wife were blessed with staunch and powerful friends in the neighborhood of their haven of rest and any attempt to execute a warrant in the lady's deplorable state of health would have been resisted by sturdy peasants to the number of over one thousand.

When the return journey with his wife was undertaken Captain Osborne anticipated that he would not be able to complete his painful task, as Mrs. Osborne broke down again in health on more than one occasion, and a premature accouchement, which he feared from the first, appeared imminent.

Mrs. Osborne is now in Holloway Jail. The child is expected in May, and if she is sentenced and committed for perjury it will probably be born in prison.

JACOBITES STILL FLOURISH.

A Frustrated Attempt to Place Flowers on Mary's Tomb.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Yesterday being the anniversary of the death of Mary, Queen of Scots, 250 Jacobite Royalists made their way to Westminster Abbey. A body of constables met the Jacobites at the entrance to the north chancel and announced that admission to the royal chapels would be refused.

It was then decided to form in procession and march to the large iron gates leading to the royal chapel. A lineal descendant of Robbie Anderson, who led the forces of Prince Charlie at Prestonpans, headed the band.

The Marquis de Ruvigny placed a floral tribute on the spikes of the gate leading to the royal tomb, with this inscription:

"In memory of the martyrdom of Mary of England, Scotland, Ireland and France, Queen, from a league of Jacobite Legitimists."

GLADSTONE ON MANNING.

The Priest's Conversion to Rome a Death to Their Friendship.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Mr. Gladstone, in a letter on the late Cardinal Manning, says:

"My relations with Manning were very peculiar. At first they were those of a mere acquaintance between two undergraduates, and lay wholly on the surface. Then came a close and intimate friendship of 15 years, founded entirely upon interests in religion and the church.

"Then came his change, simultaneous with that of my yet closer friend, Hope Scott, which was altogether the severest blow that ever befel me. In a late letter to me the Cardinal termed it a quarrel. My reply said it was not a quarrel, but a death. That was truth.

"There had since been vicissitudes, but I am quite certain that to the last his personal feeling never changed, and that he kept his promise, made in 1851, to remember me before God at the most solemn moments."

Rats Had Gnawed the Body.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—In his den in the wretched little rookery No. 47 Hamilton-street, old Dennis Buckley, who was called a miser by the boys in the neighborhood, was found dead yesterday. It is supposed that he died of starvation. Rats had gnawed the body of the old man. One of his feet was eaten away and only the bones remained and the rats had burrowed into the body at various points. Buckley was about 65 years old. His wife Mary became insane a few years ago and was sent to Blackwell's Island.

Buffalo Bill Returns.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—The Cunard steamship Umbria, which reached New York from Queenstown yesterday, steamed through gales nearly all the voyage. The passengers were compelled to remain below most of the trip. The waves at times swept the promenade deck.

One of the saloon passengers was Colonel Cody (Buffalo Bill), who brought with him three handsome coursing dogs, presented to him by Colonel North, the Nitrate King.

An Iron Pole Pierced His Body Through.

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—In the delirium of fever Joseph Polacek sprang from his bed yesterday and leaped through the window. He fell upon an iron fence, some of the poles of which pierced his body through, entering the right side just above the hip. People passing in the street released him, but after writhing in agony ten minutes he died.

PORT AND STARBOARD.

Two Nautical Phrases Give Way to Less Puzzling Words.

Since July 1, 1891, the old words of command for altering the helm, viz.: "starboard" or "port," have been given up on board the ships of the North German Lloyds and the Hamburg-American line, and the order "right" or "left" substituted.

It is difficult to break with old customs, and seamen in especial are conservative; it is therefore not a matter of wonder that many old sailors look with great disfavor upon this latest innovation. On board the steamships of the two great lines mentioned above, however, the change has been made obligatory, and, according to a report forwarded to the directors by one of their oldest captains, who was himself opposed to the idea, has been attended with the happiest results.

Punctuality.

Some wiseacre defines punctuality as "fifteen minutes beforehand." All very well for those who can afford to waste minutes so extravagantly; and very well, too, if the party of the second part is not a quarter of an hour behindhand.

Women are stigmatized as the greatest sinners against punctuality—an accusation so unjust that it must be met with the scornful silence which it deserves. A beautiful legend is frequently alluded to in this connection, as showing how the unpunctual habits of one woman led her husband to utilize the fragments of time, which would otherwise have been wasted, in the composition of a learned and valuable treatise. That poor much-maligned woman did perhaps fail sometimes in her wifely duty to be at the head of her table at the exact hour of dinner. But when she happened to be on time, and found that her lord and master was engaged, and was further pluming himself on taking advantage of her tardiness, she made a point of giving him daily —se precious moments. For her husband's gratification, she became punctually late, and thus, with the self-effacement of her sex, allowed herself to go down to later ages as a warning example.—Harper's Bazar.

Wanted, a Boy.

A jolly boy.
A boy full of vim.
A boy who scorns a lie.
A boy who will never smoke.
A boy with some "stick to it."
A boy who takes to the bathtub.
A boy who is proud of his big sister.
A boy who thinks hard work no disgrace.
A boy who does chores without grumbling.
A boy who believes that an education is worth while.
A boy who plays with all his might—during playing hours.
A boy who listens not to unclean stories from any one.
A boy who thinks his mother above all mothers is the model.
A boy who does not think it inconsistent to mix playing and praying.
A boy who does not wait to be called the second time in the morning.—Star of Pinta.

Blasts From the Ram's Horn.

It is the everyday cares and duties of life that keep a great many people from making fools of themselves.

If some men could only be convinced that it pays to be good they couldn't be kept out of the church with a gun.

God created the heavens and the earth in six days, but it took him forty years to get Moses meek enough for his use.

We can never know God's thoughts about us until we are willing to give up those the devil has given us about Him.

"In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so I would have told you: I go to prepare a place for you."

If people would stop looking toward the wrong place they would find it a great deal easier to stay in the right place.

Ruined by Slang.

"I've gone clear back on slang," said Bylius with emphasis.

"Why?" inquired his friend.

"I was calling on a young woman last evening and chanced to remark: 'What you say goes.'"

"And what did she do?"

"She murmured my name very, very softly."

It you have a cough or cold do not neglect it; many without a trace of that hereditar disease have drifted into a consumptive grave by neglecting what was only a slight cold. Had the used Bickle's Anti-Consumtive Syrup before it was too late their lives would have been spared. Mr. A. W. Levy Mitchell, writes. "I think Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation ou the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught aevere cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cought. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of Consumption, and had given up hodes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickel's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieved, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured. I always recomend it for severe colds and consumption."

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—trifling indiscretion in diet may lay t foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, an there is no fact in medical science mor positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. Their original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. Keep the Works in good order.

NORMAN, Ont., January 1
W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first, only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

The Lost Manuscript, translated from the German of Gustav Freytag, is a volume of great interest and novel motive. The central idea is expressed by the words of the author." A noble life does not end on earth with death. It continues in the minds and the deeds of friends as well as in the thought and the activity of the nation." The plot is well formed and the interest in the story is well carried out. Cloth, 550 pages. Retail price, $1.00. Open Court Publishing Co., Chicago, Ill.

Dr. Gibson's lecture in St. Andrew's church on Monday night is being highly commented on by those who were present. His subject was "New methods in surgery," with particular reference to the use of antiseptics and septics, and closing with a talk, "what to do in emergencies" such as wounds, fractures etc. The lecture was clear and concise and exceedingly interesting, and the hints and instructions of much value to those who will remember and make use of them. After the lecture refreshments were served and a pleasant time spent.

BENEFITS OF RECIPROCITY

Eloquent Words by one of its Ablest Advocates

The following are the closing words of an eloquent speech on the trade question recently delivered by George C Gibbons, of London. They will well repay perusal:

These two peoples are bound to be neighbors, and should be friends. In spite of jingoism, Canadian and American, they are most closely allied. Where are half the boys and girls of our towns and cities, and the tens of thousand from the country district? They are in every city in the United States, east and west. They are all in the front ranks of their profession and calling wherever they go. They have not forgotten Canada or lost their love for the land of their birth. They were expatriated by the dire necessity of seeking employment elsewhere. I believe that the interests of the country would be best conserved by keeping our young men here. They can't stay unless they get something to do. Is it not much more loyal to provide a market for our people at home than force them to go to the market now denied them?

Reciprocity would give us:—

(1) Better markets for everybody.

(2) Cheaper manufactured goods for our consumers.

(3) Development of our mines.

(4) Revival of our lake shipping.

How can political union be prevented so well as by bringing these results about? How can fealty to one's country be so well shown? It would be the precursor of free trade with Great Britain and the English speaking world at least, and is our easiest and most practical course to that end. To those content with our present condition I cannot appeal, but to those of every class and party who are convinced that there is something radically wrong with our trade relations I submit with confidence these views. Join with us. Give Canada a chance to get into the life of this continent and she will abundantly justify your faith by not only holding her own but by becoming the most prosperous part of America, as she is now the most to be envied in other respects. We will preserve our nationality, we will keep our young people at home, we will grow and prosper. Without that trade we are not keeping our people, we are stagnant in growth, and business is poor. The reasons that have brought about this condition continue to operate.

If we delay the remedy much longer no one can tell how long even our nationality will be maintained. Continued commercial depression made an annexationist of the present head of the Government, Mr Abbott, years ago. Like causes produce like results The true patriot will seek to remove the cause. It is certain the N. P. has to go. If we can give the protected manufacturer the American market in exchange he has no ground to complain, and it will mean renewed life and vigor to the country at large. The producer has to be relieved in any case, and, if we cannot get unrestricted reciprocity with the United States, the sooner we adopt the general principles of free trade the better. But one thing at a time. It is the bounden duty of all who agree as to the benefits of unrestricted reciprocity to see that an offer is made as soon as possible on fair terms. The alternative policy we may not agree upon, but it will be time enough to discuss what that is to be when the first and best remedy has failed.

The present issue is a plain one. The pretence of seeking reciprocity by people pledged to the maintenance of the National Policy is a pretence merely. They have no faith in accomplishing anything, and are only using reciprocity as a blind. The strength and growth of public opinion is best shown by the forced advocacy of some "reciprocity" by its greatest enemies. Yet at every public meeting they show involuntarily their opposition to what they profess to seek by holding up the American market as not to be desired, and by jingo appeals devoid of any reason.

Mr. Chapleau says that "unrestricted reciprocity" is dead. It will never die. The desire for trade with our neighbors will grow, and Mr. Chapleau and his friends can no more stem the tide than they can prevent that waters of Detroit River commingling without regard to national boundaries.

Neuralgia. Catarrh Debility Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla

Good authority has said that "neuralgia is the cry of the nerves for pure blood." The prompt action of Hood's Sarsaparilla on the blood, combined with its toning and strengthening effect upon the nerves, makes this a most excellent medicine for neuralgia and similar troubles. We commend to all sufferers from such complaints and especially to ladies, the following statements recently received:—

"For a good many years I have been suffering from catarrh, neuralgia and general debility. I failed to obtain any permanent relief from medical advice, and my friends feared I would never find anything to cure me. A short time ago I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. At that time I was unable to walk even a short distance without feelin a

I am gaining strength rapidly, and can take a two-mile walk without feeling tired. I do not suffer nearly so much from catarrh, and find that as my strength increases the catarrh decreases. I am indeed a changed woman, and shall always feel grateful to Hood's Sarsaparilla for what it has done for me.

that this my testimonial shall be published in order that others suffering as I was may learn how to be benefited." MRS M. E. MARRICK, 26 Wilton Avenue, Toronto, Cnn.

Very Hard Indeed

There are so many things that appear unnecessary, and which for the life of us we can see neither purpose nor end. It may be corns are just one of those thorns in the flesh the why and the wherefore of which we cannot see. Nevertheless they are of the kind that are easily removed. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor makes short work of them. Try it and see how nibely it coaxes them out. Use none other than Putnam's Corn Extractor. Sold by druggists.

Increase Your Weight

If you are losing flesh and blood, commence at once using Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, which is far ahead of all other preparations of the kind in existence By taking Miller's Emulsion people gain from 5 to 10 lbs. by thd time the first bottle is consumed. It is the greatest blessing of the century to all in delicate health for who suffer with coughs, colds and ailments that tend to consumption. Remember, Miller's Emulsion contains all the constituents used in wheat. It is used in the hospitals and asylums of the country In big bottles, 50c. and $1, at Bellevill drug stores.

AN EXCITING RUNAWAY

DR GIBSON'S HORSES TAKE A RUN ON THEIR OWN ACCORD

They Smashed the Cutter and Both Plunged Into the River—One Received a Broken Leg and May Have to be Shot.

There was an exciting runaway on Church street at ten o'clock this morning which resulted in a serious loss to Dr. Gibson. While turning into Church St. from Hotel, the cutter in which was seated the doctor and a boy was upset throwing the occupants out. Once free the horses ran down Meyers Hill at a break-neck pace. The street runs into the river where there is an abrupt embankment of some twenty feet. Unable to check their speed in order to turn into the station road the frantic equines made straight for the river. Striking the sidewalk they both reared on their hind feet and leaped headlong into the river below. People who saw them go over the bank expected both horses would be killed outright. Fortunately the ice was thick at this point and the animals did not go through. Upon examining the horses it was found that only one of them had suffered serious injury in breaking its hind leg near the hoof. The cutter of course was completely wrecked. The other horse was badly shaken up but suffered no further injury. The injured horse will no doubt have to be shot.

Tory Whiskey And Boodle And Coercion in Deseronto

(From our own correspondent.)

The Reformers of Deseronto have entered upon the campaign with their old time energy and will render a good account of themselves in the coming fight. They have perfected their organization and completed all preparations for the struggle.

Their is a steadily rising sentiment of righteous indignation at the openly expressed cry which has been raised by professional conservative politicians in the riding, that Corby's money and whiskey will suffice to down Mr. Aylsworth, no matter how great his undoubted respectability and integrity. Many pulpits in the riding will voice this sentiment next Sunday.

The workingmen Reformers of Deseronto are called upon to endure a vast deal of intimidation and worrying espionage at the hands of threatening foremen and other myrmidions of the powers that be, but they have become accustomed to that sort of thing. It failed on the 5th of last March. It will fail on the 20th of February. Workingmen have their rights and will, though poor, dare to maintain them.

From all parts of brave old Tyendinaga come reports of unwavering loyalty to the old cause of Reform and respect for the manly attitude taken by Mr. Aylsworth in this contest. The grand old township will not be seduced from its allegiance by the cases of I X L which will be shipped into it, as into Ameliasburgh. It is the last desperate, but familiar, argument upon which the Conservatives of Belleville hope to redeem East Hastings. Respectable farmers in Tyendinaga are determined to resent the insult which is being thus cast into their faces.

The old public building fad is again being resurrected by Deseronto tories as an argument to return a supporter of the government. It only provokes a flood of ridicule. For seventeen years East Hastings sent a Conservative to parliament and all that Deseronto received in that time was a lighthouse of the fourth class.

THE MECHANIC'S INSTITUTE

A Workingman Gives the Managers Some Good Advice.

DEAR SIR:—A petition is being circulated and will shortly be presented to the council, asking for a grant of $300.00 to the Mechanics' Institute. In this petition it is stated that unless some pecuniary aid is granted, the Institute will be closed up and the library sold. It would be a pity to see this Institute closed for while there are many places of a degrading character that are open at all times to young men, there are too few open for their use that tend to educate and qualify them for the proper performance of a good citizen's duties, while affording at the same time a share of innocent recreation. So it is to be hoped the council will give such help as will save this desirable Institution from being closed up. At the same time the Institute has only itself to blame, I think, for its present financial difficulties. Over and over have the managers been told of the cause of their troubles, and over and over have they shut their eyes and refused to see these causes. They complain that the workingmen are conspicuous by their absence, and so we are. We are not in it and never will be in it so long as they keep us out. It is true we are invited in—but terms are placed that keep us out. Three dollars a year is too high a charge in these days of free reading rooms—circulating libraries, etc. None of us can afford to spend two or three whole days work to become members of the Institute. And the fact we do not join is proof positive of my statement. Now, this has been said frequently before, and the reply is they (the managers) cannot afford to reduce the terms. Well, they haven't sufficiently reduced the terms and where are they now? One dollar a year at the highest should be the charges, and if this were done I venture to say, with a canvass of the town, five subscribers could be obtained to where they now have one. The library is a large and good one, and should be placed in easy access of all our citizens—instead of to a few who are wealthy. So I would suggest the grant be given but on the condition that the Institute reduce their membership fees to such a figure as to place it within the reach of all our workingmen.

Yours truly,—A WORKINGMAN.

Makes the Weak Strong

The marked benefit which people in run down or weakened state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves the claim that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act like a stimulant, imparting fictitious strength from which there must follow a reaction of greater weakness than before, but in the most natural way Hood's Sarsaparilla overcomes creates an appetite, purifies the blood, and, in short, gives great bodily, nerve, mental and digestive strength.

That Tired Feeling

"I derived very much benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I took for general debility It built me right up, and gave me an excellent appetite." ED. JENKINS, Mt. Savage, Md.

Fagged Out

"Last spring I was completely fagged out. My strength left me and I felt sick and miserable all the time, so that I could hardly attend to my business. I took one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it cured me. There is nothing like it." R. C. BEGOLE, Editor Enterprise, Belleville, Mich.

Worn Out

"Hood's Sarsaparilla restored me to good health. Indeed, I might say truthfully it saved my life. To one feeling tired and worn out I would earnestly recommend a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. PHEBE MOSHER, 90 Brooks Street, East Boston, Mass.

BAD ECZEMA ON BABY

Head one Solid Sore. Itching Awful. Had to Tie His Hands to Cradle. Cured by Cuticura.

Our little boy broke out on his head with a bad form of eczema, when he was four months old. We tried three doctors, but they did not help him. We then used your three CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using them eleven weeks exactly according to directions, he began to steadily improve, and after the use of them for seven months his head was entirely well. When we began using it his head was a solid sore from the crown to his eyebrows. It was also all over his ears, most of his face, and small places on different parts of his body. There were sixteen weeks that we had to keep his hands tied to the cradle and hold them when he was taken up; and had to keep mittens tied on his hands to keep his finger-nails out of the sores, as he would scratch if he could in any way get his hands loose. We know your CUTICURA REMEDIES cured him. We feel safe in recommending them to others.
GEO. B. & JANETTA HARRIS, Webster, Ind.

BUCKINGHAM, Que., Feb. 11.—Mr. James McLaren, a prominent lumber merchant and president of the Bank of Ottawa, died to-day.

Deceased leaves two brothers, Rev. Alexander McLaren of the Presbyterian Church and Rev. Dr. McLaren, professor of theology in Knox College, Toronto.

Mr. McLaren took a great interest in the formation of the Bank of Ottawa, and was its first and only president, much of its success being due to his energies. He was a member of the firm of W. McClymont & Co. of New Edinburgh, the Canada Lumber Co. of Carleton Place, vice president from its commencement of the Shepperd Morse Lumber Co., formerly of Burlington, but now of Boston; president of the McLaren, Ross Lumber Co. of New Westminster, B.C.; president of the North Pacific Lumber Co. of Port Moody, B.C., and was largely interested in mining operations in Ottawa and Hastings Counties, and also held interests in sugar, salt and silver industries in western Ontario. In the Commons.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—In the House of Commons yesterday Thomas Sexton, member for West Belfast, gave notice that he would move an amendment to the address in reply to the Queen's speech, declaring that a majority of the Irish people and their representatives in the House of Commons are convinced of the inability of the Imperial Parliament to legislate for Ireland in a manner required by the distinctive interests of that country. This conviction has been intensified by the manifest failure of the Land Purchase Act to afford a basis for an extension of the class of occupying tenants.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—The members of the Parnellite party met here yesterday, and appointed their Parliamentary whips and secretaries. It was resolved to leave the chair vacant as a mark of respect to the memory of their late leader, Charles Stewart Parnell.

In Honor of Spurgeon.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—The first of the three services to be held over the remains of Rev. Mr. Spurgeon to-day opened in the Tabernacle. The edifice was crowded. The children from the Stockwell Orphan Asylum, in which institution Mr. Spurgeon was deeply interested, were present, dressed in mourning and sang hymns.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Edmund Yates cables: "I understand that one result of the visit of the Prince and Princess of Wales to Osborne is that the Queen consented to allow the coffin of the Duke of Clarence to be removed to Sandringham, where it will be buried in the churchyard in a grave adjoining that of the infant Prince Alexander who died in 1871. The coffin is to remain in the Albert Memorial Chapel, Windsor, until after the return of the Court to the castle, as the Queen wishes to see it and Her Majesty will attend the service in the chapel, which will be conducted by the Bishop of Rochester and Canon Bulton. The Queen did not wish the coffin to be placed in the royal vault, but desired to have it buried in a crypt of the Prince Consort's Mausoleum at Frogmore. The removal to Sandringham and interment there will be conducted privately."

Killed On a Steamship

GLASGOW, Feb. 11.—A fatal accident happened yesterday to a number of workmen who were engaged in making some repairs to the hull of the British steamer Peruvian from Boston, which arrived at Glasgow on Saturday last. The steamer was on the ways in the Govan Graving Dock at the time. The men were working on a scaffold suspended over the side of the vessel when the frame suddenly collapsed and they were precipitated to the bottom of the dock. One man was instantly killed and four others fatally hurt.

THE POLITICAL COLUMN

M. C. CAMERON RETURNS FROM FLORIDA.

Judgment by the Supreme Court in the West Northumberland, Prescott and North Perth Appeals—Several Bye-Elections To-Day.

OTTAWA, Feb. 11.—The argument in the appeals in the preliminary objections in the Supreme Court in the West Northumberland, Prescott and North Perth elections was concluded at 1 o'clock to-day. It was contended by the appellants that the deposit of security was placed in the wrong court, that is, that it was deposited in the court where the cases originated and not in the court of trial. The four judges held that in regard to the deposit the statute was literally complied with and therefore they dismissed all the cases with costs. All three constituencies are Liberal. Justice Taschereau took no part in the judgment. The cases had nothing to do with the merits and the appeals have yet to be heard.

M. C. CAMERON IS BACK.

And Says He Will Defeat the Secretary of State by 500 Majority.

WINDSOR, Feb. 11.—Mr. M. C. Cameron stopped at Windsor yesterday on his return from Florida, where he has been for his health. He says he will certainly defeat J. C. Patterson at the coming election by at least 500 majority. Mr. Cameron is looking unusually healthy and says his sojourn in Florida has been of great benefit to him.

The Church And Bribery.

QUEBEC, Feb. 11.—A mandement signed by all the bishops of the Province will be read on Sunday in all the Catholic Churches of the Province. The document is aimed at bribery which is so prevalent during elections. In the case of a penitent having accepted a bribe for his vote, no absolution will be given at confession, but the matter will have to be submitted to higher ecclesiastical authority for investigation. This is called a "reserve case," and is a ticklish question to the Catholic conscience, as in case of death, the Church, which is rigorously severe on this point of discipline, does not allow its ministers to grant absolution, except through the regular channel.

Wandering Willie's Autobiography.

OTTAWA, Feb. 11.—Hon. William Macdougall, who spent the greater part of his life in active public life in Canada, is preparing an autobiography. Mr. Macdougall is one of the fathers of Confederation and possesses an immense amount of information touching the political affairs of the Dominion, the publication of which will prove a boon to every student of politics.

Simard Confirmed in His Seat.

QUEBEC, Feb. 11.—Judges Bourgeois and Gagne presided at the Election Court at Murray Bay, when the contestation of Simard's (Liberal) election for the House of Commons was proceeded with. Two witnesses were heard and the election petition was dismissed with costs.

To-day's Elections.

To-day will be another field day in bye-election annals, contests occurring in no less than six constituencies, which return seven members. These constituencies are: East Bruce, Halifax (2), Peel, North Victoria, South Victoria and East Middlesex. Of these seven seats, four, viz., Halifax (2), South Victoria and East Middlesex, were represented by Conservatives last session and the other three by Liberals, two of them, Peel and East Bruce, being gains at the last election.

Condition of Frontenac's Member.

KINGSTON, Feb. 11.—Hugh Smith, M.L.A., is still alive, but very low. It seems that by the fall he had in his barn several ribs were broken. A cold was contracted and was speedily followed by most serious results. There is some hope of recovery, but his friends are sadly doubtful.

To Oppose McGreevy.

QUEBEC, Feb. 11.—It is understood that Hon. John Hearn, M.L.C., will be the Government candidate against Hon. Thomas McGreevy in Quebec West. Nomination takes place Feb. 19; election Feb. 26.

Premier Blair Preparing for a General Election.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 11.—Attorney-General Blair and Solicitor-General Pugsley addressed a large meeting of electors at Sussex last night on Provincial politics. Blair is putting his house in order for a general election.

Sued for a Cool $10,000.

QUEBEC, Feb. 11.—Hon. P. Garneau has instructed his lawyer to take out an action for damages against J. R. Whelan. The amount claimed is $10,000.

The Premier Still Indisposed.

OTTAWA, Feb. 11.—Premier Abbott is still suffering from the effects of a severe cold. He was unable to be at his office yesday.

Writ for London Issued.

OTTAWA, Feb. 11.—Writ for London, Ont., issued last night. Nomination Feb. 18, polling 25th.

Prove an Alibi and Conspiracy.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 11.—The trial of John Bartram and John Lottridge for the murder of John Heslop of Ancaster will come off before Mr. Justice Rose at Hamilton on March 9. The defence will be an alibi and conspiracy between the Indians to condemn the prisoners and secure the reward. An effort will be made to show that the witnesses are of the most unreliable class and that Douglas, notwithstanding his confession, was not in the vicinity of Ancaster on the night of the murder. Several Indians will swear that they were with him in Lewiston, N.Y., on the date of the murder, and that Douglas' own statement to the contrary he could not possibly have been there. The characters of the two confessed accomplices will be fully exposed and their general untruthfulness proved.

It is said Bartram can easily prove the alibi in his case and that, too, by witnesses whose word would be accepted by any jury in Ontario. His representatives deny the statement that he had made damaging admissions to Warden Blayberry, who had charge of him for six weeks. The crown, however, say they have such admissions, and that they will be used as corroborative [illegible] against Bartram.

A Startling Leprosy Rumor.

QUEBEC, Feb. 11.—L'Evenement makes the alarming statement that there is a supposed case of leprosy in Montcalm Ward, the sufferer being a man who has led a very hard life, and whose flesh first turned black and then livid and is now dropping off in pieces. The health officer is unable to find any trace of such a case and believes the report to be a canard.

Will Lose all His Limbs.

GEORGETOWN, Ont., Feb. 11.—John Allen of the Scotch Block got his hands and feet badly frozen. His physician found it necessary to amputate both hands. It is probable that the feet will have to be amputated also.

THE FIRE RECORD.

Destructive Fire in Montreal—Conflagrations in Other Cities.

MONTREAL, Feb. 11.—Fire yesterday in Chisholm's warehouse in College-street occasioned damage to the stock of cheese and provisions to about $35,000.

Fire at Agincourt.

AGINCOURT, Ont., Feb. 11.—The residence of Mr. J. L. Patterson was destroyed by fire yesterday, the inmates barely escaping with their lives in their night clothes. The house and contents are a total loss, together with about $200 in cash and considerable jewelry. Estimated loss, $4000; insured in the London Mutual for $1200.

Cincinnati's Destructive Fire.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 11.—A fire which in its destructiveness was one of the most far-reaching of any ever before in Cincinnati broke out early yesterday in the building occupied by Ezekiel & Bernheim, auctioneers and storage commission dealers, Main-street. The building was destroyed, together with the warerooms of the American Oak Leather Co., the Commercial National Bank and Hammond-street police station. The total loss will reach $400,000.

Broke Up the Tea Meeting.

COLONIAL FREE TRADE

INTRODUCED IN THE BRITISH COMMONS.

The Government Declines to Terminate the Treaties Hindering a Preferential Inter-Imperial Trade—Negatived Without Amendment.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—In the House of Commons last night Mr. Lowther offered a motion in favor of renouncing the favored nation clause in treaties with Belgium and zollverein countries in order to enable the establishment of preferential commercial relations with the colonies.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, President of the Board of Trade, replied that the Government was disposed to go a great way to establish a real zollverein with the colonies, but the proposal was impossible without sacrificing portions of treaties highly beneficial to Great Britain. The motion was negatived.

A Disappointment to Colonials.

The debate on Mr. Lowther's motion to terminate the treaties hindering a preferential inter-imperial trade was very disappointing to the friends of the Colonial free trade movement.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach was led by the avowed protectionist nature of the speeches of Mr. Lowther and Howard Vincent to adopt an openly hostile attitude on behalf of the Government. He said he would go a long way to secure a common tariff for the whole empire, but this miserable substitute would injure Britain without doing the colonies any good. The Dominion Parliament proposed no definite scheme to the British Government. The advocacy of the idea was based upon the vaguest resolutions of public meetings, "overflowing with sentiments which we cordially share," viz., affection between England and her colonies. With all respect to Canada England is a better judge of the requirements of the commercial relation of this country even than the Canadian Parliament. This was not the time to move for a revision of treaties.

The debate then soon collapsed. Mr. Lowther wished to withdraw his amendment, but the Liberals would not permit it and it was then negatived without division amid cheers and laughter.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Sir Charles Tupper says he has seen the arbitration clauses in the Behring Sea agreement with the States, and that they are perfectly satisfactory to Canada, and the British Government has expressed the confident hope that the sealers of British Columbia will receive at no distant day ample satisfaction for injuries received.

The Arbitrators Named.

In the House of Commons this afternoon James Lowther, Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, said that Great Britain and the United States had agreed that France, Italy and Sweden should act as arbitrators of the Behring Sea dispute.

Mr. Lowther added, however, that although France, Italy and Sweden had been agreed upon they had not as yet been asked to appoint the arbitrators. Great Britain and the United States, he said, would each have two representatives before the Arbitration Commission.

In reply to an interrogation regarding the dispute with France concerning Newfoundland, Mr. Lowther said he was afraid that matters had not advanced rapidly. The bill agreed to in 1891 between Great Britain and Newfoundland was still waiting to be introduced in the Newfoundland Legislature owing to the absence of the delegates who had come to England in connection with the negotiations with France regarding Newfoundland. The French Government, he added, had not yet presented the agreement to the Chambers for ratification.

Confirmed at Washington.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Feb. 11.—The Department of State yesterday confirmed the report from London that Great Britain and the United States had agreed to invite the Governments of France, Sweden and Italy each to designate a person to serve as a member of the tribunal to be selected to arbitrate the Behring Sea controversy. This tribunal will have seven members, two representing the United States and two Great Britain and three representing neutral governments.

Have Proven of Immense Benefit.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—The British Board of Agriculture has scheduled Denmark on account of cattle disease, almost closing London cattle markets for fear of the contagion. Experts say that had the Canadian Government yielded as they nearly did to recent agitation for relaxing restrictions against States cattle entering Canada Canada's position would now be much less secure. Sir Jacob Wilson, who controls the Board of Agriculture, is keenly protectionist and loses no chance for using the cattle regulations to exclude the live stock from competing in the British markets. Even The Times says the incident suggests whether the prohibition of all live foreign animals should not be absolute as in Canada. Seeing this, the friends of Canada are asking whether the Government should not insist upon a strict enforcement of the quarantine against States cattle in British Columbia. It is said to be unsafe to leave even this door for disease open.

Anglo-Canadian Trade.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—British exports to Canada decreased 25 per cent. in January, imports from Canada increased 55 per cent. Wheat, fish and wood imports have largely increased.

"German Syrup"

A Farmer at Edom, Texas, Says:

"We are six in family. We live in a place where we are subject to violent Colds and Lung Troubles. I have used German Syrup for six years successfully for Sore Throat, Cough, Cold, Hoarseness, Pains in the Chest and Lungs, and spitting-up of Blood. I have tried many different kinds of cough Syrups in my time, but let me say to anyone wanting such a medicine—German Syrup is the best. That has been my experience. If you use it once, you will go back to it whenever you need it. It gives total relief and is a quick cure. My advice to everyone suffering with Lung Troubles is—Try it. You will soon be convinced. In all the families where your German Syrup is used we have no trouble with the Lungs at all. It is the medicine for this country.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Scores of young men from East Hastings have gone to the States in the past ten years, where they are hewing their way to success. They left Canada because the tariff wall built all around it hampered their progress and prevented a full scope to a young man of energy and ability. Surely the electors of East Hastings will not vote to retain a policy that has driven from their midst their sons and brothers.

The Intelligencer says that if we have reciprocity "our home market for farm products would be destroyed by our manufacturers not being able to compete with their American rivals. They would have to close and our workmen compelled to emigrate." Let our contemporary apply its argument to Belleville. What manufacturing industries would be compelled to close here if we had reciprocity? What industries has the N. P. fostered in this city? Let our contemporary take a look over the town from some eminence and count the tall chimneys, belching forth smoke in this city. Let it take a walk around and hear the hum of the busy factories, and see the faces of the happy workingmen in their homes of comfort. Bah! What bosh for a paper to talk to the people of Belleville about the fear that reciprocity would shut up our manufacturing industries! What a ridiculous farce for it to express a fear that reciprocity would force our workmen to emigrate, when it supports a policy that has driven away from the city scores of our best young men, and depleted the Dominion of a million inhabitants in the past ten years. In the name of decency let it tell what the N. P. has done for Belleville or let it never mention the hateful words again. Where are the new industries that were to be established here? Where are the old ones that were in existence a few years ago? Where is the increased population that we should have had? Where can be found one solitary benefit the N. P. has conferred upon the city?

"When I was a young man," said Johathan Gray,
"If a fellow took physic he knew it, you bet.
It would cramp him all up in a collicky way,
And, good Lord, what a twisting his insides would get!
But the pills in use now-days by sensible folks
Are as easy to take and as pleasant as jokes."

Of course, the kind referred to by Mr. Gray was Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the very best Liver Pill ever made—mild but sure and effective. The only pills, sold by druggists, absolutely on trial! Satisfaction guaranteed, or your money is returned.

CANADIAN MINISTERS.

CONFERRING WITH BLAINE AT WASHINGTON.

The Preliminary Interchange of Views Results in the Arrangement of Ground for a Conference, Which is Expected to Last Several Days.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The negotiations between the United States and Canada in regard to reciprocal trade relations were opened formally at a conference held at the State Department of the representatives of each government.

The Secretary of State and General John W. Foster represented the United States, while Canada was represented by a commission consisting of Sir John Thompson, Minister of Justice; Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Minister of Militia; Hon. George E. Foster, Minister of Finance; Mr. Parmalee, Deputy Commissioner of Customs, and Mr. Stewart, Private Secretary. The commission really consists of the three first-named officials, the others accompanying them as attaches.

This morning Secretary Blaine spent half an hour with the President at the White House, going over the ground to be taken by the United States in the coming conferences. He then at 11 o'clock went to the State Department and met Gen. Foster in the diplomatic reception room.

In a few minutes Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Minister, appeared and notified the Secretary that the Canadian delegates were ready to enter upon the negotiations, and it was arranged that they should proceed to the State Department.

They arrived about noon and there was a preliminary session of an hour, during which the confreres talked "across the board," as the diplomatic phrase goes, and arranged the ground for the coming conferences, which will last several days.

This series of negotiations is intended by the Canadian authorities as a preliminary interchange of views for the purpose of ascertaining the nature of the subjects that each side will be willing to discuss and what form the discussion shall take. The results that may be reached will not therefore be final.

"These Be Strong Words."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Secretary Blaine was yesterday shown a published statement that he was about to retire from the Cabinet. He read it slowly and then said with deliberation: "It is entirely false. There is not a word of truth in it. This statement is an infernal lie."

Notes.

The House Committee on Immigration agreed to report favorably a bill absolutely prohibiting Chinese immigration.

The House Committee on Coinage has agreed to report favorably the free coinage bill introduced by Mr. Bland.

Keeley-Cured, He Lost His Mind.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Walter B. Earle died at the Poughkeepsie Insane Asylum on Friday. His wife deserted him four years ago and went to England. He took to drink. He entered the Keeley Institute at White Plains on Dec. 21 last and remained there until the end of January. He was apparently cured.

Sunday, one week ago, he became suddenly insane, though up to that day he was perfectly rational and had not touched a drop of liquor since his discharge from the institute.

Earle became so violent that he was removed to the insane asylum at Poughkeepsie, and on Friday died, his last words being, "Josie! Josie! Come home to your husband and children!"

His death and others which have occurred recently at the institute may lead to the State Board of Health, and the State Medical Society also, taking a hand in an investigation on their own account, and it is one of the probabilities that a legislative investigation may be ordered by the Senate and the Keeley people be forced to make public their secret, which apparently not only cures but kills also.

Restoring Mind to An Idiot.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—If a novel surgical operation which was performed yesterday is successful there will be one idiot less in the world. Ex-Surgeon General William A. Hammond, assisted by three surgeons, opened the skull of an imbecile, removed a large amount of bone, closed the skull, and expects that the patient will not only recover but will be a level headed man. This is the first operation of the kind ever performed upon an adult.

The patient is a young man from Canada, 24 years of age, and was brought to this city four or five days ago. Up to four years ago he possessed more than average intelligence, had a collegiate education and was recognized as a man destined to make a bright record in the world.

Won His Bet and Died.

VINELAND, N.J., Feb. 11.—James Donnelly, a lad of 16, who lives at Lockport, made a wager of $2 last Saturday that he could eat 24 raw eggs within 15 minutes and drink 20 glasses of beer. He succeeded in his attempt and won the $2, but two hours later was taken with convulsions and died.

SPURGEON.

Reminiscences of a Great London Preacher.

A STRICT BAPTIST.

His Unaffected Habits—His Delightful Home—His Preachers' College—His Own Views Regarding His Own Work—A Clear View of the Man as He Was.

"An Essex bumpkin" was the expressive title bestowed upon Charles Haddon Spurgeon some years ago by one of the foremost English men of letters, and then he added, "but, coming up from the country a generation ago, he has, by his own unaided efforts, done more to Christianize and to civilize South London than all the clergy and all the ecclesiastical machinery of the Established Church.

The speaker was a man more in sympathy with the Established Church than with Dissent, and his tribute to Mr. Spurgeon was therefore sincere. Nor is there room to doubt that it was just. The magnitude of Mr. Spurgeon's work is almost beyond conception. As was said of Macaulay, he succeeded in everything he undertook. Perhaps he was careful to undertake only those things in which he felt sure of success. But is not such rare discretion as that an attribute of genius? And then he did undertake many things, labors which in their magnitude and diversity would have been almost any other man's despair.

But he succeeded in them all. He was the most popular and effective preacher in the world. That was distinction enough for one man, perhaps. But he was more than that. He was also one of the most voluminous and popular authors of our time; the head of a college which has sent out 800 students into the ministry; the founder and maintainer of an orphanage in which 400 orphans find a comfortable home, the director of a colportage association, the editor of a magazine, and the presiding engineer of the pent-up energies of a church of 6,000 members.

"My work," said this "Essex bumpkin," in conversation with a visitor not long ago, "is very great and exhausting. Many a time I come home utterly worn out. But I am only one among the great host of workers. Every member who joins my church is expected to do something for his fellow-creatures. After I have had a talk with him and satisfied myself as to his sincerity, I say to him, 'My good fellow, you seem to be a converted man, and I hope that you are truly a Christian, but suppose you join the church, what are you going to do for your fellow men? If, after you are admitted, you will do nothing for them, I can't help that; we have got a bad bargain that's all.'"

"But no one shall enter with my good will who does not promise beforehand to undertake some useful work for the benefit of others. In many cases the idea never seems to have struck them that this was an essential part of Christian duty. It makes them think of what they can do, and in most cases they profess their readiness to do whatever I think would be the most useful. There is no mistake about the quantity of work required to be done. My deacons are as hardworked in the discharge of their duties as if they had no other work to do in the world beyond that at the Tabernacle. There are services of all kinds constantly going on.

"I know that many of our young people are members of cricket clubs, foot ball clubs, and swimming clubs, and are manly and wide-awake, but they find their greatest pleasure in doing good. There are the various services—the flower mission, the prayer meetings, mission services, and all the rest, constituting a very constant tax upon the time and energy of the members. Fifty years ago there was no church that I knew of that had so wide a field of activity."

But no minister was ever more loyally supported in his labors than Mr. Spurgeon, and none more generously appreciated the devotion and aid of his people. Never was there any dissension in the Tabernable. Its thousand of members were as one man in aim and purpose.

"They have followed me through fire and water," said the pastor. "Never was there a man more surrounded and borne up on the arms of love and sympathy than I am. Anybody will do anything for me, but I never seek to rule over them. The service of willing hands is thrust upon me, whether I will or not. 'He has never led us into a ditch yet,' remarked one of my deacons on one occasion, 'and if ever he does we will all leap into the ditch after him and have him out on the other side. We will never desert him!' 'My dear fellow,' said I, 'if you only follow a broomstick as well as you follow me, you will do just as well. The virtue is not in me, but in your zeal and service.'

"It is astonishing how faithful they have been to me. Nor is it only in my own church that I have much—very much—to be grateful for. From the highest in the land to the lowest I am constantly receiving the kindest expressions of sympathy. There is Mr. Gladstone, for instance. He would not let me be ill for many days before a messenger would come to inquire how I am. I feel utterly unworthy of such regard; but as it comes to me I must be thankful for it, and try to deserve it."

With all these achievements and with all this greatness, from a worldly point of view, the "Essex bumpkin" remained to the end of his days in many respects a bumpkin still. He always had the appearance of a fat, prosperous, sleepy farmer or butcher. His clothes were such as a countryman would wear on Sunday. Probably he never had a silk hat on his head, nor can any one remember seeing him wear any other than a soft felt hat with a dented and shapeless crown. It would be disrespectful to speak of his appearance as "slouchy," and yet there is no other term than so accurately describes it.

But there was no affectation about it. There have been public men who, for effect, would don attire of studied shabbiness. Mr. Spurgeon was not one of these. Absolute simplicity and naturalness characterized him in this respect as in all others.

Yet he was a man of taste, even of artistic and luxurious taste in some particulars. Many a millionaire might well have envied him his home. This was at Westwood, on what is known as Beulah Hill, in Sydenham, whic is one of London's fairest suburbs. Here he had a large and handsome mansion, situated in a spacious park; so that, although within a few minutes' ride of the teeming streets of London, it was as rural and secluded as though in the heart of a wilderness. Passing the lodge gates, the visitor found himself amid an expanse of well-kept lawns, diversified with shrubbery and groves.

A small lake was near the house and elsewhere was a fountain containing many goldfish, of which pets Mr. Spurgeon was exceedingly fond. Bees were another of his fads, and a dozen or more hives were always humming and buzzing in the garden.

Concluded to-morrow.)

If you have a cough or cold do not neglect it; many without a trace of that hereditar disease have drifted into a consumptive grave by neglecting what was only a slight cold. Had the used Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup before it was too late their lives would have been spared. Mr. A. W. Levy Mitchell, writes. "I think Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation on the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught severe cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cought. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of Consumption, and had given up hodes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickel's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieaed, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured. I always recomend it for severe colds and consumption."

Snipe and plover are unusually numerous this year.

Advice to Mothers

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used by millions of mothers for children teething for over fifty years, with perfect success. It relieves the little sufferer at once, produces natural quiet sleep, and freeing the child from pain, and the young cherub wakes as bright as a button.' It is pleasant to taste, sooths the child softens the gums, allays pain, relieve wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes 25 cts bottle.

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. The original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No deteletious mineral ingredient is contained in it, and thoughits action is thorough in cases of costivenes it never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowel like a violent purgative. It invigorate the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney diseases scrofulous and all diseases of the blood, femole weakness, &c., &c. Price $100. Sample bottle 10 cents. Ask for Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. The wrapper bears the ac-simile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers.

NORMAN, Ont., January 1[illegible]

W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first, only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

A runaway of Catharine street yesterday caused considerable excitement. A pair of horses attached to a sleigh loaded with pine wood became unmanageable while coming down the hill and started off down the street. ONTARIO LEGISLATURE!

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE READ TO-DAY AT THREE O'CLOCK.

The Centenary of Parliamentary History in Ontario, and the Last Session in the Old Shed—some Important Legislation Promised.

TORONTO, Ont. 11—The Ontario legislature was opened by Chief Justice Hagerty this afternoon at three o'clock.

In consequence of the illness of the Lieut Governor, Sir Alexander Campbell his excellency the governor general in council has been pleased to appoint me administrator for the purpose of declaring to you the causes of holding this session of the legislative assembly, the first in the second century of parliamentary history of our province.

The lamented death a few weeks ago of the Duke of Clarence and Avondale, caused profound sorrow through ut the British Empire. On behalf of the people of Ontario the Lieut-Gov. communicated by cable their deep sympathy with Her Majesty and their royal highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales in their great affliction. His Royal Highness was pleased to acknowledge the message very graciously.

I am pleased to be able to congratulate you on the bountiful harvest of the past year.

The demand for the publications of the Department of Agriculture and for the enlargement of the scope of the bureau of industries, evinces a growing desire for fuller information with respect to all matters affecting the interests of the husbandman. The large attendance at farmers institutes and at meetings of other associations connected with agriculture, and the practical chatacter of the work which is now being done are further signs of agricultural progress. The work of instruction carried on during the past year by the dairymen's association and by means of the travelling dairy, was very satisfactory; the demands for the traveling dairy were far greater than could be met.

Notwithstanding the decreased output of timber and sawlogs last winter, the revenue from woods and forests for the year 1891 was in excess of the estimate. The receipts on account of crown lands sales were also larger than anticipated.

Owing to the exceptional drought in the spring and early part of the summer of last year forest fires were unusually numerous and extensive. By means of the system of fire ranging adopted some years ago, these fires were in some instances entirely extinguished at an early stage, and in others confined to limited areas. The prompt information conveyed to the crown lands department through this service greatly facilitated the work of the department in dealing with the injured timber and about one hundred million feet of pine in unlicensed territory through which fires had passed were during the latter part of the year disposed of at good prices.

A commission has been appointed to report upon the desirability of establishing a forest reservation and park in part of the Nipissing district south of the river Mattawa, and upon the methods and expense of maintaining and managing the same.

The depression of the mining interests of Great Britain and the U. S. from the failure of several large mining companies during the last year had an injurious effect upon existing and projected enterprise in Ontario, also. A steady demand has, nevertheless, been kept up for our mineral lands, the leasing provisions in the mining act being regarded with special favor. A bill to consolidate and amend the mining laws will be laid before you.

I am pleased to be able to state that the new parliament buildings are so near completion that the departmental offices will be removed thereto during the summer, and that the next session of the legislature will probably be held in the new buildings.

I am glad to inform you also that the provincial university buildings so seriously damaged by fire two years ago will be fully restored within the next few months. The improved interior arrangements, and the erection of a library apart from the main building, will add greatly to the efficiency of the work of the university. I am pleased also to perceive the progress made with the building for Victoria university now federated with the provincial institution.

The completion of the new building erected for the use of the Upper Canada College marks an epoch in the history of one of the oldest educational institutions of the province. So great has been the demand for admission to the college that the increased accomodations are still inadequate to meet the public wants. A full report by the trustees of the college will be submitted

Bills have been prepared and will be laid before you immediately, consolidating the municipal laws, the assessment laws, and election laws, respectively as these now stand. Bills amending these laws will also be submitted for your consideration with the view of such amendments as you approve of being introduced into the consilidated acts before the passing thereof.

A bill will be submitted to extend some of the provisions of the law heretofore made in respect to insurance to certain classes of insurance not included in the present enactments, also a measure to correct the evils which have arisen from the difficulty under existing laws of distinguishing licensed insurance companies and legitimate and bona fide benefit societies from organizations which are unauthorized and illusive.

The report of the commission on the fish and game of the province will be laid before you, and if possible, measures will be submitted during the session having in view the more effective protection of these important sources of food supply.

Amongst other bills which are in preparation is a bill for the assessment of collateral or remnate inheritances in certain cases, a bill adopting in substance the recent modifications by the British parliament of the laws relating to mortmain and a measure respecting the emolments of certain of the county officers who are paid by fees.

The public accounts for the past year will be laid before you at an early day. You will be pleased to learn that the expenditure has been kept within the appropriation and that the revenue has exceeded the amount anticipated.

The estimates for the current year will be presented for your approval. They will be framed with due regard to economy and to the necessities of the public service.

RIGHT TO THE POINT

A Thoughtful Farmer Thinks it is Time For The Farmers to Look out For Themselves

At the Central Farmer's Institute in Toronto, Mr. James McEwing said that he proposed to discuss the trade question as a practical farmer. Sentiment was a good thing, and he would give place to no man in his attachment to Canada and the British Empire. A profitable market was a good thing for the individual and the community. He believed that a good market was more essential than cheap production, although he did not wish to minimise the importance of the latter, While he was heartily in sympathy with the movement for the cultivation of the English market, he did not think that the Canadian farmer should be asked to be contented with one market that was not suitable for the class of articles they were producing. It was worth while to endeavor to secure the United States market. Farmers as a class should not be called upon to submit to the imposition of selfish tariffs for the benefit of other classes, Other classes looked after their own interests. Why should not the farmers do the same? If the farmer continued in the line of defending something directly opposed to his own interast he was either the most self-sacrificing patriot under the blue canopy of Heaven or he was the greatest fool on God's green earth. (Applause and laughter.)

SUPPORT THE INSTITUTE

An Effort Should be Made to put it on a Paying Basis

The letter in this issue from a "A workingman" about the Mechanics' Institute is worthy of careful perusal. It would be to the lasting disgrace of the city were the directors compelled to close up the Institute for want of proper support. Yet such seems to be the present drift of affairs. The ONTARIO quite agrees with "A Workingman" as to the prime cause of the difficulty. There is no doubt at all that the fees are quite too high—much higher than in most other places, and so high that scores of the people who would like to become members feel that they cannot afford to do so. The directors admit that they have failed to make the Institute self-supporting by the methods in present use. Then why should they not try other plans? If they were to reduce the fees by at least one-half and then canvass the city no doubt they could easily triple their membership and thus not only bestow a great boon on scores of people but also considerably increase their revenue. The plan is worth a trial at any rate and at the worst it could not leave the Institute in a worse position than at present. The council also should make a grant this year. In no other way could they spend that small sum to such good advantage to the citizens.

Neuralgia. Catarrh Debility Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla

Good authority has said that "neuralgia is the cry of the nerves for pure blood.' The prompt action of Hood's Sarsaparilla on the blood, combined with its toning and strengthening effect upon the nerves, makes this a most excellent medicine for neuralgia and similar troubles. We commend to all sufferers from such complaints and especially to ladies, the following statements recently received :—

"For a good many years I have been suffering from catarrh, neuralgia and general debility. I failed to obtain any permanent relief from medical advice, and my friends feared I would never find anything to cure me. A short time ago I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. At that time I was unable to walk even a short distance without feelin a overtake me. And I had intense pains from neuralgia in my head, back and limbs which were very exhausting. But I am glad to say that soon after I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I saw that it was doing me good. I have now taken three bottles and am entirely

CURED OF NEURALGIA.

I am gaining strength rapidly, and can take a two-mile walk without feeling tired. I do not suffer nearly so much from catarrh, and find that as my strength increases the catarrh decreases. I am indeed a changed woman, and shall always feel grateful to Hood's Sarsaparilla for what it has done for me.

that this my testimonial shall be published in order that others suffering as I was may learn how to be benefited." MRS M. E. MARRICK, 26 Wilton Avenue, Toronto, Can.

Santa Barbara.

The noted author of Under Two Flags has a strange way of surprising her best friends as well as her severest critics by occasionally writing a pure and charming bit of fiction or travel. This volume contains six short stories, which are written with great delicacy of feeling. The two dog stories, "The Stable Boy" and "Poussette," are as simple, pure and pathetic as any of Tolstoi's tales. Indeed, the powerful tale entitled "Halt" has a strong resemblance to some of the best Russian folk-stories. Why a woman of Ouida's brilliant literary talents prefers to debase them will remain a mystery; but the lover of wholesome fiction should not condemn this volume because of any of her previous work.—John Lovell & Sons Montreal.

A Successful Concert Last Night by Court Quinte.

The concert last night in the Sons of England Hall, Robertson Block, under the auspices of Court Quinte, No. 7586, A. O. F. was a success. The hall was well filled with an appreciative audience and the program was carried out to the exact letter. Rev. S. Daw occupied the chair and opened the proceedings with a neat address in which he set forth the benefits to be derived from a membership in such an order as this. The program was one of even merit. Solos were rendered by Miss Garratt, Miss L. Fisher, Miss Rutherford, Miss S. Merrin, of Bellevillle, and Mr. Fry, of Toronto; a duett by Messrs. Davies and Smith and recitations by Miss McGinnis. Selections were also rendered by the choir and orchestra and Miss Greenleaf gave an exhibition of club swinging. Every number was well given and all present were well pleased with the evening's entertainment.

THE TRADE ISSUE

IS DISCUSSED AT CANIFTON BY BOTH PARTIES

W R Alysworth R C Clute Q C R J Graham And G A Alysworth put in Some Telling Arguments For Reciprocity

The conservatives held a meeting in the Canifton town hall last night. A large number were present from Belleville and the hall was filled. The Reform speakers took advantage of the invitation to be present, and, to the credit of the conservatives be it said, were accorded a good hearing. Francis Brenton occupied the chair. W. R. Aylsworth was the first speaker in the Reform interests and referred shortly to his long service to the county and the Reform party. He earnestly pressed upon his friends to get out and work and he believed that he would be the next representative in East Hastings for the Commons.

Geo. A. Aylsworth, of Newburg, Lennox County, a nephew of W. R. Aylsworth and a brother of A. B. Aylsworth, Q. C., of Toronto, made a fine speech in favor of free trade although he had always been a conservative in politics. Such a measure would greatly benefit the farming community.

R. J. Graham, at one time a strong conservative made a telling speech in favor of free trade with U. S. He explained fully the great advantage it would be to the farmers. He stated that it was not true that England was the best market for Canadian cheese and demonstrated from personal knowledge that U. S. was the best market for the highest grades of cheese. The tories had promised to protect the farmers but for fourteen years they had only legislated in the interest of whiskey and combines. It was the latter class that kept them in power and the farmers could expect nothing while they allowed themselves to be bribed with a few dollars contributed out of the fat purses of protected manufacturers. The speaker demonstrated beyond contradiction that the Canadian farmer was paying the duty at both ends of the string as any man who was not blind to reason could see in the matter of horses and barley. All he asked was to be allowed to buy and sell in the market which was the greatest advantage to him. He would continue to support free trade from whatever quarter it eminated.

R. C. Clute Q. C. the popular exponent of free trade was received with enthusiastic applause. He stated that it had been Mr. Bardett's last desire to have the riding remain true to the Reform cause. Mr. Aylsworth, the Reform candidate had for thirty years filled a responsible position of trust and was well known throughout the riding. He stood absolutely without a blemish and no man was better qualified to succeed the worthy representative who had been laid in his grave. Were farmers in East Hastings satisfied with their present condition, with the sheriff day by day creeping near to thousands of their homes? It was a fact that the promised benefits of the N. P. had been a signal failure in so far as the farmers were concerned. Times were becoming harder mortgages on their farms were piling up, while it was becoming more and more difficult to meet the interest It was their money that sustained the manufacturers and combines, which were throttling the very life's blood of the country. Surely a change of policy could do no harm at any rate. If it did not do any good they had the matter in their own hands and could make their decision at the next election. Their produce to-day was not only taxed on the Canadian side, but most of it was taxed on the otner side, and this taxation took the whole of their profits and part of their labor. Farms were actually being worked at a loss with the present prices paid for produce. The statement was false and misleading that Canada could not get reciprocity if she wanted it. Leading men in the U. S. had expressed their willingness to grant a measure of reciprocity. Such a resolution had passed the committee of Foreign affairs at Washington; had gone before the Senate and received the endorsement of its best men. The farmers,—the vast majority of the electors—had therefore the remedy within their own hands; would they accept depression or prosperity? By increasing the value of their produce they increased the selling value of their land. The remedy was clear, simple and easy. Let them send men to Ottawa who were favorable to their own interests. Mr. Clute supported his views with statistics as far as the time allowed him would permit. When he resumed his seat he was loudly cheered. His speech left no mistaken impression on the minds of many farmers present.

W. B. Northrup, W. C. Mikel and H. Corby spoke in the conservative interest. The meeting was orderly throughout and conducted in the intelligent manner that political meetings should be conducted.

After six week's illness Mr. Hiram VanCott passes away at the age of 77 years. LaGrippe and general debility were the cause of his demise. Deceased was highly respected by all who knew him. King of Medicines

A Cure "Almost Miraculous."

"When I was 14 years of age I had a severe attack of rheumatism, and after I recovered had to go on crutches. A year later, scrofula, in the form of white swellings, appeared on various parts of my body, and for 11 years I was an invalid, being confined to my bed 6 years. In that time ten or eleven sores appeared and broke, causing me great pain and suffering. I feared I never should get well.

"Early in 1886 I went to Chicago to visit a sister, but was confined to my bed most of the time I was there. In July I read a book, 'A Day with a Circus,' in which were statements of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was so impressed with the success of this medicine that I decided to try it. To my great gratification the sores soon decreased, and I began to feel better and in a short time I was up and out of doors. I continued to take Hood's Sarsaparilla for about a year, when, having used six bottles, I had become so fully released from the disease that I went to work for the Flint & Walling Mfg. Co., and since then on account of sickness. I believe the disease is expelled from my system, I always feel well, am in good spirits and have a good appetite. I am now 27 years of age and can walk as well as any one, except that one limb is a little shorter than the other, owing to the loss of bone, and the sores formerly on my right leg. To my friends my recovery seems almost miraculous, and I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is the king of medicines.' WILLIAM A. LEHR, 9 N. Railroad St., Kendallville, Ind.

NORTH VICTORIA.

Sam Hughes Wrests the Seat from Mr. Barron.

FENELON FALLS, Feb. 12.—In North Victoria there were no special reasons for expecting the defeat of Mr. Barron, the Liberal, who had twice been elected. His majority at the general was 202, Mr. Samuel Hughes being his opponent. North Victoria is a Conservative county; but for some years divisions and bickerings and personal aspirations disturbed the usual harmony of Government supporters. However, Mr. Hughes surprised both friends and opponents by carrying the constituency by a respectable majority. The majorities:

	Hughes.	Barron.
Fenelon Township	..	67
Somerville	57	..

EAST MIDDLESEX.

Marshall's Majority in East Middlesex Between 500 and 600.

	Marshall.	Taylor.
London township	289	..
South Dorchester	3	..
North Dorchester	82	..
London West	156	..
Springfield	..	29
West Nissouri	..	22
London East	48	..
Totals	578	51

Majority for Marshall 527 with five subdivisions to hear from, which may reduce it by 50. Mr. Marshall's majority at the general election was 155 against the same candidate.

HALIFAX.

Partials Returns Indicate the Return of the Conservative Candidates.

HALIFAX, N.S., Feb. 12.—Stairs and Kenny, the Conservative candidates, have 500 majority in Halifax and Dartmouth. Only portions of the county have been heard from as yet, but full returns will not likely change the result materially. The vote polled was away below that of March last, when Kenny had 1100 majority and Stairs 939.

Full returns are not looked for till to-morrow night as a heavy blizzard is raging and the roads are all blocked.

CARLING IS ILL.

Carling Too Ill to Take Any Part in the Contest.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—It is now most unlikely that Hon. Mr Carling will be able to speak during the current campaign, owing to the throat affection which has confined him to his room for so many days. For the same reason Mr. Carling will not be able to do any personal canvassing in this campaign. His physician absolutely prohibits any outdoor work or public speaking. So that he will suffer that disadvantage as against his opponent.

THE RESULT TO DATE

Some Figures Which Are Interesting at the Present Time.

The petitions against 14 Liberals and 10 Conservatives were dismissed, while 14 Liberals and 6 Conservatives were unseated.

The court overruled that objection and the father will get the money.

The Best Authorities,

Such as Dr. Dio Lewis, Prof. Gross, and others, agree that catarrh is not a local but a constitutional disease. It therefore requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which effectually and permanently cures catarrh. Thousands praise it.

Hood's Pills cure liver ills, jaundice, biliousness, sick headache, constipation, and all troubles of the digestive organs.

SOME FAMOUS FAMINES.

REMINISCENCES OF THE PAST INDUCED BY THE RUSSIAN HORROR.

The Thirty Years' War Furnished the Worst Spectacle of Starvation—A Wholesale Exodus from Palestine to Escape Death from Famine—India and China.

With famines in Russia, in India, in Burmah and here and there in China, the world is for the moment sufficiently afflicted. It appears to be in the scheme of Divine Providence that the human race shall always have its full quota of misery, and if it is not war some other plague is unchained that the weak creature, man, may not be lifted up by pride and vanity. With the primeval man the food supply was always intermittent. With this unhappy individual it was always either a feast or a famine.

Living by the chase alone he gorged himself with his prey when he caught it, like the anaconda, and after a dormant period, starved till chance supplied him with the next meal. When the nomadic life gradually merged into a more stable existence, when the fields began to be cultivated, and the pastoral life led to the collection of large flocks and herds, the food supply became more regular, but owing to wars, pestilence, drought, floods or other causes famines reappeared from time to time, causing widespread desolation.

It is probable they will never entirely disappear, though, owing to the greater variety of crops cultivated and the speedier means of communication, it is gratifying to observe that they are becoming much less frequent in the civilized part of the globe and far less disastrous. The statisticians record nearly 400 famines in the history of the world that have been of considerable importance, but the list is only relatively correct, those of minor consequence not being mentioned.

In India, owing directly to drought, and in China for a variety of reasons, these periods of scarcity have been endemic from time immemorial, and there is no means of knowing how many have occurred. In China local famines would be of annual occurrence except for the forethought of the Government in supplying rice, while those that succeed the frequent inundations of the Yellow River are appalling. "And there was a famine in the land" is the scriptural manner of denoting one of these scourges.

In Palestine, the Canaan of the Israelites, the land flowing with milk and honey, the population existed in a state of constant suffering for want of food. In patriarchal times all the Hebrews migrated to Egypt to avoid perishing by pure starvation. Food appears to have been abundant in the valley of the Nile at this epoch, though before the people had learned how to divert the water of the river into their fields and to use it in the most economical manner, famines had been as common in this region as elsewhere.

We are not aware that the ancient Greeks suffered severely for want of food, for if their own seas, forests and fields did not produce enough they could draw supplies of grain from the countries about the Mediterranean. The Phœnicians, who had colonized the south of France and Spain, drew their supplies from the graneries of Africa, but all the tribes inhabiting the northern forests of Europe, among which may be numbered our Anglo-Saxon ancestors, subsisting, as they did in a great measure by the chase, were decimated by famine at least one year in three.

Famine was unknown among the ancient Romans in the early period of their history, that is, as long as their manner continued simple and pure. Luxury came among them with foreign conquest. The rich became very rich, the poor very poor. The former bought great estates in the country, and a great part of the arable land was turned into parks and gardens, driving the peasants to Rome, where they augumented the destitute classes and had to be fed by the Government. It was a curious state of things in the imperial city caused by this necessity of feeding at least half the population to prevent rebellion.

It required a whole fleet of grain ships to bring supplies from Africa or Syria, and if they were accidentally delayed by a storm the Emperor fairly trembled on his throne from fear of the people. The most notable famine in Roman annals was in the reign of Titus, seventy-nine years after Christ, when the starving cohorts rebelled and pillaged the convoys of provisions on the way to Rome to feed the famished populace. Josephus gives frightful details of the famine at Jerusalem during the siege by this Emperor. Though the Roman Empire was rotten to the core it would probably have existed some [illegible] longer if hunger had not driven the hosts of Attila from their forests to feast on the supposed abundance in Southern and Western Europe.

During the Dark and the Middle Ages the population of Northern Europe, and of France especially, lived in an atmosphere of war, famine and pestilence. In the year 541 not a drop of rain fell in Europe and scarcely more in Asia, and the natural result was a three years' famine, and during it the wants of a part of the people of Europe were supplied by the ships of the little Italian republics, just beginning to have a precarious existence, which brought grain from Africa.

Not long afterward France was so desolated by a failure of the crops that the public treasure was exhausted to feed the people, and King Clovis was obliged to strip the silver from the royal tombs in the cathedral of St. Denis. There were two remarkable famines during the reign of Charlemagne in the eighth century, and several in the ensuing century so severe that the famished peasants made bread of earth. During the two or three succeeding centuries they recurred with distressing regularity, having as their principal causes wars among feudal lords and the crusades.

Whole regions were depopulated, the misery being increased by the ravages of the plague. Cannibalism was of daily occurrence. Parents fed upon their children, and children devoured their parents. Rats, mice, reptiles and every imaginable abomination served to give variety to these foul beasts. In the eleventh century there were forty-eight years of famine out of sixty-three. There were thirty-three years of famine in the twelfth century, caused by wars among the nobility.

Paris often suffered from famine during long seiges, in one of which one-third of its population perished. This was in 1438. During the seige of the city by Henry IV. 150 persons were found dead every morning in the streets. Sieges of cities during the Middle Ages, whether in the Netherlands, France, Ireland or Italy, offer the same frightful peculiarities.

Famines followed necessarily in France on the protracted wars of Louis XIV., with a repetition of all the horrors already detailed. The King endeavored, having caused the miseries of his subjects, to alleviate them to the best of his ability by edicts to prevent the hoarding of food supplies, and by importing grain at the public expense.

During the reign of Louis XV., his successor, there was a continual scarcity of food, and the misery of the people was increased by what was called the Famine League, an association of courtiers and other nobles to buy up grain and sell it at double rates. After this and a host of other infamies it was only natural that the deluge should come in the shape of the revolution to sweep away the feudal iniquities that had accumulated until they had become absolutely insupportable to a long-suffering people.

Since Genghis Khan and Tamerlane, the thirty years' war furnishes the most pertinent illustration of the horrors of that particular scorge of mankind. In Lorraine 300 cities and villages were depopulated and became mere piles of wood and stone that only sheltered wolves and other wild animals. The armies took away the draught animals. Dogs took their places. The dogs were taken away and replaced by the men. The men were levied into the armies and the women took to wandering through the forests like wild beasts.

The population gradually disappeared through famine and exposure till of 1,200,000 human beings only 50,000 remained. Human flesh became a common article of diet. Families fed upon one another. A woman was caught salting the limbs of her child, 8 years old. The armies were equally destitute of food. A surgeon called upon to amputate a wounded wrist was asked by the patient what he should give him for his services. "Your wrist," replied the surgeon. It was given, and he devoured it on the spot. The tale told of Dante by Ugolino and his children is not more horrible.

Only three or four periods of scarcity of food that can be called famine have occurred in Europe during the present century. These were in 1812, 1817, 1847, and 1853. In 1847 315,000 starving poor had to be fed in Paris. In 1853 the crops failed in France, Germany, England, and Piedmont, and Louis Napoleon, to prevent a rise in the price of grain, caused the supplies of the army to be purchased abroad. It is to be noted that the destitution that prevailed in England in 1847 was one of the causes that led to the abrogation of the corn laws.

Droughts are of late years the most frequent cause of famine, which usually occur among people who depend on a single crop, as on rice in the East Indies and China or on wheat in Russia, and we may add in Nebraska. In Ireland the potato crop fails from an excess of moisture rather than from the want of it. Famines sometimes occur among fishermen from the failure of fish to visit their coasts in sufficient numbers.—San Francisco Chronicle.

HIS SOUL IS IN HEAVEN.

But His Body, Unlike That of John Brown, Still Goes Marching On.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Feb. 12.—Coulter, the self-confessed murderer of his father, was arraigned on a charge of perjury in the Circuit Court this morning. He pleaded guilty. Judge Steere asked him if he understood the nature of the charge against him. "Yes," he replied. "It is a business matter between God and me for eternity." He was remanded to jail to await sentence. Coulter is undoubtedly crazy. He says that his soul is in heaven and that he cares not what becomes of his carcass.

GOOSEY SKEDADDLES.

The Indian Witness Makes His Escape From a Constable.

BRANTFORD, Ont., Feb. 12.—The Indian Goosey, the chief witness in the Heslop murder case, has skipped out. He has been staying in charge of Constable Hunter, and this morning a son of the latter saw him making good his escape. He put after him, and when he caught up Goosey smashed him pretty badly and proceeded on his way. It is thought he will make for the States.

KILLED IN HIS CAB.

Fatal Collision on the Michigan Central at Tilbury.

TILBURY CENTRE, Ont., Feb. 12.—A west-bound train on the Michigan Central Railway, Conductor J. H. Kilgour, Engineer William Deyell, crashed into an eastbound while the latter was taking the siding at the east switch here during a storm at 5 o'clock this morning. All the trainmen escaped by jumping excepting Engineer Deyell, who was caught in the wreck and instantly killed. The engine and two box cars were demolished. Deyell was a resident of St. Thomas.

Killed at a Crossing.

WALKERVILLE, Ont., Feb. 12.—Jeremiah Driscoll, deputy-reeve of Sandwich East, returning from Windsor last evening with a load of hay, was struck and instantly killed while attempting to cross in front of the 6.30 express going south on the Lake Erie and Detroit River Railway. The horses he drove escaped unhurt.

NEW BRUNSWICK FINANCES.

They Are in a Very Bad Shape—A Business Tax Suggested.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 12.—Premier Blair addressed a public meeting at Sussex last night on the provincial finances. He admitted a deficit for the past year of between $60,000 and $70,000. He now proposes to make the revenue meet the expenditure by levying a tax on banks, insurance, telegraph and telephone companies and kindred organizations. This announcement is possibly put out as a feeler. It has created considerable excitement in business circles. The provincial finances are in a bad way, Mr. Blair frankly saying last night that the interest on the debt of New Brunswick had increased from $45,000 in 1882 to $103,000 at the present time. Mr. Blair flatly contradicted the reports that he intended to dissolve the House and forsake provincial politics for the Dominion arena.

Another Coasting Fatality.

GALT, Feb. 12.—Andrew Scott is dead, as the result of injuries received in Queen-street hill by his horse taking fright at some coasters and throwing Mr. Scott from the rig.

"August Flower"

What is It For? This is the query perpetually on your little boy's lips. And he is no worse than the bigger, older, balder-headed boys. Life is an interrogation point. "What is it for?" we continually cry from the cradle to the grave. So with this little introductory sermon we turn and ask: "What is AUGUST FLOWER FOR?" As easily answered as asked: It is for Dyspepsia. It is a special remedy for the Stomach and Liver. Nothing more than this; but this brimful. We believe August Flower cures Dyspepsia. We know it will. We have reasons for knowing it. Twenty years ago it started in a small country town. To-day it has an honored place in every city and country store, possesses one of the largest manufacturing plants in the country and sells everywhere. Why is this? The reason is as simple as a child's thought. It is honest, does one thing, and does it right along—it cures Dyspepsia.

THE DAILY ONTARIO
BELLEVILLE, FEBRUARY 12, 1892

EDITORIAL NOTES

Where are the great manufacturing industries the N. P. was to build up? There certainly are none in Belleville nor in any place in this district. The tory policy has not secured for the farmers of East Hastings the promised home market, nor is there any prospect for such a market for them. It would, then, clearly be to their interest to vote to reverse a policy that robs them of twenty per cent of what they have to sell and adds to tho price of what they have to buy, and gives them no compensating advantage.

Young Tupper, whose father has grown rich out of politics, impudently says that those Canadians who have gone to the States are "craven hearted" fellows. This is the term he applies to such men as Mr. Quincey and scores of others of among the best men our city or county ever produced. And all because they were not willing to remain here to be robbed of their earnings and deprived of their chances of rising in the world in order that Tupper and his friends may grow rich out of the contributions of the monopolists for whose benefit only this tariff is maintained. Everyone has not Tupper's chance to get rich out of politics. Many Canadians have gone to the States anyone of whom are worth a dozen Tuppers.

The Ottawa Citizen questions in a mild way, our statement that Prince Edward county was won by money and whiskey, and says we can see farther into a millstone than our neighbors. Well, we are certainly situated so as to see more of the doings in Prince Edward than the Citizen is, and it is difinitely known that large sums of money were spent there by the tories, and that the "fire water" was dispensed with an unsparing hand, and that the same is being done in East Hastings. The mere fact that Archie Miller admitted that bribery was practised last March and threw up the sponge rather than face an investigation before the courts shows how the election was won then, and certainly the tories put forth much more strenuous efforts this time than then, and used the same disreputable means.

Mr. Foster boasts of the removal of the sugar duties. He did not remove them. He simply shifted them so as to admit certain kinds free, but he took particular care to see that the duty was so arranged that the refiners profits would not be diminished. Redpath has become immensly wealthy out of his spoils, and lives now in what was formerly a royal palace in England. It was in order to fill Redpath's pockets that the farmers were taxed so heavily on sugar. Of what benefit has his refinery been to them? As a matter of fact he could have carried on his business successfully without any "protection." True he would not have made enough to have enabled him to purchase a royal palace. but he would have realized a fair profit. But in that case he would not have contributed to tory election funds, so the toll was levied on the farmers.

The American officials all affirm that the three Canadian ministers received no invitation whatever to go to Washington to discuss the question of reciprocity. The move was made entirely of their own accord. They are thus going on their knees to the Yankees in a way the liberals never would have done. The whole move is undoubtedly a political dodge. Dismayed by the strength of the rising current in favor of reciprocity the three ministers went to Washington on the pretense of trying to secure a limited reciprocity treaty. We know they cannot secure this for Mr. Blaine has distinctly said so over his own signature. It must be unlimited or none at all. But the tories think they will be able to influence the electors by pointing to the failure of this mission as evidence that the Americans will not assent to a reciprocity treaty.

"When I was a young man," said John than Gray,
"If a fellow took physic he knew it, you bet.
It would cramp him all up in a collicky way,
And, good Lord, what a twisting his insides would get!
But the pills in use now-days by sensible folks
Are as easy to take and as pleasant as jokes."

Of course, the kind referred to by Mr. Gray was Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, he very best Liver Pill ever made—mild but sure and effective. The only pills, sold by druggists, absolutely on trial! Satisfaction guaranteed, or your money is returned.

Mothers, are your daughters pale or sallow? Remember that the period when they are budding into womanhood is most critical; fortify their system for the change with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, unsurpassed for the speedy cure of all troubles peculiar to females. A trial of a single box will convince you. Beware of imitations and take no substitute.

A Pleasant Herb Drink

The best cure we know of for constipation and headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family Medicine. It is said to be Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made ready for use by pouring boiling water onto the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders and is now the sovereign remedy with ladies for clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages at 50c and $1.

THE CANADIAN LIVE STOCK TRADE THREATENED.

British Ports May Be Closed to Canadian Cattle—Suicide of a German Officer—The Spanish Anarchists still Causing Trouble—General Foreign.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The agitation against live cattle imports is gaining dangerous strength. Following The Times The Morning Post, which hitherto has been most friendly to Canada, says: "In the presence of the grave danger of a spread of the disease to British herds the most obvious dictates of common sense say close the ports of England. We are spending millions of pounds to suppress the disease among home animals, yet with inexplicable fatuity we leave the doors open at the ports. The closure of the ports to live animals would make no difference to the imports of dead meat nor raise the price."

Bell's Weekly Messenger, another general friend of Canada, indicates the seriousness of the present outbreak and urges the public to support Mr. Chaplin, if necessary, to stop all imports of live cattle. The situation is one of grave peril to the Canadian trade, and the Canadian Government may perhaps strengthen the position by promptly announcing a rigid quarantine against United States cattle entering British Columbia, as well as the rest of Canada.

A Cedar of Lebanon Has Fallen.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The last memorial service over the remains of the Rev. Mr. Spurgeon was held last night. The funeral service this morning opened at 11 o'clock. The Rev. Mr. Pierson, the American minister who filled Mr. Spurgeon's pulpit during the latter's illness, made a most eloquent address. He dwelt at length upon Mr. Spurgeon's powerful influence. "A cedar of Lebanon has fallen," he said, "and the crash of its downfall has shocked the whole land. No such vast vacancy has before befallen the church in a century."

The coffin containing the remains was then taken from the catafalque upon which it had rested since Monday night and conveyed to the hearse and thence to Norwood Cemetery.

Arrest of a Spy.

BERLIN, Feb. 12.—A sensation was caused in military circles here yesterday by the receipt of a despatch from Augsburg, Bavaria, announcing the arrest of a spy, said to be an officer of a foreign army. The stranger, when searched, was found to have been successful in stealing one of the new and most improved rifles of the German army. The lock and other important parts of the weapon were found sewn in the clothes worn by the prisoner.

Berlin police have discovered and frustrated a widespread Anarchist plot.

Official notice has been given that a famine prevails in Bombay presidency.

The secretary of the German Admiralty has asked the Reichstag for an appropriation to increase the naval force.

Barcelona Anarchists have posted proclamations threatening vengeance for the execution of the Xeres Anarchists.

The Russian Government has granted the sum of 60,000,000 roubles to be expended for the relief of the sufferers in the famine districts.

Mr. Gladstone has sent a letter to Sir William Vernon Harcourt, in which he pays a high tribute to the character and worth of the late Duke of Clarence and Avondale.

The Russian General VonHaford shot himself through the head with a revolver yesterday at Berlin. He was 72 years of age and was suffering from disease of the larynx.

A petroleum well belonging to the Assam Railway Company, near Calcutta, India, has been sunk to a depth of 650 feet, at which point a vein was struck which is flowing at a rate of 700 barrels daily. This is taken to indicate that there is a rich supply of oil in the district.

A report comes here from China by way of Singapore that General Tchen Kitong has been executed at Tien Tsin for treason in having pledged himself to support French influence, in having become a Christian and in having sought an audience with the Pope to facilitate the work of Catholic missions in China.

Shot Himself Six Hours After His Wedding.

MANCHESTER, Feb. 12.—Last night Mr. Arnold Warden, an artist of this city, shot himself under sensational circumstances.

He was married at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon to Miss Alice Heywood, daughter of Mr. Charles Heywood. The newly-married couple, with their friends, went to Mr. Heywood's house to spend the evening. About 10 o'clock the deceased bade one of his friends good-night, went into the drawing room, and immediately afterward a shot was heard.

Mr. Heywood, going into the room, found the deceased lying on the floor with a revolver near him, and this morning he died.

His Tongue Swelled Until it Caused Death.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—William Hanley, 25 years old, a newsdealer at Sackett and Hicks-street, died in the City Hospital, Brooklyn, yesterday morning of glossitis, or inflammation of the tongue, after an illness of four days. The disease is an exceptionally rare one. Hanley was attacked with the grip on Friday morning, and in the evening his tongue began to swell. By midnight Hanley's tongue and surrounding glands were swollen to such an extent as to force his jaws apart, and he was unable to speak or swallow. He continued in this condition until his death.

An autopsy on the body was made yesterday afternoon in the presence of the entire medical staff of the institution. The conclusion reached by most of the doctors was that the disease was formed through a diphtheretic inflammation.

Rolly Must Stay in Quod.

SPURGEON.

Reminiscences of a Great London Preacher.

A STRICT BAPTIST.

There was a profusion of flowers, also, mostly pinks and other familiar varieties. These were not grown for the bees, nor yet because Mr. Spurgeon himself was particularly fond of them, but to supply the floral mission of his church, for distribution among the sick and the poor of the city.

Even indoors he sought to have as much sunlight as possible. His mansion was planned and built with that end in view. No trees were allowed to shade it, and the windows were as large as possible. Perhaps the most interesting room was the library, the walls of which were lined with crowded bookshelves. Here were forty volumes of Mr. Spurgeon's own printed sermons, in English, and dozens of other volumes of his works translated into other tongues.

Here were several volumes of collected tracks and pamphlets, written by others about him and arranged chronologically. The earliest were nearly all abusive, many of them actually scandalous in tone. The latter were as generally eulogistic, and the gradual transition from the one extreme to the other presented a most interesting study. Some large scrapbooks contained copies of all the caricatures of the preacher published since he was in the ministry. There were thousands of them, of all possible shades of artistic merit, and of all imaginable spirits, from good-natured humor to sheer malevolence.

Other volumes contained thousands of clippings from newspapers about Mr. Spurgeon, presenting the same variety of tone. In all these Mr. Spurgeon took a philosophic interest.

Spurgeon was one day asked whether he thought the world was growing better or worse.

"I can scarcely give an opinion," he said. "Certainly in some respects it is growing worse. The struggle for life is harder now; it is more difficult to make a living, and the destitution is more appalling, I think, than it has ever been. But, on the other hand, there have been many improvements, especially in the direction of temperance. A whole class of men who were very numerous when I first came to London have become extinct. I refer to those good and respectable gentlemen who never got drunk, but who were in the habit of getting—well, let us say, tolerably mellow. You never come across one of these nowadays. At least, I never do.

"The question of temperance has taken giant strides, and I think there has also come about an improvement in the attitude of respectable people toward licentious literature. Our grandmothers read books which our daughters would be ashamed to open. And in many other respects, especially in that of open vice and lawlessness, London has greatly improved. People did things thirty years ago without fear or restraint which they would never dream of doing now."

In respect of Christian charity and harmony of Christian effort, however, he believed much undoubted progress was being made.

"People still talk much," he said, "about bigotry, but I see little of it personally. I marvel sometimes as I look back on the fierce controversies of early days, and contrast them with the brotherly love and sympathy which prevail now. When I preached on baptismal regeneration many years ago, what a storm was raised. Those who then resented plain speech had learned to endure it. I have lost no friends through my plain speaking. I have gained many. The kindness, the sympathy, the helpfulness, shown to me by ministers of every denomination almost surpasses belief."

"The Bishop of Rochester has visited me when I have been unwell, and kindly sends me an early copy of anything which he publishes. Clergymen, High and Low, vie with each other in friendly acts of love and sympathy. High and Low quarrel with each other, but both are on excellent terms with me. Last time I preached at Mentone I had four canons of the Church of England behind me. As it is with High and Low, so it is with the broad men, though I am far removed from their platform.

"Dean Stanley was always very kind. I remember spending a very pleasant evening with him. The Dean was in excellent spirits and spoke of disestablishment. 'When we are disestablished and disendowed,' said he, 'what do you propose to do with the Abbey and St. Paul's? Which of them do you intend to buy for your own use? But really you must not buy St. Paul's—that you must leave for the Cardinal; it will remind him of St. Peter's.' And so he went on, laughing heartily at his fancy sketch of the future of the disestablished church. He was always very cordial.

"This growth of Christian charity is the more remarkable within the church because the tendency of an establishment is to foster the opposite. Episcopalians are the only established sect in England, and they are apt to fancy that they are the only Church of Christ, from which conceit there naturally arises much bitterness and arrogance."

"I stand," he said, where I did when I began preaching, and I stand almost alone. If I ever did such things, I could preach my earliest sermons now without change so far as the essential doctrines are concerned. I stand almost exactly where Calvin stood in his maturer years. Not where he stood in his 'Institutes,' which he wrote when quite a young man, but in his later works. That position is taken by few. Even those who occupy Baptist pulpits do not preach exactly the same truths that I preach. They see things differently, and of course they preach in their own way. Although few will deny the wonderful power of the truth as it has been preached at the Tabernacle, it is not their way.

"It is the Calvinistic way of looking at things which causes my sermons to have such acceptance in Scotland, in Holland, and even in the Transvaal, where a recent traveller expressed his astonishment at finding translations of them lying beside the family Bible in the Transvaal farmstead. I am aware that my preaching repels many; that I cannot help. If a man does not believe in the inspiration of the Bible, for instance, he may come to hear me once, and if he comes no more, that is his act, and not mine. My doctrine has no attraction for that man; but I cannot change my doctrine to suit him."

Of all his many enterprises, his Pastors' College was his favorite. "I give to it," he once said, "my best thoughts." The one great qualification which he required of young men who wished to enter it was ability to preach. Aptitude in "holding forth" must be established before admission is granted. The three years' instruction is throughout designed to make the students preachers and not readers of the gospel. Mr. Spurgeon himself, in the pulpit, occasionally used as many notes as may be written upon one small slip of paper, but he was thoroughly imbued with the old Puritan dislike of MS.

Sometimes a number of topics written upon slips of paper were put into a hat, and each man had there and then to make an impromptu speech upon the subject he drew. Poverty or meanness of rank does not debar admission to the college. If young men in humble positions of life have the desired qualifications they are entered and supported by the college. Probably the bulk of six hundred odd students educated have been sons of men of the artisan and small tradesmen class. The president rather prided himself than otherwise in telling that the call boy of a teamster and a scissors-grinder had been trained for the ministry at the college.

Keep the head cool, the feet warm and the bowels regular, and no disease can attack you. This is a celebrated German physician's advise, and can best be accomplished by using Burdock Blood Bitters the best blood purifier known. It cnres all disorders of the stomach, liver, bowels, and blood.

Billiousness Fever Ague

So pleasantly does Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills search out and drive away the seeds of disease that all persons living in the country where fever and ague and all other billious diseases are prevalent will find they should never be without them. From two to four pill each night upon going to bed, will in a short time drive away the sickly yellow look of billious persons, and bring to their cheeks a beautiful glow of perfect health. Dr, Morse's Indian Root Pills are sold by all dealers in Medicine.

A Sensible Statement.

Sirs,—Having used your Burdock Blood Bitters successfully for some time past, I must state that for my complaint of biliousness and ccid stomach I have never found an equal, and I continue to use it and recommend it to my neighbors.

W. Sutton, St. Thomas, Ont.

If you have a cough or cold do not neglec it; many without a trace of that hereditar disease have drifted into a consumptiv grave by neglecting what was only a sligh cold. Had the used Bickle's Anti-Consumtive Syrup before it was too late their lives would have been spared. Mr. A. W. Levy Mitchell, writes. "I think Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation on the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught severe cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cought. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of Consumption, and had given up hodes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickel's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieved, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured. I always recomend it for severe colds and consumption."

Snipe and plover are unusually numerous this year.

Dear Sirs,—My children were taken il with ulcerated sore throats bordering on diphtheria. I had nothing in the house but Hagyards Yellow Oil which I used with great benefit I am sure if it had not been for it the disease would have developed into diphtheria. It is a splendid medicine.

Advice to Mothers

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used by millions of mothers for children teething for over fifty years, with perfect success. It relieves the littie sufferer at once, produces natural quiet sleep, and freeing the child from pain, and the young cherub wakes as bright as a button.' It is pleasant to taste, sooths the child softens tne gums, allays pain, relieve wind, regulates the bowels, and is the bes known remedy for diarrhoea, whether aris ng from teething or other causes 25 cts bottle.

A Prolific Source of Disease.—trifling indiscretion in diet may lay t foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, an there is no fact in medical science mor positively ascertained or more authoritat ively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. The original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No detelerious mineral ingred ueht is contained in it, and thoughits action is thorough in cases of costivenes it never produces griping pains in th abdominal region, or weakens the bowel like a violent purgative. It invigorate the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney diseases scrofulous and all disaases of the blood, female weakness, &c., &c. Price $100. Sample bottle 10 cents. Ask for Northrup & Lymans Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. The wrapper bears 'll ac-smile of their signature. Sold by aa medicine dealers.

Dear Sir,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece; frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first, only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,
H. F. Atwell.

Dear Sir,—For many years, I have been a firm believer in your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills." Not with a blind faith, but a confidence wrought by an actual personal experience of their value and merit. My business is such that I spend much of my time away from home, and I would not consider my travelling outfit complete without a box of Morse's Pills.

ROUND DANCES IMMORAL

SO THINKS THE REV C O JOHNSTON OF NAPANEE

He Says it was Invented by Low Women for Low Entertainment in the Parisian Saloons and has no Rightful Place in Respectable Society.

The communication which recently appeared in the ONTARIO in reference to certain remarks alleged to have been made in Napanee recently on the evil of dancing by Rev. C. O. Johnston has caused wide discussion in the press. The rev. gentleman has written the Kingston News the following letter, which he states is what he did say on the occasion referred to:

SIR, Your telegram to hand, requesting correct statement of remarks on dancing. I did not preach nor lecture on the subject, but only spoke thereon a few minutes before the formal opening of the evening service in my church, I am opposed to the round dances of modern society, and spoke strongly thereon. The popular waltz, in mixed companies, is an evil. It was invented by low women, for low entertainment in the saloons of Paris and has no rightful place in respectable society. It associates men and women too familiarly, and often on short acquaintance, thereby endangering the safeguards of true ladyhood—a sense of personal privacy and native modesty. I stand for the defence of our Canadian women for whom I have the highest esteem, and in whose purity and high-mindedness I have the greatest faith, against that which elevates none and lowers many, of which we have the most painful and pitiful demonstration in every town and city. The round dance belongs to the 'dance house,' and low theatre, and not to refined people in this Christian land. The ball room has no standard of morals, and no guarantee of character. Men vile in language and life are admitted just because they have good clothes or outside manner, or money, or are related to someone respectable, or just because they belong to "our set." This is an iniquity, and the young and innocent are not safe in such company. There are many good and even religious people who dance. They are surrounded by safeguards of training and companionship which are sufficient protection, but all are not so protected. That is a very narrow life which lives only for itself.

The above is my attitude on this question, and embodies the statement made before the audience, save a strong quotation from a sermon by Rev. Dr. Pierson a prominent Presbyterian minister of Philadelphia, which I need not give here, though stronger anything uttered by me. Any paper or individual attempting to show that I forgot my position or undervalued the character of those of whom I spoke does me a great injustice. I think much too highly of my townspeople and myself to give utterance to any such language as I am reported to have used. Thanking you for your desire to put this matter in its true light before the public.

A DISASTROUS FIRE

A Serious Blow to Napanees Industrial Interests

NAPANEE, Feb. 11.—The most disastrous fire that has visited Napanee in a long time occured last night when J. Gibbard & Sons furniture factory was burned to the ground. The building contained a great deal of valuable machinery and Messrs. Gibbard's loss is not less than $12,000. Upon this there was an insurance of only $2000. All efforts to save the building were of no avail. Some harsh words are spoken this morning respecting the working of the fire-alarm system which did not prove at all satisfactory last night. The brigade worked manfully, and with difficulty saved the adjoining buildings. The cause of the fire is unknown. This loss falls very heavily upon the firm it being the fourth time they have been wiped out by fire. The loss is a serious one for Napanee and will leave without employment some forty odd hands who had steady work and good wages. Mr. Gibbard has not yet decided what step to take towards re-establishing his business. Overtures have been offered to him from other towns but it is not likely that Napanee will allow such an energetic citizen to leave us without offering pretty good terms to retain him here.

The returning officer to-day declared Mr Uriah Wilson duly elected for the House of Commons by a majority of 31. The graceful thing for Uriah now to do would be to resign his seat, as no man of self-respect would accept a seat obtained through such means. He stated on the hustings that he did not want to be elected unless by fair means, when at the same time, and under his very nose there were being perpetrated the gravest frauds that were ever resorted to in any contest. Boodling was relied upon as the only means of carrying the riding and the energy of the Tory party was directed to that end. If the reptile fund had not been lavishly expended in Lennox Mr. Allison would certainly have been elected by a majority of 200 or more. He was never more popular than he is to day while Wilson has very few friends, even in his own party. He has peddled what little patronage he could command in such an unjust manner that many of his old supporters deserted him in disgust. A re-count will at once be demanded and if Mr. Allison is not counted in and given his seat a protest will be entered and the people's choice will unquestionably be given the seat and Mr. Wilson left at home.

There have been a great many deaths throughout the county during the past week, many of which are attributable to la grippe.

In spite of Rev. C. O. Johnston's protests against dancing, the young bachelor's assembly of the season was a brilliant affair. Among the guests was a clergyman whose presence rather upsets Mr. Johnston's theory as to the character of the visitors to the ball-room.

The silos erected last fall in this county are proving a decided success. The experience of the farmers who have them is that they can winter their stock for about one half what it used to cost them and keep them in better condition.

The Napanee Dramatic Club will appear in the Opera House next Wednesday in "The Shamrock and the Rose." The two performances given by these amateurs this season were well put on and drew large houses. They will be greeted in their new play with a bumper.

ON TO THE RACKET

The Tribune Scores The Canadian Commissioners

The New York Tribune, which is more nearly the organ of Secretary Blaine than any newspaper, in speaking of the conference, calls it the reciprocity comedy, and says the Canadian commissioners come to offer impossible terms and to hoodwink their constituents. It adds:—"It is well understood by everybody here that the visit of these gentlemen has not been requested by the administration. It is equally understood that it will result in nothing except a more or less pleasant exchange of views. That done, the commissioners will return home and tell their constituents how they tried their utmost to induce the United States to enter into closer commercial relations with Canada, and how their offers were spurned by an unfeeling and unsympathetic Government. All this of course, is part of a little comedy performed at the expense of the Canadian taxpayer and designed to throw dust into his eyes. There are a number of bye-elections coming off in Canada this month and these the comedy upon which the curtain will presently be permitted to rise is intended to affect.

"That there is an overwhelming sentiment in Canada for closer trade relations with the United States admits of no doubt. That the Tory Government, now in power feels the necessity of heeding this sentiment, is equally certain. It cannot however shape its policy in such a way as to bring about those closer trade relations so earnestly desired by a majority of Canadians. It poses at stated intervals, as the necessities of the case may require, in the role of an anxious applicant for reciprocal trade relations with the United States. These applications are made with more or less earnestness and are accompanied with the beating of a political tom-tom whenever as is now the case elections have to be carried. That they are always insincere, as far at least as the expectation is concerned that they may lead to anything, is to be assumed. They are rarely accompanied by offers which any administration, Republican or Democratic, could for a single moment entertain.

"In the present instance no one at all familiar with Canadian politics ventures to assert that the commissioners come here with any more substantial offer than that of placing on their free list a few articles which it is known Canada will not be able to produce for many years to come, or articles which could not by any means come into competition with articles now imported from England. The commissioners were permitted to come here because they could not well be told not to. After having made their little speech they will be told that their offers are not acceptable, and they will then return home to hoodwink their constituents. There will have been a great deal of talk, still more waste of time and adsolutely nothing accomplished. Nobody however, will be hurt by this "exchange of views."

THE POINT ANN STONECUTTERS

The Toronto Union say They Will not Handle the Stone

The Stonecutters' Union, of Toronto, met last night and again considered the matter of the supply of stone for the new drill shed at Toronto. It has been ascertained recently that Major Stewart, of Ottawa, the contractor, has sub-let another portion of the contract for footings and base-course to a Belleville contractor thus showing a determination to have the stone supplied, cut, and dressed by outside, and to a great extent, non-union labor, trusting that it will be handled by Toronto men when it arrives. In this he is mistaken, for the men say that they cannot touch the stone without violating the principles of their union. Major Stewart is reported to have said to a member of the union who interviewed him on the matter that he would "go ahead and fight them in Toronto." It is said that the sub-letting of contracts as named is due to political exigencies, the owner of the quarries in Quebec being a friend of the contractors.

CHARGED WITH SEDUCTION.

A Demented Girl Gives Birth to an Illegitimate Child.

High County Constable Johnston last night arrested a young man on the street charged with seducing a demented girl twenty-one years of age of Thurlow township. The prisoner was locked up and afterwards released under $300 bail, himself in $200 and one security in $100. The unfortunate woman has given birth to her child. Her father, who has several children of tender years, has asked that the names be withheld from publication. It is likely that the case will be settled out of court.

SOME GOOD REASONS

WHY THE FARMERS SHOULD VOTE FOR RECIPROCITY

Allan Pringle Talks Right to the Point—The Present Unsatisfactory Condition of the Farmers and the Reason Therefore

Mr. Allan Pringle, than whom no one is better posted on the trade question as it affects the farmers, and who is well known in Belleville and throughout this county, recently issued an open letter to the farmers of Lennox which every farmer should read. We will not apologize therefore, for making copious extracts from it. He asks why the farmers should support reciprocity and answers as follows:—

They ought to do so because they are in debt and cannot pay; because they are mortgaged both in land and chattels; because they are robbed according to law by tariffs and monopolies of nearly half of their hard earnings; because their lands are rapidly depreciating in price and value; because the population of their county is decreasing instead of increasing; because their sons—the brightest and best of them—are being driven away from their homes and their country to better their condition in a foreign land; and, finally, because under our oppressive and corrupt Government the enormous expenses of running it and our national debt are increasing so rapidly that if there is not a halt there must soon come national as well as individual bankruptcy.

These are some of the reasons why the farmers of this riding, and indeed all other voters, should support the free trade candidate; for, as tariffs, monopolies and combines are the chief causes of all these evils, free trade would be the remedy. And it must come or the farmer's condition will become worse even than it is now, if that is possible. Under the McKinley tariff it is only by the merest accident that we have, for the moment, in a measure escaped its more scorching effects The good crops here the past season and the bad crops in Europe have just tempered the blast for the present. This is a god-send to the restrictionists as well as to the farmers; for, had it been otherwise, had the conditions as to crops been reversed, the Ontario farmer would now be writhing under the effects of that tariff, and would be more in the mood of cursing his oppressors than voting for them. But how is it even under that favorable turn of things? Why, he loses immensely! Our horses still go to the American market, not to the English. And on every horse we sell for that market we now lose $30 at least, and more as the value of the horse increases. Just think of that! The American buyers are over to this county from time to time, and the farmers supply them with a large number of their best horses; and on every horse the farmer loses $30, though the horse be worth only $75. The buyer tells the farmer plainly that he would give him $30 more for his horse only for the duty to that amount which he has to pay to get the horse over there instead of paying it to the farmer. And some of the farmers are such unmitigated dunderheads that they cannot or will not understand this. But even the dullest supporter of the Tory candidate and the N. P. might, I should think, settle this matter for himself beyond a doubt in the same way that his late leader, Sir John Macdonald, proposed to settle the question as to who paid

THE DUTY ON THE BARLEY.

Suppose he lives down east along the land between Canada and the United States and he has an American neighbor just across the line, whose farm joins his at the boundary. Each has a horse for sale of the same market value. Both horses will bring the same price in the next town on the other side. The American farmer takes his horse there and gets say $130. The Canadian farmer takes his horse there and gets the same price, $130; but before he could get his horse there, in crossing the line between his farm and his neighbor's he has to pay $30 of duty, which, of course, his neighbor has not to pay, and he, therefore, has $30 less in his pocket for his horse than his American neighbor. By this apt illustration Sir John Macdonald himself, fortunately, at one time showed that that the Canadian farmer lost the duty on the barley, and it is so with everything else dutiable we send to the States, as the market price of the article or animal is fixed there, not here. Any man who cannot or will not understand so simple a matter as this ought to be disfranchised for ignorance so dense or perversity so incorrigible; should have neither part nor lot in making laws for a so-called intelligent people.

Neuralgia, Catarrh Debility Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla

Good authority has said that "neuralgia is the cry of the nerves for pure blood." The prompt action of Hood's Sarsaparilla on the blood, combined with its toning and strengthening effect upon the nerves, makes this a most excellent medicine for neuralgia and similar troubles. We commend to all sufferers from such complaints and especially to ladies, the following statements recently received:—

"For a good many years I have been suffering from catarrh, neuralgia and general debility. I failed to obtain any permanent relief from medical advice, and my friends feared I would never find anything to cure me. A short time ago I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. At that time I was unable to walk even a short distance without feelin a overtake me. And I had intense pains from neuralgia in my head, back and limbs which were very exhausting. But I am glad to say that soon after I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I saw that it was doing me good. I have now taken three bottles and am entirely

CURED OF NEURALGIA.

I am gaining strength rapidly, and can take a two-mile walk without feeling tired. I do not suffer nearly so much from catarrh, and find that as my strength increases the catarrh decreases. I am indeed a changed woman, and shall always feel grateful to Hood's Sarsaparilla for what it has done for me.

IT IS MY WISH

that this my testimonial shall be published in order that others suffering as I was may learn how to be benefited." MRS M. E. MARRICK, 26 Wilton Avenue, Toronto, Ont.

DIED AT SEVENTY-SEVEN.

Edward McMahon a Well-known Figure in the City Passes Away.

On Thursday morning at 10.00 a once familiar figure on the streets of Belleville passed away in the person of Edward McMahon. He had lived seventy-seven years in single blessedness and was known to all as a kind and christian old gentleman. Deceased was born in Queen's county, Ireland and settled in Prince Edward county with his father when only a year old. His father for years was sheriff of county in which duties he was assisted by the deceased until he removed to Oshawa and entered into business with his brother. He carried on business for several years when he come to Belleville twenty-four years ago and has since resided with his brother Michael. Eugene another brother is a retired merchant in Detroit. Three sisters reside in Los Angles—Mrs. F. Moore whose husband conducts a large banking institution and Misses Caroline and Grace. The deceased had many eccentricities. A conservative all his life the first vote he ever cast was during the recent municipal contest in Thurlow for J. Hurley and J. K. McCargar, both Reformers. The remains will be taken from his late residence North Front Street at 10 a. m. to-morrow to St. Michael's church when they will be interred in the R. C. cemetery.

THE LINGHAM GOLD MINE.

Highly Encouraging Reports of the First Thorough Test

The first thorough test of the Lingham gold mine, in Belmont, and of the gold-bearing rock taken from it, has been made, and the result is in the highest degree satisfactory.

The test was the reduction of 110 tons of ore, from which 50 ounces of gold, valued at $1,100, was yesterday shipped to Philadelphia. This gives a yield of $10 to the ton, but there is still a quantity of gold in the mercury and some concentrates that are no doubt very rich. The total yield may safely be placed at about $15 per ton.

The seperating process is by far the most successful that has yet been tried on the refractory ores of this region, as but a very small percentage of the precious metal remains in the tailings. Its effect on the gold mining interests of the district must be highly important.

It is the intention of the proprictors of the mine—so well are they satisfied with the result of the test of its value to largely increase their plant and prosecute the work on an extensive scale.

Full of Human Interest

The story of Geo. A. Dams's new military drama "Playmates to be produced at the Queen's Opera House on the 24th and 25th inst. is one full of strong human interest lighted up with clever comedy and exciting tableaux. The first act opens in Yorkshire county, Eng., and tells the old story of love and disappointment. The play is original in that the conventional villian of modern melo-drama does not find a place in "Playmates" at all.

Very Hard Indeed

There are so many things that appear unnecessary, and which for the life of us we can see neither purpose nor end. It may be corns are just one of these thorn in the flesh the why and the wherefore of which we cannot see. Nevertheless they are of the kind that are easily removed. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor makes short work of them. Try it and see how nicely it coaxes them out. Use none other than Putnam's Corn Extractor. Sold by druggists.

LITERARY NOTES

That exceedingly practical and beautifully illustrated magazine THE ART AMATEUR appears again, with its usual varied table of contents. The February number opens with a striking portrait of Mrs. Emma Eames Story, the prima donna, from the painting by her husband, Julian Story. An article on "The Raphael of Cats," L. Eugene Lambert, with several pages of studies of animals by that genial painter, will excite general interest. Mr. Knaufft continues his invaluable articles on Free-hand drawing, which should be in the hands of every one, young or old, who wishes to study art or to appreciate pictures. Special articles are those on portrait painting in oil, by Frank Fowler; on painting from still-life, by Allyn Aymar; on china painting, by Mrs. Haywood and Miss M. B. Alling; on poker work or pyrography, by Mrs. Haywood, again; and on painting on gesso. The department called "The House," with its illustrations, shows how completely transformed an old and severely plain dwelling may be. The supplement gives designs for needle-work, wood-carving, china painting, and pyrography. The color plates comprise a charming study, in progressive stages of La France Roses, by Mrs. C. Goodyear, for execution in either water or mineral colors, and an amusing group of animals, entitled "The Sick Puppy," by Mrs. W. H. Trood, for reproduction in oil. Price, 35 cents, monthly.

The Little Minister

J. M. Barrie is fast coming to the front as one of the most popular novelists of the day, and with good reason. His humor is as fresh as his pathos and his knowledge of the subtle complexities of Scotch character goes so far beyond that of his predecessors that it makes that much be-written people freshly interesting and absolutely new. It is Thrums where the Little Minister is settled. He is an odd and forceful figure, with his small person and his large authority. The people watch his goings out and comings in with lynx-eyed vigilance, to adore, criticise and interfere. We follow his fortunes with zest, and are disposed to resent the obscurity of the conclusion, which leaves his future to be settled by inference. John Lovell & Son, Montreal.

DR. TALMAGE ON THE BESTIAL PROPENSITIES OF A SINFUL NATURE.

Science and Archæology Have Given Up New Light on the Story of Nebuchadnezzar and Shown Its Agreement With History and Natural Law.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 7.—With a mighty acclaim the long meter doxology rose at the beginning of the service. The inestimable value of Christianity as an elevating and ennobling influence on the nature of man formed the subject of Dr. Talmage's sermon this morning. The brilliant and original preacher chose as his text the humiliation of the Babylonish king, who, being destitute of religion, sank to the level of the brute. Daniel iv, 28, "All this came upon the King Nebuchadnezzar."

Colonel Rawlinson, the oriental traveler, says that the exhumed bricks, not only of Babylon, but of a hundred towns in an area of one hundred miles in length and thirty in breadth, are inscribed with the name of Nebuchadnezzar. He was a great warrior, and at the glance of his sword nations prostrated themselves. He was a great king and built a city reservoir ninety miles in circumference and one hundred and twenty feet deep, and constructed a hanging garden four hundred feet square and seventy-five feet high, some say to please Amuhia, his wife, who had been born among the hills, and others say to get a pleasure ground free from mosquitoes which afflict the levels.

I think, from his character, the latter reason may have impelled him as much as the former. When he conquered King Zedekiah, so as to have no more trouble with him, he put his eyes out—a most barbarous way of incapacitating an enemy. But Babylon was a great place, the houses surrounded by gardens and the housetops were connected with each other by bridges, and one day Nebuchadnezzar walked out on those suspension bridges and showed, perhaps to a royal visitor, the vastness of his realm as the sun kindles the domes with glistenings almost insufferable, and the great streets thunder up their pomp into the ear of the monarch, and armed towers stand around adorned with spoils of conquered empires.

Nebuchadnezzar waves his hand above the stupendous scene and exclaims, "Is not this great Babylon that I have built for the house of the kingdom by the might of my power and for the honor of my majesty?" In other words: "What a great man I am. Babylon was not anything until I adorned it. See these water works, see those gardens, see those forts. I did all this. I shall never be forgotten. Why my name is on every brick in all those walls. Just look at me. I am more than a man."

But in an instant all that splendor is gone from his vision, for a voice falls from the heavens, saying, "O King Nebuchadnezzar, to thee it is spoken, the kingdom is departed from thee, and they shall drive thee from men and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field, they shall make thee to eat grass as oxen, and seven times shall pass over thee, until though know that the Most High ruleth in the kingdom of men and giveth it to whomsoever he will." One hour from the time he made the boast he is on his way to the fields a maniac, and rushing into the forests he becomes as one of the beasts and is after awhile covered with eagles' feathers for protection from the cold, and his nails grow to look like birds' claws, in order that he may dig the earth for roots and climb the trees for nuts.

NEBUCHADNEZZAR A LYCANTHROPE.

The mental disaster that seized him was what the Greeks call lycanthropy, by which a man imagines himself a beast and prefers to go out and mingle with brutes. He who had been eating pomegranates and apricots off of plates of gold inlaid with amethyst and diamond, and drinking the richest wines from the royal vats, now browsing on grass and struck by the horn of the ox as he contends for a better tuft of the pasturage, and instead of an orchestra on benches of ivory playing the national airs, now listening to the moan and bellow and grunt of the beasts. This is not hard for me to believe, for the forms of dementia are innumerable.

A few years ago, arriving in a city on a summer afternoon, while waiting for my engagement in the evening, I sauntered forth into what seemed to be a park in front of a large public building, the use of which I knew not. I met a gentleman with whom I fell into delightful conversation, and he seemed intelligent on all subjects. After a while I said, "Let us sit down on this bench and rest awhile and enjoy the scene of verdure and fountains." "No," said he. "You sit down, but I cannot. I am made of glass, and if I should sit down I would break to pieces."

Then I saw that he was insane and belonged to the large building just behind us. After such an interview as that I can easily believe this account of my text. Here is Nebuchadnezzar on all fours. He once prided himself of being more than a man, and now he turns out less than a man. The courtiers look out of the windows upon him as he moves among the royal herds and cry, "A beast!" Seven years pass, when suddenly his reason returns and he comes back to Babylon a humble worshipper of the God in heaven.

What must have been the excitement in the royal court as this restored maniac emperor walks into the palace. What a time they had in cutting his nails and his hair, which had grown for seven years without being interfered with by any shears. What a scrubbing down must have taken place in the imperial baths. What a transformation necessary in order that he who had been herding with camels and goats and swine may be made fit to associate with princes. What a change from sty to throne room.

While walking from this Babylonian palace down to the pasture field and from the pasture field back to the palace the first thing that impresses me is what an incongruous thing it is for a king to be eating grass. It is good for cattle, but not fit for man. And then for one to prefer it to a royal table toward whose bounty the orchards and paddocks and streams and vineyards in all the earth might contribute—what an amazement! And yet the scene is as common as the daylight.

HOW HUMANITY IS DEGRADED.

When I see a man of regal nature made to rule in realms of thought, capable of all moral elevation, besotting his faculties, attempting out of low sensualities to satisfy his immortal energies, coming down off his throne of power into brutalities, sacrificing his higher nature to his lower nature, stooping and stooping, coming down and coming down until all his influence for good is gone, I cry out, "There is a king eating grass like an ox!" And there are tens of thousands of such Nebuchadnezzars.

So there are queens who dedicate themselves to the same humiliation. What power for good God gave that woman. Magnetism of personal presence. Influence more than imperial. By her intelligence, by her tenderness, by her charm of smile and manner, capable of soothing so much sorrow, and reforming so much waywardness, and wielding so much elevated power, yet at the call of worldliness, coming out of the throne room of good influence, where God would have her reign, coming down over the ivory stairs of moral power, coming down and coming down until she has no more soul than the dead bird transfixed in her millinery or the chin chilla that was slain to afford her warmth, or the kid that furnished her the glove, and finding her only delight in flatteries of brainless men and midnight schottische and debauched novelettes.

I say, "There is one who might have been a queen unto God forever, yet eating straw like an ox." I look over the pasture fields of folly and sin and find many groveling who ought to be erect. O men and women, go back to your thrones. A young man ran away from home and broke his widowed mother's heart. Fourteen years passed and he returned, and came to the window at which his old mother was sitting.

She looked up and immediately recognized him and said, "Oh, Robert, Robert, come in!" "No," said he, "mother, I shall never come in till I hear you say you forgive me." Her answer was, "Robert I have forgiven you long ago. There is nothing to forgive now except that you staid away."

The defeats and sorrows of life have sometimes been the greatest advantage. It was because Dante failed as a statesman that he gave up politics and wrote his immortal "Divina Commedia." It was a violent thunderstorm that first set Martin Luther seriously thinking, and the thunder of this world's disaster has started many a reformation. James Y. Simpson went from a surgeon's operating table to experiment and see if he could not find something that would alleviate human pain, and he kept on until he had discovered chloroform as an anæsthetic, and the story of distress has almost always been followed by the story of rescue.

Again, learn from my subject that connected with the most distressing judgments of God there are displays of divine mercy. God might justly have left Nebuchadnezzar in the field, but infinite compassion brought him back to the palace. No sooner was Eden blasted than a blessing followed on the heels of the curse promising the coming of one who would destroy sin and make the whole world a paradise. The deluge descends, but not until Noah had invited the people into the ark. The destroying angel comes upon Egypt for the smiting of the first born, but left unmolested every house whose door was sprinkled with the blood of the sacrifice.

Fiery tempests bear down upon Sodom, but not until two angels have warned Lot and his family to flee from the destruction. Jerusalem was utterly destroyed, but not until Jeremiah had sounded an alarm bidding them turn from their abominations. On the darkest cloud of wrath there is a rainbow of mercy. Zechariah in his prophetic vision behind four chariots, symbolical of God's government.

The first chariot was drawn by red horses. They indicated the wars that were coming. The second chariot was drawn by black horses. They indicated the coming of a famine and pestilence. The third chariot was drawn by white horses. They indicated the spotless purity of his conquests. But mark well that the fourth chariot was drawn by horses "grisled and bay," denoting that mercy was mixed with all the desolating judgments of God. Sinai cannot thunder so loud as to drown the invitations of Calvary. The Lord utters the admonition, "The wages of sin is death," but exhaustless mercy responds, "Deliver him from going down to the pit for I have found a ransom."

Hide thee quick in the rock, Christ Jesus. Let not this insignificant "now" absorb thee more than the great hereafter. The path leading to this side of the grave is only a few furlongs, but the path which commences at the other side of it is without end. The powers of darkness gather about your soul and the temptations of an evil heart and the allurement of the world I know are trying to drown the voice of the preacher; but, taking hold of the silver trumpet of the Gospel which made Felix tremble, and at the Pentecost brought three thousand souls out of their sepulcher, I would blow one long, loud blast, crying, "Whosoever will, let him come."

Take this goodly religion which has done so much for me that I can commend it to all. Without it I should have gone the whole downward career. Stolid and phlegmatic natures going astray do not go so far, but natures like mine, sanguine, intense, emotional, optimistic, social to the last degree, and echoing to all the heights and depths of mirth, if they get off track, they go with one wild leap to hell. As to the restraining power of this religion upon a mercurial temperament, I testify. This is not abstraction or something gotten from books. I speak of what I know. Go out and ask all who have tried this religion and ask them how it works.

Three young men in the factory came out on the Lord's side, but two of them, overcome by the jeers of their comrades, went back and joined the scoffers. The one held on to his Christian hope, and one day when they pressed him hard, and were telling how much infidelity had done for the world, and that Christianity had done nothing, the persecuted Christian turned upon them, and pointing to Henry and George, who had for a little while followed Christ and then turned back, he said:

"You have tried your principles on them and know what they have done for them. When they tried to serve Christ they were civil, good tempered, kind husbands and fathers. They were cheerful, industrious, and ready to oblige. What have you made them? Look and see. They are cast down and cross; their mouths are full of cursing and filthiness; they are drunk every week; their children half clothed, their wives broken hearted, their home wretched. That is what your principles have done, Now I have tried Christ and his religion, and what has it done for me. You know well what I used to be. There was none of you that could drink so much, swear so desperately and fight so masterly. I had no money and nobody would trust me. My wife was ill used, I was ill humored, hateful and hated. What has religion done for me? Thank God I am not afraid to put it to you. Am I not a happier man than I was? Am I not a better workman and a kinder companion. Would I once have put up with what I now bear from you? I could beat any of you as easily now as ever. Why don't I? Do you ever hear a foul word from my mouth? Do you catch me at a public house? Has anybody a score against me? Go and ask my neighbors if I am not altered for the better. Go and ask my wife. Let my house bear witness. God be praised, here is what Christianity has done for me, there is what infidelity has done for Henry and George."

Come up and join those on the way to a palace. What an absurd thing for a king to be eating grass. Instead of living on the poor fodder that the world affords, come up and sit among the princes of God at the royal banquet and hear the bands play: "Eat, O friends! Drink, O beloved!" Here is a crown, wear it. Here is a scepter, sway it. Here is a throne, mount it. This is your hour, improve it.

Attempted Wholesale Jail Breaking.

MONTREAL, Feb. 13.—A desperate attempt was to have been made here last night by six prisoners to escape from jail. Thomas Litzenberg, for whom extradition papers are granted in Ottawa yesterday, was the ringleader. He is wanted in Chicago for jail breaking, shooting with intent to kill and burglary and has been in jail here for the past two weeks awaiting extradition. Another prisoner gave the plot away, and on searching the cells a knife which was to have been used on the guards was found.

THEY DANCED IN TRENTON.

A Happy Party Have a Pleasant Time at The Proctor.

Some forty young people drove to Trenton last night in two carry-alls supplied by H. W. Cronk. The party was composed of Messrs. Butler, Armstrong, R and S. Lazier, Gillen, S and H. Hulme, Jellett, Tewsmith, Cornish, Thrasher, Brophy, Thompson, Steveson, Macauly, Moore, Overell, Pope and Pepler; and Misses Bell, Hulme, the Misses Davy, Sibbett, Phippen, Clarke, Graham, the Misses Emerson, Hunter, Brintnell, Price, Appleby, Newberry, Orr. The party was chaperoned by Mrs W. W. Pope and Mrs. Pepler. The company drove to the Proctor House where supper was served after which dancing was indulged in when the party returned home.

How He Will do it.

SIR,—Distillery man, Corby, M.P., says we are informed that he is going "to flood candidate Aylsworth out." That is precisely the phrase for a brewery and distillery to use; and no doubt many christian temperance men, and many men that boast of their temperance principles, and even some guzzling grits will help the distillery man do his "flooding." It is currently reported that the same "grain spoiler" has said that he only "sprinkled" Prince Edward but he is bound to "flood East Hastings." Are such men and those they lift into power safe men for the country? Could a man elected by such influences be patriotic, trustworthy and free? What is the duty of intelligent voters and loyal subjects of the Queen in the matter.—A.

Some tobaccos spurt up in the pipes while smoking, with little crackling explosions. This is caused by the addition of foreign matter to assist the combustion. When the purity of the tobacco is not tampered with and it has been properly taken care of, this combustible foreign matter is wholly unnecessary. For in that case it burns at a lower temperature than almost anything else. Nothing of this kind is seen in smoking the "Myrtle Navy' It burns with steady combustion throughout

A HUSBAND'S MISSION.

J. Cohen Sees His Faithless Partner For the Last Time.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—The sensational episode of the day at the morgue yesterday was the appearance of J. Cohen of Toronto, Ont., who came to claim the body of his faithless wife. Mrs. Cohen was living with Louis Levi, a bookmaker, at the Hotel Royal, where they were registered under the assumed name of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis. Both met death in the fire. Mrs. Cohen jumped from a window and fractured her skull. Levi died from suffocation.

Mr. Cohen looked upon his wife's face with tears in his eyes, but kept silent. He passed to the pine box in which lay the body of the man who had destroyed his home and gazed at the features but a moment.

"I recognize him as Louis Levi," he said, and left the morgue.

Undertaker Finkelstone of No. 128 Second-avenue removed Mrs. Cohen's body for burial in Washington Cemetery, on Long Island.

Buried at Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Feb. 13.—The body of Louis Levy, the London man who was burned to death in the terrible fire at the Hotel Royal in New York on Sunday morning, was brought here for burial this morning. The funeral took place from Chapman's undertaking establishment this afternoon.

The Message a London Girl Left Before Suiciding.

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 13.—Sadie Renshaw, aged 16, an inmate of the Salvation Army Rescue Home, is believed to have committed suicide. Two months since she came to this city from near Collingwood, having with her a child seven months old, and the Army people sheltered the unfortunate girl. She continued despondent, however, and frequently threatened suicide. Tuesday Sadie left the Home, and from that hour a diligent search has failed to reveal her whereabouts. "You will never see me again," were the words she wrote upon a slip of paper which she left in her room directed to another inmate. She left all her clothes behind.

TO BRING BACK HIS ASHES.

Cremation For Fitzsimmons, the Brockville Murderer.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 13.—Charles H. Fitzsimmons, brother of the dead Pittsburg robber, arrived here late to-night from his home in Brockville, Canada. He drove at once to Chief Gaster's office and had a long interview with him. He was deeply affected by the story of his brother's misdeeds. He said he had seen very little of him for many years. He left home when 18 years old and returned in 1891 to receive his portion of the estate of his deceased father, and he went away with enough money to support him handsomely as long as he lived. He proposes to remain here for several days and will visit the haunts of his dead brother. In due time he will obtain a permit from the Board of Health for the removal of the body. He will send it to Cincinnati to be cremated and thence remove the ashes to Brockville for final interment.

SAVED BY A CONDUCTOR.

Attempted Murder on a Pullman Car on the Canadian Pacific.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 13.—A conductor named James Millican saved the life of Arthur G. Young, a Boston commercial traveler, on the westbound C.P.R. express, near Petitcodiac Station last night by striking down a loaded revolver that Patrick J. Rafferty of New York had just pointed at his head. The bullet passed through the floor of the car. Millican handcuffed Rafferty, and on the arrival of the train in St. John handed him over to the police. En route, Rafferty repeatedly said, "I'll have Young's life yet."

The prisoner told Chief Clarke that he was a New York stenographer, and had landed in Halifax from Europe last week. "On the voyage" he said, "hounds have been following me and suckers trying to play me, and this is one of them," pointing to Young. A Smith & Wesson revolver and a cruel looking bowie knife were taken from him. He has plenty of money, is rather tall, well built, and about 28 years old.

ABOUT SAMOA.

Amendments to the Berlin Treaty Desired.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Feb. 13.—Advice received here from Samoa state that a meeting of citizens has been held at Apia, at which a committee was appointed to suggest changes in the Berlin treaty of 1889. The Samoan Times declares the government cannot be carried on under the terms of the Berlin treaty. The paper advocates a simpler and more effective parliament under a foreign president, to be selected by the treaty powers—Germany, Great Britain and the United States.

VERY STRINGENT.

Chinamen Will Have a Hard Time Getting Into the U. S. Now.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The Chinese emigration bill agreed upon by the committee and reported to Congress is that introduced in the House by Mr. Stump, the chairman of the committee with some modifications. The provisions of Mr. Stump's bill have been published. Its provisions are very stringent, making it exceedingly difficult for a Chinese to get into the country and providing adequate and efficient means for his deportation if found here unlawfully. A prominent feature of the bill provides for the registration of all Chinese persons now in the country by the commissioner of internal revenue and requires them to obtain a certificate from him entitling them to remain here. Chairman Stump reported the bill to the House in the afternoon. In the report the committee refers to the urgent necessity for prompt legislation on the subject of Chinese emigration.

Cut in Two by a Locomotive.

WHEELING, W.Va., Feb. 13.—A terrible accident occurred at Cameron, near this city, last night, in which two beautiful young girls, daughters of William Criswell, a wealthy citizen, lost their lives, one of them while heroically attempting to save the other. Essie and Georgina Criswell, aged 14 and 16 respectively, were walking along the Baltimore and Ohio tracks, and while attempting to cross in front of a westbound train, Essie fell when the engine was almost upon her. Gorogina, seeing her sister's danger, and ignoring the fact that the attempt was almost certain death, rushed to her rescue. She, too, stumbled, and was struck by the locomotive and killed. Essie was cut in two by the wheels.

EAST ELGIN ELECTION

The Conservatives Retain the Seat By An Increased Majority.

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 13.—The election in East Elgin yesterday resulted in a signal triumph for the unseated Conservative candidate Andy Ingram, whose majority of 46 of last March was swelled to 494. His opponent yesterday was Dr. J. H. Wilson, whom he defeated in March last and in whose behalf Hon. Edward Blake wrote his pronunciamento a few days ago. East Elgin was carried by the Conservative party in 1878, when Thomas Arkell defeated the previous Liberal member, Colin Macdougall, Q. C. At the general elections of 1882 Dr. Wilson, who had sat in the Ontario Legislative Assembly for the same constituency from 1871 until 1879, defeated Mr. Arkell and was again elected at the general election of 1886 by a majority of 116 over the present Judge Ermatinger. In March last the Conservatives nominated Andrew Ingram, who had previously represented West Elgin in the Legislative Assembly, and he defeated Dr. Wilson by 46 of a majority, but was unseated.

Mr. Ingram is a railway employe and is the only man who ever secured a majority against Wilson in the city of St. Thomas, which is the pivot upon which the result turns. The majorities:

TRADE PROSPECTS.

Bradstreet's Weekly Review of the Business Situation in Canada.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—There is no improvement over last week as to the volume of staples moving from jobbers' to retailers' hands, special telegrams to Bradstreet's from most of the chief distributing centres agreeing that general trade on the whole is only fairly active, with a moderately satisfactory outlook for the near future.

The movement of staples is of moderate proportions in Ontario and Quebec, the feature in the former province being some activity in drygoods, with fair payments on mercantile accounts. A similar report comes from Quebec, where cotton goods mills are said to have done a fair business for the season.

Four cities in the Dominion report total clearings of $18,932,007, a gain of about 12 per cent. on the week.

There were 68 business failures in Canada this week against 34 last week and 38 in this week last year.

The Canadian Cattle Trade.

OTTAWA, Feb. 13.—The Deputy Minister of Agriculture said to-day in reference to the threatened closing of British ports to Canadian live stock that he had no official information upon the subject, and only knew what he had seen in the newspapers. He did not know of any basis for a renewal of the English attacks upon Canadian cattle exports, for nothing had arisen of late on this side of the Atlantic to give rise to any such crusade. The department here had no knowledge of the existence of any disease among Canadian cattle either in British Columbia or in any other province. In fact the cattle of the Dominion were so far as the department was aware in unusually healthy condition. It might be that the English speculators opposed to the importation of live cattle had taken advantage of the recent scheduling of Danish cattle in consequence of an outbreak of pleuro-pneumonia in King Christian's country to revive the agitation of last year, but he could not believe that it would have any effect upon the Canadian trade. There is no doubt in official circles that if any immediate danger to the Canadian live stock trade were threatened the Government would have received some notification.

Colored Men Organizing.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 13.—The colored people of this section have formed an association for mutual protection and filed articles for a stock company with a capital of $2,500,000, divided into 100,000 shares of $25 each. The leading colored men of Little Rock are at the head of the movement. The association will be national and will admit members from any other state. The object is to establish and operate business houses for the colored people, to be conducted by members of the race. W. H. Lee is president and R. B. Wine secretary of the association.

"German Syrup"

Asthma. "I have been a great sufferer from Asthma and severe Colds every Winter, and last Fall my friends as well as myself thought because of my feeble condition, and great distress from constant coughing, and inability to raise any of the accumulated matter from my lungs, that my time was close at hand. When nearly worn out for want of sleep and rest, a friend recommended me to try thy valuable medicine, Boschee's German Syrup. I am confident it saved my life. Almost the first dose gave me great relief and a gentle refreshing sleep, such as I had not had for weeks. My cough began immediately to loosen and pass away, and I found myself rapidly gaining in health and weight. I am pleased to inform thee—unsolicited—that I am in excellent health and do certainly attribute it to thy Boschee's German Syrup. C. B. STICKNEY, Picton, Ontario."

EDITORIAL NOTES

At Canifton on Wednesday night Mr. Corby stated that he "had sprinkled Ameliasburg, but he would flood East Hastings." That is just what we have all along said. There are but three things with which he could flood the riding—logic and eloquence, money or whiskey. Everybody knows that Mr. Corby is absolutely lacking in eloquence and equally lacking in argumentative skill. So it must have been either money or whiskey with which he did such wonders in Prince Edward and proposes to do so much in East Hastings.

Mr. Corby admits that the farmers at present are not fairly treated by the government, that they also should be protected, and he says he is in favor of a McKinley tariff on farm produce on this side of the borders also. Well, if he really so believes why does he not move in that direction? Why does he not draft a bill to give effect to this desired protection? His voice has never been heard in the House advocating such a measure. While there he looks after the interests of—Mr. Corby, M. P., by getting the capacity of his distillery doubled. His tender solicitude for farmers seems to begin and end at the election contests. Or can it be that his zeal surpasses his abilities, and that his intellectual capacities do not enable him to carry out the wishes of his heart? If he can't draft a bill, a resolution affirming his views would answer the purpose. Can it be that he cannot even write a resolution? Well, even this excuse will not answer. If he can't why doesn't he get his man Friday to do it.

THE BATTLE OF ____________(?)

One of the most remarkable and terrible ever fought. The army of the general whose previous successes had terrified Europe was posted along the ascent with Hougoumont, and the general himself had taken up his stand in a farm house called the "Belle Alliance." The opposing forces were extended over an elevation in the Charleroi Road about two miles from the little village in Belgium which gave its name to the battle. Each commander was thus able to command a view of the whole field. The first general with better equipped and better drilled troops and unable to see the reserve force of the other was over confident. The second commander, supported by the brave old Prussian marshal, divided his troops into two lines and awaited the beginning of the battle. It was between eleven and twelve o'clock on Sunday the 18th of June, 1815, that the actual engagement began. The action opened with a brisk cannonade on the house and wood of Hougoumont which were held by the troops of Nassau. The contest continued here all day with terrible fury, but without being able to expel the ....who, although the building had been set on fire, maintained their post amid the flames. Frightful slaughter and great loss ensued. Terrific and resolute attacks were made by the..............cavalry on the..............centre, and at six in the evening the allied army had lost ten thousand men. Their opponents had suffered still more severely losing fifteen thousand soldiers. Then the great general on seeing the ....sweep the old guards before them exclaimed:
"All is lost for the present," and rode from the field. The battle was over.

QUESTIONS:—1st. Name the battle referred to in above description 2nd. What two nations were principally interested? 3rd. Give names of two principal commanders. 4th. Did defeated commander ever regain his position? 5th. Where did he die?

WASHINGTON AFFAIRS.

RECIPROCITY AND BEHRING SEA COMMISSIONERS.

The Duty on Canadian Barley Will Be Reduced From Thirty to Ten Cents per Bushel in Response to the Demands of the Buffalo and Oswego Brewers.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—There is practical unanimity among the Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee in favor of the bill of Representative Fitch of New York reducing the duty on barley and hops and there is little doubt this measure will be favorably reported to the House.

At to-day's meeting of the Democratic members of the committee Representatives Lockwood and Fitch made an extended argument in favor of the bill and maintained that the malting interests of the country are being seriously impaired by the operations of the McKinley bill. These gentlemen contended that it was shown by figures and acknowledged by the interests affected throughout the country that the present duty is so excessive that it practically prohibits the importation of Canadian barley into this country. Instead of the 12,000,000 bushels that was imported prior to the passage of the McKinley bill there has been imported during the past year less than 3,000,000 bushels. The bill, they say, had worked the destruction of the malting interests all over the state of New York and throughout the country generally.

The same kind of malt, it was said, cannot be made out of American barley as can be made out of Canadian barley, the former being of an inferior quality. The Canadian barley when brought to this country was mixed with the best grades of American barley and thus created a greater demand for American barley than has been found to exist since the importation of Canadian barley has been stopped. The price of American barley, the speaker stated, instead of advancing, as prophesied by the advocates of the McKinley Bill, has constantly gone down since that law went into effect.

The price of Canadian barley, on the other hand, has remained substantially the same.

These gentlemen also contended that there are no interests in the country that would be adversely affected by the placing the duty the same as it stood before the passage of the McKinley law. The interests affected now are important and various, for according to the argument of the New York Congressmen the present duty affects not only the importers of barley, but also the maltsters and brewers. It also tends to produce an inferior quality of beer and further affects the elevator and transportation interests of the country adversely instead of beneficially.

So far as the Democratic members are concerned there appeared no opposition to Mr. Fitch's bill, and the New York congressmen hope to have it reported favorably at an early day.

The bill introduced by Mr. Fitch amends the McKinley law so as to make the duty on barley 10 cents per bushel of 48 pounds, on barley malt 20 cents per bushel of 34 pounds and on hops 8 cents per pound.

The Behring Sea joint commission has adjourned until to-morrow, when it is expected that the reports prepared by the representatives of Great Britain and the United States will be submitted for consideration.

It is expected that Lord Salisbury will act on the arbitration treaty next week and that the matter will then be submitted to the senate without delay. It is thought the modus vivendi of last year will be renewed in time to anticipate the departure of the sealing fleet. The arbitrators will not be appointed until the treaty shall have been ratified. Hon. E. J. Phelps, ex-minister to England, has been selected as leading counsel for the United States before the proposed tribunal. He will have two or three assistants.

The Canadian reciprocity commissioners had another conference with Secretary Blaine and Gen. Foster to-day. Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British minister, attended to-day's conference.

Acting Secretary Spalding has issued a circular to customs officers calling for a more stringent enforcement of the McKinley Tariff Act in the marking of imported merchandise.

The Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee held another conference to-day on the Springer Wool bill, but it ended without an agreement being reached.

The Senate Committee on Agriculture to-day agreed to report a bill authorizing the committee to make a general investigation of the present condition of agriculture in the United States, the present prices of agricultural products and if there be any of which the prices are depressed, the causes of such depression and the remedies therefor.

Sensational rumors are current to the effect that the Greek steamer Embiricos, which was recently wrecked off the Scilly Islands, foundered during a mutiny of the crew. The statements of the survivors are conflicting, but it is evident that the Greeks, forming a majority of the saved, used violence to prevent the access of others to the boats. An investigation will take place.

Her Husband's Sympathy Throughout—Mrs. Hargreaves' Forgiveness.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—Mrs. Florence Ethel Osborne was yesterday brought from Holloway jail to the Bow-street Police Court, where she was arraigned before Magistrate Sir John Bridge to answer the charge of perjury made against her in connection with the libel suit she brought against Mrs. Hargreave, who had charged her with the theft of a quantity of valuable jewelry. The court room was packed with friends of the Osbornes and Hargreaves and others. Mrs. Osborne was attended by her husband. She was dressed in black, and when she was placed in the prisoners' dock she wept bitterly, bowing her head in her hands.

Capt. Osborne stood beside his wife outside the dock and held one of her hands in his own, and strived to infuse her with courage to face the ordeal before her. C. F. Gill appeared for the Treasury to prosecute the charge. He produced the formal evidence of perjury as shown by the records of the higher court and then called as a witness Mrs. Hargreaves.

Mrs. Hargreaves repeated the evidence she had given in the trial of the libel suit. She stated that the jewelry had been restored to her and that all the costs incurred by her in defending the libel suit had been paid back to her.

The witness was then asked if she had seen Mrs. Osborne since the latter had returned to England and given herself up to the police. With every evidence of deep emotion Mrs. Hargreaves said she had visited her at the jail yesterday.

Mr. Spink, the jeweler, was called to give evidence regarding the purchase of the jewels. He identified Mrs. Osborne as the lady from whom he had bought the jewelry.

After further evidence had been taken the magistrate asked Mrs. Osborne if she had anything to say concerning the charges against her. She answered "no" The prisoner was then committed for trial.

Terrible Tales From Russia.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—A despatch from Penza, capital of the government of that name, in the southwestern part of what is known as Great Russia, is published in The Chronicle yesterday. The despatch says the thermometer registered 58 degrees below zero, and that there is terrible suffering among the peasants. A number of men have been frozen to death on the high roads, and so intensely cold is it that birds drop dead from the trees in which they have sought shelter. The peasants have smallpox and diphtheria. Around Penza 200 peasants have died from these diseases.

If you have a cough or cold do not neglect it; many without a trace of that hereditar disease have drifted into a consumptiv grave by neglecting what was only a sligh cold. Had the used Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup before it was too late their lives would have been spared. Mr. A. W. Levy Mitchell, writes. "I think Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation on the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught a severe cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cought. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of Consumption, and had given up hodes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickel's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieaed, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured. I always recomend it for severe colds and consumption."

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—trifling indiscre tion in diet may lay t foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, an there is no fact in medical science mor positively ascertained or more authoritat ively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. The original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No detelerious mineral ingred ueht is contained in it, and thoughits action is thorough in cases of costivenes it never produces griping pains in th abdominal region, or weakens the bowel like a violent purgative. It invigorate the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney diseases scrofulous and all disеases of the blood, femole weakness, &c., &c. Keep the Works in good order.

NORMAN, Ont., January 1...
W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.
DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Ind... Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first, only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.
Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

DELEGATES IN BLUE

R. T. of T. Convene in the Bay City.

TUES. AND WED. NEXT

Let The Visitors be Cordially Welcomed to The Picturesque City of The Bay—Biography of The Leading Men in The Temperance Ranks—The Local Council Making Active Preparations For Their Reception.

The Grand Council of the Royal Templars of Temperance will hold their annual convention in the Oddfellows Hall, Belleville, on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. Elaborate arrangements are being made by the local Council for the reception of the delegates who will be present from all over Ontario. It is confidenty expected that this convention will be the most largely represented of any prev'ous gathering of temperance workers in Ontario. Most of the delegates will arrive in the city Monday night and will be billeted at the homes of their co-laborers. These Temperance people are a happy enthusiastic lot of workers and when you meet the white and scarlet uniform on the street, you can take off your hat. Let the citizens of Belleville accord these delegates such a welcome that they may go away with a green spot in their memory of the Bay city and the kind and generous hospitality of its people. Belleville is a picturesque city and affords such advantages, as are not afforded by any other city in Ontario for holding just such conventions as will be held here next week.

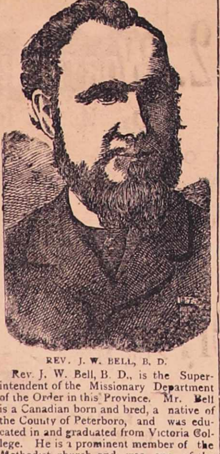
The ONTARIO has been to some trouble and expense in securing the cuts and biographies of the leading men who will take a prominent part in the convention here next week, and herewith presents them to its readers.

The principal aim of the Royal Templars of Temperance is to produce the most thorough co-operation among temperance reformers, that the sentiment, influence, and effort of the reform may achieve the greatest and speediest success The platform of the society is simple and broad, but at the same time the systematic arrangement of departments develops and utilizes the most advanced and progressive material. It possesses every advantage for carrying on temperance education, agitation and reform, while its large adult membership and important benefit funds give influence and stability not enjoyed by other organizations. Although independent in legislation and finances in Canada, the Order is fraternally one with the great order of the same name in the United States, using the same ceremonies and peculiar work, with an open door and familiar welcome for a Royal Templar in every part of the globe. In October 1878 the first Council was instituted in Cadada, but notwithstanding the conservative and thorough character of the organization, so strongly has it recommended itself to the advanced temperance people of the Dominion, that its membership now reaches over 16,000 in Ontario alone, with Grand Councils working in Manitoba, Quebec and Maratime Provinces, and a large membership in British Columbia, Northwest Territories and Newfoundland. The Order is representative in its government. There are three principal grades or bodies, viz: The Select or local Council, the Grand Council and the Dominion Council.

The Royal Degree is that department of Royal Templar work which is devoted particularly to temperance reform. The Select Council includes two Degrees, the Royal and Select. It is always instituted in the Royal Degree, and carries on its temperance work under the ceremonies of that Degree. It is the foundation Degree of the order upon which the others are built, and every member must maintain good standing in the Royal Degree.

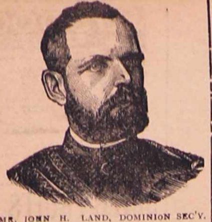
The death benefit work of the order is conducted in and through the Select Degree which now covers nearly $5,000,000 protection on members in Canada. The monthly payment taken from each member of this Degree, makes up the exact amount which experience has proved necessary to pay the expected deaths, but the actual death rate has been so much below the expectancy that there is now a large surplus in the benefit fund. To obtain membership in the degree, any Royal Templar may apply for a death benefit certificate for $500, or $1,000 or $2,000, pay the entrance fee, and pass a careful medical examination. If approved a certificate will be issued by the Dominion Council, and the member may then receive the degree.

The Knight degree is the third Degree of the Order and is conservative in character, only receiving into full membership those who have successfully and creditably passed the royal and Select Degrees.



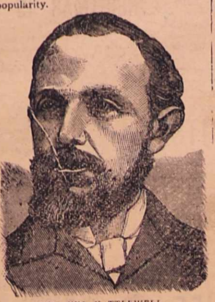
REV. J. W. BELL, B. D.

Rev. J. W. Bell, B. D., is the Superintendent of the Missionary Department of the Order in this Province. Mr. Bell is a Canadian born and bred, a native of the County of Peterboro, and was educated in and graduated from Victoria College. He is a prominent member of the Methodist church and was one of the first pastors of Zion Methodist church, Winnipeg, and spent a number of years in the North West. He was a prominent officer and a vigorous temperance speaker in the days of the old British Templars, and had a wide reputation both in Ontario and Quebec. He retained his connection with this organization until its amalgamated with the Royal Templars when the latter body was introduced into Manitoba. He succeeded W. W. Buchanan as Grand Councillor of the Manitoba Grand Council, and in 1889 was induced to give his whole time to the work and to take the superintendency of the Ontario Missionary department. He is a very able platform speaker, and although a man of culture is markedly plain in his manner and speech. His earnestness and enthusiasm gives him a peculiar power with an audience.



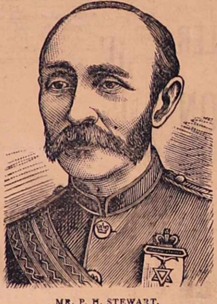
MR. JOHN H. LAND, DOMINION SEC'Y.

J. H. Land has been the Dominion Secretary of the Order since its institution in Canada and hence his name is one of the best known amongst the leading officers of the Order. He is not an old time temperance worker, but took his first step in this line of work when he united with the Royal Templars in the city of Hamilton. He is the scion of an aristocratic U. E. Loyalist family, a son of Col. Land of Hamilton, and a grandson of an army officer who settled on the shores of Burlington Bay before Hamilton was dreamed of. A large portion of the city now covers the Land homestead. In connection with the Order Mr. Land has proved himself to be an excellent and efficient officer, and the fact that he has been retained in such an important position year after year in itself speaks for his popularity.



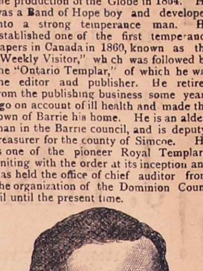
REV. WM KETTLEWELL.

Rev. Wm. Kettlewell is an able speaker, a noted temperance advocate and one of the most popular men of the Order of Royal Templars. At the foundation of the Grand Council of Ontario he was elected Grand Chaplain, and when the Dominion Council for Canada was organized he was called to the chair and made the first presiding officer of the Order for Canada. He is an Englishman by birth but made Canada his home in early manhood, entering at once into full sympathy with the free institutions and national spirit of his adopted country. He received a firstclass mercantile training in the old land and to-day is noted no less for his business sagacity than for his platform ability as a temperance worker. He entered the ministry of the Methodist Church in 1872, and is looked upon as one of the foremost preachers of that denomination. He takes a very advanced position as a political prohibitionist, and boldly demands a thorough and complete political organization of prohibitionists.



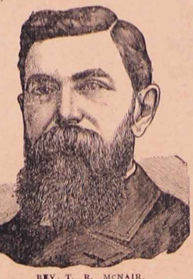
MR. P. H. STEWART.

Mr. P. H. Stewart is the auditor for both the Grand Council of Ontario and the Dominion Council of Canada. It would not arouse the slightest suspicion of envy to write him down as the most popular and amiable man amongst the Royal Templar leaders. He is an Irishman by birth and comes honestly by his witty and smooth tongue. He is really a Canadian, however, for he landed in this country when a mere lad and was educated in the city of Toronto, where he learned the "Art Preservative" and was promoted to the editorial sanctum. He was one of the first printers of the Toronto Globe, and was associated with George Tye, of Brantford, and Mr. C. W. Bunting, the present manager of the Toronto Mail, in the production of the Globe in 1854. He was a Band of Hope boy and developed into a strong temperance man. He established one of the first temperance papers in Canada in 1860, known as the "Weekly Visitor," which was followed by the "Ontario Templar," of which he was the editor and publisher. He retired from the publishing business some years ago on account of ill health and made the town of Barrie his home. He is an alderman in the Barrie council, and is deputy-treasurer for the county of Simcoe. He is one of the pioneer Royal Templars, uniting with the order at its inception and has held the office of chief auditor from the organization of the Dominion Council until the present time.



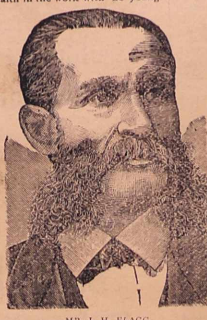
C. V. EMORY, M. D.

C. V. Emory, M. D., of Hamilton, has completed his fourth year as Secretary of the Ontario Grand Council, and he has proved a painstaking, prompt and thoroughly efficient officer. Like nearly every one of the Royal Templars he is Canadian born and bred and has been a temperance man from his youth up. He does not pose as a public speaker but he is a good debator and does not show to any disadvantage on the platform. He is a master of detail and is appreciated as a very shrewd officer.



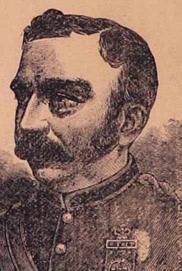
REV. T. R. MCNAIR.

Rev. T. R. McNair preceded the present Grand Councillor as presiding officer for Ontario and served two years in that capacity. Under his leadership the Order made magnificent progress in this Province. He is an eloquent and inspiring speaker thoroughly imbued with the genius of Royal Templarism and is an earnest advocate of its principles and aims. He takes particular interest in the Cadet department of the Order and has great faith in the work with the young.



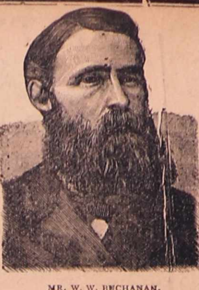
MR. J. H. FLAGG.

Mr J. H. Flagg, Royal Templars delight to style their "Old Flagg" and their "Old Leader." He is a veteran in Temperance work and is to-day the presiding officer of the Grand Council of Ontario. He was born in the county of Dundas, Ont., something over sixty years ago, but he would readily pass for forty-five, possessing as he does, so much physical vigor and elasticity of step. He commenced his temperance career at 19 years of age when he joined the Sons of Temperance. Subsequently he became connected with the I. O. G. T. and rose to the highest position in the gift of the Order in this country. Immediately upon the introduction of Royal Templarism he recognized its merit and united with the Order, and from that day to this he has been present at every Grand Council meeting of Ontario and every meeting of the Dominion Grand Council of Canada, recognized as one of the teachers, and one of the solid men of the Institution. In 1885 he was elected to the chair for the Grand Council of Ontario, and in '86 was re-elected to the same office. He has been a member of the Dominion Board of Directors ever since its formation, and has occupied the Vice chair of the Dominion Council. He is a prominent politician, identified with the Liberal party, but is now such an advanced prohibitionist that he is looked upon as an independent. He is an able debater, keen of perception, and clear in logic, but is not possessed of extraordinary oratorical ability. He is a fair stamp of an able business man and he makes a first-class presiding officer.



MR. A. M. FEATHERSTON.

It is the boast of Royal Templars that among their leaders can be found a larger number of level headed and successful business men than in any other similar institution, and there is certainly some force in the claim. The presiding officer of the Dominion council for the present year is Mr. A. M. Featherston, one of the leading merchants of Montreal, a gentleman who make no pretensions to being a public speaker, but who, nevertheless, acquits himself very creditably upon the platform. He is a Canadian, a native of the Eastern townships. He is also one of the self made man of Canada who entering into business in a small way in the city of Montreal, has although yet a young man, attained to the front rank amongst the enterprising merchants of the Metropolitan city. From boyhood he has been associated with organized temperance effort, but never took kindly to the work of an order until the Royal Templar organization was presented to him. He went into the first council that was instituted in Montreal and immediately became an enthusiast in the work of the order. To his vigor and devotion is due very largely the rapid increase in the organization in the Province of Quebec, where it now stands both with regard to numbers and influence far ahead of the other temperance organizations. He was the first presiding officer of the Grand Council of Quebec and last year was re-elected to his third term as Dominion Councillor of Canada. He has been a very active alliance man both in the Quebec branch and in the Dominion council and in Montreal is looked upon as the leading prohibitionist of the city. He is expected to attend the Grand Council here as a visitor and will receive a very warm welcome from the Ontario delegates.



MR. W. W. BUCHANAN.

W. W. Buchanan is one of the bes known temperance workers in the Dominion. He associated himself with th Royal Templars upon their introductio in this country, and was one of the lead ers in establishing independent jurisdic tion for Canada and in organizing th Dominion Council. He has been at th head of the extensive publishing interest of the Order ever since th organization of the Dominion Counc and also occupies the position of Genera Manager of the Order. He is a man o distinguished talent, and though comparatively young, his name is identified with some of the most important enterprise that have engaged the attention of th people of this country. His name is wel known in journalistic circles. He wield the editorial pen in a most felicitous an charming manner, and under his touc what would otherwise be a dry and unin teresting subject glows and sparkles t captivate the eye of the reader. As speaker his chaste language, clear artic ulation, forcible arugment and charmin illustration never fail to rivet the attentio of his audience. No more fiting eu'og can be paid Mr. Buchanan than quotin the following from the Victoria (B. C. Colonst:—"The gentleman has a digni fied bearing on the platform, is possesse of a clear orotund voice, has an excellen delivery, is a good logical reasoner, and fluent speaker. It was one of the mos forcible temperance lectures ever delivered in this city. His remarks were aptly illustrated with most amusing and pointed ancedotes, and those who failed to hear him missed one of the most enjoyable evenings ever passed in the Temperance Hall.

BAD ECZEMA ON BABY

Our little boy broke out on his head with a bad form of eczema, when he was four months old. We tried three doctors, but they did not help him. We then used your three CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using them eleven weeks exactly according to directions, he began to steadily improve, and after the use of them for seven months his head was entirely well. When we began using it his head was a solid sore from the crown to his eyebrows. It was also all over his ears, most of his face, and small places on different parts of his body. There were sixteen weeks that we had to keep his hands tied to the cradle and hold them when he was taken up; and had to keep mittens tied on his hands to keep his finger-nails out of the sores, as he would scratch if he could in any way get his hands loose. We know your CUTICURA REMEDIES cured him. We feel safe in recommending them to others.

DOWN IN AN AMBER MINE

A PECULIAR ACCIDENT REPORTED FROM EAST PRUSSIA.

High Baltic Seas Sweep far Inland Past Their Usual Bounds and, Pouring Down the Mouth of the Mine, Drown the Occupants Like Rats in a Trap.

BERLIN, Feb. 15.—A despatch from Koenigsberg, East Prussia, reports a peculiar and fatal accident that has occurred near that place. The Government of Koenigsberg is bounded on the north by the Baltic and along the shores of this sea is obtained a large proportion of the World's supply of amber. This substance is there partly cast up by the sea, partly obtained by means of nets and partly dug out of a bed of bituminous wood. Last night an exceedingly heavy sea was running in the Baltic and the high waves swept far inland past their usual bounds, close to the shore. Near Palinenicken, a small fishing town, is an amber mine, in which a number of men were working. They had no knowledge of the fact that the rising tide was bringing heavy seas in dangerous proximity to the entrance to the mine; in fact such a dangerous condition of affairs was never dreamed of. Suddenly the water began to pour into the mine in a perfect torrent and began to fill the small workings. The men made a wild rush to escape, but six of them found it impossible to breast the storm in which they were engulfed and they were drowned.

M'GREEVY TALKS.

He Says He Was Not The Globe's Informant.

MONTREAL, Feb. 15.—Mr. Thomas McGreevy, who was in town yesterday, stated that it was untrue that he had met Mr. Farrer of The Globe at Quebec, or that he had given him the information contained in the article recently published by the Liberal organ.

"I do not know Mr. Farrer and I never met him in my life," Mr. McGreevy said. "As to my being in Quebec on the 4th, I was in Montreal on that date and did not arrive in Quebec until the 6th. I not only did not see Mr. Farrer, but I gave him no information or receipts. Those receipts referred to had been out of my hands for some weeks, as during the Parliamentary investigation my counsel had possession of them."

Two Liberals Elected.

HALIFAX, Feb. 15.—The elections Saturday in Digby and King's resulted in the re-election of the two Liberal candidates. F. W. Borden (Liberal) defeated Mr. Jones by a majority of 50 in King's and E. C. Bowers (Liberal) defeated Bill in Digby by 52 majority.

The vacancy in Digby was caused by the unseating of E. C. Bowers, who defeated Herbert L. Jones in March by 73 votes. The election in King's was caused by the unseating of Dr. Borden (Liberal), whose majority in March was 161.

Blake's Duty.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 15.—The Telegraph editorially points to Edward Blake his path of duty. It says: "There is no question that the general feeling of the Liberal party is that Mr. Blake has spoken against the Liberal policy when he might have conscientiously remained silent, but there is a stronger conviction that he has remained silent when he ought to have spoken in tones of thunder against the corrupt and scandalous malversions of the Tory Government. If Mr. Blake possesses the secret of a policy other than that of the Liberal party we submit that it is his duty to speak out and to speak now; if he knows of no policy, if he has no inward light and leading which may help to save the country from the evil which he says have grown up under its present rulers and which he deplores, then he should not be a marplot within the ranks of the party of which he has been the leader."

Montcalm Election.

OTTAWA, Feb. 15.—Writs were issued yesterday for the holding of a bye-election to fill the vacancy in Montcalm, Que., caused by the unseating of Mr. Dugas, the Conservative member. At the general election in March last the constituency was contested by three Conservatives, and it is not thought likely the Liberals will put a man in the field this time either. Nominations in Montcalm take place on Wednesday, the 24th instant, and polling on Wednesday, the 2nd March.

Two More Petitions Dismissed.

Sara Bernhardt recently offered to create the principal role in a new poetical drama that has been accepted at the Theatre Francaise in Paris, if she is specially engaged for that purpose. M. Claretie, the manager of the Comedie Francaise, replied that it would be impossible for him to accept her offer unless she joins the Comedie Francaise for a definite period.

Mr. Gladstone is still on the Riviera, in obedience to peremptory orders from Sir Andrew Clark. He divides his time between 6-mile walks over the hills and researches into the personal history of the young lady whom he first introduced to the pious English public, Marie Bashkirtseff. Marie's mother has been imparting to her English admirer many interesting particulars of her life. These, it is understood, will presently be given to the world in The Nineteenth Century.

THE CLERGY TAKE A HAND

Important Utterances by Montreal Priests Regarding the Elections.

MONTREAL, Feb. 15.—The only development in the slate political during the past week took place yesterday, when in all the English and French Catholic churches throughout the city a mandement was read signed by all bishops of the province, denouncing political corruption and threatening excommunication against all who either gave or accepted bribes, whether in the shape of money or liquor. All persons are forbidden, under pain of anathema, from buying or selling liquor, not only on election day, but for three days before and after the contest. As the great majority of the liquor men in Montreal are Catholics, this means a practical closing of the saloons for a week.

The fulmination is looked upon on all sides as the heaviest blow Mercier has yet received. It means practically a pure election, a strange thing in Quebec, and that means victory for the Conservatives. The Conservatives will begin active warfare tomorrow, when all their committee-rooms will be thrown open until midnight until the elections are over.

Mayor McShane is straining every nerve to win in Montreal Centre on the Mercier ticket. Ald. P. Kennedy, also a Roman Catholic, is his opponent and has the Irish priests with him.

TO AWE THE KHEDIVE.

England and Her Allies to Go France and Russia Several Better.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—There is something portentious in the simultaneous assembling in the Levant of the fleets of the great powers since it became known that the French and Russian squadrons in the Mediterranean are going to Alexandria. Orders have been sent to the Austrian Admiral Rohrschedit, now at Symnra, to sail with his fine warship for the Pirus, where his squadron will be joined by two Italian ironclads and a division of the German squadron. Within a fortnight the united squadrons of the Dreibund will be within operating distance of the English fleet at Alexandria. If France's design is to impress the Khedive by a naval demonstration, England and her allies are ready to make a more impressive demonstration.

PARIS, Feb. 15.—The rise in the price of beef and mutton caused by the new tariff has led to an enormous demand for horseflesh in Paris. Fillet of horse or donkey, 10 pence per pound.

How Mercier Writes His Speeches.

MONTREAL, Feb. 15.—It turns out that the speech delivered by Mercier at the Catholic Congress at Baltimore was written by Mr. F. A. Quinn, formerly of Montreal. The speech was delivered on time and was published in full by the press as a splendid oratorical effort by the Hon. Mr. Mercier. These were published in pamphlet form and distributed broadcast throughout the province (probably at the expense of the public) and made excellent campaign literature.

DEATH AT A CONVENTION

SENSATIONAL INCIDENT AT A TORONTO ASSEMBLY.

Canon Davidson of Colborne Leads the Exercises Up to Noon—An Hour Later He Dies in a Doctor's Office—A Son's Heroism—General Canadian News.

TORONTO, Feb. 15.—A painful event, the memory of which will linger long in many hearts, occurred during the convention of the St. Andrew's Brotherhood on Saturday. The session was opened with prayer conducted by Rev. Canon Davidson of Colborne. The rev. gentleman was present during the morning session, taking a keen interest in the proceedings throughout. In the course of the morning he complained of indigestion, and shortly after noon felt so ill that he determined to consult a doctor. He accordingly left the schoolhouse and was driven by a friend, Mr. Lamb, to the office of Dr. Cameron, in Sherbourne-street. The doctor was, however, unable to relieve his sufferings and he expired about 1.30 in the doctor's office.

Rev. J. C. Davidson, rector of Peterborough, son of the deceased, was chairman of the convention in the afternoon, and Mr. N. Ferron Davidson of Toronto, president of the brotherhood, was the opening speaker. While the Rev. Mr. Davidson was presiding and guiding the meeting with an energy and tact seldom seen, a note conveying the sad news was handed to him. Stricken as he was by the information yet he kept on with his duties, and when the conference was over gave his summary of the work done, and then in broken accents announced the sad news to his astonished hearers. He was upborne in his sorrow, he said, by the knowledge that it was a passage from an earthly life to a heavenly one, an event tending not so much to sorrow as to inspiration, dying as he had in the very act of service. Then Mr. Davidson hastily left the room, leaving the brotherhood struck equally with sorrow for the loss sustained and admiration for the heroism of the son.

The following are the council for next year: F. Dumoulin, N. F. Davidson, R. E. Hicks, C. Heath, jr., R. Parker, S. Waugh, Toronto; S. Woodruff, Woodstock; T. A. D. Bliss, Ottawa; A. Fred Bishop, Montreal; R. V. Rodgers, Kingston; W. F. Cockshutt, Brantford; E. Baynes Reed, Winnipeg; — Fenn, Halifax; R. B. Southwell, Hamilton; W. H. Baker, Stratford.

The officials for the ensuing year are: President, N. Ferrar Davidson, Toronto; 1st vice-president, R. V. Rodgers, Kingston; 2nd vice-president, R. B. Southwell, Hamilton; treasurer, C. Heath, Toronto.

MANITOBA LANDS.

Profitable Nature of the Sales of Public Land Recently Held.

OTTAWA, Feb. 15.—In all 15,028 acres were disposed of at auction during the recent series of sales of Government lands in Manitoba, realizing the sum of $421,486, or an average price of $7.95 per acre. This was, therefore, the most profitable sale of school lands ever held in the province, as in the sale of 1888, when 20,000 acres were disposed of, the average price obtained was a little under $7 per acre. In many instances this year's school lands brought as high as $10 per acre, while none were sold at less than the upset price of $5 per acre, which was fixed by the experts who valued the lands before they were advertised for sale. The highest average was $9.32 per acre, realized by the Glenboro sale. In all cases the lands were sold to actual settlers for purposes of cultivation.

GOVERNMENT TELEGRAPH.

A Motion to This End Will Be Introduced in Parliament.

OTTAWA, Feb. 15.—F. N. Gisbourne, superintendent of Government telegraph lines, states that it is probable a motion will be made next session for the Government to acquire the telegraph lines and operate them in connection with the postal service as in England. He has prepared an elaborate report on the subject, which will be presented. He claims that a large amount of interest can be made on the first cost, and that the amount of matter telegraphed would be materially increased.

Farewell! Oh, Cigarette.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The Ways and Means Committee of the House will be petitioned to prepare a bill invoking the paternal condemnation of the Government upon the cigaret habit. Representatives Cochrane, Cummings and Staplnecker of New York all have in their possession bills which they have been petitioned to introduce providing for the suppression of cigaret manufacture by imposing an internal revenue tax of $10 per 1000 on all imported or domestic cigarets sold in this county.

Accompanying the memorial is a statement which says, "clippings taken from papers throughout the United States show that during the past year there have been about 100 deaths of young men, mostly under 16 years of age, from the effects of smoking paper-wrapped cigarets. In some cases there has been an analysis of the stomach and in most instances has been found phosphorous and arsenic which is largely used in the manufacture of cigaret paper. About 100 men have also been consigned to insane asylums from the same cause.

Lost With Her Crew of 38 Men.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The identity of the ship seen burning on Jan. 16 about 1200 miles southwest of Cape Clear, Ireland, or nearly in mid-ocean, has been established. She was the Nova Scotian clipper Loodiana, which left this port with a large cargo of refined petroleum in cases Dec. 31. She was commanded by Capt. Boyd and carried a crew of 38 men. She is the only oil ship overdue at a European port and there is no doubt she was the vessel that the steamship Egyptian Monarch passed Jan. 16.

A Pastoral from Pope Leo of Interest to Roman Catholics.

OTTAWA, Feb. 15.—In all the Catholic churches of Ottawa archdiocese a pastoral was read yesterday announcing that Pope Leo, owing to the prevalence of grip, had decided to countermand Lenten regulations and also to permit the faithful to partake of flesh meat on Fridays until further notice.

A Newsboy's Shocking Discovery.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Feb. 15.—The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Mallow were found in the kitchen at their home in Van-street last evening by a newsboy. Malloy had sent two bullets through his wife's head and then killed himself. The husband and wife were both over 70 years of age, but Malloy was insanely jealous of his wife and had frequently threatened to kill her.

Death for Theft.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 15.—Last Monday night at Remulus, Tuscaloosa County, two negroes broke open D. S. Robertson's store, robbed and burned it to the ground. They were arrested, tried and committed to jail. On their way to Tuscaloosa a body of masked men took the negroes from the guards and strung them up to the nearest tree.

The Rev. Dr. Donald Frazier, the distinguished Presbyterian divine, died in London Saturday, aged 66 years. He was born at Inverness, educated at the University of Aberdeen, and studied for the ministry at Knox College, Toronto, and New Edinburgh.

WILL SHORTLY BE BUILT.

That Electric Road From Queenston to the Falls and Fort Erie.

NIAGARA FALLS, Feb. 15.—Considerable interest has been manifested here regarding the proposed electric railway to be built along the Canadian bank of the Niagara River under the name of the Niagara Falls & River Railway Company, from Queenston through Victoria Park to Chippewa. The survey has been made, the line located and a large amount of rails, ties and material is already on the ground. Yesterday James Ross went over the entire proposed line. Mr. Ross was chief engineer of the Mountain division of the Canadian Pacific and made himself famous by the construction of that line through the Rocky Mountains in 1883 and 1884. Messrs. Kingsmill and Hammond of Toronto and Mr. Hendrie of Hamilton, together with Engineer Jennings, also went over the proposed electric line. The party departed via the New York Central and Grand Trunk for Toronto.

THE END IS NOT YET.

The Dominion Commissioners Still Conferring at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The Canadian Reciprocity Commissioners, accompanied by Secretaries Blaine and Elkins and Sir Julian Pauncefote, called at the White House Saturday and were formally presented to the President. They met at Secretary Blaine's house at 11 o'clock, and their call lasted about half an hour. The visit was merely for the purpose of paying respects, and there was no discussion of the essential question under consideration.

At the close of yesterday's meeting at the State Department, it was decided to hold the next session on Monday, when the negotiations will be continued. There is no means of ascertaining at present how much longer the conference will be continued.

It is rumored that the adjournment until Monday was taken in order that the cables might be utilized towards obtaining from the Government at London some official expression giving the present negotiations the color of authority. At all events, it would appear from that adjournment that the proceedings are not quite closed as yet.

Another Gold Cure Victim.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 15.—The death of young Fair is attributed by his doctors directly to the bi-chloride of gold treatment. "Jimmy" Fair was among the first to try it. He declared it had effected a cure but his friends doubted his assertions. The doctors say strychnine, which enters largely into the bi-chloride treatment, affected his heart. Several similar cases have occurred here. The dead boy's father is the wealthiest man in San Francisco, being probably worth $20,000,000.

Leaped to His Death.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 15.—Meredith Stanley, the bridge-jumper, made what in all probability will prove a fatal leap yesterday from the Cincinnati and Cokington bridge, a distance of over 100 feet, into the Ohio River. Only a few weeks ago Stanley and his wife made a successful double leap from the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway bridge. Since then they have been on exhibition at a dime museum in this city.

THE DAILY ONTARIO

BELLEVILLE, FEBRUARY 15, 1892

EDITORIAL NOTES

Last year Canada's trade with Great Britain decreased $500,000 while with the United States it increased over $2,000,000 in spite of the increased tariff duties. These figures are all the more striking in view of the persistent and in some cases strenuous efforts to extend our trade with Britain. This shows where the great market is.

Last week there were 68 business failures in Canada against 28 the corresponding week of last year. All the eloquence of Tory orators and editors to prove that the country is prosperous does not count for much in the face of a few such facts as those. Such a record, in view of the unusually good crops of last year, proves how disastrous is a trade policy that shuts us out of our best market, or that gives us access to it only by submitting to a toll of twenty-five to fifty per cent.

Over Mr. Northrup's committee room 90 Front St, is the suggestive sign "Bargain house." It describes the place exactly. There such of the electors of East Hastings as are so minded can dispose of their manhood and citizenhood for a good figure. There is $10,000 to be so used if necessary, and if that is not sufficient no doubt more will be forthcoming. The Tories are not going to be beaten for the sake of a few paltry thousand dollars, especially as the money does not come out of their own pockets, but is filched from the public treasury, or squeezed out of the contractors.

Next Tuesday and Wednesday the Grand Council of the Royal Templars of Temperance will meet in Belleville. This is probably the most agressive tempernnce order in Canada to day, and combines not only a total abstinence degree, but also a beneficiary degree, and a knight degree for the special purpose of waging uncompromising warfare against the liquor traffic. To this important gathering the citizens of Belleville should extend their warmest hospitality. Belleville is the prettiest city in Ontario, it is beautifully situated and combines all the necessary advantages to make it a popular resort for such conventions as these. If to these natural advantages be added the generous hospitality of the citizens, no doubt our city will be honored with even more of such gatherings in the future than in the past.

"If a fellow took physic he knew it, you bet;
It would cramp him all up in a collicky way,
And, good Lord, what a twisting his insides would get!
But the pills in use now-days by sensible folks
Are as easy to take and as pleasant as jokes."

Of course, the kind referred to by Mr. Gray was Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the very best Liver Pill ever made—mild but sure and effective. The only pills, sold by druggists, absolutely on trial! Satisfaction guaranteed, or your money is returned.

British Diplomacy Too Much for French Intrigue—General Booth Greeted with an Ovation—More Rioting at Eastbourne—General Foreign News

PARIS, Feb. 15.—The secretary of the British Embassy in Constantinople had an audience with the Sultan yesterday, and it is semi-officially announced to-day that the firman of investiture of the present Khedive of Egypt has been prepared and that it is worded in the exact terms of the firman investing the late Khedive, Tewfik Pasha. This is regarded as a signal success for English diplomacy, as it defeats the attempts to induce the Sultan to insert in the firman instructions to the Khedive reflecitng upon the English supremacy in Egypt.

The Sultan preferred to adhere to the old form in order not to embarrass the Khedive.

A YOUNG GIRL'S MASQUERADE.

A Frisky English Girl who Wanted to See the World.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—Miss Kate Evanson, the adventurous girl of Reading who disappeared on Wednesday last on her way to school at Bristol, has been found. It was left for her own brother to trace his wayward sister to Shrewsbury, where he discovered her at an inn in male attire. She was willing enough to accompany him home, and was restored to the arms of her parents. She left the train at Gloucester, went to a clothing store and bought the suit of man's clothes on the plea that she intended to give it to a poor person who had appealed to her for charity. She then went to a barber's and induced the man to cut her hair, on the pretence that she suffered from headaches. She later took the train to Mitcheldean, and while in the compartment of a first-class coach effected a change of clothing, leaving her suit of woman's apparel on the seat. At Mitcheldean she alighted, looking like a bright young boy. From that time she had a series of amusing adventures, managing to deceive everybody and elude pursuit, although the whole country was aroused and searching for her.

HONORING BOOTH.

A Mile-Long Procession of Salvation Army Soldiers Reviewed by Him.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—The members of the Salvation Army in London and in all parts of the kingdom took occasion Saturday to show their love and loyalty for Gen. Booth, who has just arrived home in England after a long visit to Australia and India.

The procession which the General reviewed was a mile long, and in it were cars emblematic of his travels in foreign lands. As the procession marched past the place where the General stood, the Salvation Army soldiers gave him a hearty welcome, cheering and shouting without restraint.

Disorders at Eastbourne.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—Eastbourne was again to-day the scene of disorder growing out of the hostility continually showing there to members of the Salvation Army. The disturbance, however, was not nearly so marked as that of two weeks ago. The Eastbourne police to-day dispersed the gathering members of the army and prevented their holding their customary Sunday services on the beach or playing on their instruments in the streets. But in spite of the efforts of the police there was much disorder and several fights occurred. These unruly manifestations were witnessed by thousands of persons, including the Duke of Portland and several of the members of the House of Commons.

The Costliest Sealskin Known.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—The Duchess of Portland has long been celebrated for the beauty of her sealskin cloak, which cost about 5000 guineas, but this has now been thrown completely into the shade by the magnificent cloak which was worn by Lady Alington. It is a gift from her newly made husband, and from the point of view of expense alone, completely overtops the garment which has hitherto been the cynosure of all feminine eyes, for the sable trimming alone cost as much as the cloak of the fair Duchess.

For Cardinal Manning's Position.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—According to reports prevalent in Roman Catholic circles, Doctor Gilbert, Very Rev. Henry Sebastian Bowden and Dr. J. C. Hedley are the three names selected by the Chapter of Westminster, on last Tuesday, for transmission to the Pope. Doctor Gilbert was Cardinal Manning's right-hand man, and Vicar-General Father Bowden is Superior of the Brompton Oratory and a convert to Catholicism, an ex-officer of the Life Guard and a powerful preacher. Dr. Hedley is the Bishop of Newport and the oldest member of the English Benedictine Order.

Lively Times in the Reichstag.

BERLIN, Feb. 15.—There was a lively scene yesterday in the Reichstag, brought about by the discussion of the railway estimates.

Herr Sturm, Imperialist, supported the Government in dismissing Socialist agitators from state workshops.

Herr Bebel, Socialist, violently denounced Sturm's views and a heated debate followed.

Herr Kardonff demanded that more stringent laws controlling newspapers, clubs and public meetings should be enacted in order, he said, "to prevent the state from falling into the hands of the Socialists."

Herr Barth said it was clear that the members of the Right wanted "to provoke a conflict possibly leading to civil war."

At this juncture the debate was adjourned.

The German Anarchists.

BERLIN, Feb. 15.—The enquiry into the status of the Berlin Anarchists shows that they are formed in 11 groups, numbering 254 persons in all, with connections throughout Germany. They have met in secrecy in garrets and cellars. Meetings with an attendance as large as 200 have been held unknown to the police. Their finances are slender, only 90 marks monthly being received. It has been agreed to employ counsel to defend the Anarchists recently arrested.

The Spanish Anarchists.

ROME, Feb. 15.—The trial of Signor Cipriani and the other May Day rioters was marked yesterday by continued disorders. One of the lawyers for the prisoners declared a certain police witness was "a scandalous liar." The spectators in the court, nearly all of whom were friends of the prisoners, loudly applauded this remark. An uproar arose, the prisoners shouting wildly and menacing the witnesses. The noise and confusion became so great that the president of the court suspended the sitting. When the trial was resumed the scenes of disorder were repeated.

Almost Scalded To Death.

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 15.—Engineer James Jordan of the Michigan Central Railroad was almost scalded to death last night by the bursting of a flue in the boiler of his engine in the yard here. He is now in the hospital. The flesh is taken off his legs and arms.

Merit Unappreciated.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 15.—The fire brigade of Rat Portage has resigned in a body owing to lack of appreciation on the part of the town council and citizens.

To Examine Toronto's System.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 15.—Chief Code of the fire brigade here has left for Ontario and Quebec to examine systems for fire protection in big eastern cities.

A Call to Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 15.—Rev. W. G. Henderson of Perth, Ont., has formally accepted the vacant pulpit of Zion Church here.

Keep the Works in good order.

NORWAY, Ont., January 1[illegible]

W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works and what is the result?—at first, only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,

H. F. ATWELL.

PRETTY BUT NAUGHTY.

A Toronto Young Woman Charged With Altering Dominion Bank Bills.

TORONTO, Feb. 13.—A pretty young woman named Catharine Rhodes, appeared in the Police Court yesterday charged with altering and uttering Dominion Bank bills. As bank experts had for some time noticed bills coming into them from three-eighths to half-an-inch shorter than an ordinary bill it was supposed to be an accident until there appeared to be some system in the affair and investigation showed that pieces had been skillfully cut out of the different bills and used to manufacture new ones. Catharine Rhodes is a daughter of a laborer on Wardell-street. She was remanded by the Police Magistrate.

[illegible] Locomotive Sank.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Feb. 13.—The ice locomotive invented by a New York boiler inspector was shipped from here to New Hamburg and put on the ice there Tuesday. It got away from the man in charge and started for the shore. Men ran after it but could not catch it, and coming to a weak spot it broke through the ice and sank. The trials so far have been very unsatisfactory owing to the soft condition of the ice, but the machine will be raised and other trials made.

WED TO A CHINAMAN.

The Sad Story of a Pretty Cambridge Girl Only 22 Years Old.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—In a pretty thoroughfare in Cambridge, Mass., was born, a little over 22 years ago, a baby of wonderous beauty.

A dark day came to the previously happy home soon after the advent of Lizzie Tale. A deadly disease seized the mother and carried her off.

Soon after the death of his wife the father took to drinking and suddenly left for parts unknown.

Kind neighbers took charge of little Lizzie, though, and for ten years she was cared for, clothed and sent to school.

Soon the child, pretty, fragile and extremely sensitive by nature, began to hear the current gossip among the neighbors of her queer birth and dependence.

The rest is soon told. Lizzie went the long way where many another unguarded girl has gone. She drifted about the city from post to pillar

From a number of Chinamen, whose acquaintance she formed, she soon learned to smoke the soul-destroying opium. But even this was not strong enough for her, and she finally drifted to this city, having been sent here by a Chinaman in Boston.

Upon her arrival here, now three years ago, Lizzie's pretty face and still pleasant ways soon gained her an abode in crime-laden, sickening, sin-infested Mulberry Bend. For two years past, at almost any hour, on a clear night, wanderers through this byway might have seen Lizzie standing on a street corner with one of the groups of Chinamen.

About two years ago it became a fad of the Chinamen to have American wives. She had many suitors. Wrong Lee, Yank Lin, Lee Hing and many other Celestials each besought her to marry them.

Lizzie finally with a desparate laugh, selected Lee Hing. Lee was a large, fairly good-looking Chinaman, had several nice "lay-outs" and some money stored away. She was in great luck, the other Chinamen's wives said. She could smoke to her heart's content, and she could have a glass of white wine whenever she liked, in fact she was in great luck.

Thus Lizzie lived until last Saturday, when her brain gave way momentarily, and in a fit of rage she hurled several dishes and stove lids at her spouse, which so frightened the Mongolian that he ran, yelling murder, to the street.

A reporter visited him late last night at his residence in Mott-street. Hing is a Chinaman of the worst possible type, with a marvelous talent for lying, discounting by far any art Ananias ever illustrated. His rooms are well furnished, and the reporter thought he saw indications of Lizzie's handiwork in the ornamentation about the Chinese home.

A dozen pipes and all the necessary accompaniments plainly showed what the business of the place was. Hing declined to say anything further than to acknowledge that his wife had tried to kill him with a stove lid.

The ambulance took Lizzie to Bellevue Hospital. Her wild recklessness and odd mannerisms induced the surgeon to put her in the insane pavilion. She was transferred to the alcoholic ward, where the reporter found her and gleaned the history recounted above.

Deceived By the Snow.

IROQUOIS, Ont., Feb. 13.—About 9 o'clock yesterday a young man named Arthur Locke, an operator at the station, went out on the ice for water. The drifting snow extended beyond and obscured the edge of the ice, so that he went too near it and slipped in. He was seen by several parties, but before assistance could reach him he sank and never rose again.

Red Rain.

Some years ago there fell a shower of red rain at Bristol which, on examination, was found to derive its color from the seeds of ivy berries which fell with it. Pollen showers, vulgarly called yellow or sulphur rains, are comparatively common; some are pollen of the Scotch fir.—All the Year Round.

An Interesting Burns Relic.

An interesting relic has just been presented to the Burns Cottage at Ayr. It is an oak chair which thirty-five years ago was made of the printing press on which the original Kilmarnock edition of Burns' poems was printed in 1786. There is a model of Burns' bust carved on the top of the back, and a carving of Tam O'Shanter crossing the Auld Bridge of Doon below, and on the arms there are the heads of Tam and the Souter. At the centenary dinner in Ayr in 1859 the chair was used by Sir James Fergusson, the Chairman.—Pall Mall Gazette.

If you have a cough or cold do not neglect it; many without a trace of that hereditar disease have drifted into a consumptive grave by neglecting what was only a slight cold. Had the used Bickle's Anti-Consumtive Syrup before it was too late their lives would have been spared. Mr. A. W. Levy Mitchell, writes. "I think Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation on the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught severe cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cought. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of Consumption, and had given up hopes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickel's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieved, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured. I always recomend it for severe colds and consumption."

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—Trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. Their original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No deteleriou mineral ingredient is contained in it, and though its action is thorough in cases of costiveness it never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowel like a violent purgative. It invigorates the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney diseases scrofulous and all diseases of the blood, femole weakness, &c., &c. Constable Gunyou Charged With Ill-using a Prisoner

Wesley Tompkins, now serving a term in the county jail for alleged resisting the police in the discharge of his duty is about to enter legal proceedings against Constable George Gunyou, of Deseronto, for alleged assault. It appears that Tompkins was arrested recently in Deseronto for drunkenness by Constable Gunyou, when the former resisted the efforts of the officer to take him into custody. In the struggle the prisoner was badly used. Both eyes were black and he was severely scratched and bruised about the face and body. The case was tried before Magistrate Flint, who committed the prisoner for resisting the officer. Tompkins says that the case was brought to Belleville for [illegible] in order that several witnesses in his [illegible]lf would be prevented from giving evidence he having no money to bring witnesses so far.

THE NOMINATIONS.

A LIVELY MEETING AT ROSLIN ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Messrs Aylsworth and Northrup in the Field—Mr Corby Takes off the Mask and Assaults Mr Johnson

Nominations for East Hastings were held at Roslin on Saturday. Papers were handed in for W. R. Aylsworth, for the Reformers and for W. B. Northrup for the Conservatives. At two o'clock, the limit of time for nominations, a public meeting was organized with Mr. Daly in the chair, each speaker being allowed thirty minutes.

W. R. Aylsworth was the first speaker and stated briefly his platform—opposition to restriction and to the present corrupt government. He believed in reciprocity as a necessity if Canada were to grow and prosper as she should. He had long been identified with the interests of the county, and thoroughly knew their wants. Within the last twelve months the constituency had pronounced in favor of reciprocity and the need of it now was as great as it was then. He had tried to serve them faithfully for many years in a civic capacity and was confident that on the 20th the electors would choose him as their representative in the House.

J. B. Aylsworth followed. He said he had been a conservative for many years, but was now convinced that the N. P. was proving ruinous to the country, putting wealth into the pockets of a few at the expense of the many. He believed a change in the trade policy of the country was now imperative. No intelligent farmer could come to any other conclusion than that his individual interests and the interests of agriculture generally demanded freedom of trade with the United States, and as agriculture was the greatest industry of the country he for one had no option but to separate himself from the Conservative party which was determined to adhere to their policy of restriction and to support the Liberal party which was pledged to make an honest effort to secure reciprocity of trade with the States, an effort which he believed would succeed. And apart from their policy the government should be defeated because of their record, because of the wholesale corruption that had been proven against it, and he was convinced that the desperate attempt to buy up the constituencies in these bye-elections showed that worse revelations were expected to follow unless the government could secure a majority large enough to prevent further investigations. The character of the government was shown by the fact that the worst men in the cabinet were being promoted, while the most honest were being thrust down to the lower positions.

Mr. Northrup was then called upon and went over the old familiar ground. He reiterated the statement that the N.P. had given the farmers a home market. He again raised the annexation cry and waved the old flag. He ridiculed the idea of Canada being commercially united with the United States, one of the most highly protected countries in the world. He argued in favor of the same degree of protection for the farmer as was enjoyed by the doctor and lawyer. If the N.P. were abolished Canada would lose its carrying trade, and all the industries round about would be driven out and the farmers would lose their great home market.

J. W. Johnson followed with a splendid address, clear, logical and eloquent. He said the question before them was the same now as it had been last March—shall Canadians be allowed to exercise the natural right of every citizen to buy in the cheapest market and sell in the dearest? It was now about five years since this question was first publicly advocated, and in that time most gratifying progress had been made for Unrestricted Reciprocity had become incorporated into the policy of one of the great parties, and at the last election had received a majority of votes cast in this Province. The speaker then reviewed the repeal of the corn laws in England, showing that the difficulties had at first seemed almost insurmountable, the repeal being opposed by the whole power of the tory party, yet in only seven years after the agitation first began free trade was carried by a tory parliament and by that great tory premier Peel; and as the result the exports of Great Britain had increased from forty to two hundred and fifty millions of pounds in thirty years. So Canadian free traders should not be discouraged by temporary reverses. If the progress made in the next four years are as great as in the past four their success at the next election would be complete. He then alluded briefly to the old reciprocity treaty, showing that under it our trade increased from $20,000,000 in 1853, when it came into force, to $84,000,000 in 1866 when in was abrogated, Canada has made no such rapid progress before or since. As to Britain's attitude towards this question he showed that no opposition would be made from that source. John Bright in 1866 said that Canada's best interests lay in freedom of trade with the States and the fact that they were not under the same government should not interfere with this in the least. Earl of Onslow only in 1889 stated in the House of Lords on behalf of the government that Canada had the right to make such trade regulations as were to her advantage, and that Britain could raise no objection even if she were discriminated against. The London Times and other English journals and politicians voiced similar sentiments, while in the British House of Commons only last week those who were favoring an imperial trade league were severely snubbed and were told in effect to mind their own business for Britain knew what was for her own interests better than Canada did. He then reverted to the loyalty cry. He showed that trade knew no nationality. Where were English capital and immigration flowing? To the States. Where was Canada's capital, and where were her sons going? To the States also, while our own resources, almost unlimited in extent, are undeveloped. It is disloyal to Canada to continue a policy that stagnates our industries and drives our sons from our soil. "Canada first" should be the motto for every loyal Canadian. Having permitted over a million of our sons to emigrate to the States, the remaining two million of adult Canadians should be at least allowed to trade freely with them. Canada is a part of the American continent and of necessity she must be in harmony with her environments. We were obliged to adopt the American railway gauge, to adopt their system of currency, of weights and measures, and last session our loyal government was even forced to follow in the wake of the Americans and adopt their schedule of sugar duties. He showed the inconsistency of the Canadian ministers going to Wasington to try to get reciprocity in farm products while they and all their followers and organs are asserting that the American markets are of no value to Canada. He advised his opponents not to waste more time on England. Free trade was her policy forever, and her markets are ours as well as the world's. Hon. Mr. Foster had gone to the West Indies to try to extend our trade there, and the answer of the West Indies was a reciprocity treaty with the United States; and Canada is now practically isolated from her own continent. Practically there are only two markets for Canada, Britain and the States. The British market is always open, now let us open the other one. Can we compete with them? Certainly we can in every line of produce and industry natural to our soil and resources. Our farmers compete successfully against the world in the English market in cheese; our manufacturers surely are no less intelligent, and can compete on equal terms with the manufacturers of the States. We have the natural resources, we have the railway and navigation facilities. We have the sturdy population, we have the educational system, we have everything but the necessary capital and our natural market. A policy that will give us these appeals for support to every patriotic Canadian, yea, to every patriotic Englishman.

Mr Corby followed with a harangue composed of about equal parts of abuse and braggadocio. Angered by Mr. Johnson's eloquent and convincing speech, he (Mr. Corby) made a savage attack on him. Quite ignoring his arguments which he knew were irreputable he attacked him on personal grounds. He reverted to Mr. Johnson's acts while in the council and after perverting them held them up to ridicule. He also devoted considerable attention to other personal matters that had no bearing on the questions before the electors, and in this way tried to break the force of Mr. Johnson's splendid argument for reciprocity. The rest of the speech was devoted to Mr. Corby himself in which that individual was glorified and almost deified. He told of his great influence in West Hastings and Prince Edward, and then told what what he would do in East Hastings, where he was going to turn political affairs upside side down and annihilate the grits. To use his own pious and elegant phrase, "ByGod, we will cleanthe grits out."

This savage personal attack, made after Mr. Johnson had spoken and had no opportunity of replying, was a most cowardly thing, and when Mr. Corby was done speaking Mr. Johnson turned to him and made an indignant protest. Mr Corby who was evidently beside himself then assaulted Mr. Johnson, savagely grabbing him. The audience became greatly excited and the Orange tories, smelling blood, howled like Indians. But a few cool headed ones managed to restore order and the meeting proceeded. Mr. Johnson then appealed to the chairman for permission to make an explanation on the personal charges against him, but with true tory fair play this proper request was refused.

Mr. Clute followed, and scored Mr. Corby in indignant terms for taking advantage of Mr. Johnson's inability to reply to this attack on him on personal grounds, that had no connection at all with the questions under discussion and showed how false Mr. Corby's charges were. He then proceeded to make an eloquent speech on the trade question. He went back to the first principles of political economy and showed that it was every man's natural right to buy and sell where he chose to do so, and then applied the same principle to the nation. This being a natural right, the onus lay on those who would take it away to prove that it would be to the advantage of the people to do so. We regret that we have not room for a full report of this able address.

Mr. Hudson, M. P. P., followed, and after demonstrating his ignorance of the trade question by saying that the Canadian exporter does not pay the duty, and his ignorance of the state of the markets by saying that barley was only 12 cents a bushel more in the States than in Canada, he made an appeal to the Orange element, waving the old flag most strenuously and talking of the flag of the Empire, etc.

Success in Business

A great deal has been written in regard to what principles go to make up a successful business. Some writers claim one thing and some another, all looking at it from different standpoints. The main things essential are these: "Sell goods cheap," "Sell good goods," "Be honest with your customers" and "Do one price to all" These principles have built up for the OAK HALL a successful business, and notwithstanding that opposition come and go they are always to be found at the same old stand ready to welcome customers, use them fair and send them home happy and contented.

DEAD AND YET ALIVE.

AFTER A SEPARATION OF 25 YEARS HUSBAND AND WIFE ARE AGAIN UNITED.

Each Thought the Other Dead and Only met in Belleville a few Days ago—Romance Without a Parallel in Fiction

Incidents in real life more romantic than the following story recently told the writer seldom finds its way to the world outside of the pages of fiction. It is said that "life is stranger than fiction" and the saying has more force in it than is generally supposed. The romance has its origin away back during the gold excitement in Madoc. A certain man who had drifted to North Hastings with a view of bettering his fortune, there met a handsome young woman, with whom he at once became infatuated. His attentions soon ripened into a proposal, and one day the couple drove to Belleville and were quietly married. After a short honeymoon they returned to their home in the El Dorado district where life to them was full of happiness and promise. Little did this confiding couple think that yet before the first born should brighten their home a sombre cloud should gather over their lives and settle thicker and thicker as the years rolled by. One day the husband came home and said to his young wife: "Here, take this money—it is all I have, I am going away for a short time; should I not return I will leave my pension so that you may have it for the maintance of yourself and child." Even before the husband was to flee from the punishment of a crime, of which he said he was innocent, an officer entered the house and he was arrested and taken to the United States. Here he was charged with the forgery of a note during the American war. The evidence adduced was convincing and in spite of the prisoner's protestions that he was drawn into the felony by the hand of a brother he was sentenced to serve a term of ten years. Banished from home and country the prisoner gave himself up to a bitter fate. Years rolled away and time brought with it the bitterest drop which was to overflow his cup of misery. His wife had followed her child to the grave, after years of trouble which had wrought gray hairs and a clouded brain. Released from prison the husband robbed of home and family drifted into the world not knowing whither to turn his steps. In years fortune smiled on his labors and in Michigan the wandering Canuck gathered about him real estate of considerable value. Finding himself at leisure this winter he visited Toronto. While there the face of his departed wife was brought back to his memory and he decided to visit Belleville and look on the last resting place of his bride of only a few months. Searching inquiry elicited the information that his wife had worked as a domestic in the house of a certain lady on Taylor's Hill whose name need not be mentioned here. Finding the house the husband knocked and was admitted. Imagine his surprise and great joy when the fact was learned that while his wife had once worked at the house, she was now alive and well working in the home of another lady but a few blocks distant. The overjoyed husband lost no time in looking up his wife, whom for twenty years he had thought dead. At first sight the wife did not recognize him, but when assured of the fact a flood of tears was sobbed out on the breast of a lost husband, and two hearts so cruelly torn asunder were at last united, while arm in arm they may now drift into the harbor of rest after so long a voyage on a troubled sea. Another word and the romance is complete. After her husband was thrown into prison the pens on ceased coming, and the unscrupulous brother, who had been the curse of two lives told her that his brother was dead, while he drew the pension. It was by his means that the news was also brought to the husband that his wife and child had died. The strangely united couple are still in the city and in March will leave for their home in Michigan.

NEWS FROM WINNIPEG

Efforts on Behalf of Chisholm to Shorten His Sentence

Since the confirmation by the full court of the sentence passed on A. Chisholm formerly of Belleville, by Chief Justice Taylor at the recent Fall Assizes little has been heard in connection with the case that excited so great excitement in the city for several weeks during the latter part of the summer. However, friends of the prisoners have not been idle, but have been kindly at work gathering material and evidence to lay before the Minister of Justice at Ottawa in hope that the Dominion authorities will exercise their powers and mitigate the sentence and punishment that now stands recorded against Chisholm. For weeks a Chicago detective was in the city working in the interest of the prisoner in circles where it was thought evidence could be gathered to weaken the testimony of the crown witnesses given at the time of the trial. What he has gathered has been forwarded to Ottawa. Friends of the prisoner are confident that a favorable view of the case will be taken by the Department of Justice and are hopeful that Chisholm will be released ere many weeks, or at least that he will be spared the flogging and the term of imprisonment considerably reduced.

Neuralgia, Catarrh Debility Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla

Good authority has said that "neuralgia is the cry of the nerves for pure blood.' The prompt action of Hood's Sarsaparilla on the blood, combined with its toning and strengthening effect upon the nerves, makes this a most excellent medicine for neuralgia and similar troubles. We commend to all sufferers from such complaints and especially to ladies, the following statements recently received:—

"For a good many years I have been suffering from catarrh, neuralgia and general debility. I failed to obtain any permanent relief from medical advice, and my friends feared I would never find anything to cure me. A short time ago I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. At that time I was unable to walk even a short distance without feelin a

A DEATH-LIKE WEAKNESS

overtake me. And I had intense pains from neuralgia in my head, back and limbs which were very exhausting. But I am glad to say that soon after I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I saw that it was doing me good. I have now taken three bottles and am entirely

CURED OF NEURALGIA.

I am gaining strength rapidly, and can take a two-mile walk without feeling tired. I do not suffer nearly so much from catarrh, and find that as my strength increases the catarrh decreases. I am indeed a changed woman, and shall always feel grateful to Hood's Sarsaparilla for what it has done for me.

IT IS MY WISH

that this my testimonial shall be published in order that others suffering as I was may learn how to be benefited." MRS M. E. MARRICK, 26 Wilton Avenue, Toronto, Can.

IS IT TRUE

That Belleville is Likely to Lose Part of Her Albert Students

The Cobourg Post of Saturday says: It has been reported by those in a position to know that a project is on foot to retain the College property in this town for educational purposes. The plan as spoken of is to remove the male portion of Albert College, now in Belleville, to Victoria. It is said the scheme has been advocated for some time, but was not made public owing to reasons only known to the principals of the two institutions. The fact is well known that for some time Albert College has been overcrowded with male pupils, and the educational board of the institution have been keeping their eyes open to more adequate quarters. Now that Victoria expects to mingle with the other colleges in the city shortly, the opening here became plainly visible to the ambitious principal of Albert, and we believe negotiations have been, or are about to be opened up with that end in view. Should all arrangements be completed satisfactorily, our people may hope to see the male portion of Albert located in Cobourg, while the ladies wing will remain in Belleville. We will be pleased if such an arrangement succeeds, as it will be an actual gain. Those who are acquainted with the fact, admit that Albert College has a far better class of students, financially speaking, than Victoria, and as a consequence are a more desirable element to have in any town.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

A DEBATE ON THE ANNEXATION MOVE.

Mr. Meredith Repudiates Sol. White o Essex, and the Latter Replies in His Defence, Claiming That it is Not a Political Question.

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—The debate on the address at the Legislature yesterday afternoon was about the tamest circus that has been in town since incorporation, the only points that relieved it from criminal dulness being the allusion by the mover of the address to Mr. Sol. White's annexation propaganda, Mr. Meredith's repudiation on behalf of himself and his followers of any share in Mr. White's sentiments and Mr. White's subsequent defence of his position.

The House got at the consideration of the address about 3.30.

Mr. W. H. Biggar, West Hastings, opened by saying that he was not disappointed at the meagreness of the measures outlined in the speech from the throne because it was a surprise to him that after 20 years' of the Hon. Oliver's administration there was anything that required improvement. The reference in the speech from the throne to the death of the Duke of Clarence drew from Mr. Biggar the remark that there appeared to be certain persons in the country who were dissatisfied with their lot and would like to change their allegiance. There were no representatives of this class on his (Mr. Biggar's) side of the House, but there were on the other. He gave Mr. Meredith credit for having no sympathy with the sentiments of Mr. Sol. White, but they were of the same political stripe and it was only a confirmation of the old adage that misery makes strange bedfellows. Mr. Biggar comes from a county rich in mines, and it was therefore natural that he should have paid some attention to the mineral question.

The county of Hastings was rich in both gold and iron, but not much development had taken place, he said, because those working the mines were inclined to be extravagant. He expected a boom in the iron mining in view of the fact that recent discoveries had made it an easy task to eliminate the objectionable ingredients that were present in most Canadian irons. In connection with the Parliament buildings it caused Mr. Biggar a flush of pleasure that no boodling had ever taken place in connection with them.

To Mr. W. T. Lockhart fell the task of seconding the address. He thought the paragraph in the speech respecting a forest reservation and park in the Mattawa River meant the establishment of a provincial park similar to those in the various states in the American Union. He alluded to the rumors that were rife some time ago, that Mr. Meredith was to enter the Dominion Cabinet. There seemed to be some hitch in that program, however, and if the result would be to leave Mr. Meredith in his present post, he for one could not regret it. He freely admitted that gentleman's great ability, untiring industry and wholesome vigilance over the legislation of that House. Moreover, he was free from the taint of disloyalty that appertained to his political friend, Mr. White. Mr. Lockhart concluded with an expression of his satisfaction that the province was free from the boodling which had been disclosed in Ottawa and Quebec.

Mr. Meredith lost no time in preliminaries but at once challenged the good taste and propriety of the two gentlemen who had preceded him, but especially that of the mover, Mr. Biggar, in dragging in Dominion politics to that House. Mr. Biggar's halting admission that the Conservative party was probably loyal was not needed. The Conservative party in that House required no sponsor for its loyalty. He (Mr. Meredith) stated inhesitatingly that both parties in that House were loyal to the Crown. While stating so he felt that it scarcely lay in the mouth of a member of the party whose policy the foremost man of the Liberal party, Hon. Edward Blake, declared made for annexation to express his doubts of the loyalty of others.

Mr. Meredith went on to say that he regretted the stand taken by the member for North Essex (Mr. White), and on behalf of the Conservative party he utterly repudiated the sentiments which Mr. White had thought fit, from time to time, to express. Coming to Mr. Lockhart's allusion to corruption in Quebec, he wondered that he would have the hardihood to mention that when it was considered who was the author of the corruption. Did they forget that the compact of '87 was still unrepudiated? Mr. Lockhart's friends would hardly thank him for dragging in that unfortunate allusion and re-establishing their connection with the disgraced and dishonored Quebec politician. He regretted having to refer to these matters, but they had been forced on him by the remarks of the member for North Hastings.

With respect to farmers' institutes, which were mentioned in the speech from the throne, he could see a variety of useful work for them to perform if they were freed from the attempts that were being made to make them political clubs. In regard to the mineral policy of the Government he was anxious to ascertain what had been the effect of the policy adopted last session.

He was glad that the new Parliament Buildings were approaching completion, because at length they might possibly discover what they cost. He admitted freely that they promised to be a handsome pile of buildings, but they would remain chiefly as a monument to the astuteness of the Minister of Public Works, who had inveigled the representatives of the people into undertaking their construction in the belief that they would not cost more than half a million dollars. If they did not cost more than three times as much the province might consider itself fortunate.

Dealing with the reference in the Speech to the fee evil, Mr. Meredith expressed his fear that the Government's treatment of it would be very superficial. They would not go to the root of it. The system was full of scandals. In his own city of London the registry office had been without a head for three years, while they heard of officials enjoying incomes of thousands of dollars yearly who did not spend an hour a day in their offices.

The Premier Was Prompt.

When the leader of the Opposition sat down Mr. Mowat leaped to his feet with remarkable briskness. He at once took up Mr. Meredith's complaint about the introduction of Dominion politics into that House. Who had been the first to introduce Dominion politics there? The Opposition, to be sure. He listened with pleasure to his hon. friend's remarks with respect to loyalty. He believed that the great mass of the people, with individual exceptions here and there, were unreservedly loyal. During the long time he had been a member of that House he had never heard a disloyal word uttered. Passing from that he touched lightly, on other points in the Speech and on Mr. Meredith's criticism. The Parliament buildings, he said, would not cost more than a million and a quarter. He defended the fee system of paying public officers. It was the most equitable. A man then was paid just for the work he did. The case cited by Mr. Meredith had no weight. The people were not suffering. The deputy registrar in London had done the work. It was not unusual for public offices to remain for a long time unfilled. The collectorship of Toronto had remained unfilled for two or three years. He concluded by hoping they would have an active session of useful work.

Sol Defends Himself.

There was a pause after Mr. Mowat sat down and it looked as if the address was going to go through without further criticism. Just when Mr. Speaker was thinking of rising Mr. Sol. White, on whom all eyes were centered, rose slowly and apparently quite unembarrassed. He would not, he said, have offered any observations at this juncture had he not been attacked by the mover of the address. He had accepted an invitation to deliver a lecture at Woodstock on the destiny of the country. He [illegible] to discuss her future. He was born in this country. He was a British subject. He had always been loyal to Canada's interests, and it was in studying those interests that he had engaged in the enquiry what was best for the future of this country. This, however, was not a political question and should not be discussed in the House.

Several members said "Oh, oh!" and retorting Sol. said: "If the real private opinions of those gentlemen who say 'oh, oh!' could be scrutinized it would perhaps be found that their views are not so unlike my own after all." Proceeding he said that Mr. Mowat stood just where he stood on this vital question. Mr. Mowat was in favor of British connection; so was he. Mr. Mowat thinks that unrestricted reciprocity will avert political union. The speaker did not think it would. Mr. Mowat declares in favor of independence by and by, and profiting by this declaration of their representative the men who were formerly annexationists in South Oxford now described themselves as independence men. He had no doubt the gentlemen on both sides were loyal, but it was not disloyal to discuss the destiny of the country.

Mr. Mowat's program meant separation by independence rather than by political union. Mr. Laurier at Boston had stated that he was in favor of unrestricted reciprocity and the Monroe doctrine. Mr. Laurier was thus inviting the Americans to enforce the Monroe doctrine. Unrestricted reciprocity would lead inevitably to annexation. The speaker preferred to adopt a course with his eyes open rather than be led up to it blindly. Premier Mowat did not hew to the line on the question of British connection. He assents to discrimination against Britain and ultimately contemplates separation. We can get no trade treaty from the United States that does not mean annexation. He repeated again that his views should not concern the House. He was responsible to his constituents alone. They knew before the election what his views were. He had never repudiated them, yet he was elected by a large majority. It was not a subject germane to their duties as legislators and he would prefer that it had never been mentioned.

Balfour's Indignation.

Mr. Balfour, probably feeling that the reputation of Essex county was involved in the question, proceeded to dress down his colleague for the other half in proper style. He indignantly asked the House what it thought of a man who could tell them that this was not a political question. He declared that Mr. White had not always had the courage of his convictions. Before the last election he solemnly repudiated all his alleged convictions.

Mr. White: I deny that.

Mr. Balfour went on to say that it was enough to make Colonel Prince, the old Conservative representative of the riding, turn in his grave to have it represented by its present member. Mr. White had stated that he was an independent member at last election. Yes, he was an independent member because the policy of his leader was so unpopular in his riding that it meant political extinction to father it. This independent member was nominated by Secretary of State Patterson and seconded by the Tory Senator Casgrain. Mr. White would have them believe that his constituency approved of his annexation sentiment. Why, the County Council had condemned it by unanimous voice. If Mr. Meredith would put before the House a resolution condemnatory of Mr. White and his sentiments it would be voted for by every man on the Reform side.

Mr. White: Is the advice free?

Mr. Balfour: The advice may be taken as freely as it is given. He ended by prophesying that when the electors of North Essex again got a chance of expressing an opinion of Mr. White they would stuff him out forever.

The motion for a reply to the address was then put and carried.

A committee was appointed to draft an address of condolence with Her Majesty.

Mr. Laurier in Toronto.

The eighth annual banquet of the Young Men's Liberal Club, held last evening in the Walker House, was a great success. It was graced by the appearance of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who spoke eloquent words of encouragement. The Hon. David Mills was also present. Robert Jaffray declared himself in favor of open rebellion if such a course could rid the country of the present Government.

In the course of his address Mr. Laurier said he was on his way west to help his friend, M. C. Cameron, in West Huron.

The Liberal party, he admitted, had met with several reverses during the past week, but French as he was, he had still that characteristic possessed by all true Englishmen the faculty of never knowing when one is beaten.

Some had averred that the Conservative Government at Ottawa would have a majority of 50 in the next Parliament, but he did not care whether that number were doubled, yet would he be as buoyant and hopeful as when victory was attendant upon the Liberal banner; yet would he and his colleagues vigilantly guard the interests and rights of Canada.

Death of Dr. Pirrette.

In the death of Rev. William Pirritte, D.D., which took place at the parsonage, Davenport, last night, the Methodist Church has lost the services of a man whose whole career has been one continuous vindication of the faith in which he sincerely believed.

Mr. Pirritte was born at Kingston, where his father was an officer in the 79th Highlanders, in July, 1828.

Dr. Pirritte was an eloquent and forceful preacher. There will be sincere grief in many Methodist circles throughout Canada when the news of his death is known.

Cut Nail Men Meet.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 16.—A meeting of the cut nail manufacturers of Canada has been held in the parlors of the Royal Hotel the past three days. All the manufacturers in Canada were represented, with combined interests equalling about $4,000,000. The cut nail business was fully discussed in all its different phases, and resulted in a union of the eastern and western associations and the adoption of a uniform card list of extras which now obtains all over the continent, with the exception that the base price is much higher than the American base price. A firm agreement has been made between all the makers for one year—and is bound by a large deposit—which means a uniform price all over, and does away with the continual cutting which has been so ruinous the past two years. A slight advance over present prices was made.

Driven Upon the Rocks.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Feb. 16.—The Prince Edward Island schooner Avenger was driven on the rocks 20 miles from St. John's Saturday in a blinding snow storm. The lifeboat swamped and Murdock Gillies, a seaman, volunteered to swim ashore with a life line. After a terrible struggle with the waves, he managed to insert his hands in a hole in one of the precipitous rocks which lined the shore. He drew himself up, and by catching points of rock he succeeded in climbing to a spot on which he could fasten a line. Then he drew ashore a larger line and by means of this the captain and crew all got safely to the shore.

A CLOSE VOTE IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

On Mr. Sexton's Amendment to the Address From the Throne—A Baronet's Son Killed—Anarchists in Berlin—General Cable News of a Night.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Replying to a question put to the Government in the House of Commons yesterday regarding the oppression of the Stundists by the Russian Government,

James Lowther, Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, said the Government did not intend to remonstrate with Russia against her treatment of religious sects unless the people oppressed were British subjects.

In the debate this evening on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne Thomas Sexton, member for West Belfast, moved an amendment declaring that a majority of the Irish people and their representatives in Parliament are convinced of the inability of the Imperial Parliament to legislate for Ireland in the manner required by the distinctive interests of that country and that this conviction has been intensified by the manifest failure of the land purchase act to afford a basis for an extension of the class of occupying tenants.

Mr. Jackson, Chief Secretary for Ireland, replied that Mr. Sexton's criticism of the land act were premature. The act had been in operation only a few months. Special causes accounted for the small amounts of business yet done under the act. When tenants had time to appreciate the value of the land stock that stock would find a ready market.

Mr. Sexton's amendment was rejected by the close vote of 179 to 158. The announcement of the figures was received with prolonged opposition and Irish cheers.

The address in reply to the speech from the throne was then formally adopted.

To Mr. Sexton's query whether the Local Government bill for Ireland would be introduced on Thursday Mr. Balfour nodded in affirmative.

ENDED BY MORPHINE.

The Inexpressibly Sad Romance of Two Young French People.

PARIS, Feb. 16.—Some 10 years ago there lived at Vernon, 50 miles from this city, on the left bank of the Seine, Michel W. Sabatier, an apprentice to a cabinet maker, an industrious lad, who made love to Jeanne Quentin, the pretty daughter of the landlord of the Grand Cerf Hotel.

Jeanne's father turned him away in a rage and Michel started out for London to make a fortune. Years passed and an invention of a metal varnish secured the young man a competence.

He returned to Vernon a few days ago only to learn that the hostelry of the Grand Cerf had ceased to exist, the host and hostess being dead, and Jeanne had gone to Paris, where she was reported to be living with an aunt.

Michel came to this city and found Mme. Mouloton, the girl's aunt, and also learned that she conducted a questionable house and that Jeanne was an inmate. She consented to leave the den of vice and accompanied her lover. Taking the train last Wednesday morning they reached Vernon about noon, and at once took the road to the Chateau of Bizy, once the property of Louis Philippe, and a favorite walk in their happier days. Arrived at the chateau they partook of a slight lunch and at some time during the afternoon must have swallowed the morphine they had purchased in Paris. They were never seen alive again, but their bodies were found in a sequestered nook early the next morning by a rural constable.

A LEVEE IN PRISON.

Mrs. Osborne in Prison the Lion of the Hour.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Mrs. Osborne, in Holloway Jail, is the lioness of the hour. She probably doesn't think so. She doesn't know it. It's a fact, all the same.

Why, society women are simply frantic to see her. Mrs. Hargreaves' kiss and Mrs. Osborne's tears in Bow-street Police Court have stirred up the West End to a woman.

How can the purloining and selling of a few pear-shaped pearls be a crime with such a person—even if they are "worth a king's ransom"?

The scene in front of the jail reminded one of the rush and excitement near St. George's, Hanover Square, when some particularly swell wedding is in progress.

Magnificent equipages, bearing aristocratic coats-of-arms and attended by coachmen, footmen and outriders, lined the street near the jail on both sides a distance of three blocks. Two policemen stood at the gate to regulate the traffic. As the carriages drove up the doors of the vehicles were opened by an obsequious flunkey in gray and red and gold, and the smiling and chatting occupants were politely escorted within the grim corridors, which as a rule would only produce a shudder to such gorgeously-dressed, high-toned visitors. It was like a vast swell reception.

Under the rules of the prison untried offenders may receive a limited number of visitors. There seemed no limit to-day. Mrs. Osborne and her gallant husband had been ushered into the chief warden's private apartments, where from 11 a.m. until 1 p.m. they received a perfect stream of callers.

Peeresses, novelists, nuns, Salvation Army Hallelujah lassies, psychologists and clergymen passed in, shook hands, had a few words of sympathy or of curiosity and then passed out again.

DESCENDED ON THE GANG.

Berlin Police Interrupt a Fiery Orator in a Heartless Manner.

BERLIN, Feb. 16.—Pursuant to a call secretly circulated during the week a well attended meeting of Anarchists was held yesterday. Despite the secrecy observed by the participants the police learned of the meeting and in strong force burst into the hall while one of the orators was firing the hearts of his hearers with fierce denunciations of the government and dire threats against its officials.

The appearance of the police severed the thread of oratory and caused a mad rush for the doors. Many managed to escape, but the police succeeded in capturing 50 followers of the red flag and marched them through the Charlottenstrasse to the police station amid the jeers and groans of the crowds which congregated on the sidewalks.

The Largest Opal Ever Found.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16.—The largest opal ever found in the world is on exhibition here. It is 11 inches long, 5 wide and 1½ inches thick, and came from Guerrero, Mexico. It is the property of Juan Goldman of 1000 Van Ness-avenue, who is interested in the mine from which it came. The value of the specimen, according to the owner, is $10,000.

THE DAILY ONTARIO

BELLEVILLE, FEBRUARY 16, 1892

BRIBERY AND BRIBERY.

There is another trifling feature of recent political history which our clever contemporaries do not explain quite as satisfactorily. How in the world is it that when the deeds of virtuous reformers and of the sinful tories are investigated by the election courts, the former show themselves so much more adept in ways that are dark and tricks that are vain?—Ottawa Citizen. This matter has been explained quite frequently and satisfactorily. The investigations in the courts do not show the liberals to be worse than the tories. Taking into consideration the number of tories whose deeds escaped investigation through decisions of partial judges on technicalities, as large a proportion of tories have been unseated as of liberals. But this is an insignificant matter. The Citizen knows that all that was revealed in all the courts amounted to very little, that most of the unseating was done for trival reasons. It knows well how absurd and unjust the election law was, so much so that it was amended at the last session by the unanimous consent of the House. Had the election protests been tried under the new law there would not have been five men unseated in the whole Dominion. A tory contemporary well says it was not the most corrupt members that were unseated but those whose long experience in such affairs rendered them skillful in concealing their misdeeds.

The most potent and widespread bribery unfortunately is such as the courts cannot touch, and of this form of corruption the tories only are guilty. This consists of the wholesale bribery of constituencies by the government by means of promises of public works, railway bonuses etc., if the tory candidates are elected. That this form of bribery was used unsparingly in the last general contest, and is now being used in the bye-elections, the Citizen is perfectly aware. In South Victoria a letter was paraded from our own virtuous Hon. Mr. Bowell, written last December as soon as it was known that there would be a bye-election, pledging anew that a subsidy would be voted for a railway to Bobcaygeon. This was held up as a bribe to the constituents, who were plainly told that this money would not be given if the liberal candidate was elected; and as a result Bobcaygeon gave the tory candidate a majority of 102. To show how this shameful bribery is worked down east we quote the following from a speech by Mr. Morane, the tory candidate in Queen's Co., N. S.:

"I am here at the request of Sir John Thompson and am running for him as a government candidate."

"Thompson's railroad promise last spring was conditional on Freeman being elected, and the local subsidy is conditional on the Dominion subsidy being granted."

"If you (the people) want a railroad send me; if not, send Forbes."

"I am authorized to say if you elect Forbes you get nothing at all, and will lose the subsidy granted for the seventy-five miles, which expires on July 1 next, but send me and I will get the old subsidy renewed and the balance due for the thirty miles."

The Citizen professes to be aghast when it is proven that some liberal agent hired a rig to take a voter to the polls, or endorsed a note for some needy elector. Well, we would like to hear its candid opinion of such kinds of bribery as are noted above. There is more bribery in the one above speech of Mr. Moraine's or in Mr. Bowell's letter, than was committed by every liberal in Canada in the elections last year and this.

It is to be noted, too, that both the above instances of wholesale bribery were committed by Mr. Bowell and Mr. Thompson, the two great moral ministels, whom the people are called upon to admire and revere. But even Caron or Langevin never attempted more flagrantly to debauch the constituencies.

It is this form of of bribery, in which the public revenues of the country, in which the sacred trust reposed in the government of the land, is stolen and prostituted for party purposes, that constitutes the real danger to the country, and this is the means by which the tories have retained power so long. To the remedy of this evil the efforts of parliament should be directed, though there is little hope that a party that owes its power to this form of debauchery will allow itself to be shorn of its greatest source of strength.

HAVE LEFT WASHINGTON

THE RECIPROCITY COMMISSIONERS RETURN HOME.

The Associated Press Reports that No Treaty Has Been Concluded Owing to the Fact that the Commissioners Had No Power to Act.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The Canadian reciprocity negotiations came to an end today. There was a session of about 2½ hours at the State Department, attended by Secretary Blaine and General Foster on the side of the United States and Sir Julian Pauncefote and the Canadian Commissioners on behalf of the applicants for reciprocal trade relations.

At the end of the meeting it was announced that negotiations were concluded and that the visitors would leave here for Canada to-night.

The State Department officials refuse to make known the result of the conference, but it is believed that the visitors were unsuccessful in their mission, principally because of their alleged failure to satisfy representatives of this Government that they were authorized to conclude a commercial treaty independent of the direct interests of Great Britain.

The proposition of the Canadians, so it is understood, was that a treaty be concluded on the following basis:

1. A renewal of reciprocity treaty of 1854, with the modifications required by the altered circumstances of both countries.
2. A reconsideration of the treaty of 1888 with respect to the Atlantic fisheries, with the aim of securing the free admission into the United States markets of Canadian fishery products in return for facilities to be granted to United States fishermen to buy bait and supplies and to tranship their cargoes in Canada, all such privileges to be mutual.
3. The protection of mackerel and other fisheries on the Atlantic ocean and in the inland waters also.
4. The relaxation of the seaboard coasting laws of the two countries.
5. Of the coasting laws and inland waters dividing Canada from the United States.
6. Mutual salvage and saving of wrecked vessels.
7. Arrangements for settling the boundaries between Canada and Alaska.

BURNED THE CHURCH.

A Grecian Mob Maltreat Protestant Clergymen and Worshippers.

ATHENS, Feb. 16.—During the service at the Protestant Church at Piræus yesterday a mob of men forced their way to the interior of the building and severely maltreated the ministers and the audience. They stole everything of value in the church and then set fire to it.

A detachment of troops was sent to the scene and they succeeded in extinguishing the flames, but not until the inside of the church had been burned beyond repair.

Many members of the mob were arrested.

An Heir To Millions Killed in the Hunting Field.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Thomas Freake, the eldest son of Sir Thomas Freake, Bart., was thrown from his horse and killed while hunting with the Vale of White Horse, Cricklade, hounds, near Swindon. He was heir to an enormous fortune amassed by his grandfather, Sir Charles Freake. There is another son, Frederick, a lad of 11, who now becomes heir to the baronetcy. Sir Charles Freake left $4,000,000 in cash, besides much real estate.

The Queensland Government to Admit Polynesians as Plantation Laborers.

BRISBANE, Feb. 16.—A remarkable manifesto on the colored labor question, signed by the Premier, the Hon. Sir Samuel Walker Griffith, K.C.M.G., was published this morning. It begins by stating that the attention of the Government has been repeatedly directed to the very unsatisfactory condition of the sugar industry, through the difficulty of obtaining suitable labor, and states the intention of the Government to resume the admission of Polynesians as plantation laborers for a period of 10 years.

WILLING TO DIE.

Having Confessed His Crime, a Parricide Will Carry a Clear Conscience to Prison.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Feb. 16.—William Coulter, the religious fanatic, who, after acquittal for the murder of his aged father, confessed in a revival meeting that he had committed the crime and had perjured himself on the stand in the trial, was today sentenced to State's prison for 10 years for perjury, to which he pleaded guilty on Thursday.

When brought into the court room for sentence he fell upon his knees and cried loudly:

"Oh God, oh Saviour! I await thy coming," and similar phrases.

He was finally quieted down and remained silent until after sentence had been passed, when he exclaimed loudly:

"I care not for human punishment. God and I have balanced our accounts and I am all safe."

Frozen to Death.

HAMILTON, Feb. 16.—A man named Bush was found frozen to death on Saturday morning last on the mountain between Beamsville and Smithville. It is supposed he was under the influence of liquor and fell out of his cutter and lay at the side of the road all night. The horse went on home, but was not discovered by the family until the morning. A search was instituted, but too late. The body was frozen stiff when found.

An Inventor Shoots Himself.

Were Used by Confidence Men.

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—"Heath's Infallible Counterfeit Detector," a book ostensibly containing directions for detecting spurious money, has come to grief, the Secret Service officials having suppressed its sale.

The "Detector" was published by Laban Heath of Boston, who sold the book in enormous quantities. The books contained cuts of Treasury notes of any denomination from $1 to $500. Many complaints were received at the Treasury Department that the books were being used by "bunco" steerers and confidence men. The sharpers, it was discovered, would cut the pictures of the Treasury notes out of the book and pass them on the unwary.

Elizabeth Taylor, relict of the late William Taylor, grandmother of Mrs. J. D. Chaplin, with whom she has resided for the last three years, died at St. Catharines on Sunday, after a comparatively short illness, in her 87th year. The deceased lady was one of the oldest inhabitants of Toronto, having for 82 years made that city her home.

By the death of Mr. Alexander Johnston yesterday, London, Ont., loses one of its oldest and most respected citizens. He was a most successful business man, and up to the end was the senior member of the well-known wholesale leather firm of Alex Johnston & Co., Richmond-street, London, his two sons, William and Charles, being his partners. E. H. Johnston, barrister, etc., and a member of the London School Board, is the third son. His only daughter is Mrs. A. W. Porte, also of London. Mr. Johnston was a widower of only a few years. He was a native of Londonderry, Ireland, and a life-long Conservative, always prominent in municipal and political affairs. The funeral takes place to-morrow.

THE WANDERING JEW.

A RABBI SAYS THE PROPHET ELIJAH WAS THE ORIGINAL.

A Common Belief that Good and Great Men, the Heroes of the Nations, Live On—The Immortal Sleepers—He Fixes the Identity Thus.

Dr. Philipson, rabbi of the Mount street temple, Cincinnati, lectured on the "Wandering Jew" in the Scovil avenue temple last night. In part the lecture was as follows:

"All nations are loth to believe that their good and great men, their heroes, are not alive. In former ages they have willingly listened to any tradition which said that their illustrious predecessors were not dead. King Arthur was supposed by the English to live on, although he did not appear before them. The Germans imagined that Frederick Barbarossa lay in a trance until the time of great need would come to the nation, when he would again lead them to victory. Many nations have had similar traditions. Everywhere we find the stories of the immortal sleepers.

"It is to this class that the story of the "Wandering Jew" probably belongs. Early in the thirteenth century a form of the legend was given to the English-speaking people by an Armenian Bishop. It was not the legend of a wanderer, but of an immortal or waiting Jew, who must exist to the end of time. In the sixteenth century we hear of a version which has been the text of many a drama: the legend of a Jew doomed to wander up and down the earth to the end of time because of an insult offered the Christian Saviour. Let us look for the source of the story.

"The Jews, like other nations, had their legends of their immortal great men. Enoch was supposed to have been taken from his surroundings without dying a natural death. Elijah was taken to the skies in a chariot of fire. Tradition stated that Elijah was wandering in disguise among his people doing good wherever he went. There is no doubt that this was the first Wandering Jew, the immortal Elijah. This is no doubt the source from which the Christian story took its rise. The first appearances of the legend were during the middle ages, at about the time of the most relentless persecution of the Jews.

"A Christian monk perhaps shaped the legend of Elijah to his purpose to represent the Jews as a cursed race. By the flimsy logic prevalent at that age a Scriptural quotation was fitted to the altered legend, and the tale of the Wandering Jew augmented the bitterness of the persecution. But this legend once believed is now known to be but a legend. Still it is ignorantly thought and preached in too many places. But D'Israeli has proved in his writings that the scattering of the Jews is not the result of a curse. Historically and dogmatically it is proved to be impossible. The Jews were present in every quarter of the known world before the crucifixion, allowing the story of the crucifixion to be true. This surely was not the result of the Saviour's curse. Dogmatically the only grounds for the supposed curse are found in the words attributed to Matthew to the rabble: 'His blood be upon us and our children.' These were the words of the judged and not of the judge, if the tale be true."—Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

Connoisseurs in Perfumes.

The learned in scents claim that they can distinguish and name each element of any compound odor, just as the musician can discriminate the trace and sound of the various instruments that are rendering the crowded symphony. Doubtless these learned ones could distinguish, on coming into a lady's drawing-room, all the various breaths imprisoned in the pot-pourri jar—the rose leaves, the cassia buds, the orange flowers, the orris root, the vanilla, the benzoni and cinnamon and musk and alcohol, and all the innumerable rest. But to the ignorant in such fine points the pleasure is perhaps just as keen, let the learned deny it as they may. Yet many think themselves accomplished in this branch whose education is still very far from finished. We remember, at the time of a famous Oriental expedition in this country, when people were possessed with the delights of the attar of roses to be brought there, that the Oriental stock of attar ran out, and it was replenished from a Yankee dealer's stock of oil of geranium, and the sale continued just as before, entirely undiminished, and with warm adulation of the strange rich sweetness of the real Turkish and Persian attar of roses. And although the oil of geranium is undoubtedly a rich perfume, yet the crafty Orientals must have laughed in their loose sleeves at the way in which it took the place of the at once far richer, and more delicate, and four times more costly object of the bulbul's worship.—Harper's Bazar.

A Naples Donkey-Barrow Story.

A ridiculous incident is recorded by our correspondent at Naples. There is an asylum in that city for old people, in the service of which is used a small donkey-barrow on which is inscribed the words "Little Sisters of the Poor," and which is generally used for collecting odd gifts, from the sale of which the institute derives an income of about 20,000 francs a year. The other day one of the paupers fell and hurt his head, and was conveyed in the cart, accompanied by two nuns, to the Pellegrini Hospital. Just before reaching it the cart upset and the donkey ran away and took refuge in the office of the "Lotto." The spectators and inhabitants of the neighboring streets immediately crowded the "Lotto" office to play the numbers appropriate to the different persons and objects connected with the affair—33, 36, 41, 53—and next day the office itself placarded the following numbers at its door, with the heading: "Yesterday's Incident—11, 41, 71, 90." Next Saturday the people will find out whether their lotto lore gave them the fortunate number.—London News.

Browning's Courtesy.

Mrs. Andrew Crosse tells in the current number of Temple Bar an amusing anecdote about Browning.

"On one occasion Mr. Browning's son had hired a room in a neighboring house in which to exhibit his pictures. In the temporary absence of the artist, Mr. Browning was doing the honors, the room being half-filled with fashionable friends.

"Mr. Browning was standing near the door when a visitor, unannounced, made her appearance. He immediately shook hands with the stranger or tried to do so, when she exclaimed: 'Oh, I beg your pardon, but please, sir, I'm the cook.'

"'Mr. Barrett asked me to come and see his pictures.' 'And I am very glad to see you,' said Mr. Browning, with ready courtesy. 'Take my arm and I will show you round.'"

It you have a cough or cold do not neglect it; many without a trace of that hereditar disease have drifted into a consumptiv grave by neglecting what was only a sligh cold. Had the used Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup before it was too late their lives would have been spared. Mr. A. W. Levy Mitchell, writes. "I think Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation on the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught severe cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cought. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of Consumption, and had given up hodes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickel's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieved, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured. I always recomend it for severe colds and consumption."

The railway has signified their willingness to lay the siding if granted permission to do so. It will no doubt be recommended by the committee.

IMMIGRATION TO MANITOBA

Special Agent Waddell Speaks of the Resources of The Prairie Province

Mr. Alex. Waddell, special immigration agent for the Manitoba Government, addressed an audience in the Town Hall here Saturday evening on the Agricultural resources of that country. It was evident from the interest manifested by the audience that Mr. Waddell was speaking on a subject in which he has had a long and familiar experience. He also had the faculty of expressing himself in a clever forcible and agreeable manner. Amongst other favorable climatic conditions of the country he claims that it is a good thing even for the farmers of that country that there is some limit to their season of growing wheat otherwise there would be scarcely any limit to the amount of wheat grown, the result of which would mean lower prices to the farmer. He claims that if farmers would commence sowing as soon as they can in the spring and stop when they have a reasonable amount sowed and then get it harvested as soon as it was ready to harvest we would seldom hear of anything from Manitoba in the wheat line but No. 1 and No. 2 hard. He strongly advises all going to engage in land give their attention to mixed farming as the safest and surest way to success. As the wheat of that country has attained distinction in the markets of the world so will many of its other resources such as horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, etc., as soon as they receive their just attention. Stock of all kinds developed early attained a large size and at the same time combined with size both symmetry and spirit. Mr. Waddell invites all seeking new homes to come to Manitoba a land not only of plenty but of profusion where vegetables grow to a size and perfection hitherto unknown in the world, where great crops of wheat are taken off the same soil year after year with very little work except sowing and reaping, a country where everything is calculated to make its people prosperous and happy.

THE CITY COUNCIL

A LIVELY AND INTERESTING SESSION LAST NIGHT

Ald Hanley's Resignation Not Accepted —Ald Slater Gets The go-by—Permission to the Waterworks Co to Borrow $50,000 Refused—The License Question

All the members were present at the meeting of the city council last night except Alds. Hanley, Clarke and Hopkins Mayor Bogart in the chair.

The council went into committee of the whole on reports Ald. Wallbridge in the chair.

The License Question

In reference to the recommendation of the by-law committee that a special committe be appointed to confer with the license commissioners in reference to the reduction of the liquor licenses. Ald. Anderson said it was throwing time away. The commissioners were answerable to the government and not the city. They would not be catecised by a special committee.

Ald. Walmsley said that there could be no harm in meeting the commissioners in a friendly spirit and discussing the matter.

Ald. Starling said it was only a loop hole for certain Aldermen to wriggle out of their vote.

Ald. Mikel could see no reason why the recommendation should not pass. There could be no harm in it.

Ald. Slater was not favorable to the recommendation.

Ald. Ponton was in favor of consulting the commissioners. It would be in the interests of the city to settle the matter as amicably and agreeably as possible to all concerned.

Ald. Skinner concurred in this opinion. From what he had heard he did not think Ald. Clarke's by-law would pass the council.

Ald. Shevlin favored the recommendation which was unanimously carried.

Ald. Starling Resigns

Ald. Starling put in his resignation from the water and gas and the court of revision committee. In being placed on these committees he did not think he had been fairly dealt with. If they refused to accept his resignation he would refuse to act.

Ald. Doyle considered Ald Starling an active and energetic alderman. He would like to know on what committees he would prefer to act.

Ald. Anderson thought that Ald. Starling and Doyle might arrange to exchange portfolios. Ald. Anderson had been willing to exchange his offices with Ald. Starling but he had not seen fit to accept it.

Ald. Skinner did not think that Ald. Starling had any reason to grumble He thought the majority should rule. He was willing to exchange his place on the fire committee for that of the water and gas.

Ald. Walmsley thought this was a happy solution. The easiest way was the best. He had had his share of fighting and he did not want any more of it.

Ald. Mikel concurred in this opinion. He could see nothing to gain in resurrecting the troubles of the first meeting.

Ald. Starling—I want my resignation accepted on both committees. I refuse to act.

Ald. Anderson—Well then let us vote on the question, what is the use of wasting time.

Ald. Ponton while admitting that Ald. Starling was a good alderman thought there was plenty of material without him. He moved that his resignation be accepted. Valuable time was being taken up to discuss personal matters.

Ald. Skinner—Question.

Ald. Taylor had come to the council to do business, and not to discuss Ald. Starling's resignation.

Ald. Anderson was disgusted with Ald. Starling's attitude. Was the council going to be mopped around by one man who had put himself on record as being unwilling to do his duty? The council could get along very well with twenty members, Ald. Starling's services were not of so much value that the business of the city could not be conducted without him.

Ald. Mikel thought Ald. Skinner might go on the court of revision.

Ald. Skinner—I expect to go fishing about court of revision time.

Ald. Mikel—You might take the court of revision with you. (Laughter.)

Ald. Starling's resignation was accepted.

The committee arose and reported which was received and adopted.

Ald. Doyle enquired what had become of a petition from the ratepayers of Great St. James and Pinnacle streets praying for better water facilities. The matter had been referred to the committee last year and he wanted to know whether it had been acted on.

Ald. Luscombe said that the matter had not been brought before him or he would have attended to it.

Ald. Ponton asked if there was any further information in reference to the sale of the fire engine.

Ald. Doyle understood that the negotiations were going on with Tweed with a view of its sale.

Ald. Slater informed the council, members of the Tweed council would be in Belleville shortly to inspect the engine.

Ald. Hay complained of a balky horse on the fire service. It was a serious inconveince during a fire.

Ald LaRoche said the matter would be considered at the next meeting of the fire committee.

Ald. Skinner moved seconded by Ald Wallbridge the passage of a by-law increasing the number of the executive committee from seven to nine members.

Ald. Doyle supported the by-law.

It was opposed by Ald. Starling and Walmsley. The motion was adopted.

The Waterworks Matter

Ald. Hay took the chair in committee of the whole on by-laws when the above by-laws were passed and numbered.

The question of giving the waterworks company the privilege of borrowing $50,000 was vigorously discussed pro and con. Ald Ponton was strongly of the opinion that the city should either grant the privelege or throw their petition out.

Ald Skinner thought the concessions demanded by the city were just and should be adhered to. The company had said that they could secure the privilege by a special act of parliament. He thought their could be no harm in letting them pursue this course. Alds. Wallbridge and Shevlin held similiar views.

On a vote the prayer of the petition was refused.

Ald. Ponton moved in amendment that the report of the by-law committee be not adopted but be referred back to further consider the clause dealing with the waterworks.

The amendment was lost on the following vote:

YEAS.—LaRoche, Luscombe, Ponton, Slater, Starling.—5.

NAYS—Anderson, Doyle, Foster, Hay, Lingham, Mikel, Shevlin, Skinner, Taylor, Wallbridge, Walmsley.—11.

Ald Hanley's Resignation

Ald. Skinner moved seconded by Ald. LaRoche that the resignation of Ald. Hanley be not accepted.

Ald. Walmsley moved in amendment that the resignation be accepted. He understood that he wished to resign as he was unable to devote time to his duties.

Ald. Mikel said that if he desired to resign he should be allowed to do so. Ald. Ponton agreed with these remarks and it should be acted on at once.

Ald. Starling said it was important that there be a head of the public works committee. If Ald. Hanley did not want to act he should be allowed to resign.

Ald. Skinner said that if the council wished him to continue in the council he would withdraw his resignation. The speaker thought it would be a compliment to Ald. Hanley if the council would express their confidence in him.

Ald. Starling moved in amendment that Ald. Hanley be given two weeks in which to withdraw his resignation.

Ald. Anderson strongly argued in the direction of Ald. Skinner's remarks.

Ald. Doyle could see no reason why Ald. Hanley should resign. He was a good alderman and a practical man. His services were of great value to the city. If Ald. Hanley did not have time to attend the council he certainly would not have time to attend the duties of chairman of public works. A chairman should be appointed pro tem at any rate.

Ald. Skinner's motion was carried by a large majority.

Ald. Anderson moved seconded by Ald. Skinner that Ald. Walmsley's name be added to the executive committee.—Carried.

Ald. Starling moved that a light be placed at the corner of Pinnacle and Bridge street.

Ald. Luscombe said that the government would probably locate an electric light on this corner in the near future.

Ald. Anderson moved seconded by Ald. Luscombe that Ald. Mikel be a member of the court of revision. He was eminently qualified to act in such a capacity from a cursory glance at the animal. (Laughter.)

Ald. Walmsley asked that Ald. Mikel be elected chairman of the committee.

Ald. Mikel declined the honor.

The motion carried.

Ald. Walmsley gave notice of the following motion seconded by Ald. Anderson: "That a memorial be addressed to the provincial legislature setting forth the position of Belleville with the Grand Junction Railway Co., and the legislation connected therewith and praying that the government may see their way clear to compensate or recompence said city for the amount of the bonuses granted to the said railway company by the city and that a deputation be appointed to go to Toronto and urge the prayer of the memorial."

Ald. Skinner gave notice of a by-law making the street surveyor at all times responsible to the council for the performance of his duties and that no expense be incurred without the knowledge of the public works committee.

The council adjourned.

THE CANADIAN MUTE.

The First Issue of Belleville's new Paper a Most Creditable one,

The first number of "The Canadian Mute" has just been issued from the press of the institution for the deaf and dumb, Belleville. It is an eight page paper and will be issued semi-monthly. The issue before us is a gem of beauty and of much interest. The mechanical work reflects great credit on Mr. MacDiarmid the instructor of printing, while the contents are no less creditable to the editors, Messrs. Mathison and Ashley. The subscription price is only 50 cents a year and no doubt many in Belleville will be glad to receive the paper regularly. Mr. Mathison is justly delighted with his venture, for he has never lost his love for his old profession. With three former newspaper men, Messrs. R. Mathison, A. Mathison and J. B. Ashley, and all of most marked ability the institute should be capable of turning out half a dozen papers. We wish every success to the "Canadian Mute."

AN ACTION FOR DAMAGES.

Dr Gibson Asks for Remuneration for Losses Sustained

Through his solicitor, J. Parker Thomas, Dr. Gibson has asked the city for compensation for damages sustained in a runaway a few days ago in which his horses jumped over the wall at the foot of Church street into the river. He claims that the side walk was in an deficient condition. He does not stipulate the amount of damages demanded,

Pants All Wool For $1,50

The lowest prise we have ever been able to offer all wool pants at, has been $2.00 per pair. But we have struck a bargain and will give our customers the benefit. Think of getting a good all wool pant, well made and good fitting for $1.50. You can get those at the Oak Hall and at no other place in this part of the country.

Increase Your Weight

If you are losing flesh and blood, commence at once using Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, which is far ahead of all other preparations of the kind in existence By taking Miller's Emulsion people gain from 5 to 10 lbs. by the time the first bottle is consumed. It is the greatest blessing of the century to all in delicate health for who suffer with coughs, colds and ailments that tend to consumption. Remember, Miller's Emulsion contains all the constituents used in wheat. It is used in the hospitals and asylums of the country In big bottles, 50c. and $1, at Bellevil drug stores.

More cases of sick headche, biliousness constipation, can be cured in less time, with less medicine, and for less money, by using Carter's Little Liver pills, than by any other means.

ITCHING AND SCALY

Skin Disease 9 Years. Doctors and Medicines Useless. Cured by Cuticura for $4.75.

I feel it is my duty to tell you my experience with your CUTICURA REMEDIES. I have been troubled for over nine years with a dreadful skin disease. When I first felt it, there appeared a few small red spots on my breast, and it kept on spreading slowly. It started the same on my back, between my shoulders. A few days after the spots turned gray, and began itching. Small scales would fall off, so it continued spreading all over my body. I tried all the patent medicines I could think of, or get hold of. I also consulted doctors. Yes, they would cure me in a short time, but they always failed. Then I gave it all up, thinking there was no cure for me. Some few months ago, I noticed your advertisement in the Tacoma Morning Globe; thought I would try the CUTICURA REMEDIES, not thinking it would do me much good, but to my surprise, three boxes of CUTICURA, one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT cured me entirely. My skin is now as white and pure as that of a child. I send my photograph. I have many friends in Chicago, Ill., and St. Paul, Minn.

ASSESSMENT COMMISSIONSHIP

A Special Committee appointed to Look Into The New System

At the City Council last night the executive committee recommended, and which was adopted, that the following be a special committee appointed to investigate into the assessment system, referred to Mayor Bogart's inaugaral address: Alds Skinner, Anderson, Ponton, Doyle, Lingham. Wallbridge. The committee will report the result of their investigation to the Council at its next meeting.

AN OUTSIDE OPINION.

Why Cannot Farmers see the Advantage of Free Trade,

An Englishman in the city in talking to a reporter last night expressed the opinion that the only outcome of the policy now being pursued by the conservatives at Ottawa would ultimately lead to annexation. "The whole institution is rotten and the farmers who are the victims seem to evince the most apathy. The government that legislates for the manufacturers has a long head. They present an unbroken vote while the farmer is hoodwinked. Why the farmers of Canada cannot see the advantage of free trade with U. S. is beyond the comprehension of the leading men and journals of Great Britain."

J. P. C. PHILLIPS, Manager.

To the President and Directors of the Hastings Loan and Investment Society:—

GENTLEMEN,—We hereby certify that we have audited the Books and Securities of the Society for the year ending 31st December, 1891, and that above balance sheet and accompaning statements are true and correct.

HENRY W. EDDIS, F. C. A.,
JAS. WALLACE, } Auditors.

"To the President and Directors of the Hastings Loan and Investment Society, Belleville.

"GENTLEMEN,—I have again the pleasure to report that I have again gone "carefully over all the Company's loans and am able to report upon the satisfactory results "and present position of the business. The interest has been well paid up, and as before in "cases where there was any reasonable doubt as to its collection, no accrued interest has "been taken into account.

"Even after making allowance for possible depreciation in the value of some of the securities the margins (assuming the original valuation to have been correct) appear amply sufficient to warrant entire confidence in the sound condition of the Company's affairs.

I remain your obedient servant,
HENRY WM. EDDIS, F. C. A."

'From the above statement it will be seen that your Directors have declared two half yearly Dividends at the rate of Six per cent. per annum, and have carried the sum of $2500 to the Credit of the Reserve Fund and a further sum of $517.73 to the credit of Contingent Account, making a total at credit of these accounts of $18,000 and $3,132.73 respectively.

The policy of the Board of Directors has of late years been to strengthen the position of the Society by putting away as much as possible of the earnings of each year, with the result that the Reserve and Contingent Accounts now equal about 10 per cent upon the paid up capital.

The business of the year has been well maintained and with a satisfactory and profitable result.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

M. BOWELL,
President.

OUR PRICE

Some stores have the bad habit of having two prices. They ask more than they expect to get and then "because its you" throw off and come down to their real price. You make nothing by that. Better trade in a store that has but one price for all. We are that store. Please do not ask us to "throw off. We can't do it. We rigidly adhere to one price and you know that is a low price.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

YESTERDAY WAS A DULL DAY IN THE HOUSE.

Mr. Harcourt's Budget Speech Due on Thursday — Paupers Who Object to Contribute to Anatomical Studies — Physicians Who Have Been Driven Out of the Union,

Toronto, Feb. 17.—The House had a very brief session yesterday. The chief features were the submission and adoption of the address of condolence with Her Majesty in the recent affliction that has befallen the Royal house. The document was in the usual terms and Messrs. Mowat and Meredith, the mover and seconder, performed their duty very briefly and in good taste.

A number of bills were introduced in blank and read a first time.

A great grist of petitions were presented, the general tenor of a great number of them, it is well to notice, being dissatisfaction with methods of assessment and taxation. Petitions squinting at single tax are common, and they are not all from urban socialists either, but a proportion bore the earmarks of quiet country places. The supply of those protesting against the contract system and the presence of unwelcome saloons in temperance polling sub-divisions has not yet run out. The Torrens system was also able to produce an able-bodied petition or two in its favor.

Waterloo, however, had the honor of the most ghastly prayer. The municipality has erected an industrial home, but it has been impossible to coax a few paupers to come in and give it a house-warming. Their objection is that when they shuffle off the ghoulish inspector of anatomy will pounce on the remains.

Rattle his bones over the stones,
He is a pauper whom nobody owns,

Waterloo wants the Anatomy Act amended so that it may be allowed to keep its own skeletons.

An equally painful subject was contained in the plaint of a number of physicians who object to paying the annual fee imposed by the Council of the College of Physicians and Surgeons. The council is treating those who have refused to pay their fees as "rats" and won't let them practice their profession. They are proceeded against as if they had never studied or taken a diploma. They ask for relief.

Mr. Gibson presented a whole stock of reports and returns.

A message from the Lieut.-Governor, which, Mr. Mowat remarked with much satisfaction, was signed "by his own hand," was submitted asking for a number of interim appropriations. They were quite steep, but the House granted them without a wink.

From the Gallery.

Mr. Fraser's seat is filled by Mr. Hardy.

Mr. Balfour, who looks very pale, wears a rakish black sombrero. The custom of wearing hats in the House is more honored in the breach than in the observance.

A return brought down yesterday showed that the total receipts from liquor licenses in this city last year were $70,957, of which the province got $11,278 and the city $52,256. The inspectors' salaries amounted to $7422.

Mr. Mowat announced that the public accounts would be laid on the table to-morrow and that Mr. Harcourt would deliver the budget on Thursday.

A London deputation with Mayor Spencer in its forefront descended on the Ontario Cabinet yesterday afternoon in Mr. Mowat's lair. Besides the mayor there were Hon. David Mills, John Cameron, Ald. Reaman, Shaw and Moule, Dr. Campbell, Messrs. Craig, Love, Carson, Merchant, T. H. Purdom, Q.C., and Thomas Hobbs. The ministers present were Messrs. Mowat, Ross, Hardy, Harcourt and Gibson. The object of the visit of the Western Cockneys was to impress on the Government the desirability of establishing a third normal school, and, secondly, to draw the attention of the ministers to the fact that nature and geography had selected London as the site of said building. Messrs. Mills and Cameron dwelt on the geographical and statistical aspects of it. It was evident from their statement that London resembles in som respects Duluth, as portrayed by J. Proctor Knott. Messrs. Merchant and Carson took the opportunity of criticizing pretty severely the inefficacy of the present Normal School system, chiefly because of the brevity of the term of instruction. Mr. Mowat wound up the business in a few sentences, but he did not conclude with an intimation that he would give the subject his earnest consideration. There was a breathless pause, but he absolutely refused to say it and the deputation retired.

DOWN BELOW ZERO.

A Touch of Bitter Cold Weather in the Northwest.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 17.—Last night was the most trying one of the winter here. The mercury was 19 degrees below zero and there was a bitter northwest wind. All over the Northwest clear up to Medicine Hat and Qu'Appelle the cold is still intense and the sky clear. The remarkable borealic display of Saturday was followed last night by a phenomenal lunar halo, which disappeared aftes the moon had risen 30 degrees.

At 7 o'clock this morning the mercury was 18 below zero, at 9 o'clock 11 below and at noon at the zero point. In the suburbs the mercury went down to 25 below.

At Duluth the report of the weather station at 7 o'clock last evening placed the mercury at 6 below zero and growing rapidly colder. The lake is frozen over.

The thermometer at Minto, N.D., registered 28 degrees below zero at 6 a.m. yesterdav.

Smut in Wheat.

Winnipeg, Feb. 17.—Every effort is being made by local grain men to ensure eradication of smut from Manitoba wheat this season. Smut has brought low grades of wheat into great disfavor, and it is felt must be prevented if Manitoba's reputation is to be sustained.

European Famines.

In 1016 an awful famine raged throughout all Europe, and again from 1193 to 1195, when complete crop failures caused terrible suffering. In England and France the people ate the flesh of dogs and cats, and many cases of cannibalism were recorded. During the latter three years thousands upon thousands perished from starvation.

To Produce Rain.

In a district of Sumatra to break a drought all the women of the village, scantily clad, go to the river, wade into it, and splash each other with the water. A black cat is thrown into the water and made to swim about for a while, then allowed to escape to the bank, pursued by the splashing of the women.

The sawmill machinery of the "Blue Jeans" Co was the instrument in a painful accident at Grand Rapids, Mich., last night. While placing the circular saw in the frame at Powers' Opera House Master Mechanic Edward W. Kelly of the company had his foot drawn against the teeth of a belt, the member being half cut off.

A missing debenture has added a new interest to the Heslop tragedy. The debenture was for $1000 and was sold by the late John Riddel to Treasurer Heslop of Ancaster in July, 1888. The debenture was No 200 and registered by the Landed Banking and Loan Company. It is thought that the debenture must have been stolen from the township treasurer's house on the night he was murdered.

LUNATIC ASYLUM BURNED.

Set on Fire by an Inmate, Who is Burned to Death.

Jackson, Miss., Feb. 17.—The four-story main building of the State Asylum was set on fire yesterday by an inmate named J. D. Brown, who had escaped and was recaptured yesterday. There were 600 inmates, all of whom it is thought were rescued, except Brown, who perished.

A MOSQUITO'S BITE FATAL.

It Made a Surgical Operation Necessary and Under It the Boy Died.

Baltimore, Feb. 17.—Harry Randolph Daley, aged 9 years, died last night at the John Hopkins Hospital from the effects of a mosquito bite. He was bitten on the foot by a mosquito last summer while in Talbot county. The bite caused a slight swelling but no special inconvenience at the time.

About a week afterwards the boy complained of a pain in his foot. This was followed by a swelling, which extended up the leg. Soon the leg became affected and a swelling made its appearance, which grew slowly but surely.

Three weeks ago the boy's parents brought him to the hospital, and the surgeon in charge concluded that an operation was necessary. It was too late, however. The boy, weakened with pain, could not withstand the shock and died immediately afterwards. It is the first case of the kind ever reported here.

MURDERED OR DROWNED.

All Hope Abandoned of Recovering the Bodies of Orton's Party of Miners.

Port Townsend, Wash., Feb. 17.—Advices from Alaska concerning the fate of Morris Orton and party of ten miners indicate that they have been murdered by Indians or lost in the sea trying to cross from Crose Sound to Yukilata. Searching parties have hunted six weeks for the missing miners without success, and the hope of recovering their bodies has been abandoned.

Norton's party left Lityua Bay for Juneau in November, but were never heard from again. Citizens of Sitka organized and besought Commander Maynard of the war ship Pinto to go to the rescue, it being thought that the men were lost in the woods and in danger of starvation. Maynard refused to go. He said that his ship was unseaworthy and that the trip would only endanger the lives of his crew of 50 men. He considered the missing men beyond human aid.

Searching parties were organized, however, and a sailing vessel was sent to search for the lost miners, but no traces were found. Recent hostile acts of the Indians in the neighborhood confirm the fears that the men were killed and robbed by Indians and their bodies thrown into the sea.

KILLED BY WILD DOGS.

John Pratt and His Daughter the Victims of Ferocious Brutes.

Wichita, Kas., Feb. 17.—John Pratt and his 7-year-old daughter, living near Leonard, Sherman county, were killed last night by wild dogs, which infest the extreme northwestern corner of the State.

Pratt and his child left Leonard late yesterday afternoon for home. This morning their mangled remains were found about a mile from home, and the carcasses of several dogs showed that a horrible battle had been waged before Pratt was overcome.

RETURNED TO BROCKVILLE.

Fitzsimmons' Body to Remain in New Orleans for a Year.

New Orleans, Feb. 17.—Fitzsimmons' brother, who arrived here several days ago to claim the body of the murderer, left this evening for his home in Brockville, Ont., without the body. After telegraphic consultation with the family, it was decided to let the body remain where it is until a year had passed.

WAS SHE BURIED ALIVE.

It Appears Now That Mrs. Wilson Was Buried at Any Rate.

Carthage, Ill., Feb. 14.—Many believe that Mrs. Jay Wilson, whose alleged resuscitation in her coffin, 12 miles south of Warsaw, on last Tuesday was buried alive after all. The report received here at the time said that she had recovered, but it is now learned that she was buried.

It was stated that while the watchers were placing the body in the coffin the woman threw up her arms and grasped the wrists of one of the attendants with a vise-like grip; that various well-known tests were applied, such as pinching the ears and holding a mirror over the mouth, and that she was finally resuscitated and became able to relate her frightful experiences. It appears now that she never regained consciousness, although signs of life were so manifest that a physician was sent for, but that the messenger could not find one.

The pinching and mirror tests were again tried, and it is said the woman's ear turned red and moisture was noticed on the mirror. Nevertheless it was decided that the woman was dead, and she was accordingly buried.

THE WEDDING PARTY IN THE CELLAR

Guests, Refreshments and Gifts Disappeared Through the Floor.

New London, Conn., Feb. 17.—Rabbi Santos had just married Bernhard Greenberg and Rosalie King at the home of the bride's mother this afternoon and the guests were crowding around the happy couple tendering congratulations when the floor gave way with a sudden crash and the entire party were dumped in a heap into the cellar, a distance of six feet. After them came the table on which were the wedding refreshments and presents.

The exclamations of the men and screams of the women brought the neighbors to the spot and all were quickly extricated. With the exception of slight bruises and torn garments little damage was done and the wedding festivitiis were soon resumed in another room.

The Curate Is Missing.

Toronto, Feb. 17.—Another leader in Israel has fallen, or rather fled. This time the flock that mourns the absence of its spiritual adviser belongs to the Anglican Church. It is that of Grace Church, Elm-street, whose rector, Rev. J. Pitt Lewis, is at present traveling in Egypt for the sake of his health.

Before Mr. Lewis left on his travels he gave his congregation in charge of his assistant, Rev. C. C. Kemp, and arranged that a Mr. Edwards, who represented himself as the nephew of Lord Kensington, should assist Mr. Kemp in his duties.

Three months ago Mr. Edwards entered on his duties and his eloquence at the services and his energy in parish work soon made the congregation become very much attached to him.

A first he boarded at the Arlington, but afterwards went to live in University-avenue.

The young curate disappeared from the city on Sunday last.

IN THE SURPEME COURT.

Twelve Election Appeals—Members Confirmed in Their Seats.

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—The Supreme Court met to-day, all the judges being on the bench, except Judge Fournier, when some 12 election appeals were taken into consideration. Haldimand and North Waterloo were dismissed, having been settled out of court. The result of this is that Mr. Bowman and Dr. Montague are confirmed in their seats.

The Bellechasse election case—Amyot v. Labrique—was next taken up. The court held that the petitioners should have, according to the statute, proved that the petitioners were bona fide electors, and accordingly allowed the appeal with costs and dismissed the petition with costs. This confirmed Mr. Amyot in his seat.

The next case was the Argenteuil case. Dr. Christie, the sitting member, appealed from the judgment of the court below on a preliminary objection that the deposit made by the petitioners was insufficient by reason of the receipt stating that $1000 had been deposited in bills of the Dominion Bank of Canada. The appeal was dismissed with costs. Dr. Christie will retain his seat for the session.

The next case was the Laprairie case, Gilbert v. Pelletier. In the Laprairie election case the court allowed the appeal and remitted the whole case against Mr. Pelletier, Conservative, for trial to the court below.

The Prescott appeal was dismissed and the judgment of the court below unseating Mr. Proulx was confirmed.

In the West Northumberland case, Mr. Hargraft, M.P., Liberal, did not appear to press his appeal against the decision unseating him, consequently the appeal was dismissed.

The North Perth appeal was dismissed. This confirms Mr. Grieve, Liberal, in his seat.

Hon. John Haggart has decided not to take part in the election in Soutn Ontario. He remains in Ottawa at the request of the Prime Minister, who is very much indisposed. The latter's condition is beginning to cause uneasiness amongst his friends.

In Montcalm Mr. Dugas, the late member, will again be a candidate for election to the House of Commons as a Conservative. Mr. Therien, whom Mr. Dugas, in a three-cornered fight, beat by 41 votes in March, will also present himself. Mr. Therien is also an old representative of the county and a Conservative.

AVENGED HER BOY.

A Mother Takes Up the Cause of Her Son Who Was Libelled.

Vienna, Feb. 17.—Nine months ago a popular actress, the wife of a comic actor named Pauly, committed suicide and a newspaper published an account of the private life of the couple, alleging that the unfortunate woman shot herself in sheer despair at the ill-treatment she had received at her husband's hands.

Copies of the article were laid on the grave of Mme. Pauly and were there found by her husband. He brought an action for defamation of character against the owner of the newspaper, but before the case came up for trial M. Pauly, through grief, committed suicide by shooting himself.

His mother, anxious to clear his memory from any suspicion of stain, asked permission to carry on the case in the place of her deceased son, and the editor had to defend himself against accusations which were practicalty raised by a man who has been dead for several months.

He was found guilty and sentenced to three months' imprisonment.

The Joke May Cost Her Life.

Sea Isle City, N.J., Feb. 17.—Miss Flora Springer, the daughter of Jesse Springer of Goshen is hiccoughing herself to death.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Harry Corby's actions at Roslin are severely commented on, and are strongly condemned even by his best friends. His action in attacking a man when it was impossible for him to defend himself was cowardly, his action in assaulting him was ruffianly.

The member for West Hastings is throwing off his mask and showing the manner of a man he is. His insolence is becoming intolerable, and is fast repelling his supporters. He has not been able to endure success, a fault with men of little ability who have been elevated by a series of circumstances to places of honor.

A prominent Tory of West Hastings says he can buy every Catholic in Tyendinaga with a bottle of whiskey. Such is the opinion held of these electors by the Tory heelers, who, having lost all virtue themselves, imagine that all others are on the same low level. The Catholics of Tyendinaga will know how to resent this contemptuous language on the 20th.

Mr. Northrup tells the electors that reciprocity will kill off the manufacturing industries of this part of the country. Such a remark coming from a citizen of Belleville, where the N P. has killed off a score of industries in the past ten years, is calculated to raise only a laugh of derision. What fools he must think the farmers of East Hastings are!

The reports from East Hasting are most encouraging. The sentiment in favor of reciprocity there is overwhelming, and nothing can prevent Mr. Aylsworth's success but the free use of boodle by the tories. This they are using unsparingly, but the indications are that the electors of that riding will resent this attempt to buy them up, and will vote for free access to the American market and for purity of government.

Mr. Northrup offers the electors of Deseronto a post office if they will give him their support. He pledges his word to secure this if he is elected. We direct the attention of the Intelligencer to this. It was horrified when a liberal agent was proven to have asked an elector in South Perth if he would take five dollars for his vote. But Mr. Northrup offers the people Deseronto ten or fifteen thousand dollars for their votes. So Mr. Northrup is from two to three thousand times as bad as the agent. Well, if the latter's misdeeds merit a long paragraph of denunciation from our contemporary it will have to devote a whole issue to Mr. Northrup.

Mr. Corby seems to think that he carries the suffrage of East Hastings in his pocket, and that he can buy up the electors of that constituency at his will He boasts in a open manner that he has sufficient "influence" to carry that riding. The only kind of influence he can have is money and whiskey, for his eloquence or his logic will convince no man. So great a contempt has he for the electors of that riding that he thinks they can be bought like sheep in the shambles. It remains to be seen whether the electors of East Hastings belong to Mr. Corby or not whether or not they are amenable to the kind of "influence" he and his fellow-workers make use of.

TRAGIC SUICIDE OF A COUNTESS AT NICE.

M. De Lesseps, the Famous Engineer, Now Lying at the Point of Death—The Oxford Scandals Terminate in the Conviction of the Alleged Defrauder.

NICE, Feb. 17.—A most sensational suicide has taken place—that of the Countess of Meck, a fashionable young lady of 30, belonging to the Russian colony. Her husband is the owner of a railway and a very rich man. The Countess has been far from happy in her life of complete retirement in the Villa Montevello, which his condition rendered necessary.

On Wednesday morning she was found dead in her bed with a number of phials lying on a table near by, which were found to have contained poison. The greatest secrecy is maintained by the police and no information can be obtained. The medical men called in by the authorities have examined the intestines of the unfortunate young woman, but refuse to make any public report. An order has been given for the embalming of the remains for the purpose of transportation to Russia.

Gladstone's Son at Monte Carlo.

It has just leaked out that Mr and Mrs. Gladstone went last Wednesday to see their son Herbert, who is staying at Beaulieu with his friend, Sir Julius Kitson, the Gladstonian of Leeds.

The Grand Old Man and his devoted wife drove to the Hotel Des Anglais, at Beaulieu, and found to their consternation that Herbert had gone to Monte Carlo. The truant came back by the last train, after losing a hundred francs, and the "People's William" is not pleased with his youngest born.

NOBS BLACKMAILED.

A Tutor at Oxford Catches Some Undergraduates in His Net.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—At the Bow-street Police Court yesterday, M. F. Moreland, the private tutor of Oxford, who was arrested on Saturday, charged with blackmailing a number of wealthy undergraduates of the University, was brought up for preliminary examination, and remanded until Tuesday next.

The alleged blackmailing schemes of Mr. Moreland, it is said, were worked upon some of the most distinguished members of the nobility now studying at Oxford.

Mr. Moreland, who is 65 years of age, has been in the habit of luring the noble and wealthy students into correspondence with a mysterious widow, and, when he had sufficient documentary evidence in his possession, he would make a demand, accompanied by a threat of exposure, for a round sum in cash.

The victims in some cases paid the sum demanded, but in time the matter was exposed.

SERVIA EXPELS A CORRESPONDENT.

The Fall in Her Securities Attributed to His Telegrams to Berlin.

BERLIN, Feb. 17.—The Voss Gazette publishes a despatch from Semla announcing that its correspondent at Belgrave was compelled to leave Servia to-day by order of the Servian Minister of the Interior. The reason given for his expulsion is that his telegrams to Berlin had caused a fall in Servian securities:

The correspondent had transmitted the news that the Servian Government was about to contract a new loan. In answer to the declaration of the Servian Government that this was pure invention, the correspondent replies:

"The Skuptschina at a secret sitting authorized the Minister of War to order eight field batteries of 36 heavy guns and 150,000 rounds of ammunition, together with 125,000 rifles. Inasmuch as the loan of a million of francs, advanced by the Handelsgesellchaft, had been exhausted, more funds were required to pay for these armaments, but the Berlin financiers notified the Servian Government that they would only be prepared to make further advances on condition that the orders for new arms and ammunition were given to German manufactories.

"The united influence of Russia and France was exerted to secure order for a French firm, and French financial houses offered to take 10,000,000 francs in Servian bonds if the order was given to France. A contract to that effect was to have been signed on Monday, but a remonstrance against this step reached Belgrave from an influential quarter in Berlin. As further showing the serious consequences of such a decision the representatives in Belgrave of an important Berlin institution received the following telegram:

"'In consequence of the mischievous dealings of the Belgrave Government with French contractors the price of Servian rentes can no longer be kept up.'"

The Gazette says it is evident that the Servian Government is alone to blame for the fall in its securities, which it falsely attributes to the correspondent of the paper, who simply did his duty in sending the news complained of.

Passengers and Trainmen Fled Before a Madman With a Revolver.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 17.—Several weeks ago the friends of William Royce, a well-attorney of this city, noticed that his mind was failing and he was sent to a private hospital at Oxford, O., for treatment. Last night he escaped and boarded a Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton train for home.

Just before the train reached Hamilton, Royse went into the sleeping car and flourishing a revolver drove the porter and passengers out. The conductor and trainmen made an effort to capture the maniac, but were deterred by his threats to kill the first person that advanced upon him.

The police of this city were notified of the state of affairs by wire and Royse was taken in charge at the depot. This afternoon he was adjudged insane and sent to the asylum.

Keep the Works in good order.

NORMAN, Ont., January 1st

W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first, only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

ORDER OF THE GARTER.

A CHAPTER ON DECORATIONS FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE.

When the Order of the Garter was Started—The Incident Which Gave it Birth—Some of its Most Distinguished Members.

From very early times, decorations of one kind or other have been bestowed by most nations on those who have rendered their country some distinguished service; but to trace the origin of these marks of royal favor is no easy task, unless we assume that such a custom was in vogue so far back as the time of Pharaoh, who, as we are told, "took off his ring from his hand, and put it upon Joseph's hand, and arrayed him in vestures of fine linen, and put a gold chain about his neck." This mark of royal approval, it is true, made Joseph no member of a companionship such as the subject of this article indicates. The passage, nevertheless, is interesting, as showing the existence, even at that early period, of a custom not dissimilar to that of the present day.

Perhaps in no other country, in this nineteenth century, are orders of distinction bestowed with greater liberality than in France. In this country, however, such rewards are distributed more sparingly; and it may be truly said that, as a consequence, they are highly appreciated by those fortunate enough to possess them. Of the limited list of the Orders that now exist—and most highly prized and the most ancient is "The most noble Order of the Garter."

Before proceeding farther it will be well to endeavor to account for the introduction of these orders—or companionships, as they are termed—and to do so we shall have to go back to the end of the eighth century. Then it was that chivalry in all its splendor existed, and Europe was overrun by wandering adventurers, only too eager for any hazardous enterprise likely to bring riches and fame. When any perilous enterprise was undertaken by these adventurers they would often combine together under the common designation of Companions or Fraternities of Arms. Eventually, we are told, these armed fraternities became so powerful in their influence as to necessitate the establishment of fellowships on a more extended scale, and in imitation of the monastic societies there was instituted a system of military orders.

The system having fallen into abeyance, it was not until the reign of Edward III. that its revival took place. Being engaged in hostilities with France, history records that Edward expected to derive considerable benefits by gathering around his standard and attaching to his person the elite of the European knighthood; and this, it is supposed, is the origin of an order that has now been in existence for more than five centuries, and which is looked upon as the proudest decoration of the most illustrious of our nobility.

Much has been written by way of dispute as to the precise date of its institution, as well as to the circumstances which led to its adoption. Some authorities aver that 1346 was the year of its introduction; others place the date three years later. None seem absolutely certain on the point; but most agree in the later date. The circumstances connected with the foundation of the order are known, perhaps, to every schoolboy; but as the romantic account has been variously told by different writers it may be of interest to repeat that given by the greatest authority on the orders of knighthood, Sir H. Nicolas.

He relates that, during a festival at court, a lady happened to drop her garter, which was taken up by King Edward III., who, observing a significant smile among the bystanders, exclaimed: "Honi soit qui mal y pense" (Dishonored be he who thinks ill of it). Many writers have scouted the idea of such an episode having any truth attached to it; it may be well, therefore, to quote the reasons given by the authority referred to for accepting the incident as one worthy of belief. In commenting upon the story, Sir H. Nicolas states "that in the spirit of gallantry which belonged no less to the age than to his own disposition, and conformably with the custom of wearing a lady's favor, and perhaps to prevent any further impertinence, the king is said to have placed the garter around his own knee."

He adds, and with reason, "that an anecdote so much in accordance with the manners and feelings of the times is very likely to have occurred." Hot dispute has reigned, too, as to the name of the lady who forms one of the principal characters in the incident; some writers name the Queen, others the Countess of Kent; but the one most generally associated with the story is the Countess of Salisbury.

It is not generally supposed that the circumstance related was the primary cause of the institution of the order, but that Edward had previously determined to form a knightly band in imitation somewhat of the knights of the Round Table of King Arthur; and that, not having decided upon an ensign by way of distinction, he was glad to embrace the opportunity of adopting one arising from the above incident.

A few details in reference to the several habiliments may be interesting. The garter is of dark blue, edged with gold, and bears in gold letters the familiar motto, "Honi soit qui mal y pense." The buckle is of gold, and richly chased. This emblem is worn on the left leg. It is permissible for a knight of the Order to enrich the garter with precious stones, if he so pleases. That worn by Charles I. at his execution, was, it is stated, inwoven with as many as 400 diamonds—a luxury indulged in, though to a less extravagant extent, by several companions of the Order of the present day.

The mantle is of purple velvet; while the hood and surcoat are of similar material, but of crimson color. Formerly these vestures were covered, or "powdered," as it was termed, with garters containing the motto. The collar consists of twenty-six gold pieces, each in the form of a garter, and from the center piece hangs what is familiarly known as the "George," which is a figure in gold of St. George on horseback encountering the dragon. Since the year 1519, however, it has been the custom on state occasions to dispense with the wearing of this figure, which is somewhat heavy and large in size, and to wear in its place what is styled the "lesser George," an ornament of smaller size and weight. The star is of silver, of simple design, and consists of eight points.

It is not of course necessary that a knight of the order should have all the insignia on his person on state occasions, although it is incumbent upon him to have displayed upon his person some part of the decoration. Formerly, it was the law that a knight should never be without his garter; later on, he was permitted, when on horseback, to wear in its stead a blue lace or thread round his leg; but this practice has long since fallen into disuse.

At the time of the foundation of the order its knights numbered twenty-five, exclusive of the King. No change occurred until 1786, when the order was enlarged by the inclusion of seven more knights. A second enlargement took place in 1805, and a third in 1831, by which the lineal descendants of George I. and George II. were included.

From two to four pill each night upon going to bed, will in a short time drive away the sickly yellow look of billious persons, and bring to their cheeks a beautiful glow of perfect health. Dr, Morse's Indian Root Pills are sold by all dealers in Medicine.

A Sensible Statement.

Sirs,—Having used your Burdock Blood Bitters successfully for some time past, I must state that for my complaint of biliousness and acid stomach I have never found an equal, and I continue to use it and recommend it to my neighbors.

W. SUTTON, St. Thomas, Ont.

It you have a cough or cold do not neglect it; many without a trace of that hereditary disease have drifted into a consumptive grave by neglecting what was only a slight cold. Had the used Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup before it was too late their lives would have been spared. Mr. A. W. Levy Mitchell, writes. "I think Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation on the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught a severe cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cought. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of Consumption, and had given up hodes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickel's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieved, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured. I always recomend it for severe colds and consumption."

Snipe and plover are unusually numerous this year.

DEAR SIRS,—My children were taken ill with ulcerated sore throats bordering on diphtheria. I had nothing in the house but Hagyards Yellow Oil which I used with great benefit I am sure if it had not been for it the disease would have developed into diphtheria. It is a splendid medicine.

Advice to Mothers

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used by millions of mothers for children teething for over fifty years, with perfect success. It relieves the little sufferer at once, produces natural quiet sleep, and freeing the child from pain, and the young cherub wakes as bright as a button. It is pleasant to taste, sooths the child softens the gums, allays pain, relieve wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes 25 cts bottle.

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—A trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. The original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No deteleriou mineral ingredient is contained in it, and thoughits action is thorough in cases of costiveness it never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowel like a violent purgative. It invigorate the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney diseases scrofulous and all diseases of the blood, female weakness, &c., &c. Price $100. Sample bottle 10 cents. Ask for Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. The wrapper bears a fac-smile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers.

WORDS OF CONSOLATION

To Mr W J Massey, Mr and Mrs Culver

Dear brothers and sister,—We, your past class mates, to-day assembled desire to place on record and express to you, our deep sympathy with and for you in this your time of trouble and bereavement. We know that words can but feebly portray the anguish of this time of trial, yet would offer our mite of comfort if we could. There is one unfailing source in Him who doeth all things well and has promised "In six troubles I will be with thee and in the seventh will not forsake thee." Remember the language of the poet wherein it says "One by one our ranks are thinning, thinning here but swelling there"; try to bear and be brave and the cloud now so dark may roll by or have a silver lining, and at eve it shall be light, for as thy day is so shall thy strength be and all things shall work for good to them that love and fear God.

Signed in behalf of the class now assembled at White's church.—Bay Side circuit, W. W. KELLEY, leader.

More cases of sick headche, biliousness constipation, can be cured in less time, with less medicine, and for less money, by using Carter's Little Liver pills, than by any other means.

GRAND COUNCIL R T OF T

A SUCCESSFUL RECEPTION SERVICE LAST NIGHT

Eloquent Address by F S Spence of Toronto—Proceedings of Yesterday Afternoon Session

Tuesday Afternoon Session

The Grand Council resumed business at 2. p. m.

An invitation was received from Sup. Mathison of the Deaf and Dumb Institute to the members of the Grand Council to visit the Institute during their stay in the city.

The thanks of the Council ware extended to the Supt. for his kind invitation.

The following cammittees were struck—CADET WORK.—Rev. T. R, McNair, Bros. By. m Cornell, S's. Tobey.

FRATERNAL COURTESIES.—Bros. Begg, Kennedy and Kenning.

SICK BENEFIT.—Bros. Dr. Robertson, Wilkes, Lapp, Diack and Kenning.

The Committee on Temperance presented their report congratulating the Grand Council on the fact that the weekly is an assured success. They reveiwed the work of the year and found it very satisfactory.

A petition from the Grand Council of Quebec and the counties interested asking for the privilege of the counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, Prescott and Russell to sever their connection with this Grand Council and annex themselves to the Grand Council of Quebec. After some discussion this request was granted, this council deeming the ground easier to be worked by Quebec than by this council.

An invitation was read from the Y. P S. of Bridge St Methodist church to th members of the Grand Council to vise their reading room.

The council expressed its thanks and its willingness to accept the invitation.

The Grand Council closed at 5.30 p. m. to attend the public meeting.

The Evening Reception

The public reception and mass-meeting last night in the Bridge St. Methodist church was a splendid success. There was a large audience present, the speaking was of a very superior order, the singing was good, and everything was most pleasant and enjoyable, and the delegates were delighted. The speech f the evening was by F. S. Spence, of Toronto, one of the most eloquent and convincing temperance orators in America.

At 8 o'clock W. W. Chown, Select Councillor of Belleville Council, and District Councillor of Hastings District, took the chair. A hymn was sung after which Rev. J. M. Hodson led in prayer. The choir sang an anthem entitled "Prohibition is marching on," after which short, pithy and appropriate addresses of welcome were made by W. W. Chown, on behalf of the Royal Templars of Belleville, by Mayor Bogart on behalf of the corporation, and by Rev. W. H. Barnes on behalf of the Ministerial Association.

Grand Councillor Flagg replied on behalf or the delegates, and thanked those who has spoken and the citizens generally for the generous hospitality they had extended to the Grand Council.

"The Crusaders," one of the Royal Templars' revival choirs, then sang "Keep Sweet," after which Rev. J. W. Bell, Missionary Superintendent for Ontario spoke. He said he was pleased to be before the audience and express his views again on the temperance question. There was enough temperance sentiment in the Dominion to put prohibition in force in this country in one year. The trouble is to get this sentiment directed into right channels to make it effective. Royal Templars are working for one object prominent over all others, prohibition. Royal Templars are working and because they are working they command respect from all outsiders. The Royal Templars have increased their membership every year since they first started. They increased 3000 last year and had now 16000 members. Sometimes people say that there is no use of joining a temperance organization. They say they don't drink and it would be of no use to them. They can conceive no other idea of a temperance society than their own selfish advantage. We say let those who believe in prohibition organize. They can do more for temperance by union than singly. Royal Templars are in the front of the ranks and are there to stay and if ever there is a change they will be farther ahead yet. Their backs never will be seen in retreat.

Mr. J. P. Smith, one of the "Emerald Duet," of Hamilton, then sang a solo.

Rev. W. Kettlewell next spoke. He was delightod with the reception. Each of the welcoming speeches was a gem in its way. He then made way for Bro. W. W. Buchanan, managing director of the order, who said there was nothing suited him better than to talk to an audience, but he was going to cut his speech short to give the audience a chance to hear Mr. F. S. Spence. He spoke briefly on the beneficiary department of the order. He said this was not a department to be apoligized for. This department brought stability to the order He contended that the beneficiary feature of the order taught a fundamental truth of the temperance reform, viz: That alcohol is an implacable foe to the human organism, increasing disease and shortening life. He producd uery interesting statistics, overwhelmingly sustaining his position. Fifty years of the of the history of the United Kingdom Provident Association, one of the largest life ins. companies of Great Britain, showed that total abstainers were 29 per cent better risks than carefully selected non-abstainers. The great Rechabite Friendly Society of England, with upwards of 100,000 members and surplus funds of nearly three millions of dollars, had during the last fifty years a death rate per annum of 7 in a 1,000, while the death rate of the other friendly societies exceeded 10 in a 1,000. The Rechabites are a total abstinence order. The Crusaders then sang in their capital style, "Old Rummie is going away," and for an encore gave "The Croakers."

F. S. Spence was next called on and said he saw nothing in the Temperance outlook in Canada but brightness. This was not a fanatical movement but the result of forces which would not result otherwise. The temperance cause is God's cause but pushed by human agency herefore in so far as human instumentality is employed they must expect failure. But we learned from failure, from experiment, from blunder, from success. This movement grew from little but nothing ever yet sprang up full grown. 60 years ago their was no organized society for temperance work and the first temperance organization was started with no intentions of total abstinence. They sought then to stop drunkenness, the aim was now to stop drinking. The first temperance societies were societies of moderation. They prohibited the use of ardent spirits but did not think of prohibiting wines, beer or cider. Here is a pledge of an early date—

"Realizing that the use of ardent spirits are injurious, we promise that we will not drink any ardent spirits whatever except at Christmas time, New Years. 4th July, Thanksgiving day, and sheep washings."

But the moderation plan did not work and as a natural result they came up to the standard of total abstinence. But this did not work. Why? Because licensed temptation stood in the way. A place is licensed to sell liquor. If it is right to sell liquor, it is right to buy it, and a right to drink it, and so perforce the temperance organizations to come up to the standard of total prohibition, though on a limited scale, but it would not work. Why? Because there was no one to enforce it. Now the responsibility that rests on the Templars is enormous. It consists of 3 things 1st Creation of sound sentiment, 2nd Agitation for a wise law, 3rd, When we get it—the honest administration of it.

The speaker told the story of the American sailor and the power of the British and American flags, and closed with an eloquent appeal to parents to 'save the boys."

THE COST TO THE FARMERS

The Burden of Taxation Sustained in Consequence of the N P

Following is an extract from Allan Pringle's letter to the farmers of Lennox. It applies equally as well to East Hastings:

Let us now for a momement figure up, both to the farmer and his wife, and especially their sons who have votes. just about how much of their life-blood (their earnings) they part with yearly to the leeches who live on them and grow fat. The amount, of course ranges from $50 to $500 according to the size of farm, extent of earnings, products, business, etc. We will suppose a good farmer with a large farm, who would have in the season for disposal say four or five head of horned stock, 25 lambs, 500 bushels of barley, hay, potatoes, beans eggs, etc.; and would have to purchase the usual necessaries of a large family, groceries, clothes, etc., and the requisite implements, vehicles, harness, etc, needed outside. On the horses he would lose at least $30 each, making $60; on the horned stocks, if cows for the American market, $10 each, $50; on the lambs, 75c each, $18; on the barley, 30c per bushel, $150; on. say 25 tons of hay. $4 per ton, $100; on the potatoes, beans, eggs and other articles he might sell he would lose at a low calculation, $50; then on his purchases of groceries, clothes, vehicles, implements, harness, etc., which are highly taxed he would lose not less than $100—making a total of $528 of tariff taxes in one year which, under free trade would remain in his pocket.

This case is supposed to be that of a good farmer with 200 acres of land, and the products are certainly not overdrawn. Now, in the same ratio, a farmer with 100 acres with half the products (but much more than half the expenses and purchases as his family may be just as large as that of the other), would lose at least half of that sum, which would be upwards of $250. One with 50 acres (and his family may be as large as either of the others) would lose at leas' $125, which would be in his pocket under free trade, to pay his bills. And so on right along to the mechanic and working man who produce nothing to sell, but have to purchase the highly taxed necessaries of life to provide for families as those of a milionares—the former actually taxed higher for his plain clothes than the latter for his fine rainment.

Under free trade the farmers of Canada would receive from seven to eight million dollars a year more for their products which go to the States than they now receive. This calculation is based on the export returns made in 1889.

Their is another consideration which ought to stimulate "the best side of the house" into action in helping to cure the evil. The mother is attached to her son, the sister to her brother, and both are consequently pained to see the son and brother.

DRIVEN FROM HOME BY HARD TIMES

to a foreign country to seek his fortune among strangers. They had much rather see him purchase a farm at home within visiting reach of the old homestead and see him settle there. But he cannot do that at present with any prospect of succeeding in life, even though he could get his farm almost for nothing. as good Lennox farms are begging for purchasers at less than half of what they were worth a dozen years ago, before there was a National Poverty scheme to curse the earth of this country. The stalwart and enterprising son of the U. E. Loyalist has therefore to leave his home and country, expatriated by a damnable system of outrageous taxation and corrupt government. You can nardly find a family in the county of Lennox but has lost one or more of its members in the general oxdus to the states within the past ten years. And the "flower of the family" goes. They go and go till now nearly a million and a half of Canadians have been preforce annexed to the southern republic. Nearly a quarter of our population are already part and parcel of that great people with whom it would be "disloyal," you know, even to deal! We are vile "traitors" and designing "conspirators" because, forsooth, we wish to cultivate trade commerce and friendship with our nearest neighbors and kin and keep the rest of the kin home.

JOHN WHITE EX-M. P.,

Believes in Free Trade With the United States,

John White, Ex-M. P., for East Hastings, is a loyal member of the loyal tory party. He for many years represented that riding, and is to-day probably the most popular tory in the constituency. Yet, he, like hundreds of other intelligent tories, believes in unrestricted reciprocity. We take the following from the Winnipeg Sun of some time ago:—Mr. John White, once a prominent member of the House of Commons, representing East Hastings, is in the city to-day. In conversation with a representative of the Sun he expressed pretty strong sentiments in favor of free trade with the United States. He thought there was no doubt but it would come very soon. A large wing of Conservatives were in favor of it and Sir John himself was an out-and-out free trader. He denounced as the greatest absurdity he ever heard of, the habit of calling Canadians rebels who were in favor of closer commercial relations with the United States. If such people were rebels what could be said of the great Conservative party which had unanimously placed an act on the statute book containing a standing offer to the American Government to put the natural products of the country on the free list if they would do the same? It was his opinion that full reciprocity between the two countries would soon be accomplished.

Neuralgia. Catarrh Debility Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla

Good authority has said that "neuralgia is the cry of the nerves for pure blood.' The prompt action of Hood's Sarsaparilla on the blood, combined with its toning and strengthening effect upon the nerves, makes this a most excellent medicine for neuralgia and similar troubles. We commend to all sufferers from such complaints and especially to ladies, the following statements recently received:—

"For a good many years I have been suffering from catarrh, neuralgia and general debility. I failed to obtain any permanent relief from medical advice, and my friends feared I would never find anything to cure me. A short time ago I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. At that time I was unable to walk even a short distance without feelin a

CURED OF NEURALGIA.

I am gaining strength rapidly, and can take a two-mile walk without feeling tired. I do not suffer nearly so much from catarrh, and find that as my strength increases the catarrh decreases. I am indeed a changed woman, and shall always feel grateful to Hood's Sarsaparilla for what it has done for me.

that this my testimonial shall be published in order that others suffering as I was may learn how to be benefited." MRS M. E. MARRICK, 26 Wilton Avenue, Toronto, Can.

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS

A D Walker M D Receives a Practical Expression of Esteem.

There was a large gathering of the residents of Shannonville and vicinity at the A. O. U. W. hall thereon Thursday evening Feb. 11th for the purpose of honoring Dr. A. D. Walker, who has lately removed from that village to Belleville as successor to the late Dr. Willson. It was felt that as Dr. Walker, had lately proved himself such a skillful physician and had shown such zeal in his profession, the neighborhood could not allow him to leave his home there without showing in some way their great appreciation of his worth. So all classes irrespective of party or creed united and he was invited to a musical and literary entertainment which was gotten up in his honor. In the absence of Mr. R. L. Lazier who was to preside, Mr. Maybee was called upon to act as chairman and after explaining why the gathering was gotten up he called the Dr. to the platform and called upon Mr. D. W. Massey to read the following address:
To A. D. Walker, Esq., M. D.

On behalf of the people of Shannonville and vicinity we have met here this evening to express our most sincere and heartfelt gratitude to you for your untiring generosity and unflinching usefulness to us during the past four years of your stay amongst us.

We have learned not only to put perfect confidence in you as a physician, but also to love and respect you as a faithful citizen and an ever welcome friend in society, one to whom we can ever look up as an example of true manhood.

It is needless to say that we were grieved to hear that you intended leaving our village but we could not for a moment harbor anything but feelings of pleasure that such a prospect had opened up before you.

As you and and Mrs. Walker take your leave from among us we shall miss you not only in our social circles, but in every benevolent enterprise in which you were always ready to lead.

We trust that in your new sphere your usefulness may be patronized and esteemed more than in the past and that you and Mrs. Walker may be spared to enjoy many happy years in your new home.

Although you have left our village, we hope often to meet you again in our society gatherings and trust that friendship formed during your stay in our midst, shall not end, but be renewed in that eternal home where friendship never ends.

Please accept of these robes and this cane as a slight token of our esteem and as a memento of your short residence among us.

Mrs. Walker, we present you with this coffee set, trusting that you will not forget your old home and friends in Shannonville.

Signed on behalf of the people of Shannonville and vicinity.

D. W. Massey,
Sec'y of committee.

T. Creeper, R. F. Ragan, J. Burnett, H. Little, S. Geddes, J. Doreen, F. Emmons, S. Sines, M. Hill, P Pearsall, W. Reed, Wm Mayell, R. L. Lazier.

At the proper time Mr. John Doreen handed the doctor a handsome pair of black bear skin robes, and a beautiful gold-headed cane, and an elegant silver coffee set for Mrs. Walker who was unavoidably absent through illness.

The doctor was so taken by surprise that for some moments he was unable to speak. When he did he responded on behalf of himself and Mrs. Walker in feeling words thanking the committee and audience for their kind words and useful and elegant gifts. Addresses were also delivered by Revs. Adams, (Methodist), and Goddin, (Episcopalian) and songs and music by Misses Boldrick, Lazier, Dean and Miss Doreen and brother.

You Want Cheap Clothing.

We all have to wear clothing and are all anxious to get it as cheap as possible. If we can show you suits worth from $7 to $10 for $5 surely it would be cheap. This is how it stands. We have a lot of odd suits, one and two of a line and they must be cleared out if low prices mean anything They are just as good to the buyer as if we had a hundred, that is, of course, if we can fit you, and that is very probable —First come first choice—Oak Hall.

WHERE IS REV. MARTI

A CHATHAM MINISTER MYSTERIOUSLY DISAPPEARS.

He Had Engaged Himself to Three Members of His Congregation and Monday Was Fixed Upon as the Wedding Day, But When the Day Arrived the Bridegroom Was Missing.

CHATHAM, Feb. 18.—"Good-bye, Mrs. Dolsen, till I see you again." That was one solitary adieu spoken by Rev. N. H. Martin of Christ Church, Chatham, ere he shook the dust of the town from his feet forever and fled from a community in which no man or woman who knew him but was his admirer and friend. It was spoken to the caretaker of the parsonage on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock and was accompanied by a warm handshake and a $1 bill on account of balance of wages due her.

"All I have, Mrs. Dolsen," he added as he passed over the money, "but I'll give you the rest in a few days."

Mr. Martin has left the community and fled the country. He was to have been married to Miss Delmage of North Chatham on Monday, the 15th. It appears he was also engaged to Miss Kitchen, and the marriage was fixed for Tuesday, the 16th.

Miss Sarah Bonet, a farmer's daughter, also holds the following document written in Mr. Martin's handwriting, which speaks for itself:

> CHATHAM, Ont., Feb. 10, 1892.—I do hereby promise to marry Sarah Bonet on Monday, Feb. 15, 1892, and I further give her full possession and ownership of all the furniture and other contents of my house. (Signed). N. H. MARTIN.

All preparations for the wedding were made at Miss Delmage's home; also by Miss Kitchen's friends for her marriage, but the reverend gentleman never turned up and has not since been seen in Chatham.

Rev. Mr. Martin had been rector of Christ Church for 15 years. He was a fluent speaker, a genial gentleman and a bachelor. His church soon became the most popular one of the place, and his reputation extended throughout Western Ontario. He is a prominent society man and one of the past grands of the I.O.O.F. His congregation was the most aristocratic one of the place, and when it was announced a few weeks ago that Mr. Martin was shortly to wed a prominent member of his flock there was but little surprise expressed.

But as soon as he departed Saturday the news of his engagement to the other young ladies became public. He had arranged with Miss Delmage that the marriage should be secret, as he did not wish it to become known.

THE COMMISSIONERS SPEAK.

A Different Account of the Result of the Mission to Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.—Sir John Thompson, Hon. George E. Foster and Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, the Canadian delegates to Washington, reached here this afternoon.

Sir John Thompson, being seen, declined to speak as to results, but said the accounts of their mission published in the United States papers were far from true.

Hon. George E. Foster said their trip had been delightful. As to the statements of press correspondents at Washington, they were in the main unreliable and seemed to have been written in a narrow and ungenerous spirit. He was glad to be able to add that they found none of that spirit in their interviews with the United States Ministers.

Secretary Blaine was most courteous, and both he and his assistant-general showed them every attention. They arrived on Tuesday and their first interview took place on Wednesday, the interviews being continued day by day until Monday, when they were concluded. The whole of the questions laid down in the order-in-council last year were thoroughly and frankly discussed. He could not give the results until Parliament meets, but could state that good results would arise. There had been no cross-cabling as to the authority of the Canadian delegates between the United States Government and the Home Government. They were received as gentlemen and representatives of a great country and in a spirit that left nothing to be desired.

Hon. Mackenzie Bowell said the delegates had had a reception which was all that heart could desire, but he could not say anything about results.

The Ministers called on Premier Abbott this afternoon.

What Wiman Thinks of It.

WONSOCKET, R.I., Feb. 18.—Erastus Wiman of New York addressed the business men's association here this evening. He said in part that the complete collapse of the recent negotiations respecting Canadian reciprecity again enforced the lesson that so long as diplomacy was controlled by Great Britain on the one hand and dictated by Canadian manufacturers on the other there would be no free market towards the north for American goods. The Tory party in control in Canada, he said, owed its power to the manufacturers of that country, many of whom with the timidity born of excessive protection failed to see the great advantages which an open market in the United States would afford. If diplomacy must continuously fail to obliterate the barrier that now divides the English-speaking people on this continent legislation, Mr. Wiman added, could easily accomplish their practical union. A resolution offering unrestricted trade with Canada by Congress and the appointment of a commission to treat with Parliamentary representatives for the obliteration of the custom line between the two countries could not be resisted by any Parliament in Canada without the certainty of its being repudiated by the people. Legislation originating in the needs and wants of the people of this continent was the one thing essential for a practical union as against diplomacy originated in Great Britain and shaped by men whose only desire was to stand well with the authorities in another world 3000 miles away.

The House did not open up till 3.45 and was adjourned by 4.

In answer to a question of Mr. Clancy's Mr. Harcourt stated that the gross receipts from liquor licenses in this province were as follows: 1890, $602,560; 1891, $680,298, which were divided almost evenly between the province and municipalities, the former, however, having a little the best of it.

The estimates were not laid on the table yesterday and accordingly Mr. Harcourt's financial statement will not be made until Friday afternoon.

The Government will meet a deputation of mining men on Friday afternoon, Feb. 19, in the reception room after the House rises.

SHOCKING TRAGEDY IN AN ORILLIA BARROOM.

A Shooting Gallery Proprietor While on a Spree Lodges a Bullet in the Lung of a Companion During a Wrestling Bout —The Victim May Die.

ORILLIA, Ont , Feb. 18.—The barroom of the Queen's Hotel was the scene of a shooting tragedy, by which A. B. Tudhope nearly lost his life, and William Hood lies in the lockup under a charge that may yet be murder. Hood, who came to Orillia last spring, from Streetsville, and erected a shooting gallery near the lake, was a hard drinker, and for three days prior to this evening had not drawn a sober breath. He was in the Queen's bar about 7 o'clock, when Tudhope came in and began chaffing him, ultimately in play throwing Hood on the floor and sitting on him. Hood suddenly turned over, whisked a 32-calibre revolver from his hip pocket, and pointing it at Tudhope's heart sent the ball on its errand.

Tudhope was carried into the sitting-room and medical aid at once summoned. The ball entered the body immediately below the heart from the back, and it is presumed lodged in the lung. To-night the wounded man is resting fairly easily and has a chance, though a slight one, for his life.

Hood was placed under arrest.

THE IMPERIAL COMMONS.

Mr. Sexton Promises the Government a Lively Time.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—In the House of Commons yesterday the bill introduced by Thos. J. Condon, M.P. for East Tipperary, extending the municipal franchise in Ireland so that municipal authorities in that country will have powers similar to the same class of officials in England, passed its second reading.

The Government did not oppose the measure.

Mr. Sexton expressed regret for the absence of W. L. Jackson, Chief Secretary for Ireland, during the discussion of the first Irish bill of the session, and said Mr. Balfour's Irish Local Government bill would not be received without contest when it is introduced. He promised the Government a lively night.

John P. Nolan (member for North Galway) moved the second reading of the bill to enlarge Irish laborers' allotments and to empower local authorities to purchase land for the erection of laborers' houses.

In making the motion Mr. Nolan said the bill would enable the laborers to improve their position as they had done in the colonies and the United States.

Mr. Balfour opposed the motion. He said the bill would take the money provided by his own (Balfour's) Irish Land Purchase Act for the creation of small holdings in order to purchase cottages a very little cheaper than they could otherwise be obtained.

Mr. Balfour denied that his land act was a failure and declared that it was yet too soon to judge of its operation.

Mr. Sexton said he did not see why a small portion of the land act funds should not be devoted to the present scheme.

Mr. John E. Redmond demanded the application of the cloture, but the Speaker refused to close the debate.

The First Lord of the Treasury Addresses the Constitutional Club.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—The Constitutional Club gave a banquet to-night in honor of Mr. Arthur J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury.

Mr. Balfour, in a speech, said that besides their inability to define their Irish policy the Gladstonians were in a dilemma.

They had made one set of promises to the English electors and another to the Irish electors. The question was: Who would be elected? Who would be the dupes? He believed that the general election would show that the patience of the English electors had been exhausted. If the Home Rule bill was carried the Irish members would be so many soldiers of fortune supporting any government willing to extend the already undue limits granted by the bill to an Irish Parliament. The Gladstonians brought no pressure upon the Government to dissolve Parliament. In fact they dreaded nothing more than a return to power with a majority dependent on the Irish party.

HE MAY RETURN.

The Liabilities of the Ottawa Broker are Reported to be Very Small.

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.—Mr. R. Machray, stock broker, the closing of whose office in Sparks-street yesterday was reported, was written to by his manager here, Mr. W. H. Cooper, and advised to return at once. The liabilities to depositors and all others do not reach $3000, and the assets exceed that sum, consisting chiefly of notes, most of which, however, are not likely ever to pan out very well. No disposition has been shown on the part of any of the creditors to make trouble, and if Mr. Machray returns it is expected he will have no difficulty in effecting a settlement and going on again.

Since he was attacked with the grip he suffered a good deal with head trouble, and as brokerage business fell off in sympathy with the general stagnation which has prevailed he became more and more unsettled, until at last he suddenly left for New York on Monday. His business was confined almost exclusively to wheat, and he operated chiefly through Chicago houses. He did very little comparatively with New York in stocks. Mr. Cooper says he suffered some rather heavy losses with customers who were unable to meet their margins, for which he was held responsible.

A DECLARATION OF THE POPE.

He Says Many Pleasant Things About France.

PARIS, Feb. 18.—The Petit Journal publishes a declaration of the Pope. It is the substance of a statement made to M. Jadet, the ex-deputy, as follows: "My desire and wish of the church is that France should be happy. She is a nation whose pious mind and generous character, though they may not always keep her fast in the straight path which is best suited to her interests, soon repair all faults and show her the clear truth. I pray (and in accordance with my prayer) that despite all resistence there may come an end to the dissensions and the sterile quarrels which weaken her. All her citizens should meet upon the ground of liberty. Each individual may cherish his own preferences. The republic is as legitimate a form of government as any other. I have just received a communication from the president of the committee of the Chicago World's Fair, asking the holy see to take part in that great American undertaking. And the United States, which constitutes a republic, grows greater each day, despite the drawbacks incidental to their boundless liberty. There too the Catholic church develops without clashing with the state. The two powers act in perfect harmony, as they should in all lands when neither infringes upon the right of the other. Liberty is indeed the base and foundation of religion. Between civil power and religious conscience the church aspires before all to liberty. May my voice, which speaks with authority, be heard and may my aims and attitude no longer be distorted by unfounded attacks. What suits the United States is still more suited to Republican France. To all Frenchmen who visit me I speak the same language. I wish that language to be known by all. I regret that certain persons in high places should not dare to proclaim publicly, as they should, the efforts that I make for the peace and prosperity of your noble nation, which I regard ever as the eldest daughter of the church. The church should keep to its true mission. It should reform souls, inculcate the spirit of self-sacrifice and devotion. The church should take an interest in the condition of the work. My assertion of the right of workingmen should facilitate and hasten the restoration of internal peace and diminish the insignificant minority which strives to disturb the public mind and prevent union in your country—a union indispensable to the fulfilment of its highest dignity. Thanks to the strong constitution, France will rise to her old greatness in spite of her foes. I learn with joy that though she boasts such abundant military resources and such valiant sons France has not faltered in her prudence and patience. If she will but free herself from the directions that check her development and paralyze her influence; if she will but abstain from vain harassing and prosecuting she will soon regain the conspicuous place and glorious rank in the world which by right belong to her."

This language of the Pope will make a great impression in France, where the adhesion of His Holiness to the republican cause will spread satisfaction.

MONTT'S LIFE IN DANGER.

The Chilian President Has a Close Call—Likewise Gen. Canto

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—The Herald's Valparaiso despatch says: Plots to kill President Montt and Gen. Canto have been discovered and thwarted. The attempt on President Montt's life took place on Sunday night. The miscreants engaged in it removed the rails three kilometres north of Mule Station. Their intention was to wreck the train which Montt was announced to take. Fortunately Montt stopped off at Chilioan. Moreover, the removal of the rails was discovered by the railroad officials before any damage was done. When the Santiago express for this city arrived at Llallis Monday Gen. Canto, who was one of the passengers, left his seat in the Pullman car to take breakfast. Upon returning he found his seat saturated with kerosene. Burned matches were discovered near by. There was no clue to the perpetrators.

A Wasted Life.

HAMILTON, Feb. 17.—Thomas Easton died this morning at the city hospital. About a dozen years ago he came to Hamilton from England, an admirable specimen of an aristocratic young Englishman—highly educated, refined, good-looking, with plenty of money, but with no aim in life and without ability or desire to help himself. His business was sport. For some years he lived well; money came to him copiously from "home," and he spent it freely. Then the remittances suddenly stopped, and from that time poor Easton sank lower and lower in the social scale. Until lately he eked out a wretched existence by peddling fish and paper boxes. His decline was partly owing to intemperance. St. George's Society will bury him.

Will Not Secede.

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.—The United Workmen this evening discussed at great length the proposal to secede from the Supreme Court of the United States. The feeling of the convention was opposed to any such severance and the proposition rejected by 20,685 votes against 2660. This settles the question for the next 10 years.

"German Syrup"

A Cough and Croup Medicine.

For children a medicine should be absolutely reliable. A mother must be able to pin her faith to it as to her Bible. It must contain nothing violent, uncertain, or dangerous. It must be standard in material and manufacture. It must be plain and simple to administer; easy and pleasant to take. The child must like it. It must be prompt in action, giving immediate relief, as childrens' troubles come quick, grow fast, and end fatally or otherwise in a very short time. It must not only relieve quick but bring them around quick, as children chafe and fret and spoil their constitutions under long confinement. It must do its work in moderate doses. A large quantity of medicine in a child is not desirable. It must not interfere with the child's spirits, appetite or general health. These things suit old as well as young folks, and make Boschee's German Syrup the favorite family medicine.

Children always Enjoy It.

BELLEVILLE, FEBRUARY 18, 1892

EDITORIAL NOTES.

For several years now Sol. White, M. P. P., has been an avowed annexationist. Yet last March he was nominated for the legislature by the new Postmaster General, Hon. J. C. Patterson, who thus demonstrated his loyalty to the British crown.

"A gentleman, courteous and of blameless life, a patriot, eager for his country's good; a statesman wise of counsel and fertile of resource in doing the greatest good to the greatest number," is the description given of Mr. Laurier in an address presented to him the other day at Goderich. It is neatly and aptly put. There exists not in Canada a more courteous gentleman, a more pure minded patriot, a better or nobler man, than Hon. Wilfred Laurier, the honored leader of the Liberal party. Of him the party is justly and enthusiastically proud; and not the party only, but all respectable conservatives also.

The Reformers of Belleville have reason to be proud of their representative in the Ontario Legislature, W. H. Biggar, M. P. P. His excellent speech in moving the address in reply to the speech from the throne brought down on him nearly a column of abuse from the Toronto Empire. The Empire admires and applauds only that which is false and disreputable, it denounces only that which is good an true. In the estimation even of all decent Tories the Empire can pay no higher compliment to a man than to denounce and abuse him. We congratulate Mr. Biggar on his manly speech and on the Empire's abuse.

When I say I cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a lifelong study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. THE MINORITY REPORT.

JUDGE JETTE DEFENDS COUNT MERCIER.

The Ex-Premier Was Not Himself Guilty of Boodling but Was the Victim of Pacaud, Armstrong and Others—An Interesting Document from the Chief of the Commission.

MONTREAL, Feb. 18.—The great Baie des Chaleur commission has completed its task, and the two reports, that by Judges Baby and Davidson, and the minority one by Chief Justice Jette, have both been submitted to the public. The majority report is one sweeping denunciation and condemnation of Mercier, Langelier, Pacaud, Robidoux and the other ministers, but in a lesser degree.

The document bears on it the impress of care and study.

The Jette or minority report on the other hand is diametrically opposed to the findings of the majority one, and exonerates not only Mercier, but his whole crowd, except Pacaud and Armstrong. The closing findings of the Jette reports are as follows: Summing up the facts concerning Mr. Mercier, I find as follows:

1. The note signed by Pacaud and endorsed by Mercier and other political friends for electoral purposes and contestations of elections were paid out of the $100,000 received by Pacaud from Armstrong, but the repayment was made in Mercier's absence without his consent and knowledge, and the responsibility can in no wise be imputed to him. 2. The $5000 sent to Mercier on May 15 were on deposit for that purpose with Pacaud at that date and were not taken, as far as Mr. Mercier was concerned, from the Baie des Chaleurs money. 3. The sum of $5000 sent to Mr. Mercier July 3 was advanced by Pacaud out of the funds arising from a source quite foreign to the Baie Des Chaleurs affair. As far as Mr. Mercier was concerned it ought to have been raised by means of the signed blanks given to Pacaud by Senator Pelletier, and it was in fact subsequently covered by a note written on this blank form when Mr. Pacaud judged proper to have it discounted. Messrs. Turgeon, Carrier, Pinault, Deschenes, Desmarais, Tessier and Lemieux—the names of these gentlemen, who are all members of the Legislative Assembly, have been mentioned during the enquiry in connection with certain sums received by them from Mr. Pacaud. It is only just to say that none of the facts concerning them can justify the slightest suspicion against them.

Taking the evidence on the whole I find the following facts to be established:

1. The Pacand-Armstrong agreement is proved and even admitted, but it was solely between Mr. Armstrong and Pacaud and neither Mr. Thom nor Mr. Cooper knew anything about it.

2. There is no proof that any of the ministers know of this agreement prior to revelations made before the committee of the Senate.

3. None of the Ministers except Mr. Charles Langelier profited in any way from Mr. Armstrong's money.

4. Mr. Langelier does not seem to have known the source of the money that he received from Mr. Pacaud.

As Strong the Other Way.

The Baby-Davidson report takes issue completely with the Jette findings and is just as pronounced in the opposite direction.

In a carefully worded editorial to-day The Star, while not exactly condemning Judge Jette for his findings, inclines to the opinion that his deductions are wrong in principal and fact. It says:

> The most astonishing feature of Judge Jette's report is the admission that the suggestion of an interim report first came from him. Months ago Judges Baby and Davidson were publicly accused of taking advantage of the illness of their colleague to make an interim report to the Lieutenant-Governor, and for months those two learned judges have been subjected to almost daily abuse for so doing. That Judge Jette could keep silent under such circumstances is, to say the least, remarkable. That Judges Baby and Davidson have also kept silent speaks volumes for their patience and dignity. The feeling in political circles here, both Liberal and Conservative, is one of intense astonishment at the Jette report. While it was generally believed that it would be a little favorable to Mercier, yet it was not expected that it would give the coat of whitewash it did.

The Conservatives are feeling sure of carrying the province as things look at present and are conceding about 25 seats only to Mercier. It is by no means certain that he will be able to carry his own county of Bonaventure.

THE SCOTCHED STAKE.

Frightful Injury to a Farmer Near Sault Ste. Marie.

SAULT STE MARIE, Ont., Feb. 18.—Pere Johnson, a farmer of Tarentorus township, 65 years of age, was drawing hay from a neighber's loft. As soon as sufficient hay had been thrown down to fill the weighsling Johnson slid down upon it and assisted in weighing it. The sleigh was fitted with an ordinary cordwood rack, the stakes being sharpened to a keen point to admit a free passage through the hay. In making his descent from the loft to the load Johnson slipped and fell on the sleigh. One of the stakes entering the inner part of his thigh passed up through his body and out again in front of the abdomen. McGill was paralyzed with horror and bereft of strength for a time, but, recovering his self-control, he lifted Johnson off the stake. Doctors think the man may recover.

Want the Duty Off Coal Oil, Etc.

OTTAWA, Feb. 17.—The Patrons of Industry have supplemented the notice of their intention to seek incorporation by a number of petitions to the House, one of which reached the Department of Agriculture yesterday. It demands the amelioration of the disadvantage under which the agricultural classes live, and the removal of the duties on coal oil, binder twine and iron.

Michael Reardon, also a blacksmith, living at the same house, was charged with causing his death by striking him on the head with a board and throwing him downstairs during a quarrel. Michael was locked up.

To Be Hanged for a Lottery Ticket.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 18.—Samuel T. Wilson was to-day sentenced to be hanged March 18 for the murder of Clementime Manning, his mistress. Wilson learned that the woman had a lottery ticket which had won $5000, and tried to coax her to give it to him. Failing, he shot her, stole the ticket and fled, but was caught, tried and convicted.

A Cowardly Murder.

GALLATIN, Tenn., Feb. 18.—William Carter, eldest son of John T. Carter, a well-known farmer and blooded horse dealer, was shot and killed last evening by Edward B. Turpin. The killing is regarded as one of the most cowardly murders that ever took place in this county.

ORDER OF THE GARTER.

A CHAPTER ON DECORATIONS FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE.

When the Order of the Garter was Started—The Incident Which Gave it Birth—Some of its Most Distinguished Members.

The order now numbers fifty knights, not including the sovereign, and has in its ranks most of the royal family, emperors, kings and foreign princes, besides dukes, earls and marquises.

In the earlier days of the Order, gentlemen of every class were held eligible, under certain conditions, to the Garter, whereas now it is restricted to the most noble in the land. Ladies, too, in former days frequently figure as holders of the Order; but since the reign of Henry VII. no lady, unless she be the reigning Queen, has been considered eligible for the decoration. The question of reviving the old and interesting practice of bestowing the decoration upon ladies, when the garter was worn upon the left arm, is one that has often been discussed, but without result.

It is curious to learn that some twenty-five years ago there was discovered a manuscript which is declared to be in the handwriting of Edward VI., being a draft of some improved rules which it was intended by certain reformers to have substituted for the original rules relating to the order. The original statute was not, however, materially altered until the reign of Henry VIII., and the manuscript in question is now in Her Majesty's library at Windsor.

Up to the time of the reign of George III. it was the custom to hold an annual feast of great splendor in connection with the Order, but nothing of the kind appears to have taken place since that time; even the Chapters of the Order, which used to held on all occasions when knights were installed, and which involved some ceremony, are now almost always dispensed with by royal warrant.—Chambers' Journal.

WHERE WHALES ARE FOUND.

They Frequent a Long Inlet Stretching Far North from Hudson's Bay.

From the northern part of Hudson's Bay, already arctic in character, stretches far toward the pole a deep inlet, which some early navigator of these desolate polar shores has termed Roe's Welcome—as if anything within that ice-bound and lonely coast could be welcome to a person just from civilization! The name was no doubt given in memory of some escape from the drifting ice-packs, when the inlet furnished refuge from one of the fierce storms of that polar region.

Roe's Welcome is a famed hunting place for the great polar whale, or "bowhead," as the whalers call it, writes Lieutenant Schwatka in St. Nicholas. This huge whale, which is, indeed, immense in size, often makes his home among the great ice packs and ice fields of the polar seas and a goodly quantity of these it finds in Roe's Welcome. But these ice packs, swinging to and fro with the tides, currents and winds in such a long, narrow inlet as this, render navigation dangerous even for the staunch whaling ships, and they generally make their fishing grounds off the lower mouth of the great inlet, where the cruising is much safer, if not always so profitable. Occasionally, when some exceptionally good ice master is in charge of a whaler he dashes into the better fishing ground for a short cruise; another less skillful, lured by the brighter prospects or discouraged by a poor catch outside, enters the inlet and either reaps a rich harvest of oil and bone or wrecks his vessel. Or he may even escape after an imprisonment in the grip of the merciless ice-fetters for a year or two longer than he had intended to stay.

Such was the fate of the good ship "Gladiator," from a well-known whaling port in southeastern Massachusetts. She sailed to the northernmost end of the "Welcome," as the whalers call it, and, after a most profitable catch of "bowheads," had the ill-fortune to remain firmly bound in the ice for two years. During this long time, much longer than that for which the vessel had been provisioned, the crew were dependent on the many Eskimos who clustered around the ship. The natives supplied them with ample quantities of reindeer, musk-ox, seal, and walrus meat in return for small quantities of molasses and coffee. Their companionship, too, rude as it was, did much to while away the dreary, lonely hours of the two years' imprisonment.

Geographical Dont's.

Don't say or write Austro-Hungary. The best writers prefer Austria-Hungary.

Don't call the Chinese "Mongolians." It is better to reserve the latter name for the people who live north of China proper.

Don't speak of a native of China as a Chinaman. You would not say that you had an Ireland man digging in your garden. It is better to call John a Chinese.

Don't, please don't, say that New York City is located on Manhattan Island. Such a misuse of the verb "to locate" is trying to the nerves of the best lexicographers. Say New York City is situated on Manhattan Island.

Don't speak of China as our Antipodes. Our Antipodes is the point on the other side of the world, reached by a straight line passing through the place on which we stand and the center of the earth. Our Antipodes is in the ocean southwest of Australia.

Don't forget that Oriental names ending in "an" have the accent almost invariably on the last syllable, as Teheran, Beloochistan.

Don't make the mistake some people do of thinking the word "alluvium" to be synonymous with "soil." Only those soils which are the result of the deposition of sediment by running water can be properly called alluvial soils.

Don't, for mercy's sake, say "The Smithsonian Institute." The name is the Smithsonian Institution.—Geographical Magazine.

The Grand Trunk Railway Company announces that, commencing to-day, Pullman buffet parlor cars will be attached to trains leaving Toronto at 7.30 a.m. daily, except Sunday. Nearing His End.

PARIS, Feb. 17.—Count Ferdinand De Lesseps, the world-famed diplomat and promoter of collossal feats of engineering, is dangerously ill. He is perfectly conscious of his critical condition and to-night expressed his desire that the last sacraments of the church be administered to him. M. DeLesseps was born Nov. 19, 1804, and entered the consular service of France at the age of 23 in the capacity of attache to the French consulate at Lisbon. His fame is based principally upon the scheme to pierce the isthmus of Suez by means of a canal, which originated with him, and his complete success in carrying it out.

A Cure For Constipation And Headache

Dr. Silas Lane while in the Rocky Mountains discovered a root that when combined with other herbs makes an easy and certain cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots and leaves, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick-headache in one night, For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for clearing up the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50 cents a package.

Diseases of The Liver

Parmelee's Pills possess the power of acting specifically upon the deceased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that disease of almost every name and nature are driven from the body. Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell, P. O., writes 'I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well.'

Will Recommend

DEAR SIRS,—I am happy to say I have used Haggard's Yellow Oil for burns, bruises, sprains and cuts and find that here is nothing better. I recommend it to all my friends around here,

Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery has worked wonders for dyspeptics and we don't thnk there is a case of Dyspepsia to be found that it will not cure if the directions are followed. Mr. C. E Williams, Druggist, Wingham says: "The Vegetable Discovery is selling well, and know of a bad case of dyspepsia that it has completely cured.

Application

It takes only this to thoroughly remove Dandruff, stop itching of the scalp, and make the hair soft and pliable. In fact Anti-Dandruff is a perfect hair oil —all say so who use it.

Interested People

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprieter of Kemp's Balsam for coughs and colds does it is indeed wonderful, He authorized all druggists to give all those who call for it a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The large bottles are 50c and $1. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption

A Great Surprise

Is in store for all who use, Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs, the great guarantee remedy. Would you believe that it is sold on its merits and that any druggists is authorized by the proprieter of his wonderful remedy to give you a sample bottle free? It never fails to cure acute or chaonic coughs. All druggists sell Kemp's Balsam. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.

If you have a cough or cold do not neglect it; many without a trace of that hereditary disease have drifted into a consumptive grave by neglecting what was only a slight cold. Had the used Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup before it was too late their lives would have been spared. Mr. A. W. Levy Mitchell, writes. "I think Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation on the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught a severe cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cought. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of Consumption, and had given up hodes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickel's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieved, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured. I always recomend it for severe colds and consumption."

Snipe and plover are unusually numerous this year.

DEAR SIRS,—My children were taken ill with ulcerated sore throats bordering on diphtheria. I had nothing in the house but Hagyards Yellow Oil which I used with great benefit I am sure if it had not been for it the disease would have developed into diphtheria. It is a splendid medicine.

Advice to Mothers

Keep the head cool, the feet warm and the bowels regular, and no disease can attack you. This is a celebrated German physician's advise, and can best be accomplished by using Burdock Blood Bitters the best blood purifier known. It cures all disorders of the stomach, liver, bowels, and blood.

A Sensible Statement.

Sirs,—Having used your Burdock Blood Bitters successfully for some time past, I must state that for my complaint of biliousness and cold stomach I have never found an equal, and I continue to use it and recommend it to my neighbors.

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—A trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. The original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No deleterious mineral ingredient is contained in it, and thoughits action is thorough in cases of costivenes it never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowel like a violent purgative. It invigorates the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney diseases scrofulous and all diseases of the blood, female weakness, &c., &c. Price $100. Sample bottle 10 cents. Ask for Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. The wrapper bears all ac-simile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers.

Toronto Globe:— One of the best and most ably conducted institutions in the Province is that for the education of the deaf and dumb at Belleville. The annual report furnishes evidence of substantial and satisfactory progress in the training and education of the pupils. When Inspector Chamberlain visited the institution in March last there were 260 pupils in residence, 145 males and 115 females. Everything was found to be in an orderly and satisfactory condition. Reference is made in the report to Mr. R. Mathison's able efforts to promote the work for which the institution is designed.

TALKING IN HAMILTON

Some Pointed Remarks Made by Rev C O Johnston

Rev. C. O. Johnston, of Napanee, preached in Hamilton on Sunday. The church was packed and hundreds turned away. He made some pointed remarks. He drew lessons from a recent visit paid to the Kingston penitentiary, and stated that whereas there were 540 prisoners in the big penitentiary but a very small percentage of these were females. "I am glad," he remarked, "that our women stand their ground against the penitentiary so well, and yet I can hear some cranky bachelor say, 'Oh, its because the women are too cunning to get caught.'" (Laughter.)

He stated, in decided language, that he did not believe in dancing, and referred to cases were young people had suffered greatly from diseases contracted through exposure at balls and parties where dancing was indulged. He mentioned the case of a young girl who had contracted pleuro-pneumonia through such exposure, and is at present lying in a hospital in Toronto, where she is receiving special treatment. Her parents are well-to-do people in Napanee, and everything that medical skill could do had been tried in the vain hope that it would give her relief.

The distorted reports recently published resulted from the fact that a young man who had contracted to purchase a fiddle ("they were called violins when used in the worship of God," remarked the preacher), one of the conditions of the sale being that he should secure a sufficient number of engagements to play at dances in advance to insure the payment of the purchase money. After the sermon by the speaker very few young ladies in Napanee would dance, and the young men had to forego the purchase of the violin in consequence. In conclusion the preacher thought no person could worship God with their heels.

HOUSTON—MACOUN.

Daniel Houston and Miss Eliza Macoun Quietly Married on Tuesday

On Tuesday at 2.30 Miss Eliza Macoun, eldest daughter of Ex-Ald. James Macoun was united in marriage to Daniel Houston of Brooklyn, N. Y., formerly of Belleville. The bride was supported by her sister while the groom was assisted by David Jones of Trenton. The bride was very attractively dressed in blue while her sister wore a fawn colored silk. The wedding was private, only a few relatives being present. The happy couple left at 5.45 for Toronto and their future home in Brooklyn.

BELLEVILLE IS IN IT.

THEY HAVE BEATEN ALL COMPETITORS SO FAR

And This Afternoon are Playing off the Final With Toronto With Good Prospects of Taking The Tankard.

The first and second rounds in the final matches for the possession of the Ontario Tankard are over, and hopes that yesterday morning were high were dashed before twilight came. A day ago any one of the fourteen clubs was a possible winner of the most important trophy that ever men curled for. To-day the fourteen have been reduced to four, and keen indeed will be the struggle on the Huron street ice to-day, for by noon the number will be narrowed to two. The four clubs that survived the battles of yesterday are:

Toronto Granite,
Galt,
Peterboro',
Belleville.

Of these two Toronto Granite and Belleville were in last year's finals and both got into the second day's play then. Hamilton Thistles and Toronto Prospect Park being the others on that occasion. At that time the Thistles beat the Granites and Prospect Park beat Belleville, the Thistles being the ultimate winners. This year both the Thistles and Prospect Park went down in the first round, Peterboro' beating the Hamilton cracks, while Belleville's curler's got their revenge for last year by defeating the Prospects.

The Toronto Granites were drawn against London Forest City, but the latter did not turn up.

A bird's-eye view of yesterday's result is:—

REFORM MEETING AT CANIFTON

An Enthusiastic Reception Tendered Sir Richard R C Clute and J W Johnson

The meeting at Canifton last night in the Reform interests was the most enthusiastic ever held in East Hastings. With the exception of a few toughs who went out from Belleville headed by a certain orangeman who in his life time has made more applications for a Civic office than any other man in Canada the meeting was orderly and attentive. Hundreds were unable to get into the hall. N. Vermilyea occupied the chair. Sir Richard Cartwright, R. C. Clute Q. C., and J. W. Johnston were the speakers of the evening and handled the question of free trade as only such men can handle it. Their arguments for this much desired end of the Reform party were clear and convincing, and many conservative farmers present went home with different convictions than when they had entered the hall. There was no effort made by the speakers to distort the question at issue, but the Reform policy was so presented to the audience, as being in the interests the farmer, that there was left on their minds no mistaken impression. From all over the riding come encouraging reports and while the Conservatives are doing a great deal of tall taking and indulging in that puglistic style of argument peculiarly their own, the Liberals are working and look forward to an overwhelming defeat of W. B. Northrup—or rather Harry Corby.

The meeting at Canifton was conspicious for the absence of H. Corby or any of his party. Roslin furnishes a better hunting ground for their style of addresses.

A SPOONY COUPLE

A Young Belleville Bride Fearful at The Loss of Her Hubby

A rather amusing scene happened on the G. T. R. express going east yesterday. A newly married couple got on the train at Toronto. When the train arrived at Cobourg the groom got off to get some lunch. The bride did not see him get on again. After the train had proceeded for some time, she began an outcry for her husband. A young man tried to comfort her, but she refused to be consoled. She cried, "Where is Beeville," "Where is Beeville?" After the train had made another stop some of the young men went out to hunt up the missing man. They found him driving in the engine cab with the engineer. When he returned to his better half, she would have nothing to do with him. He was heard to exclaim "Won't you smile at me." The passengers on the train were convulsed with laughter till Belleville was reached, when the couple got off.

A Necessary Precaution

The Cunard Steamship Company proudly boast that, during the many years of their incoporation, they have never lost by shipwreck or accident the life of a single seaman or passenger. There is little idea of the necessary precautions taken by them for the safety of passengers. Every berth carries a life-belt, while patent life-boats and rafts are stored in every convenient corner of the deck. Every ship carries a supply of St. Jacobs Oil in order that any bruises, sprains, colds, sprains, colds, or other ailments, may be quickly and surely cured

Love And Marriage in Japan

Sir Edwin Arnold, who has been enjoying an interesting trip through the United States, has made a careful study of the conditions which govern the family in Japan and embodies his ideas on a paper called "Love and Marriage" in the February number of The Comopilitan. The article is illustrated by the quaintest possible Japanese sketches running down the sides and across the bottom of each page. An excellent photograph of W. D. Howells, serves as a frontispiece, and his work as a writer of fiction is reviewed in in the same number by H. Boyesen. Murat Halstead, turns back lovingly to his early farm days and tells of the "Pets and Sports of a Farmer Boy." The petrolrum industry fully illustrated; An Afgan Story by Archibald Forbes; The Story of the Brazillian Republic by Adams, late Minister to that country; and The Leading Amateurs of the United States in photography, are other leading articles of the month.

"Delsartean Physical Culture" is the name of a little volume, dealing with the Health and Beauty department as well as the general Physical Culture division of Delsartism, and giving one an opportunity to add to his or her library in a very practical direction. If these Exercises and this philosophy will do for the fat, the lean, the ugly, the ill, the awkward, the intemperate and the immoral what is claimed, Delsartism will now be given a fresh impetus. During This Month

All people know that in the clothing line especially, February is the dull month of the year. This being the fact we are offering extra inducements to buyers. Supposing you need a new suit next month, you have the money now and why not buy. You could not possibly put your money out in any other way and do so well as to buy clothing right now at the Oak Hall. Think of all wool men's pants for $1.50 and men's all wool suits at $5.00. If you need any clothing and have a little money call and see us.

AMELIASBURG NEWS

How the Tories Won Their Victory in Prince Edward

The usual excitement attending an election has passed over and our people have again settled down to work. To say the result was a surprise to the most enthusiastic tory would be putting it mildly. It was generally agreed upon by the reform party in this place that Dr. Platt was a defeated man when once the voters' lists were seen. There were a number of names of parties who were justly entitled to a vote and who had voted continually since they became of age until this election that were cheated out of a vote in the late election on account of being omitted from the lists. There could be no reasonable excuse advanced for such work only pure and simple roguery, purposely committed to lessen the reform vote. On the other hand any Tom, Dick or Harry that was likely to vote for Miller or any other candidate brought out by the tory party was on the lists, throwing the odds greatly in favor of the government candidate. Many life long conservatives who believed in the policy advocated by Dr. Platt gave him their support and the increased majority given Miller in this place can not be attributed to any other cause than those already mentioned and the influence of the Belleville deputation who scoured the township for fully two weeks before the election. If the success of the vote could be attributed to any reasonable arguments advanced by the midnight brigade they might claim some credit for the work, but it was not—far to the contrary. It was the height of impudence for an eye glass law student—who, by the way, would succeed better as a clown in some monkey show—to attempt to instruct the farmers in the section. However he did cause some amusement by his maneuvers and the question was frequently asked whether he was employed by any showmen. There were many who attended the meetings throughout the township who became completely disgusted with such monkeyshines who were tempted to "tumble him out" only through fear of being indicted for cruelty to animals. The Reform party have no reason to regret the loss of an election won by such disreputable means, but on the contrary can rejoice that they do not have to commit themselves to anything so gross. Any defeat such as they have sustained will be regarded by other constituencies with contempt and only applauded by those who glory in such conduct and which the most barbarous of people would blush with shame.

There is considerable sickness throughout this place at present. Scarcely a family has been overlooked by Mr. Grip and the enquiry "Have you had the grip?" is now quite as common as "How do you do?" With the exception of Mr Vincott no cases have as yet proved fatal. Many who were afflicted two years ago have been sick with it again this winter but in a different form. It seems a very difficult matter for those who have been affected to know just when they are out of danger. We regret to hear, however, that there are so many tories down with the grippe doubtless brought on by midnight prowlings before the election with some of them.

The funeral of the unfortunate young man, Alyea, who was killed in the woods, was largely attended, and it is to be hoped that those working in the woods felling trees will remember the cause of the accident and take a lesson from it and never run from a falling tree in the direction he did.

If some enterprising firm would buy the mill property at ferry point a very profitable manufactory of some sort might be established. Better facilities for shipping by water can not be found and plenty of it, while the bridge would afford a continuous highway during spring and fall and even during the winter months if the ice was not used. There are a number of good mechanics living at Rossmore instead of seeking employment as they now do in other places, would remain at home, and the village would become in a short time the busy place it has been in years past.

Neuralgia. Catarrh Debility Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla

Good authority has said that "neuralgia is the cry of the nerves for pure blood.' The prompt action of Hood's Sarsaparilla on the blood, combined with its toning and strengthening effect upon the nerves, makes this a most excellent medicine for neuralgia and similar troubles. We commend to all sufferers from such complaints and especially to ladies, the following statements recently received:—

"For a good many years I have been suffering from catarrh, neuralgia and general debility. I failed to obtain any permanent relief from medical advice, and my friends feared I would never find anything to cure me. A short time ago I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. At that time I was unable to walk even a short distance without feelin a overtake me. And I had intense pains from neuralgia in my head, back and limbs which were very exhausting. But I am glad to say that soon after I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I saw that it was doing me good. I have now taken three bottles and am entirely

CURED OF NEURALGIA.

I am gaining strength rapidly, and can take a two-mile walk without feeling tired. I do not suffer nearly so much from catarrh, and find that as my strength increases the catarrh decreases. I am indeed a changed woman, and shall always feel grateful to Hood's Sarsaparilla for what it has done for me.

that this my testimonial shall be published in order that others suffering as I was may learn how to be benefited." MRS M. E. MARRICK, 26 Wilton Avenue, Toronto, Can.

DIED AT 78.

Another Old Land Mark Passes From the Stage of Life

Another old land mark passed away this morning in the person of Mrs. Anne McAuley, relict of the late John McAuley, of Thurlow. The deceased was born in Tyendinaga seventy-eight years ago where she was married to her late husband. Subsequently they took up a farm in Thurlow where Mr. McAuley died some three years ago. Since that time the deceased had been living with her son-in-law Ald. Hanley, corner of St. Catherine and Dunbar Sts., from which point the funeral will take place on Friday at noon to the R. C. cemetery at Marysville. The deceased left two children. Mrs. Hanley and John McAuley, of Dakota who was visiting in the city at the time of his mother's death.

Billiousness Fever Ague

So pleasantly does Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills search out and drive away the seeds of disease that all persons living in the country where fever and ague and all other billious diseases are prevalent will find they should never be without them. From two to four pill each night upon going to bed, will in a short time drive away the sickly yellow look of billious persons, and bring to their cheeks a beautiful glow of perfect health. Dr, Morse's Indian Root Pills are sold by all dealers in Medicine.

COBOURG AND ALBERT COLLEGE.

The College Likely to Remain as it is

The article from our Cobourg contemporary upon the removal of Albert College will indicate the desire on the part of that town to secure the college from this city to replace the loss they are about to sustain in the removal of Victoria. The decision of the courts in the Cobourg vs. Victoria College case is that the moneys subscribed by the residents of the town must be paid back to them. This amounts to some $14,000 and, according to the Cobourg Post, these subscribers now propose to give this sum to the board of management of Albert College in case this institution is removed to that town. It is claimed by the people of Cobourg that unless this be done the valuable buildings now used by Victoria will be lost to the church, and that by such a removal this loss may be saved and the $14,000 made available for Albert College. The Post, however, is premature in its article as whatever may be the hope of the people of that town such a plan has assumed no definite form, and should a proposition be made with these changes in view the advantage of the present location, the large money interest Belleville now has, and the loyal support our citizens have always extended to Albert College, will prove effectual barriers against any such a proposition. While Cobourg is smarting under the claimed injustice in the removal of Victoria is it not surprising that they would entertain any project to perpetrate a similar wrong upon another town? It would be as unjust to Belleville to remove Albert to Cobourg as it was to Cobourg to remove Victoria to Toronto. Undoubtedly Albert College will remain here in its entirety. Its advantage to the city, financially, intellectually and morally is too great for Belleville to assent to its removal, and Principal Dyer and his staff are too much attached to this city and too appreciative of the advantages possessed by an educational institution in a city of the size and intellectual culture of Belleville over those possessed by a little town like Cobourg to desire its removal.

ism. While the Balkan provinces are controlled by the Porte and by German Princes, Hungary, being encouraged by Austria (which in turn is prompted by Germany), is pursuing a most revolting policy of Magyarizing the Hungarian Slavs, and thus preparing the field for future conquests.

Italy was promised, in exchange for her support of Germany, a slice on the Adriatic coast, while England was won over by promises of anti-Russian policy. Thus, everything being in readiness, the matters rest, awaiting only a propituous moment for their consummation. Were the events allowed to run in this track a hundred years hence, they would result in something like this: Roumania is being prepared for Germany by the reigning Hohenzollern prince; in Bulgaria, the German policy is fostered by Prince Coburg; in Servia, ex-King Milan of unsavory reputation, protected the German interests: the Magyars do the work among the Croatains, already casting yearning looks toward Bosnia and Herzegovina; and, lastly, the Germans themselves "attend" to the Slavs on this side of the Leitha. The Poles look stupidly on.

From all this it would seem that Austria is lacking much of that determination which Palacky and the Russians mistakenly attributed to her, for instead of neutralizing the influence of Germany through her various races she has persistently Germanized them, betraying thus her original trust and hurrying herself to destruction through these same elements of which she is composed—the Slavic people. Germany herself, when Austria can no longer serve her purposes, will give her the first blow when the tremendous struggle between the Slavs and the Germans comes.

If in that conflict the Slavs should refuse to go to war with their Russian brethren, it is probable that victorious Germany would occupy their possessions, annexing permanently the whole of Austria on this side of the Leitha. This she might do even at the cost of sacrificing her Polish provinces, out of which could be reconstructed new Poland under the protectorate of Germany. The Bohemians and the Slavonians would have to assume the role of the Poles, thus released from Germany, while the Hapsburgs, shorn of their possessions, would be compelled to move eastward—to Buda-Pesth.

Such, apparently, were the plans of Bismarck, and such results did he anticipate from his victory over France. No matter, then, what power wins in the approaching conflict, the organization of Austria will undoubtedly undergo a great change. Were Russia to win, the country would have to be re-organ

A COLUMN OF POLITICS.

THE ELECTION CASES BEFORE THE SUPREME COURT.

Judgment Reserved in the Grand Trunk Ticket Affair—Mr. German Has the Man Who Had Him Disqualified Arrested for Perjury—Mercier Holds a Monster Meeting.

MONTREAL, Feb. 19.—Mercier held a monster rally in Bonsecours Hall last night, fully 1000 people being present. Mercier devoted himself in great part to an attack on Ontario. He charged that his present position was owing to the malevolence of the Toronto Orangemen and bigots, who were seeking to destroy the champion of Quebec nationalism.

"But," he said, "I am a child of the people, a child of the soil, and never while there is blood in me will I fail to shed it in defence of my country and my race."

Several times he was asked about the Baie des Chaleur scandal and the letters of credit, but only deigned an answer to one questioner, replying that the whole series of charges was a fabrication of servants of Ontario and Orange tools.

It is expected that if not next Sunday at least on the following Sunday the bishops will issue another fulmination more directly condemnatory of Mercier than they have hitherto done.

Mercier Interviewed.

In an interview with a reporter yesterday Mercier expressed the utmost jubilation at the findings of the Jette minority report. Among other things he said: "There is no doubt but that if this report of Judge Jette's had been given with the interim report of his two colleagues, Mr. Angers would not have dared to dismiss me and, therefore, if Mr. Angers had waited, as it was his duty, for the report we would have avoided the actual crisis, the actual elections and the immense expense that they are going to bring on the province. The three commissioners were imposed upon me by Mr. Angers. There was no choice, and he would not listen to any objection that I made at the time against Mr. Davidson. He himself [Mr. Angers] appointed the president, Mr. Jette, thinking justly, I believe, that he was the proper party to preside over the tribunal, though Judge Baby of the Queen's Bench, and therefore of a superior court to that of Mr. Jette, was in the commission. These facts, coupled with the general respect and consideration enjoyed by Mr. Jette, and the fact that he has been out of politics for nearly 15 years, and that when in politics he was considered a very moderate and impartial politician, must give to his report great weight and settle forever, in a manner satisfactory to my friends and myself, this pretended scandal of the Baie des Chaleurs Railway invented by my opponents in the Senate to kill politically my party and myself.

Wants British Fair Play.

"I hope that my friends will be more encouraged than ever to favor further the triumph of our cause, and that my opponents, who are not my personal enemies but only political opponents, will admit that I am the victim of an unfair and unjust conspiracy, and that on the whole I have not received that British fair play to which I was entitled and that I never refused to any of my opponents."

The general unbiased opinion about the Jette report here is one of unfeigned regret that so good a man could have been dragged into the mire which surrounds Mercier.

Richelieu Protested.

SOREL, Que., Feb. 19.—Mr. E. A. D. Morgan has contested the return of A. A. Bruneau, recently elected in Richelieu. The papers and deposit were filed yesterday.

OTTAWA, Feb. 19.—In the Supreme Court this morning W. R. Riddell, Cobourg, who appeared on behalf of Mr. Hargraft, Liberal M.P. for West Northumberland, made a motion to have the appeal of Mr. Hargraft restored to the list. It will be remembered that on Tuesday last this appeal, which is made by Mr. Hargraft against the lower court uneating him, was dismissed by the Supreme Court owing to the counsel for Mr. Hargraft not being present in the court when the appeal was called.

Mr. Osler objected to reinstating the case.

Chief Justice Ritchie: As far as I am concerned, and I speak for myself only, I refuse to reinstate the case on the list. "You had a right (addressing counsel) to be here to attend to your case. I have propounded from my seat here that it is a great contempt to the court for counsel to be absent when their cases are called, and the other day I positively refused, notwithstanding that we had frequently done so in the past, to restore a case similarly treated as this one has been."

The other justices ageeed with the chief justice, and therefore the judgment dismissing the appeal with costs, already given, was allowed to stand

This unseats Mr. Hargraft and declares West Northumberland vacant, as provided by the judgment of the lower court.

Mr. Garrow, Q.C., concluded his argument in behalf of Mr. Grieve, M.P, North Perth.

Mr. Osler, Q.C., replied for Mr. Campbell, who appeals against the judgment of the court below, giving the seat to Grieve. Judgment was reserved.

The appeal of William German, ex-M.P. for Welland, against his disqualification was not proceeded with. Mr. Cassels, Q.C., appeared for Mr. German and Mr. Blackstock for M. Rothrey, the respondent. The argument was concluded and judgment reserved.

The case of Peers v. Elliott, the first case on the Maritime Province list, was afterwards argued.

WELLAND, Feb. 19.—Joe B. Woods of Niagara Falls was yesterday arrested on a charge of perjury and brought here this afternoon.

The charge is laid in connection with evidence given by Woods at the late election protest trial here, it being mainly on his evidence that Mr. German was disqualified.

Up to a late hour no bail had been secured and Woods will probably be committed to jail.

RECIPROCITY CONFERENCE

The Washington Negotiations Made the Subject of an Enquiry in the British House of Commons.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Mr. Jennings, member for Stockport, asked in the House of Commons yesterday if the Government had any information concerning a conference at Washington between Mr. Blaine and the Canadian commissioners to arrange a basis for a reciprocity agreement whether they had arrived at an agreement, and if it was true that Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Minister at Washington, had assured the commissioners that Lord Salisbury would favorably consider any reasonable request of the commissioners.

Mr. Lowther, Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, in reply said that such a meeting had occurred. Mr. Blaine had previously stipulated that the meeting should be informal. Mr. Lowther had no reason to suppose that Sir Julian Pauncefote had given the commissioners the assurance Mr. Jennings had referred to.

In conclusion, Mr. Lowther said he did not know whether or not an agreement had been arrived at.

A few days ago Mrs. Bagshaw scolded the girl for some misconduct and shortly afterwards the latter slipped out with some matches and set Mr. Bagshaw's barn on fire. In the conflagration which ensued about $6000 worth of property was lost, including among other things 56 head of cattle. The girl admitted having committed the crime and appeared to be quite hardened. The judge sentenced her to two years in the Mercer Reformatory.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

THE IRISH LOCAL GOVERNMENT BILL INTRODUCED.

The French Cabinet Resign in a Body—A Husband Avenges His Honor by Deliberately Shooting Down His Wife's Betrayer—General Cable News.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—The Irish Local Government Bill was introduced in the House of Commons yesterday by Mr. Balfour amid the cheers of the Government supporters.

Mr. Balfour said ever since the formation of the present Government and even before the extension of local government to every part of the United Kingdom had been a cardinal point of the Conservative policy. That intention had been constantly adhered to and reiterated since by the Government. They had introduced local government bills for England and Scotland. If they had not done the same for Ireland it must have been because great specific and obvious dangers attended such a course.

The present bill was not merely a county councils bill, but it was what in England would be described as a district and counties' bill.

Baronial Councils.

By its provisions administrative duties will be given to Baronial Councils, leaving wholly untouched the judicial duties now entrusted to the grand jury. The members of the County and Baronial Councils will be elected every three years.

The Government proposed following the Scotch rather than English measure in the matter of aldermen. There undoubtedly existed a large body of people in Ireland who dreaded a measure of this kind. It was only due to those persons to examine the fear they entertained. They feared the new system would result in extravagance, possibly corruption. They were afraid they would be plundered and oppressed by the new bodies. Mr. Balfour did not think there was any weight to these arguments which would not stand the brunt of hostile criticism.

In the first county councils there would be four ex-officio members—the lord-lieutenant of the county, the sheriff, a nominee of the grand jury and a nominee of the presentment session.

The qualifications of voters for county councilmen and baronial councilmen would be identical. The persons entitled to vote for both sets of officers would be the same as those having the right to vote for members of Parliament, except that the former would include also women and peers. [Laughter.]

Illiterate persons and persons who did not pay county taxes would have no vote.

Regeneration Not Guaranteed.

Mr. Balfour spoke for one hour and 40 minutes. He said in conclusion that he did not pretend the bill would regenerate Ireland, but he sincerely thought the Irish ratepayer had a right to claim the same measure as was granted to the ratepayer in England and Scotland. He therefore recommended the bill to the favorable attention of the House.

John Morley (Liberal) strongly objected to the bill and asked the Government to go to the country on the measure.

John E. Redmond (Parnellite) and Justin McCarthy opposed the bill.

The Chronicle, in an article on Balfour's speech at the Constitutional Club's banquet last night, appeals to Gladstone to give decisive utterance as to whether he intends to sustain Irish representation at Westminster as part of his Irish policy. If he does so this portion of the Irish program, in the opinion of The Chronicle, although it may result in a temporary revolt on the part of the Irish members of Parliament, will practically unite his party, and take the sting out of the attacks of the Unionists.

Only a Rotten Reed.

John Morley characterized the bill as "the rottenest reed the Irish minority had ever leant on for the retention of privileges." He declared that the measure was framed in absolute distrust of the Irish people. In fact on the assumption that they were "debased helots."

The whole opposition broke forth into cheers when Mr. Morley called on the Government to go before the country on the measure.

John Redmond protested against the measure as a "sham bill."

Justin McCarthy in the course of his remarks advised the Government to burn the bill declaring that the Nationalists would reject it as an "unclean thing."

Mr. Healy said he never knew of a more contemptible bill. It was an absolute failure, he said, and died in the mouth of its proposer.

Harcourt Calls It an Insult.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt said that a bill mor insulting to the Irish he could not conceive of. It bore the stamp of Mr. Chamberlain, who was the "mother" of the bill. Sir William ridiculed the idea of a county council of tried judges. Mr. Balfour denied that the bill was insulting to Ireland. The Opposition speeches, he said, showed the insincerity of the cry for local government for Ireland. If, owing to obstruction the present bill should not be passed, local government for Ireland would be indefinitely postponed. The only reason why the Irish parties should obstruct the bill was that it contained machinery to stop corruption and oppression. The only inference was that they desired to make something out of the councils.

At this the whole Opposition joined in crying "Shame, shame!" while the Conservatives cheered.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain denied that he had assisted in the work of framing the bill. He said that he approved of the manner in which the Government had redeemed its pledges. The safeguards introduced in the bill in regard to corruption were those that the Americans, the most democratic people in the world, had introduced into their constitution.

The bill passed the first reading and Mr. Balfour fixed the second reading for March 3.

AVENGED HIS FAMILY HONOR.

A Husband Shoots His Wife's Betrayer Dead.

CANNES, Feb. 19.—Edward Parker Deacon, a native of the United States and a prominent member of the American colony, last night shot and killed a Frenchman named Abeille, and thus avenged to the death the disgrace and infamy brought upon him and his children by his wife and her lover.

Mr. Deacon and his wife have been sojourning for some little time past at Hotel Splendide, one of the fashionable hotels of this watering place. With them were their four children.

A Wife's Dishonor.

Deacon suspected that his wife was unduly intimate with M. Abeille, who was connected with the French diplomatic service, and he kept a close though unobserved watch upon her actions.

At midnight last night Deacon, who was in his room, heard a peculiar noise in his wife's room, which was immediately beneath his own. His suspicions were at once awakened and he descended the stairs and listened at the door of his wife's room. He heard her talking and then he heard the voice of a man replying to her. In a moment suspicion became a certainty, and Mr. Deacon realized that his wife had betrayed and disgraced him.

He dashed up the stairs to his room and procured a loaded revolver. Then, with a feeling of pathetic misery, he bent over the bed wherein were sleeping his innocent little children and impressed upon their foreheads the last kiss of his happy days. The sight of them steeled him in his determination to avenge the wrong that their mother had placed upon him and them.

The Act of Vengeance.

Leaving his children asleep, Deacon aroused the secretary of the hotel and the two proceeded to Mrs. Deacon's room and forced the door. Mrs. Deacon was alone and appeared surprised at the visit.

Entering an adjoining room Deacon discovered Abeille crouched behind an armchair, attempting to hide.

Deacon levelled his revolver at the shrinking and thoroughly frightened man and taking deliberate aim fired three shots at him.

Two of the bullets struck Abeille, one taking effect in his arm and the other in his chest.

The noise of the shots alarmed the people in the house and for a time the greatest excitement prevailed. The wounded man was carried to his own room and doctors were summoned. They, however, could do nothing for him except to alleviate his pain, and at 11 o'clock this morning he died.

Mr. Deacon was at once placed under arrest, but it is the general opinion among the American residents here that he did "just the right thing."

Belonged to Boston.

BOSTON, Feb. 1.—But little is known here of Edward Parker Deacon, who shot his wife's paramour in Cannes, France, today. His father, Edward Deacon, was many years ago a wealthy citizen of Boston, and his grandfather was Commodore Deacon of the U.S. Navy.

FRENCH MINISTRY RESIGN.

President Carnot Has the Resignations of All His Confreres.

PARIS, Feb. 19.—All the members of the French Ministry have handed their resignations to President Carnot.

The cause of the resignation of the ministry was the action of the Chamber of Deputies in connection with the bill dealing with associations. This afternoon M. Hubbard demanded urgency for the bill as a reply to the attitude of the French bishops. M. De Cassagnac described the bill as an iniquitous measure.

Premier De Freycinet denied that the measure was intended as an act of persecution of the church or that it need be regarded as a precursor of the separation of church and state. He warmly commended the conciliatory spirit of the Pope, who, he said, often gave evidence of sympathetic sentiments toward France. He continued, "We will doubtless be called upon some day to treat with the Vatican on the religious question. A portion of the clergy may possibly refuse to enter upon the path pointed out to them, but universal suffrage will judge between the two policies."

In conclusion M. DeFreycinet gave his assent to the demand for urgency, though he said that he would not give the measure the significance that M. Hubbard desired.

An excited discussion ensued on M. Hubbard's motion, Finally M. De Freycinet again arose and demanded that an order of the day be moved indicating the views of the chamber on the subject.

In accordance with Premier's demand M. Boisserin moved that the Government be required to continue its republican policy.

M. De Freycinet accepted the motion and intimated that he considered it a Cabinet question.

The vote of the chamber being taken, M. Boisserin's motion was rejected by 304 to 202.

The ministers recognizing their defeat immediately left the House in a body.

The chamber then rejected the urgency motion by a vote of 286 to 246.

The crisis which was completely unforseen when the Chamber met was brought about by a coalition of Radicals and members of the Right. The division revealed a Radical strengtg of 191 votes, which will not suffice to constitute a government majority. Hence it is agreed on all sides that the formation of a new ministry will be a most difficult task.

"August Flower"

Mrs. Sarah M. Black of Seneca, Mo., during the past two years has been affected with Neuralgia of the Head, Stomach and Womb, and writes: "My food did not seem to strengthen me at all and my appetite was very variable. My face was yellow, my head dull, and I had such pains in my left side. In the morning when I got up I would have a flow of mucus in the mouth, and a bad, bitter taste. Sometimes my breath became short, and I had such queer, tumbling, palpitating sensations around the heart. I ached all day under the shoulder blades, in the left side, and down the back of my limbs. It seemed to be worse in the wet, cold weather of Winter and Spring; and whenever the spells came on, my feet and hands would turn cold, and I could get no sleep at all. I tried everywhere, and got no relief before using August Flower Then the change came. It has done me a wonderful deal of good during the time I have taken it and is working a complete cure." ⑥

BELLEVILLE, FEBRUARY 18, 1892

EAST HASTINGS

Kingston Whig—The government is determined to carry East Hastings at all hazards and to that end has imported into the constituency a host of men whose design it is to bribe or bully the electors into a support of the ministerial candidate. The ONTARIO informs us: "The tories of Belleville openly boast that they have $10,000 for that riding and do not scruple to state on the streets that they intend to buy the victoroy for Mr Northrup, and money and whiskey will pass around there as freely as in Prince Edward. The advice has been given electors to take the money and then vote as they choose. But the tory manipulators are up to all the tricks of the trade and propose to obviate that difficulty. They state that they will not buy men to vote for the tory candidate. They will simply bribe them to stay at home and not to vote at all. They can then see that they earn their money and they will tell them that if they offer to vote they will be sworn." The statement is apparently founded on fact and is making a rare commotion in the riding. It indicates the desperation of the party at the back of Mr. Northrup. Now East Hastings was formerly conservative, like North Hastings on which Hon. Mr. Bowell seems to have an unliftable mortage. But is was redeemed by the late Mr. Burdett, who, beside being a liberal of the most pronounced character, was a man of sterling worth, bold, independent courageous and tactical. He was equal to any of the expedients of his opponent, and defeated him in his last two elections. The money influence was impotent to break his hold upon the people. When after one desperate struggle he was taunted by his opponents and informed that his return would be protested, he said: "Go on with your scheme, do your worst, and when the proper time comes I will show you what I know, and will fill the jail yonder so full of your people that their legs will be sticking out of the windows.' And he meant what he said in effect if not literally. He had the power to make the law of retribution tell upon his persecutors and they kept particularly quiet. Mr. Aylsworth, the present nominee of the liberals, is not a Burdett in manner or methods, but he is a worthy representative of the party whose cause he espouses. He has for many years been a surveyor for the Rathbun's, been a member of the county council, and warden of the same. He is a man of might and influence who ought to be elected, and will if the best laid schemes of his opponent "gang aft aglee." 'Tis not a battle between men, but between the forces of good and evil, with $10,000 in favor of the latter.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It looks as if the Tory heelers had made another draft on the boodle fund in addition to the $10,000 they received at first. They are going up and down the constituency by the score, scattering money right and left. Having unlimited resources at their command they are determined to win if money can do it scores of cases are already known where these favorite tory "arguments" have been used. From all reports their efforts are not likely to succeed, as many will take the money and then vote as they choose. The liberals should keep a sharp watch on this band of tory rascals and if possible put some of them behind the prison bars for their nefarious acts. Rascally deeds have been before perpetrated by the tories in East Hastings, but never before has rascality been so rampant as now.

THE MISSING CURATE.

REV. MR. MARTIN WAS INDEED A GAY DECEIVER.

The Secret of the Departure of the Curate of Christ Church, Chatham, Beginning to Crop Out—Why He Failed to Marry the Young Ladies to Whom He Was Engaged.

CHATHAM, Feb. 19.—The developments in the case of Rev. N. H. Martin, curate of Christ Church, who so mysteriously disappeared on Monday morning last, serve to show that the charitable construction placed upon his departure was misplaced, and that as long ago as six or seven years he had taken advantage of one of the three women to whom he was engaged to be married and that it was to avoid the exposure of his sin that he so suddenly decamped.

It will be recollected that one of the women to whom he was engaged was Miss Sarah Bonet, and it was to this young lady he gave the extraordinary note published yesterday agreeing to marry her on Feb. 15 and giving her full possession and ownership of all the furniture and contents of his house.

How the Singular Deed Was Made.

A sister of Miss Bonet, Mrs. George Rudling, who resides in Princess-street, let the cat out of the bag. When interviewed she explained that Rev. Mr. Martin had repeatedly promised to marry her sister. The wedding was fixed upon originally for Feb. 8, and the supper was prepared and everything in shape for the wedding, but Martin failed to show up. In a day or two he was hunted up, and in the presence of the girl, her sister and the latter's husband said he was sorry he had been obliged to disappoint Sarah Monday, but would marry her for sure on the 15th.

Mrs. Radling continued: "Give us a writing about the stuff in the house if it belongs to Sarah," said my husband. And Mr. Martin said, "Certainly, and also that I'll marry Sarah." He then sat down and wrote the paper you talk of. No, there is no truth that she ever got a writ for damages for seduction against him. I will admit that she had a baby seven or eight years ago, but who to of course I don't know. But I know for a good while she has been true to Mr. Martin, feeling he would marry her.

Other Matrimonial Engagements.

The other young ladies to whom the curate engaged himself were Miss E. Kitchen and Miss Delmage, and in the houses of the parents of both these estimable young ladies every preparation had been made for the wedding, the date arranged with Miss Kitchen being Feb. 16 and with Miss Delmage Feb. 15.

What the Pastor Left.

Christ Church paid Rev. N. H. Martin a salary of $1500 a year. His parsonage rent he paid himself. Mr. Martin came to Christ Church some 13 years ago from Walkerville. He has been a devoted and hardworking pastor. Archdeacon Sandys is the rector of Christ Church, although Mr. Martin has undertaken to largely discharge the duties of the principal office. He was liked by his people and was carrying on his pastoral work energetically and successfully.

Horrible Story from Montreal

MONTREAL, Feb. 19.—A horrible story of a private crematory comes to light in St. Cunegonde, a suburb of Montreal. A spikemaker named Adolphe Lawse recently lost three children and burned their bodies in a cooking stove to save funeral expenses.

The magistrates have been applied to, but they hold that he acted within his rights.

Rev. Father Seguin was notified and he called upon the man. Lawse said he had lived both in France and cities in the United States. In both places he had heard of dead people being burned in big ovens. Such being the case, he thought he was justified in so burning his own young child after its death in his own cooking stove. He also held the opinion that he had a perfect right to bury his children in his back yard or in his cellar, which he also appears to have done. He contended that he had known such things to have been done by people whom he was personally acquainted with in Paris.

IS AUSTRIA DOOMED?

AN ARGUMENT TO PROVE THAT HER DISSOLUTION IS INEVITABLE.

A Country That Has Proved False to the Expectations Indulged That She Would be an Impartial and Hetrogeneous and United Monarchy.

Our late historian, Palacky, declared once that in case of dissolution of the Austrian monarchy the Slavs living outside of Russia would have to re-establish it. He clearly foresaw the instability of Turkey on the European continent. Austria was destined to be a heterogenous monarchy, a union of various people capable of independent existence, people who would find sufficient security under her protection.

Austria was to rule over the Bohemians, the Magyars, the Poles, the Croatians—over the Balkan estates even, if necessary. But she was to rule impartially—arresting the progress of none and giving a fair chance of development to all. The very heterogeneity was to curb and regulate the strength of these States within a reasonable limit, wherein was seen the safety of Europe. The nations thus united were to preserve entire independence and self-government, with no other ties but the mutual defence of the country.

Austria has not only proved herself false to all these expectations, but she allowed her policy to drift in a direction exactly opposite to that outlined above. She has become a vanguard of Germanizing tendencies. This resulted in her collision with Russia and in the support of Turkey by France and England. Besides, these Germanizing tendencies becoming obvious, the situation had changed; it was no longer safe to intrust her with the happiness of these millions of people. England, powerful as she is, had no occasion to fear Germany's greatness; she therefore upheld Austria's policy, inasmuch as it ran counter to the schemes and the disadvantage of Russia.

The Balkan Peninsula, then, is the true seat of troubles. Here European powers vie with each other for supremacy. Russia tries to check the encroachment of Austria, which power, through her very policy, is advancing the interests of Germany. That power again, through her Austrian tool, is frustrating the designs of Russia, perpetuating thereby the suzerainty of the Porte. That Russia was never unfriendly to Austria was demonstrated in 1849, when she assisted in quelling the Hungarian revolt. What was the aim of this rebellion?

Was not its object the annihilation of Austria? If successful, Germany would have grasped the western possessions of Austria, including the Bohemian crown. Hungary, assisted by England and Germany, would have done the same with the Balkan States. But as Germany would have had it all her own way in this event (the Hungarians being used ostensibly to further the interests of Germany), Russia lent, therefore, her aid to Austria, still hoping that that monarchy would remain true to her trust.

Even France, her statesmen underrating the strength of Germany, allowed herself to be drawn into the combination, and sided with the Germans and the English. Soon Bismarck appeared, and with him the aggressive policy of Germany became manifest. Defeating Austria in 1866, after she had helped him to adjust the Danish boundaries controversy, he forever put an end to Hapsburg domination in Germany. By crushing France in 1871 he had demonstrated the superiority of Germany on the continent.

With these achievements behind him, he began to press the vanquished Austrians toward the Balkan. To the Magyars he promised the rule over the Slavs on the Balkan, and the first step in that direction was forcing Austria into adoption of dualism. While the Balkan provinces are controlled by the Porte and by German Princes, Hungary, being encouraged by Austria (which in turn is prompted by Germany), is pursuing a most revolting policy of Magyarizing the Hungarian Slavs, and thus preparing the field for future conquests.

Italy was promised, in exchange for her support of Germany, a slice on the Adriatic coast, while England was won over by promises of anti-Russian policy. Thus, everything being in readiness, the matters rest, awaiting only a propituous moment for their consummation. Were the events allowed to run in this track a hundred years hence, they would result in something like this: Roumania is being prepared for Germany by the reigning Hohenzollern prince; in Bulgaria, the German policy is fostered by Prince Coburg; in Servia, ex-King Milan of unsavory reputation, protected the German interests: the Magyars do the work among the Croatains, already casting yearning looks toward Bosnia and Herzegovina; and, lastly, the Germans themselves "attend" to the Slavs on this side of the Leitha. The Poles look stupidly on.

From all this it would seem that Austria is lacking much of that determination which Palacky and the Russians mistakenly attributed to her, for instead of neutralizing the influence of Germany through her various races she has persistently Germanized them, betraying thus her original trust and hurrying herself to destruction through these same elements of which she is composed—the Slavic people. Germany herself, when Austria can no longer serve her purposes, will give her the first blow when the tremendous struggle between the Slavs and the Germans comes.

If in that conflict the Slavs should refuse to go to war with their Russian brethren, it is probable that victorious Germany would occupy their possessions, annexing permanently the whole of Austria on this side of the Leitha. This she might do even at the cost of sacrificing her Polish provinces, out of which could be reconstructed new Poland under the protectorate of Germany. The Bohemians and the Slavonians would have to assume the role of the Poles, thus released from Germany, while the Hapsburgs, shorn of their possessions, would be compelled to move eastward—to Buda-Pesth.

Such, apparently, were the plans of Bismarck, and such results did he anticipate from his victory over France. No matter, then, what power wins in the approaching conflict, the organization of Austria will undoubtedly undergo a great change. Were Russia to win, the country would have to be re-organized by the Slavs with a policy strong enough to resist the pressure of Germanism; on the other hand, Germany being victorious, the Hapsburgs would be driven eastward. — Translated from the Pokrok Zapadu in the Baltimore American.

Advice to Mothers

Keep the head cool, the feet warm and the bowels regular, and no disease can attack you. This is a celebrated German physician's advise, and can best be accomplished by using Burdock Blood Bitters the best blood purifier known. It cures all disorders of the stomach, liver, bowels, and blood.

A Sensible Statement.

Sirs,—Having used your Burdock Blood Bitters successfully for some time past, I must state that for my complaint of biliousness and acid stomach I have never found an equal, and I continue to use it and recommend it to my neighbors.

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—A trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. The original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No detelerious mineral ingredient is contained in it, and thoughits action is thorough in cases of costivenes it never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowel like a violent purgative. It invigorate the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney diseases scrofulous and all diseases of the blood, female weakness, &c., &c. Price $100. Sample bottle 10 cents. Ask for Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. The wrapper bears a fac-simile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers.

VIGOR.—By preserving or restoring to the stomach, liver and intestines the vigor necessary to their performing their important functions, Dr. Sey's Remedy is one of the surest preventives of the Asiatic Cholera which is threatening us.

We are in receipt of an interesting letter from T. S. Quincey, of Chicago, well known and highly esteemed in Belleville. It will appear in to-morrow's issue.

Mrs. Chas. Smith of Jimes, Ohio. writes : I have used every remedy for sick headache I could hear of for the past fifteen years, but Carter's Little Liver Pills did me more goodthan all the rest.

A. B. Tudhope who was shot in the Queen's hotel, Orillia by William Hood an Wednesday night as mentioned in the ONTARIO's despatches yesterday, is a cousin of George Tudhope an employee of the Queen's hotel of this city. Slight hopes are held out for the victim's recovery.

The Mutual Improvement society gave their annual at home in their hall on Front street last night. It was attended by some thirty couple and the evening was pleasantly spent in dancing and card playing. Prof Chaulapka's orchestra furnished the music and Dickens & Sons the refreshments.

Have no equal as a prompt and positive cure for sick heaache, biliousness, constipation, pain in the side, and all liver troubles. Carter's Littte Liver Pills. Try them.

There was a splendid meeting last night at Foxboro in Mr. Aylsworth's interests. Addresses were delivered by Mr. Aylsworth and by R. C. Clute,Q.C. and J. W. Johnson, of Belleville. The hall was crowded and the meeting enthusiastic. The outlook in that part of the riding is most favorable for Mr. Aylsworth.

If you are troubled with hawking and spitting, dull headaches, losing sense of taste or smell, you are afflicted with catarrh, and to prevent it developing into consumption, Nasal Balm should be used promptly. There is no case of catarrh it will not cure, and for cold in the head it gives immediate relief. Try it. All druggists.

A Audett proprieter House of Commons barber shop, Ottawo says :—A nnmber of my customers are using Anti-Dandruff, and it gives the best of saticfaction and I consider it a success for the purpose advertised.

J. F. German, Liberal ex-M. P. for Welland, who was disqualified by the court below, and whose appeal from that judgement is now before the Supreme Court, is in Montreal. Mr. German does not seek the seat, but appeals against the disqualification. He said to-day that while the Liberals will have to keep up their organization in Welland and work hard, there is no doubt but that they will carry the constituency by a large majority. It is necessary that the appeal in question be disposed of before the writ can be issued.

MR. BIGGAR'S SPEECH.

IN MOVING THE ADDRESS IN REPLY TO THE SPEECH FROM THE THRONE

He Exposes the Tory Professions of Loyalty and Commends the Mowat Government—Some Important Legislation Promised

(From the Globe's report.)

Mr. Biggar, who was received with applause, said that in rising to move a resolution acknowledging the speech of his Honor the Lieut-Governor, he thought he was only asking what had been asked before in craving the indulgence of the House. It had been charged in the organ of their friends opposite that the speech of his Honor was meagre in detail and did not promise much in the way of legislation. With regard to the present Government, he considered that rather a compliment than a fault,because for twenty years, with such painstaking administration of the affairs of this Province as they had had under the able leadership of the Attorney-General he wondered that they found so much that was capable of being improved upon, rather than that they found so little. The record of the Attorney-General was one that could be favorably compared to that of any statesman in British politics, and he believed that the appreciation of his work was not confined to the House only, but that it extended throughout the country. (Hear, hear.) The friends opposite in their candid moments would admit that his administration had been characterized by sound judgment. But they had their moments of weakness like some of their friends, and they had gone to the country and endeavored to persuade the people to displace the government and give them control of the affairs of the Province.

No Hope in the Future.

It might be unkind to remind them of their failure. but he was afraid he could promise them no hope in the future. In spite of all the opposition that had been brought to bear, in spite of the loss of several valuable colleagues, in spite of having to fight against the prejudices that it was sought to inflame, he believed that he was only speaking the simple truth in saying that the Aministration of Hon. Mr. Mowat stood higher in the estimation of the people than it ever did before. (Hear, hear.) In regard to the speech there were two matters referred to at the outset which received the sympathy of the House. He was sure that the honorable members all regretted the cause that prevented the Lieut-Governor from appearing in person to deliver his messsage, and that all hoped that he would soon be restored to his usual health. The hon. gentleman for many years had taken an active part in politics. His opinions had always differed from those of his advisers, but there was no doubt that he had discharged the duties of his high office with the strictest impartiality and dignity. It had not been necessary for him to exercise his prerogative as the Lieut.-Governor of Quebec had done The speech also referred to the lamented death of the Duke of Clarence and Avondale, and the fact that the Lieut.-Governor sent a message conveying the sympathy of this Province to the Prince and Princess of Wales. He believed that message conveyed the heartfelt sympathy of all classes of the people of this Province. There was no one with a kind heart but must share in the sorrow of their highness the Prince and Princess of Wales.

The Annexation Party.

While these loyal expressions had been sent by the Lieut.-Governor there was a matter that he had to notice, and that was the fact that there were some people in this Province who seemed to be dissatisfied with their lot, and who were prepared to east in their fortunes with the people on the other side of the line. A good deal had been heard about the loyalty of the people of this Province, and they had almost come to think that there was only one loyal party in it. But it was strange that among the party of annexation they did not find a gentleman of the Government side of the House, but on the other side of the House. It must be rather embarrassing for the friends opposite. They all had their feelings in the matter, and he thought the leader of the Opposition had as little sympathy with the movement as any hon. gentleman in the House, but it most be embarrassing for their members of the Opposition ta find that in their own ranks they had one who was as pronounced in favor of annexation as Mr. White was.

Agricultural Interests

The most important of the other matters referred to in the speech was that of agriculture, but while his Honor had been pleased to state that the country had reason to rejoice at the bountiful harvest he was sorry that it was not in his power to go further and see that the farmers of this province had the value of that harvest increased to them as it would have been but for the unwise and hampering legislation that had been enacted for the past thirteen years at Ottawa. If it were not for that policy the farmers of this Province would have had the purchasing power of their produce very greatly increased. Under these circumstances it was the duty of this Government to do, as it had done in the past, all that was possible to relieve the depression, restore values and encourage the farming community. A great deal had already been done. The farmers' institutes were doing a good work. Instead of taking the farmers away from home to obtain instruction the instruction was taken to them. Reference was made to the dairying interest. There was no doubt in his mind that this was one of the most important industries in the province. Many farmers owed the fact that they were still in possession of their property to the returns received from the cheese factories. While much had been done to promote this industry, there was something that occurred to him that should be remedied. Instead of basing the returns upon the standard of the cheese they should be based upon the standard of the milk supplied. He was sorry that there was not a more encouraging report from the Mining Bureau, but this was a matter beyond the power of the Government to control. The development of the mining industry had been retarded greatly by the extravagant methods of those engaged in it and by the litigation that was constantly going on between the mining syndicates.

Insurance Legislation

Legislation was promised in regard to insurance companies and societies. He hoped the legislation would be carefully considered, as the subject was one which required to be dealt with with a great deal of caution, because if the proposed measure was intended to protect legitimate insurance it would answer a good purpose. On the contrary if it was intended to affect secret societies that insured its members it would receive strong opposition. The principle of life insurance was becoming more popular every day and there were many artisans and laborers not able to pay the rates of ordinary insurance policies. The Government took up the question of the protection of the fish and game of the province, and appointed a commission for the purpose of investigating that matter and reporting what measures should be adopted. That report was promised to the House in a short time and he believed that it would be found that the commission had done good work. This subject was one that required a great deal of careful consideration by the Government. The commission would, he believed, recommend some important changes. Legislation passed in former years had not been strictly observed. The commission recommended particularly that more stringent measures be adopted for the preservation of fish and game, to prevent this source of food supply from becoming depleted.

A Game Commission.

It also recommended that a game commission should be established and inspectors appointed to enforce the law. He believed that the Government had some objection to this proposition on the score of the expense it would entail, but it seemed to him that it would be the duty of the Government to see that the law was observed, having regard, of course, to the expense, which, as far as he could see, would not be unreasonable. He was sure that it would be welcome news to the members and to the province that the completion of the new parliament buildings was near. While it was a fact that the province was to have a building somewhat in keeping with the requirements, there was another thing that they should congratulate themselves upon, and that was that in the large expenditure of public money required to erect this building they had not heard a single word to show that the Government had expended one dollar for corrupt purposes. While there were investigations in Ottawa and Quebec in matters of public works, the Government had something to congratulate itself upon that nothing of the kind had occurred here. He moved that a humble address be presented to his Honor the Lieutenant-Governor thanking him for the gracious speech which the administrator addressed to the House.

CHEESE MEETING AT AMELIASBURG

The Reports for Last Year Were Most Satisfactory

The patrons of Messrs John Sprague & Son's cheese and butter factory convened on the 16th inst. at the Town Hall, Ameliasburg, for the purpose of arranging the details of the working of the factory for 1892, P. Y. Beech was called to the chair and J. L. Coleman was requested to act as secretary. The auditor's report, which was very elaborate, was received showing that the patrons of the factory received twenty-two dollars and thirty-five cents a standard with which the patrons seemed well satisfied Addresses on the dairy industry were delivered by Messrs. John Sprague, James Benson and M. Sprague in which they urged the farmers to consult their own interests by giving more attention to this department of the farm. Appointment of officers for the factory for 1892 was next proceeded with. Mr. John Sprague was the unanimous choice of the patrons for the position of manager and salesman for the current year. Messrs. J. A. Carnrike and Jno Kinnear were appointed auditors and everything connected with the factory for the season of 1891 transpired very pleasantly in the interest of the patrons.

Our worthy postmaster, Edward Roblin is confined to his house with lagrippe and Dora Roblin is acting postmaster.

Very Hard Indeed

There are so many things that appear unnecessary, and which for the life of us we can see neither purpose nor end. It may be corns are just one of those thorn in the flesh the why and the wherefore o which we cannot see. Nevertheless they are of the kind that are easily removed, Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor makes short work of them. Try it and see how nibely it coaxes them out. Use none other than Putnam's Corn Extractor. Sold by druggists.

SUCCESSFUL REFORM MEETING

At Black's Schoolhouse, Tyendinaga, Last Night.

The Reformers held an enthusiastic meeting in Black's school house in Tyendinaga last night in the interests of W. R. Aylsworth. The meeting was addressed by James Meagher and C. D. Macaulay of Belleville, and J. C Hanley of Read, who made effective and convincing speeches. Mr. Meagher has done yeoman service in East Hastings for the Reform house. He completely vanquished the conservative speakers at Lonsdale and Melrose. He made a complete exposure of H. Corby's feigned friendship for the farmers when he imports every dollars worth of corn where millions of bushels are raised in Canada. Mr. Corby was present on both occassions but did not attembt to refute this and similar charges. It may be of interest to public to know that it is not remembered that he called any one a liar or threatened to lick them.

THAT SEDUCTION CASE

A Likelihood That The Defendant Will be Dismissed.

The charge of seduction against the young man of Belleville brought by a Thurlow girl which has been in the Police court several days was taken up at eleven o'clock this morning. At noon seven witnesses for the prosecution had been examined, only one of which, a boy of 13, will likely prove material. He testified that on two different occasions he had seen the parties in the woods together. The first time he saw them together was three years ago and the second time two years ago. On both occasions the witness alleged that the defendent had made advances towards the girl. There was no evidence to prove that he had been with her since that time. At three p. m. the case was further adjourned until Tuesday when the defence will put in evidence to prove that the girl has had improper relations with other men.

L. H. REDMOND DEAD

The Popular Fisheries Inspector a Victim of Lung Disorder.

Louis Hugh Redmond, a popular young man of Picton died suddenly on Wednesday night. A bad cold resulting in congestion of the lungs quickly proved fatal. Mr. Redmond was around town on Monday evening. He went home about eight o'clock and coughed a good deal during the night, but arose and dressed himself in the morning. A doctor was summoned but the deceased grew worse and on Wednesday afternoon the physicians could hold out no hope of his recovery. He was about 31 years of age and was a young man who was well liked by everbody who knew him. He was of a quiet but sociable disposition. For the last year or more he had been acting as inspector of fisheries for that county.

Found Out

It takes a little persuasion cometimes to come to a right conclusion, but when we do, we know that's the right thing heaeafter ; as for example : 108 King St., West, Toronto, Ont., "I was persuaded through a friend of mine to try some St. Jacobs Oil on an old an old running sore on my fathers leg, and have found it an excellent medicine. It is a splendid medicine. It is wonderful the way it healed up his leg" A. D. TINGLEY

LAND IS DOWN

A Prince Edward Farm Cannot Find a Purchaser

That well-known farm of 90 acres, more or less, known in later years as the "Colin Gordin farm" and formerly a part of the Bongard estate of 300 acres, situated on the bay side in North Marysburgh, was offered for sale by auction at the Royal hotel, on Tuesday, A. M. Buchanan, auctioneer officiating. There were present about twenty persons, the greater part of whom gazed on the scene with a languid interest while the blandest tones and most persuasive artifices of the veteran auctioneer were exerted in vain to elicit from his audience a single bid. Nobody seemed to want this bit of real estate so romantically situated on the far-famed and historic shores of the beautiful bay of Quinte.

THE ASBESTOS BUSINESS

ExGovernor Campbell of Ohio Says There Will Be a Boom in This Mineral

Ex-Governor Campbell, of Ohio, was in Toronto yesterday. In an intercourse with a reporter was asked his present mission to Ontario. "I am here," replied the ex-governor, "with a two-fold object. I am in Toronto on some legal matters which have come up in the course of my practice. Since my decadence from the governorship I have resumed my legal profession in Hamilton and have come here on business in connection with them. I am also interested in an asbestos company which is now in active operation in the Belleville district in the neighborhood of Tweed and Bridgewater. The Standard Asbestos Company is probably the largest concern on this side of the water. We started mining last summer and are now making our first shipments. Canada is rich in asbestos deposits. Across the border the natural supply is meagre. Small deposits are found in New York, Virgina and North Carlina, but they are feeble in quantity. I expect that the coming year will see a very large increase over the half million tons of asbestos exported from Canada to the States last year. It is a growing industry of great promise. While we have not found the pure asbestos in Canada, the material worth $250 a ton, and such that a vein two fingers thick is a fortune we have the secondary form known as actinolite, which is almost as useful, and which is worth from $25 to $100. a ton. It can be utilized in every way that the original mineral is except that it cannot be made into cloth. Our company subjects it to a treatment that brings out the fibrous nature of the rough metal, and it is shipped over the border in a state which is ready for the manufacturer. In this unformed condition the duty is avoided. The industry is going to be a large one, and of great benefit to Canada."

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE BUDGET SPEECH DELIVERED YESTERDAY.

Mr. Harcourt Makes a Very Creditable Showing from His Point of View, While Mr. Clancy Criticizes the Figures—The Debate Still in Progress.

TORONTO, Feb. 20.—The presentation of the state of the provincial finances by Treasurer Harcourt yesterday afternoon was done in a very interesting manner. The Treasurer not only succeeded in exhibiting a very roseate view of the provincial finances, but managed to clothe the dry skeleton of the figures with a garment of rhetorical ornamentation that did credit to his skill in that direction. Mr. Clancy appeared in the role of the Opposition critic and performed his vicarious task in a fairly satisfactory manner. The following are the important passages in Mr. Harcourt's speech.

I will first speak very briefly of our receipts. We estimated to receive during the year from ordinary sources $3,298,822. We actually received $3,327,570, so that we have an excess of receipts over our estimate to the amount of $28,248.

The subsidy, of course, remains the same. It represents 80 cents per head of our population according to the census of 1861. According to our present population it represents only 57 cents per head. If we were to receive 80 cents, based on the last census, our subsidy would be increased by about $575,000 a year. An increase of population adds to our expenditure, to our cost of government, while on the contrary it brings, because of the increased consumption of dutiable goods, additional revenue to the Federal Treasury. Our receipts from Crown lands exceed our estimate by the considerable sum of $59,682.

Since 1872, the year when our honored leader became Premier, the gross receipts from the Crown Lands Department have amounted to $17,253,250, or an average for the 20 years, including 1891, of $862,662 per year.

Let us now notice to what uses this large sum has been devoted. During the same period, that is from 1872 to 1891, we have spent on

Public buildings	$ 5,096.203
Railways	6,655,478
Public works	2,324,811
And on colonization roads	2,146,792
Making in all	$15,223,374

We have therefore invested during the period of 20 years in public buildings, railways, public works and colonization roads $8,016,231 more than the amount we have received from the Crown Lands Department from sales of lands and timber.

A word of explanation may be permitted as to the item of receipts, appearing under the head of "Annuities." Last year, having several very large, exceptional expenditures to provide for, in order to meet the railway certificates falling due we issued annuities to the amount of $14,000 per annum.

The amount realized by their sale, as appears by the schedule of receipts, was $269,000, that is to say, we received $1,921.43 for every $100 of annuity. The purchaser realizes on his investment interest at the rate of a little less than 4¼ per cent. per annum.

We have, I am delighted to say, arrived at the time when our railway aid expenditures will rapidly become noticeably less. This year our payment will be $141,218 as against the payment last year of $252,179, or a saving of more than $110,000 in a single year. At the end of five years the payment will be again reduced by a large amount, while for the next five years there will be annual reductions most welcome to our ratepayers.

Last year we made payments in aid to 20 railways; this year the list is reduced to 14. In 1898 there will be only eight, while in 1904, only 12 years from now, the solitary survivors of this long and honored list of provincial pensions will be the Port Arthur, Duluth & Western Railway and the Parry Sound Colonization Railway.

Further, these early obligations are, be it remembered, as far as we are concerned, the post obits of the first Parliament of Ontario, handed down by it for its successors to discharge.

The last item of our receipts, to which I will refer, namely $500,000, received from the Dominion Government calls for some special remark. Our expenditure for the year included, as I have said, some very large items, special and exceptional in their character. We paid, for example, $160,000 to Toronto University, being part of the $160,000 unanimously voted to it by the House to assist in restoring the building, which was partially destroyed by fire. We also paid $47,115 to the municipalities on account of the land improvement fund and $32,750 to county houses of refuge. We loaned $63,000 to different municipalities on drainage debentures.

Our receipts for the year from liquor license fees amounted to $298,184. Our estimate was $300,000. The number of licenses issued during the last license year was 22 less than that issued during the previous year, and in all probability there will be a somewhat greater reduction during the current year. The province took to itself control of liquor licenses in 1876. Since that date it has received as net revenue from licenses $2,630,515, or $164,407 per year. It has paid to the municipalities during the same period $3,885,922, or $242,870 per year. The municipalities have therefore during the last 16 years received on an average $78,443 more per year than the province from this source.

Mr. Clancy: But you took more from the municipalities.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt: I am speaking of the fact as it is found—of the record as I find it. The temperance people, I would say to my friend, have time and again expressed their belief that it would be better for all concerned if the municipalities got nothing from licenses. [Applause.]

In answer to some press criticisms arising out of complaints made by a few municipalities as to their share of the license fees, I last year pointed out that the municipal revenue from licenses had during recent years been steadily increasing; also that their percentage of increase had been more than double that of the province.

Without question, in our larger cities, licenses have become much more valuable to the holders year by year, and it may be that the time has now come when we should consider the propriety of raising the fee and thereby increasing our revenue.

If the liquor traffic is only one-half as responsible for the serious cost incident to the administration of justice as some allege it to be, then these license duties which we are discussing might be measurably increased.

I will now, sir, briefly comment on the expenditures of 1891. The Legislature voted for the year's supply $3,622,427. Our ordinary expenditure under the Supply Bill was $3,428,731, so that of the money voted to us for the year there remains unexpended $193,695.

We have, therefore, kept within the grants wherever possible, and have in no instance abused the liberality of the Legislature.

We spent last year on the construction of new Parliament buildings $208,348, the largest sum spent any single year for that service, although thus far we have spent on these buildings $802,297.

Certain lands were set apart to form the Parliament Building Construction Fund. The lands so set apart were, (1) the site we now occupy, containing more than 9½ acres, having a frontage of 954 feet in Front street, and a like frontage in Wellington-street; and (2) a block of 80 acres, extending to the westerly limits of the city and lying north of the Grand Trunk Railway, reserving, however, the six acres used by the Mercer Reformatory. Now, what have we sold? In 1886 and 1887 we placed upon the market, selling it by tender after careful advertisement, parts of this block of 80 acres. We sold 52 acres of it at prices then considered very satisfactory, realising $167,105.

These two properties, worth $450,000 and $75,000, must be placed to our credit by any one who would fairly pronounce upon our financial operations for the last five years.

If, then, we have diminished our cash surplus to the extent of $500,000, we have in its place unquestionably a full equivalent in these two properties. We have voted for the construction of the new buildings $1,250,000. I am in a position to be able confidently to say that the total cost of the building will be less than the amount we have voted. The expenditure on education as a growing expenditure. The same remark applies to other expenditures. Take for example that on hospitals and charities.

In 1882 we spent on hospitals and charities $78,095 and in 1891 $167,742. We have more than doubled the expenditure in a single decade. No one proposes to reduce the grants.

Another growing expenditure is that in connection with our asylums. We have good reason to be proud of our care of the insane. We have spent, and are now spending, large sums in the erection of cottages specially designed and in every way suitable for asylum needs.

The increasing number of the insane compels us to make immediate provision for still further accommodation.

We have provided in the new cottages at Orillia and Mimico beds for 950.

In leaving this branch of my subject I will remind the House that these increased grants to education, hospitals and asylums, public institutions and agriculture are substantially grants to the municipalities in relief of their local taxation.

At the commencement of the year we had at our credit in the banks $44,792. We received from all sources during the year $4,140,089. Our total expenditure was $4,165,063, and at the end of the year we had on hand in the banks $19,818. When it is remembered that we expended $620,591 in public buildings alone, thus adding that large sum to our permanent capital investments, that we gave $100,000 to the university, that we spent $98,312 on colonization roads, that we loaned $62,887 to some municipalities for purposes of drainage, and advanced $47,111 to other municipalities on account of Land Improvement Fund, that $311,000 went for railway aid, that our receipts exceeded our estimate and that we expended less than the House authorized us to expend, it will be admitted that the general result is exceedingly satisfactory.

A word as to the assets of the province. These are so well known and have been the subject of such frequent debate that they require but little explanation. We still have the Dominion 5 per cent. bonds to the amount of $200,000. These mature in March, 1893. We have added during the year nearly $7000 to our drainage investments, which now aggregate $524,155. The trust funds, the nature and origin of which have been so often explained, remain unchanged in amount and the Common School Fund, the particulars of which we are all familiar with, is slightly increased because of the fact that it is this year divided on the basis of the recent census. The amount of the balance of unpaid subsidy and other credits, as appears in the schedule in our hands, viz., $1,590,519, remains as it was last year. All told these assets amount to $5,303,077. From this sum we deduct certain small balances due to the municipalities on account of the Land Improvement Fund, as also Quebec's share of our collections on account of common school lands for two years past, in all $17,560. We had in hand bank balances to the amount of $19,818, so that our surplus at the end of the year, after deducting all liabilities now payable, amounted to $5,285,515.

The reality of this surplus can be no longer seriously questioned. It was at one time contended that, while we could expect to receive interest from these trust funds, we could never get possession of them or control them.

They have always yielded a rich return by way of interest, and there was no good reason why we should ask to have them handed over to us. And yet the suggestion came from the Finance Minister at Ottawa two years ago that the requisite legislation should be had in order that the Dominion might hand them, or an important part of them, over to us, so that this contention can no longer be maintained.

A few weeks ago, acting for once, at least, on his suggestion, we asked for and promptly received a check for $500,000 of it.

If we look about us a glance at the finances of the sister provinces will give us additional cause for thankfulness that we have persistently adhered to a policy of rigid economy. The Treasurer of more than one of these provinces each year laments his inability to see a way of escape from the "gloomy grove of annual deficits." The large and constantly-increasing debt of Quebec is, from an Ontario point of view, alarming, and all parties there seem to take it for granted that sooner or later the Federal Government must come to the rescue. Prince Edward Island has drawn upon capital account and is still behind. Nova Scotia and New Brunswick have incurred large debts, and they are once more agitating for better terms. Nova Scotia urgently asks the Dominion to relieve her of liabilities to the amount of a million and a half of dollars. New Brunswick, with a population of only 321,294, had at the close of last year a bonded debt of $2,342,000. And where, sir, we may well ask is this to end? With an aggregate population of only 880,905, or two-fifths that of Ontario alone, maintain separate Legislatures, each of them having a second chamber, and that because of this the administrative work is trebled and the expenditures on education, administration of justice and public works is very much larger than would otherwise be necessary. At the same time, we may well, nay we must insist, that any settlement of these difficulties, as concerns the future, I do not speak of existing obligations, whether by means of increased annual grants to each of the provinces, having strict regard to population, or otherwise should be a comprehensive settlement arrived at after a careful study of the whole situation, altered as it is in so many regards since Confederation, that it should be an absolutely final settlement, made so by Imperial enactment, that not another dollar of the Federal Treasury should thereafter be spent in "special grants" or "better terms," and that it should be in all regards fair, we ask no more, to our own province. If we cannot get an exact measure of justice, we must accept that settlement which will most nearly approach to it.

Every province save our own has profited by this departure from safe and sound principles, and each occasion of profit to them means corresponding loss to us.

What is wanted now is to get back to first principles, and firmly to take the position to which when Confederation was brought about all parties were pledged. Those who guided public opinion at that time stated confidently that in their scheme they had provided the necessary safeguards. Has time fulfilled their promises? The difficulties then predicted, as well as others unforeseen, have confronted us, and the promised safeguards have proved shadowy and unreal.

Had the wise policy outlined at Confederation been rigidly adhered to the finances of the provinces and of the Dominion as well would now be in a far more satisfactory condition.

Our estimate for the year's expenditure is $3,472,237, a decrease as compared with last year's estimated expenditure of about $20,000. It will be found to be a very liberal estimate.

The most noticeable feature in the estimated expenditure is that connected with the proposed addition to our asylum accommodation. We intend to ask the House to grant an appropriation for the erection of an asylum at or near Brockville. The Provincial Secretary will at an early day fully justify our proposed action in this direction.

Mr. Harcourt concluded with an eloquent peroration, in which he paid a high tribute to Mr. Mowat.

Mr. Clancy is Critic.

When the Treasurer took his seat Mr. Clancy, from the front row of the Opposition benches, rose. He began by expressing his regret that the infirm health of Mr. H. E. Clarke, one of the members for Toronto, on whom the duty of criticizing the budget speech usually fell, would prevent his doing so on that occasion. Mr. Clancy opened his observations by a picture of the state of the province when the Reform Administration came to power. The province had a cash surplus of $4,000,000 and not a cent of debt. It had now held power for 20 years, and what a change had come! Instead of a surplus of $4,000,000 the treasury was empty. Instead of being able to meet the annual obligations we were compelled to go to the money markets of the world. Then the various municipalities received a large part of the revenues which were their due, revenues which were now seized by the province. The license fund in those days was an important part of the municipal revenue now on the shallow pretence that it was working in the interest of temperance the Province had set a gang of officials over the municipalities and seized the lion's share of the revenues. Even as late as 1881 the province's share of the receipts of liquor licenses was a small fraction, now it amounted to more than one-half. Not that alone but of that class of expenses which intemperance was said to be largely instrumental in creating, such as jails, lockups, police courts, and police force, the municipalities bore the whole burden.

He thought it would be rather difficult to demonstrate that it was in the interest of temperance that the province should seize the lion's share of these returns from the issue of licenses. The retort had been made that if the municipalities desired to increase their revenue from the liquor traffic they had it in their power to increase the license fee. Well, there was not much inducement to increase the fee when the Province seized the greater part of it. The municipalities refused to burden their people with taxes that went to the province, and over the administration of which they had no control. If there was any virtue in increasing the license fee, therefore, it would be some time before its virtues would be put to the test under the present system. The normal revenues of the province were every year exceeded by hundreds of thousands of dollars, and the deficit was drawn from the capital of the province. The public accounts for last year showed that the timber wealth of the province had been drawn on to the extent of $1,146,036 and the Provincial capital to the extent of $500,000 to meet the extravagant expenditures of the Government. The task of administering the finances under the system pursued by the gentlemen opposite was very easy. The Treasurer did not require to make any fine estimates, because at a pinch he could always call upon his friend, the Minister of Crown Lands, to come to his aid with another slice of timber limits.

They could not afford to express mock sympathy with their sister provinces, as our own province, it was very evident, could not meet its obligations without having recourse to the federal strong-box. Mr. Clancy went on to show that the redemption of the railway certificates was not met out of the consolidated fund. The success of the Dominion was wrapped up in the success of the provinces. It was not an encouraging sign, therefore, to see a demand being made on the Dominion Government by Mercier, in whose ranks the Attorney-General was a full private. He (Mr. Clancy) however hoped and believed that the hon. gentleman had reached a stage when he was ashamed of the part he had taken in that projected raid. The speaker went over the various important items that were not in the estimates, but which would have to be met, and figured that the deficit next year would be $800,000. Where was this sum to be obtained? By another draft on capital in the shape of timber limits or provincial capital in the hands of the Dominion Government. The surplus spoken of by the Treasurer was fictitious. The capital they were now drawing on they did not create, but they would undoubtedly dissipate it.

Another Crash on the M.C.R.

COMBER, Ont., Feb. 20.—Another collision occurred on the M.C.R. early yesterday, this time at Ruscomb Station, about 5 miles from here. A freight was standing on the main line awaiting orders, when another came crashing into it at the rear. The locomotive and 15 cars loaded with freight were thrown into the ditch and the locomotive is hoisted and broken in every conceivable shape, while the cars are a total wreck. The trainmen escaped injury by jumping.

Burglarized the House.

MILTON, Feb. 20.—John Erwin has been in charge of the residence of the late Judge Miller ever since Mrs. Miller went to Toronto, and has visited it daily to see that all was right. On going there Thursday he found that someone had broken into the house, taken out a breech-loading shotgun and a number of small articles.

An Actor Injured.

GALT, Feb. 20.—Sidney Leslie, an actor recently connected with the Rosina Vokes company, alighted from a C.P.R. train in search of a friend. While walking along Ainslie-street he slipped and fell, receiving an injury to his spine, which paralyzed his lower limbs. He is now in the hospital, but not out of danger.

Killed by a Limb.

MANSFIELD, Ont., Feb. 20.—Geo. Price, who lived on the town line between Tossorontio and Mulmur, went out to the woods to chop. He was found in the evening lying in an insensible condition, a limb from a tree having fallen and struck him on the head. He lived 48 hours.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 20.—An appeal will be taken against the judgment of the Supreme Court of New Brunswick in dismissing appeals against the return of Hon. Mr. Foster, and also in the Queen's county case, which awards the seat to Mr. Baird.

"Adonis" Dixey Sued for $5000.

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—William Gill, the playwright, has brought suit in the Superior Court against Actor Henry E. Dixey for $5000 for alleged breach of contract. Gill alleges that Dixey agreed to pay him for writing "The Seven Ages," but failed to do so.

Another M. P. Dying.

SACKVILLE, N.B., Feb. 20.—Mr. Josiah Wood, M.P., is very ill, and it is understood with congestion of the lungs as a complication of la grippe.

The threat made at the joint meeting of representatives of 23 labor societies in Rome that a general strike would be inaugurated and continued until the Government started public works to give employment to idle workmen was set at naught by the Government, which caused the arrest of several of the prominent labor agitators. Yesterday the men were all working as usual.

A loaded bomb was discovered last night outside the Spanish Consulate in Messina, Sicily. The fuse attached to it was burning, but was quickly extinguished with remarkable presence of mind and courage by the finders. The police were alarmed and immediately began a search for the dynamiters, but no arrests have yet been made. The men are supposed to be members of an anarchist society.

IRISH LOCAL GOVERNMENT.

Opinions of the British Press on Mr. Balfour's Bill

LONDON, Feb. 20.—The Irish Local Government Bill, on which the ministry staked its fortunes this session, met with an extremely hostile reception from both sections of the Irish party and the Gladstonians.

The Morning Post says the reception accorded the bill makes it highly probable that the Government will modify the safeguarding clauses before it is offered for second reading. The strongest objections are offered to the trial council's cumulative vote, the disfranchisement of illiterates and the control of capital expenditure.

The Daily News says: Nothing more extraordinary in the shape of an Irish bill was ever submitted to Parliament. Mr. Balfour's strongest opponents never imagined that he could have devised so thoroughly bad and hopeless a measure. We are far from supposing that he meant to insult Ireland. Probably he will try to raise the cry of obstruction. The luckless measure, however, does not need to be obstructed. It will sufficiently obstruct itself.

The Chronicle describes the bill as an honest attempt, but as "failing to please everybody." It concludes: "The bill is good as far as it goes, but it does not go far enough. The fact that Mr. Balfour's whole speech was a dispirited apology to his own supporters instead of a strong defence suggests that the bill is like the hero of Ibsen's 'Sengangere worm eaten at birth.' The principle of the judges' trial of councils is a gross excrescence and must be squelched."

The Standard understands that the Government has resolved to proceed with the bill, and that it confidently anticipates that it will receive the support of the Liberal Unionists. The Standard's article indicates that the Government is willing to go before the country on the ground of Liberal obstruction to a laudable attempt to place local government for Ireland on a popular basis.

The National Press of Dublin says: The bill is a beggarly account of meaningless provisions. It is like a Japanese toy—a succession of empty boxes within one another.

The Freeman's Journal of Dublin declares that the bill is a legislative joke. An appeal to the country on this legislative abortion would make Mr. Balfour and his colleagues the laughing-stock of the country.

The Irish Daily Independent (Parnellite) says the Irish party was prepared to give the bill hearty support had it proved satisfactory, but the measure is a sham, a fraud and an insult. Not much was to be expected from a Unionist Ministry, but nothing so ridiculous as this bill was anticipated.

LONDON, Feb. 02.—The St. James Gazette says the negotiations which are being conducted between England and Russia in regard to the expulsion by Russian officers in September last of Capt. Younghusband from the Pamirs point to a settlement favorable to England.

The Russian authorities have fully investigated the affair and have concluded that the Russian officers acted precipitately, and Russia now shows her full desire to make reparation for the acts of her officers.

It is expected an apology compatible with the dignity of both countries will be tendered to England by Russia.

BUSINESS PROSPECTS.

Bradstreet's Report as to Trade in the Dominion—The Spring Outlook.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Special telegrams to Bradstreet's point to no material change in conditions affecting the general business situation. Trade thus far on the whole is disappointing, though a deal of confidence is expressed as to what the spring may bring forth.

In the Canadian Dominion general trade is only moderately active, raw wool and staple drygoods being most in request. Orders from the Maritime Provinces and a portion of Quebec are unsatisfactory. Canada reports 43 failures, a material reduction from last week.

Bank clearings at four cities in the Dominion show a reduction of 17 per cent. this week as compared with last.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

To-day is election day in East Hastings and South Ontario. In both constituencies the liberals have made a brave fight. The odds have been greatly against them as the whole influence of an unscrupulous government has been thrown against the liberal candidates,and money and whiskey have been used unsparingly oy the tories. The liberals are hopeful of success, but are quite prepared for defeat in view of the unprecedented bribery carried on by the tories.

The Ontario legislature being now in session, we presume the boodle charges the tory papers have been harping so much about of late will be made on the floor of the Chamber, and an investigation demanded. Will they be made? Not much they won't. Irresponsible Tory sheets may lie and villify and slander, but a responsible representative, in his place in the legislature, dare utter no charges he cannot substantiate, and no man can establish a tittle of wrong doing against the Mowat administration. Mr. Meredith once on the hustings threatened to impeach Hon. Mr. Fraser when the House met. When the House met Mr. Fraser arose in his place and dared Mr. Meredith to reiterate his charges and have an investigation. But Mr. Meredith opened not his mouth. He knew his charges on the hustings were false when he made them. No member of the Mowat government is afraid of all the charges the tories formulate and of all the investigations they can have. No purer administration was ever enjoyed by any province, state or nation in the world.

TALMAGE'S BELIEF.

THE CREED OF THE BROOKLYN TABERNACLE PREACHER.

Christ the Great Bond of Sympathy Between Man and the Heavenly Father, and an Elder Brother Who is Always Easily Reached.

BROOKLYN, N.Y., February 14, 1892.—At the Tabernacle service this morning, after the usual reading of the Scriptures, the congregation sang,

Jesus shall reign where'er the sun,
Doth his successive journeys run.

The sermon which followed was apparently suggested by the storm of theological controversy now raging in the churches. In these times, when it is quite uncertain what many of the clergy really do believe, this sermon makes it very plain what the pastor of the Brooklyn Tabernacle believes. His text was taken from Luke 6:17, "And He came down with them and stood in the plain."

Christ on the mountains is a frequent study. We have seen Him on the Mount of Olives, Mount of Beatitudes, Mount Moriah, Mount Calvary, Mount of Ascension, and it is glorious to study Him on these grand natural elevations. But, how is it that never before we have noticed Him on the plain? Amid the rocks, high up on the mountain, Christ had passed the night; but now, at early dawn, He is coming down with some especial friends, stepping from shelving to shelving, here and there a loosened stone rolling down the steep sides ahead of Him, until He gets in a level place, so that He can be approached without climbing from all sides. He is on the level. My text says: "He came down with them and stood in the plain."

Now, that is what the world wants to-day more than anything else—a Christ on the level, easy to get at, no ascending, no descending, approachable from all sides—Christ on the plain. The question among all consecrated people to day is what is the matter with the ministers? Many of them are engaged in picking holes in the Bible and apologizing for this and apologizing for that. In an age when the whole tendency is to pay too little reverence to the Bible, they are fighting against Bibliolatry, or too much reverence to the Bible. They are building a fence on the wrong side of the road; not on the side where the precipice is and off which multitudes are falling, but, on the upper side of the road, so the people will not fall up-hill, of which there is no danger. There is no more danger of Bibliolatry, or too much reverence for the Scriptures, than there is that astrology will take the place of astronomy, or alchemy the place of chemistry, or the canal boat the place of the limited express rail-train. What a theological farce it is; ministers fighting against toomuch reverence for the Scriptures; ministers making apology for the Scriptures; ministers pretending to be friends of the Bible, yet doing the Book more damage than all the blatant infidels on all the earth. The trouble is our theologians are up in the mountain in a fight above the clouds about things which they do not understand. Come down to the plain and stand beside Christ, who never preached a technicality or a didacticism. What do you, O Wise-Headed Ecclesiastic, know about the Decrees of God? Who cares a fig about your sublapsarianism or your supralapsarianism?

What a spectacle we have in our denomination to-day; committees trying to patch up an old creed made two or three hundred years ago, so that it will fit on the Nineteenth Century. Why do not our military establishments take out of the garrets the coal scuttle bonnets which your great grandmothers wore and try to fit them on the head of the modern maiden? You cannot fix up a three hundred year old creed so as to fit our time. Princeton will sew on a little piece, and Union Seminary will sew on a little piece, and Alleghany Seminary and Danville Seminary will sew on other pieces, and by the time the creed is done it will be as variegated as Joseph's coat of many colors. Think of having to change an old creed to make it clear that all infants dying go to Heaven! I am so glad that the committees are going to let the babies in. Thank you! So many of them are already in that all the hills of Heaven look like a Sunday school anniversary. Now, what is the use of fixing up a creed which left any doubt on that subject. No man ever doubted that all infants dying go to Heaven unless he be a Herod or a Charles Giteau. I was opposed to overhauling the old creed at all, but, now that it has been lifted up and its imperfections set up in the sight of the world, I say: Overboard with it and make a new creed. There are to-day in our denomination five hundred men who could make a better one. I could make a better one myself. As we are now in process of changing our creed, and no one knows what we are expected to believe, or will two or three years hence be expected to believe, I could not wait, and so I have made a creed of my own, which I intend to observe the rest of my life. I wrote it down in my memorandum book some six months ago, and it reads as follows: "My creed—The glorious Lord. To trust Him, love Him, and obey Him is all that is required. To that creed I invite all mankind.—T. DeWitt Talmage."

The reason Christianity has not made more rapid advance is because the people are asking to believe too many things. There are, I believe, to-day millions of good Christians who have never joined the church and are not counted among the Lord's friends, because they cannot believe all the things that they are required to believe. One-half the things a man is expected to believe in order to enter the church and reach Heaven have no more to do with His salvation than the question, How many volcanoes are there in the moon? or, how far apart from each other are the rings of Saturn? or how many teeth there are in the Jaw-bone with which Sampson smote the Philistines. I believe ten thousand things, but none of them have anything to do with my salvation, except these two. I am a sinner and Christ came to save me. Musicians tell us that the octave consists of five tones and two semi-tones, and all the Handels and Haydens and Mozarts and Wagners and Schumanns of all ages must do their work within the range of those five tones and two semi-tones. So I have to tell you that all the theology that will be of practical use in our world is made out of the two facts of human sinfulness and Divine atonement. Within that octave swing "The Song of Moses and the Lamb," the Christmas chant above Bethlehem, and the Alleluiah of all the choirs standing on seas of glass.

Is there not some mode of getting out of the way these non-essentials, these superfluities, these divergencies, from the main issue? Is there not some way of bringing the Church down out of the mountain of controversy and conventionalism and to put it on the plain where Christ stands? The present attitude of things is like this: In a famine-struck district, a table has been provided and it is loaded with food enough for all. The odors of the meats fill the air. Everything is ready. The platters are full. The chalices are full. The baskets of fruit are full. Why not let the people in? The door is open. Yes, but there is a cluster of wise men blocking up the door, discussing the contents of the castor standing mid-table. They are shaking their fists at each other. One says there is too much vinegar in that castor, and one says there is too much sweet oil, and another says there is not the proper proportion of red pepper, I say,—"Get out of the way and let the hungry people come in." Now, our blessed Lord has provided a great supper and the oxen and the fatlings have been killed, and fruits from all the vineyards and orchards of heaven crown the table. The world has been invited to come, and they look in, and they are hungry, and people would pour in by the millions to this world-wide table, but the door is blocked up by controversies and men with whole libraries on their backs are disputing as to what proportion of sweet oil and cayenne pepper should make up the creed. I cry: "Get out of the way and let the hungry world come in."

The Christian Church will have to change its tack, or it will run on the rocks of demolition. The world's population annually increases fifteen millions. No one pretends that half that number of people are converted to God. There are more than twice as many Buddhists as Protestants; more than twice as many Buddhists as Roman Catholics. Protestants, 135,000,000; Catholics, 195,000,000; Buddhists, 400,000,000. There are 175,000,000 Mohammedans and 220,000,000 Brahmins. Meanwhile, many of the churches are only religious club-houses, where a few people go on Sunday morning, averaging one person to a pew, or one person to a half-dozen pews, and leaving the minister at night to sweat through a sermon with here and there a lone traveller, unless by a Sunday evening sacred concert he can get out an audience of respectable size. The vast majority of the church membership round the world put forth no direct effort for the salvation of men. Did I say there would have to be a change? If there be fifteen million persons added every year to the world's population, then, there will be thirty million added to the Church and forty million and fifty million and sixty million. How will it be done? It will be done when the Church will meet Christ on the plain. Come down out of the mountain of exclusiveness. Come down out of the mountain of formalism. Come down out of the mountain of freezing indifference. Old Dr. Stephen H. Tyng, great on earth and in Heaven, once said to me: "I am in favor of a change. I do not know what is the best way of doing things in the churches, but I know the way we are doing now is not the best way, or the world would be nearer its salvation than it seems to be." So I feel; so we all feel, that there needs to be a change. The point at which we all come short is not presenting Christ on the plain, Christ on the level with all the world's woes and wants and necessities.

The full change will have to come from the rising ministry. We now in the field are too set in our ways. We are lumbered up with technicalities. We have too many concordances and dictionaries and encyclopedias and systems of theology on our head to get down on the plain. Our vocabulary is too frosted. We are too much under the domination of customs regnant for many centuries.

Christ on the plain. I care not from what side you approach Him, you can touch him and get His help. Is it mental depression you suffer? Remember Him who said; "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" Is it a struggle for bread? Remember Him who fed the five thousand with two minnows and five biscuits, neither of the biscuits larger than your fist. Is it chronic ailments? Remember the woman who for eighteen years was bent almost double, and He lifted her face until she could look into the blue sky. Are you a sailor and spent your life battling with the tempests? Remember Him who flung the tempest of Genesareth flat on the crystal pavement of a quiet sea.

That Christ is in sympathy with all who have trouble with their eyes, and that is becoming an almost universal trouble through much reading in rail cars, and the over-pressure of study in the schools where the children are expected to be philosophers at ten, and boys and girls at fourteen with spectacles. I say with all such trouble Christ is in sympathy. Witness blind Bartimeus. Witness the two blind men in the house. Witness the two blind men near Jericho. Witness the man born blind. Did He not turn their perpetual midnight into midnoon, till they ran up and down clapping their hands and saying "I see! I see!" That Christ is in sympathy with those who stammer, or have silenced ears, notice how promptly He came to that man with impediment of speech and gave him command of the tongue so that he could speak with ease, and, putting His fingers into the ears, retuned the tympanum. Is there a lack of circulation in your arm, think of Him who cured the defective circulation and the inactive muscles of a patient who had lost the use of hand and arm, by saying, "Stretch forth thy hand!" and the veins and nerves and muscles resumed their offices, and though in doing so the joints may have cracked from long disuse, and there may have been a strange sensation from elbow to finger-tip, he stretched it forth. And nothing is the matter with you, but you may appeal to a sympathetic Christ. And if you feel yourself to be a great sinner, hear what He said to that repenting Magdalen, while with a scalding sarcasm he dashed her hypocritical pursuers.

And see how He made an immortal liturgy out of the publican's cry, "God be merciful to me a sinner," a prayer so short that the most overwhelmed offender can utter it, and yet long enough to win celestial dominions. It was well put by a man who had been converted, and who remembered that in his dissolute days he found it hard to get occupation, because he could not present a certificate for good character. In commending Christ to the people he said, "Bless God, I have found out that Jesus will take a man without a character!" Christ on a level with suffering humanity. My text says: "He came down with them and stood in the plain." No climbing up through attributes you cannot understand. No ascending of the heights of a beautiful rhetoric of prayer. No straining after elevations you cannot reach. No hunting for a God that you cannot find. But going right straight to Him and looking into His face and taking His hand and asking for His pardon, His comfort, His grace, His heaven.

NORMAN, Ont., January [illegible]

W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" [illegible] that human[illegible] can use. Life is the time-piece: frail and delicate [illegible] any of its parts [illegible] of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, [illegible] and what is the result? at first, only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care to thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost hopeless. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,

The Upsetting of a Lamp Sets the Place on Fire and a Scene of Indescribable Confusion Follows—Children Trampled Upon.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—During a magic lantern performance for children last evening in a building located on Gray's Inn Road, W.C., a lamp used in the entertainment was accidentally upset and broken. The oil ignited at once and in an instant the place caught on fire. A panic ensued among the large number of children present and a mad rush was made for the door. The greatest excitement prevailed and 20 children were injured.

Bad for Mrs. Montagu.

BELFAST, Feb. 20.—Mrs. Anna Margaret Montagu of Coleraine, Ireland, who was charged with having caused the death of her 3-year-old daughter, Mary Helen, by tying a stocking round her neck, the result of which was asphyxiation, has been admitted to bail in the sum of $2000 and will be tried at the Londonderry Assizes.

Mr. Montagu, Dr. Creery and Miss Dosell, the child's governess, testified as to the cruel manner in which the little one had been treated, after which the jury returned a verdict to the effect that the child's mother had feloniously killed her by tying her with a stocking in a dark room.

The husband of Mrs. Montague is a grandson of the Duke of Manchester and a former officer in the navy.

Mrs. Montague, who is of Scotch extraction, is the daughter of a wealthy London tea merchant. She is noted for her daring horsemanship in Ireland. Cromoro, her residence, is one of the finest mansions in the district. Mrs. Montague has hitherto moved in the best society.

When an Associated Press representative called at the residence to-day he found Mrs. Montague engaged with the parish priest, but she consented to an interview being asked how it was that such severe punishment was administered to a 3-year-old child, Mr. Montague said: "My wife has strong opinions on the training and correction of children.

VIENNA, Feb. 20.—The wives of Karaveloff, Oroszakoff and Jeorgoff, who have been confined in their houses since November last, will be put on trial on Monday at Sofia, charged with high treason.

They are accused of having signed and handed to the Belgian Consul a memorandum to the representatives of the European powers, in which Bulgarian public functionaries are accused of torturing several prisoners supposed to have been privy to the murder of Beltcheff. These prisoners included the husbands or other relatives of the signers. An act like this constitutes, according to an old Turkish law still in force in Bulgaria, the crime of high treason.

The object of the Government in instituting this trial is, first, to prove that no prisoners have been tortured; second, to elicit from the wives what could not be obtained from the husbands—some further information about the murderer.

"The Daffodil King."

LONDON, Feb. 20.—Mr. Barr, better known as "The Daffodil King," will set out to-day on his annual hunt for a new species of that flower.

Spain, Portugal and the Pyrenees are Mr. Barr's hunting grounds for a new daffodil, and he hopes to find a few specimens at the Escurial, the burial place of the Spanish kings This flower has been brought to England before, but did not survive removal.

France and the Vatican.

PARIS, Feb. 20.—In order to remove the friction between France and the Vatican due to the refusal of Cardinal Richard, Archbishop of Paris, to communicate to the French bishops the letter written to him by the Pope, in which the latter enjoins upon the French prelates to give their adhesion to the republic, Cardinal Rampolla, Papal Secretary of State, has advised the French Government that the Papal Nuncio at Paris has been intrusted to distribute copies of the Pope's letter to the bishops. Cardinal Richard in replying to this letter declared that he was unable to communicate its contents to the bishops, for he did not believe the time opportune to do so. It was charged at the Vatican that the Cardinal's action in refusing the Pope's request to make the letter public was due to the influence of the Royalists.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprieter of Kemp's Balsam for coughs and colds does it is indeed wonderful, He authorized all druggists to give all those who call for it a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. If you have a cough or cold do not neglec it; many without a trace of that hereditar disease have drifted into a consumptiv grave by neglecting what was only a sligh cold. Had the used Bickle's Anti- Consumtive Syrup before it was too late their lives would have been spared. Mr. A. W. Levy Mitchell, writes. "I think Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation ou the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught severe cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cought. I had a physician attending me. but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of Consumption, and had given up hodes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickel's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieved, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured. I always recomend it for severe colds and consumption."

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—A trifling indiscretion in diet may lay t foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and here is no fact in medical science mor positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. The original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No deleterious mineral ingred ueht is contained in it, and thoughits action is thorough in cases of costivenes it never produces griping pains in th abdominal region, or weakens the bowel like a violent purgative. It invigorate the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney diseases scrofulous and all diseases of the blood, femole weakness, &c., &c. NOT CRAVEN HEARTED

T. S. QUINCY SCORES THE TUPPERS YOUNG AND OLD

He Tells Why so Many Canadians Went to The States, And Denounces Our Policy of Restriction of Trade And Repression of Energy

DEAR SIR—In the editorial column of your February 12th issue, you couple the name of the writer with our Tupper. There seems to be two reasons for referring to said Tupper. The first is that he is known because he has a father. The second because he makes the statement that those Canadians who have gone to the States "are craven hearted fellows." Let us consider who the cowardly hearted person is, the young man who has secured education sufficient to carry him through life sucessfully or has learned a trade whereby he can earn a living and for fear of failure remains at home satisfied to make an existence living on the bread of his father who fatted on the public Treasury, or the young man who launches his boat on the broad ocean of life, sails to a foreign land, buffets the storms of adversity, surmounts obstacles, and safely lands in the haven of success and prosperity, with no helping hand but imbued with the spirit of self-reliance and honest toil, and once safely anchored endeavors to encourage those who follow with truth and hope, and in assisting them in avoiding the breakers and overcoming the obstacles in their way. It is almost folly to notice such a remark. A gentleman acquainted with the facts would not make it and one ignorant of the facts is not responsible. It is difficult to reply to the question at issue, viz: Reciprocity, without apparently using language that might be construed into disloyalty for the land of our birth, and this is foreign to the native Canadian, for I have yet to find one who has forgotten the words, "Canada fair Canada wherever I may be, there's not a land in all the world can win my heart from thee." But remember this applies to Canada as country and well it might with its unlimited territory, its forests, its minerals, its water powers and the best "all the year round" climate for health on the globe. It does not apply to the manner in which it is governed, please note this, for its government has been for those who governed, not for the people, and their money has been spent that the government should live. Railroads have been built that not only new territory might be opened for commerce, but that more time could be given for such government. The time is up, the game has been played and Canada has lost. And how much has she lost, let us see. The money it cost to raise the families of her people, the money it cost to clothe and educate them, during the last twenty years. It has been the cradle, the school house, the workshop, the farm and the hospital for the United States and instead of retaining the brain and muscle thus created in order that a return might be secured to the nation, it has forced it away where it was duly appreciated and nurtured. Do not imagine that we are not aware that many who remain in Canada possess the same qualifications and they are entitled to credit for the same, but under existing circumstances what is their hope for the future? Is the coming generation to be satisfied to remain in a lock-bound country, or will their eyes be opened to the panorama of other nations ever before them without the question arising why are we less successful? Two things operate against her. First, a majority of the people are born to believe the Government infallible. "Wait and see" is the motto. For twenty years this has been the situation. What do you see to-day? Look at the "Old Moira." How well do I remember when her banks were aglow with furnace fires, and the hum of machinery and the sound of the trip hammer and the screech of the buzz saw was the music furnished for prosperity. Why is this? The same old river offers the same assistance; rail and water transportation is better now than then. The same energetic, honorable business men are with few exceptions still with you. What are you waiting for? For the policy of the Government to develop? Well a Government that does not bring forth something better than "recent developments" over there, should be fired bodily. But they will not do it. I have no doubt there are grand old men in Canada who will vote for Sir John next election, on general principles or on the basis that no matter where he is, he is running for office. In the second place, Canada is so located geographically that it will be impossible for her to prosper without the freest commercial intercourse with the United States. Being so near a neighbor the very fact of a prospective barrier operates to her disfavor in many ways. It creates a dislike from those who become investors. It excludes the active enterprising man who is ever ready to develop the resources of a country. It builds a wall of iron around its commercial industries that kills the very thing it attemps to protect. Box up the shrub and it dies. Give light, air and warmth and it develops into the fruit bearing tree. The motto "live and let live" applies to commercial laws between countries as to individuals and is Reciprocity—in other words. Protection without it is the stand taken by every uncivilized nation since the world begun. No one will deny that free discussion between the people of all nations is beneficial and leads to better civilization, and discussion is to civilization what reciprocity is to commerce, and unless the present Government grants this privilege to the people of Canada, they must not only bear the responsibility of depriving the young people of the land of their birth, of depriving Canada of the benefit of their brain and muscle, of throwing away the money expended in preparing them for duty in their own country, but also of forcing the older portion of her populaiton to remain in the ashes of lost opportunities. If the people who twenty years ago were fortunate enough to decide not to wait, and have reaped a reward for acting on such decision are craven fellows Mr. Tupper is correct and even if his statement was correct, we would rather suffer the stigma than for the present and future generations to point at us among those who sacrificed his country for personal gains, and whose only record was to raise a son so foolish as to be a reproach to his father. Hundreds of Canadians in this city have done more for their countrymen, considering the opportunity, than all the Tuppers, old or young, that ever did or will exist.

Pardon the length of this letter, but it is the only manner I have of reaching the case, and in closing we beg leave to state that in our opinion the craven fellow is the fellow who calls another a coward 300 miles away, and if he is so he can get away from his nurse's apron strings in '93 he will see some of the Canadians who quit working for Tupper, Macdonald & Co. and for which dear Lord we are truly thankful.

THE SCHOOL MASTER ABROAD

Some of our City Teachers Take a Day's Outing Into the Country

The teachers yesterday were given an outing by the inspector, who had arranged for a visit to two schools in Sidney, No. 4, taught by Mr. Fairman, and No. 2, taught by Mr. O. S. Hicks. They arrived at Mr. Fairman's school about 9:30 where a large number of the parents and the trustees had gathered and were heartily welcomed and spent the forenoon in listening to Mr. Fairman's practical illustrations of his methods of teaching the various subjects. Mr. Fairman fully sustained the high reputation he has won as a teacher and the position this school has taken among the schools of the inspectorate. At the close short addresses were given by the Inspector, Messrs Armstead, Dafoe, McKeown, Miss Urquhart, and S. A. Gardner complimenting Mr. Farman and the trustees. Replies were given by Mr. Kelly, Mr. Spafford, trustees of the school, and others The teachers were then driven to the homes of those present where they were hospitably entertained. In the afternoon they were driven to S. S. No. 2, where Mr. Hicks, the trustees and parents again welcomed them. The rest of the afternoon was spent in the same profitable manner and Mr. Hicks demonstrated how thoroughly the pupils under his care are being taught. Short addresses were given here also and the teachers started for home. On their arrival in Belleville they were driven to Mr. Johnston's home where they were again hospitably entertained by an oyster supper, and a very pleasant evening was spent. At the close a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Johnston for the kindly manner in which they had been entertained. After a suitable reply from Mr. Johnston the company broke up and wended their way home feeling that the dav had been very profitably and pleasantly spent.

SCALDED TO DEATH

A Four Year Old Daughter of J Willison Napanee Falls Into a pot of boiling water

In Napanee the other day a little four year old daughter of J. Willison, section foreman of the G. T. Ry. fell backward into a pail of boiling water and died on the following morning. Mrs. W. was alone in the house with the child and had heated the water to clean some ice from the doorstep After setting the pail on the floor she turned her back for a moment and the little child tumbled in. After pulling the little one out Mrs. Willison was obliged to leave it alone in its agony while she ran across to the railway station to telephone for a doctor and other assistance. Dr. Ruttan attended the little sufferer, but she went into one convulsion after another and died on Sunday morning. The poor mother is frantic over her loss, and much sympathy is expressed for the afflicted parents.

BLACK DIPHTHERIA

Said to Have Broken out in the Northern Shanties

It is rumored that a dreaded disease known as the black diphtheria has broken out in the northern camps and is fast thinning the ranks of the lumbermen. Every effort has been made to prevent the circulation of the rumor. Deaths have occurred in several camps and many men have returned to the front. A man stated in the city yesterday that eight men had died in one camp but this report is no doubt exaggerated. In some districts it is thought the water is the cause of the disease, which breaks out in the form of la grippe and going to the throat causes the fatal black ring to appear on the neck. Walter Rebeau returned from one of Gilmour's shanties about ten days ago on account of the prevalance of the disease and the uneasiness being felt among the men. On the night which he left two men who had bunks under his took ill.

RACY CASES IN COURT.

THE SPRING ASSIZES PROMISE TO BE OF A SENSATIONAL CHARACTER.

Murder Rape Seduction Breach of Promise Perjury Slander Illegal Distress and Seizure and Civil Actions of More or Less Interest

The spring assizes which open here on March 21, promise to be of an unusually racy character, embracing nearly every crime on the calendar.

Richard D. Harris, of Rawdon township has entered an action against Seymour Fox, of the same township, for alleged carnally knowing his daughter, Elizabeth Harris, now Mrs. Frank Kyle, claiming $5,000 damages. On July 22 last, two months after her marriage to Kyle she gave birth to a child. The parties in the suit are neighbors and a peculiar fact of the case is that Fox has married another daughter of the plff Harris. C. E. Lyons will appear for the deft and Clute & Williams for the plff.

David Mountenay, of Trenton, will be tried for the murder of a child by striking him on the head with a bag of dishes, the particulars of which are still fresh in the memory of ONTARIO readers. He will be defended by C. E. Lyons.

Benjamin Sanford will stand his trial for alleged rape on Jane Keller some months ago while they were returning one night from Shannonville, W. J. Diamond solicitor, C. Lyons, counsel.

Mrs. Michael Hinchey of Stoco claims $1000 damages from Francis Trudow of the same village for charging her with being guilty of adultery in August last. The slander arose out of the misappropriation of some property. Clute & Williams for plff; C. E. Lyons for deft.

James Irvine of Hungerford will be up for alleged perjury. It appears that one Collins is a butcher and was charged before Magistrate Flint with stealing a heifer which he butchered. Collins produced Irvine to prove that he had bought the heifer from him (Irvine), when the latter had not owned a cow for six years. C E Lyons will appear for the defence.

Amelia White vs. William Spencer White will be an action for plff. dower in lands left by her deceased husband and now owned by her son W. S. White. The latter claims that he has a written agreement with his late father in which the land in question was sold to him (the de't.) G. S. Skinner for plff. and C. E. Lyons for deft.

W. W. Bird claims $496 from J. K. McCargar for making cheese in the defendant's factory at Shannonville. The defendant sets up that the plaintiff made bad cheese on which he suffered a loss of more than the amount of the plaintiff's claim. W. B. Northrup for plff. C. E. Lyons for deft.

Through his solicitor W. B Northrup, Henry Mauch has entered an action against William Lattimer to recover lot 12 in the fifth concession of Hungerford and $210 rent. Lattimer claims that five years ago in settling up his brother's estate in dealings he then had with Mauch the latter wrongfully kept $500 with which he offsets the plaintiff's claim. The retention of the money comes out of the fact that the plaintiff had money placed in his hands to pay accounts which he did not do. C. E. Lyons will act for the defendant.

Mde. Vermilyea of Toronto, formerly of Belleville will press her action against J. W Canniff and B. B. Canniff for alleged infringement of a patented corset and an injunction preventing the defts. selling the corset in certain parts of Canada. Another action brought by the same lady against Brock & Sine, of Bridge street asks for an injunction to restrain defts from infringing on her corset patent. Brock & Sine claim that the article they manufacture is not an infringement on the article made by Mde. Vermilyea. Clute & Williams for plff; C. E. Lyons for defts.

J. E. Spencer vs. Frank McMullen is an action for illegal distress and seizure in Seymour township in December last, Clute & Williams for plff and W. A. F. Campbell, Stirling for deft.

A bench warrant will be issued for James McGinnis jr. for the murder of Motimer Ford at Lonsdale. Since his disappearance he has not been heard of in spite of the efforts of Principal Detective Rogers and High County Constable Johnston to locate him.

A COWARDLY ASSAULT

A six Foot two Man Pounds a Twelve Year Old Lad

Last night a young man named Cornish empolyed in the Bank of Montreal, committed a cowardly assault on a lad named Chris. Dunlop. A few days ago Cornish had got off a smutty joke on Dunlop and a lot of other lads in regard to a dog Cornish said he had lost, and whenever after that any of the boys met him they asked if he had yet found his dog. Although this was a fair return on the part of the boys for the joke he had perpetuated on them he became very angry whenever they referred to the matter. Last night Dunlop met Cornish and as usual enquired after the lost dog. Cornish became enraged and assaulted Dunlop, knocking him down and inflicting many painful bruises and wounds on his head and body which will confine him to his bed for a few days, though none of these are serious. The boy is being attended to by Dr. Dolan, by whom he was employed. Dunlop is a lad but twelve years of age, while Cornish is a man over six feet high. It is seldom that a paper has to record such an assault by a full grown man on a little boy, which no provocation can justify. The case will probably be ventilated in the police court.

ITCHING AND SCALY

Skin Disease 9 Years. Doctors and Medicines Useless. Cured by Cuticura for $4.75.

I feel it is my duty to tell you my experience with your CUTICURA REMEDIES. I have been troubled for over nine years with a dreadful skin disease. When I first felt it, there appeared a few small red spots on my breast, and it kept on spreading slowly. It started the same on my back, between my shoulders. A few days after the spots turned gray, and began itching. Small scales would fall off, so it continued spreading all over my body. I tried all the patent medicines I could think of, or get hold of. I also consulted doctors. Yes, they would cure me in a short time, but they always failed. Then I gave it all up, thinking there was no cure for me. Some few months ago, I noticed your advertisement in the Tacoma Morning Globe; thought I would try the CUTICURA REMEDIES, not thinking it would do me much good, but to my surprise, three boxes of CUTICURA, one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT cured me entirely. My skin is now as white and pure as that of a child. I send my photograph. I have many friends in Chicago, Ill., and St. Paul, Minn.

We Mean What We Say

About a week ago we advertised men's all wool suits at $5.00 since then we have sold a great many. Our customers have now become thoroughly convinced that when the Oak Hall advertise a certain line of goods at a certain price they can be had at that price. We have still quite a lot of these bargain suits left and if you wish one you will have to hurry. Do not come when it is too late and then be sorry. Those men's all wool pants at $1.50 are selling very fast. Such pants at such prices could not possibly be had at any other place than the Oak Hall.

A Letter from a leading Picton Lawyer,

BELLEVILLE Ont.

C. B. SCANTLEBURY. ESQ

DEAR SIR—We have used the combination you suggested and are much pleased with the effect.

You will have received this morning some of the paper you sent on approval, We could not send it back earlier as we thought we might have to use part of it.

We are much obliged for the trouble taken and for your promptness throughout. It seems extremely likely that our order will be followed up by some of our friends in the spring, if not now, as the rooms have been much admired and the papers are much prettier than can be bought here for the same price.

By the way, one of the sample has been retained at the request of a friend who contemplates papering.

You may or may no hear from this, in the meantime if you want the sample it can be returned at any time. Yours Truly, ———

NOTE.—The above letter is one of the results of our mail order system. The papers used were our own suggestion

No matter where you live between Halifax and Vancouver we can paper your rooms as well as if you were here in our warerooms and made a personal selection.

If you cannot come and inspect our stock, send us a description of your rooms; give us an idea of the price you wish to pay and we will send you samples of combinations in wall paper effects carefully selected by our own decorator

POISION LURKED IN THE SODA.

Mrs. Jarrett Didn't Know It and Gave it to Her Neighbors.

BANGOR, Me., Feb. 22.—Last summer an old hunter named Jarrett, living near Green Lake, died suddenly. His wife and children could not account for the strange malady, but no investigation was made. Soon afterwards the family moved away and settled in Mountain Chase.

Among their goods was a quantity of cooking soda, which was in a tin box. It was undisturbed until a few days ago, when in consequence of snow blockades soda in the neighborhood became scarce, and Mrs. Jarrett thought of the contents of the box and supplied all the families in the vicinity with soda.

The next day no less than 28 persons, all who partook of the bread made with the soda, became seriously ill.

An old man named Rider died last night and several of the older patients have since been dangerously ill.

The soda is admitted to have been the cause of the trouble. It is surmised that the box containing the soda had been previously used for some deadly poison employed by Jarrett in killing game or curing furs.

ALL BUT THE DRIVER.

A Train on the B. & O. With 100 Passengers on Board Narrowly Escapes Going Over an Embankment.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 22.—The Wheeling express on the Wheeling division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railway with 100 passengers on board had a narrow escape from an awful accident near Whitehall, 12 miles south of this city, last night.

Near Whitehall and just around a steep curve is a temporary trestle 300 feet long, 40 feet high. The train was running at the rate of 35 miles an hour when it rounded the curve. The engine struck a huge rock, which loosened by frost had rolled from the high embankment to the railroad.

An awful crash followed, the engine broke from the tender and left the track, the tender partly broke from the train and the separated parts rushed in a mad race for the trestle. When the engine reached the trestle proper it seemed to stop suddenly and plunge down the embankment. The train swept by in safety, being stopped by the air brakes at the other end of the trestle, as the engine toppled over. Engineer Mahan was thrown 40 feet in the air and killed. The fireman was also seriously hurt.

MATERIAL FOR A PLAY.

A Paris Foundling's Fight for a Fortune.

PARIS, Feb. 22.—A case with incidents that would make a society drama commenced before the First Chamber, Civil Tribunal, on Tuesday. Thirty-five years ago a new-born child was received at the Assistance Publique in Nancy. The boy grew up under the impression that he was an orphan.

At the age of 23 Albert Bauer, the presumed orphan, was in the employ of the Northern Railway Company at Dunkerque. There the idea occurred to him to see his birth certificate. Having obtained this document he succeeded in finding his mother. Sophie Bauer had become Mme. De Castro, the wife of a wealthy Spanish gentleman, who owned a hotel in the Champs Elysees quarter of Paris.

An affectionate correspondence between mother and son followed, but for obvious reasons the latter was not introduced to Signor Castro.

Now the mother is dead and Albert wants his share of her fortune, which is estimated at 300,000 francs. Whether he is legally entitled to this or not is being considered by the First Chamber.

SARAH IS MAD.

St. Louis Refuses to House Berhardt and Her Dog, Too.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 22.—Sarah Bernhardt reached here in her private car yesterday. Her manager had telegraphed ahead for seven rooms at the Southern Hotel, but the managers of that hostelry were unable to comply with the request, and the divine Sarah had to be content with three rooms, but the hotel people said they could not permit her to bring her pet animals with her, so Sarah said that rather than be separated from her four-footed companion she would remain in her car.

After a two hours' stay at the depot she reconsidered her determination and entering a cab drove to the Lindell. Here she was told that her requirements could not be granted, and after a rather stormy scene Mlle. Bernhardt drove to the Southern. She had evidently wearied of the attempt to keep her St. Bernard companion with her and told the hotel people she would not insist on the dog sharing her rooms with her; but during her ride the rooms had been engaged and Sarah's choler, which had been gradually rising, now reached a point where she could find relief in an outburst of the most emphatic French that has greeted the ears of the hotel folks in many a day.

She again folded her wraps about her, and giving the hotel clerk in particular and St. Louis in general, such a scorching as only Sarah can give, once more entered the cab, and at a late hour this afternoon was wandering about the streets in a pouring rain, seeking relief for herself, maid and dog.

SIX THOUSAND FOR A LIFE.

A Widow's Suit Against Her Husband's Murderer.

VINCENNES, Ind., Feb. 22.—The suit of Mrs. Alice A. Helmes, administratrix of the estate of Elsie W. Leech v. John W. Graeler and O'Connell Fairhurst, guardian, for damages occupied the attention of the Knox Circuit Court in this city since Saturday.

The plaintiff is the mother of Elsie W. Leech, a Pullman car conductor on the Iron Mountain Railroad, who was shot and killed last February at Bald Knob, Mo., by the defendant, a passenger, who had suddenly become insane. Graeler lives in Vincennes and is very wealthy. Since the killing he has been in a private asylum for the insane at Cincinnati, until recently when he was released, having regained his sanity. Fairhurst was appointed his guardian.

The case was bitterly fought and a great array of legal talent appeared on both sides.

The jury after deliberating all night, brought in a verdict for the plaintiff awarding her $6000.

Kissed the Corpse and Fell Dead.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Mrs. Kate Hartney, a sister of Undertaker Edward Hope, died at her home, in Third-street, Jersey City, Monday. Mrs. Isaac Kaylor, widow of Isaac Kaylor, a prominent Democratic politician, was in the house Monday night. She had been a life-long friend of Mrs. Hartney. At midnight Mrs. Kaylor told the relatives that she was going home.

"I will take a last look at my dear friend," she said, and she bowed over the casket and kissed the lips of the corpse. The next moment Mrs. Kaylor gasped and fell to the floor, dead.

A physician said death resulted from heart disease.

A FATHER'S MISTAKE.

Gave His Babe Strychnine Instead of Teething Powder.

WIARTON, Feb. 22.—The 2-year-old child of John Lemcke complained of being unwell and feverish. The mother, thinking that its teeth was the cause, requested her husband to go to the cupboard and mix up one of the Steedman's teething powders. Not seeing the powder where he expected to find it, looked around and discovered another powder in a dish which he supposed was the powder desired, mixed it up and gave it. Ten minutes later the child was dead The drug was strychnine, which had been purchased in Wiarton a few days previous to kill mice and had been in the dish.

Greer and the Heslop Murder Alibi.

BRANTFORD, Feb 22.—On Wednesday night Detective Greer arrived in the city and remained over night, going on to Middleport shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. The object of his late frequent visits to the Indian bush and to Middleport is to get up corroborative evidence that Douglas and Goosey were at the reserve and in the vicinity on the day of the Heslop murder. It is expected the defence will try to prove an alibi for Bartram and Lottridge, and that such evidence will be brought from Lewiston, N.Y., as will tend to throw the greatest discredit upon the testimony given by Douglas and Goosey.

The defence allege that the two Indians were not even in Ontario at the time of the murder and will try to show that Douglas, at least, was in Lewiston. Against this Detective Greer is hunting up proof of their being near Middleport, and has already unearthed the fact that a funeral took place on the reserve the day of the murder, and that Douglas was present at it.

JESSE JAMES OUTDONE.

THE STAR OF THE WESTERN BANDIT PALES

Before the Daring Nerve of His Eastern Rival, Who Robs an Express Car, Shoots the Messenger, Steals an Engine at the Point of a Revolver and Keeps Up a Running Fire from the Cab of the Locomotive at His Pursuers—Finally Captured.

ROCHESTER, Feb. 22.—The shooting of an express messenger on a Central Hudson train, the rifling of a valuable safe, the flight of the robber on the engine of another train, from which he drove the crew at the point of a revolver; a running fight from the engine cab for miles, chased by another engine filled with railway men and final capture of the desperado by a sheriff's posse in a swamp after a wild pursuit across the country—these are some of the sensational features of the most desperate attempt at train robbery in the history of the Central Hudson Railway. The exploit casts in the shade as an exhibition of coolness and nerve the famous exploits of the Jesse James band or other outlaws of Western fame.

Train No. 3 on the Central Hudson is known as the American Express Company's special. It runs every day in the year between New York and Buffalo and carries only goods and property shipped by that company.

The train leaves New York at 9 o'clock each evening and is due in this city at 7.05 o'clock in the morning. Nearly all the cars are run through to Chicago and contain the most valuable express matter.

The Famous "Money Car."

One car is known as the "money" car and in it is sent the specie from the United States Treasury for Western banks, as well as money in process of exchange between banks of New York and the West. The load of wealth sent out from New York on this train is usually greater on Saturday evening than on other days and often amounts to more than a million dollars, in addition to jewelry and other valuables. One of the most trusted messengers of the company and sometimes several are placed in charge of this car. So great is the secrecy observed in regard to this car and its contents that often the crew of the train do not know in which car the money is carried.

The Robber's Appearance.

Daniel T. McInerney of this city was in charge of the money car on the trip Saturday night. The train was made up of eight express cars and one day coach for the accommodation of the regular train crew Only one messenger was assigned to the money car, as the work of billing was light. The other cars had two messengers.

The train left Syracuse at 5 o'clock this morning in charge of Conductor Emil Loass of this city. The train was drawn by engine 692, with Caleb Cherry, Engineer. The coach was in the rear of the train and the money car just ahead.

When the train was near Weedsport the conductor, who was in the coach with his two trainmen, thought he heard the air whistles sound very faintly. It was enough to arouse him to the belief that something was wrong in the express car.

Going out on the platform of the coach he climbed on the rail, and looking through the hole where the bell cord comes through he saw the upper part of a man whose face below the eyes was concealed by a red flannel mask. The messenger he could not see.

Bullets Commence Whistling.

He went back, set the air brakes and called his two trainmen. The three stood leaning out from the platform looking forward along the sides of the express car. Suddenly a man's form appeared at side door of the express car. Revolver bullets whistled past their ears and a voice was heard commanding them to signal the engineer to go ahead or take the consequences.

The trainmen were unarmed. The conductor told one of his men to jump off, run back to Jordan and telegraph along the line to Rochester that they had a train robber on board. This was done and the conductor signalled the engineer to go ahead full speed, thinking that the robber would not dare to jump and would be captured at the next stop.

Stained with Blood.

The train went to Pt. Byron. Here the brakes were set again and the conductor and the trainmen went to the express car.

The car showed signs of a desperate struggle. Money packages and jewelry were lying scattered about. Everything in the car seemed stained with blood, and Messenger McInerney was lying bleeding from several wounds and almost unconscious. The robber was nowhere to be seen and was supposed to have jumped and made good his escape.

McInerney wanted to be brought on to Rochester. A telegram for an ambulance was sent to Rochester and train went on to Lyons, the next stop. The news had spread all along the line by this time and the station at Lyons was alive. Among others in the crowd was a well-dressed young man wearing gold eyeglasses and carrying a satchel, slung by a strap over his shoulder.

He Was the Robber.

Now, it so happened that the trainman had noticed this same young man at the station at Syracuse before the train pulled out and they had not seen him since, and the question of what he was doing at Lyons and how he got there at once suggested itself.

An attempt was made to seize him, but he pulled out two revolvers, held the crowd back and backed across the yard until he reached a coal train. The engine had steam up ready to pull out for the west he pulled the pin holding the tender to the first car, climbed over the coal into the cab, drove the engineer and fireman out with his revolvers and started the engine up.

Conductor Loass and one of the switchmen procured a shotgun, freed the engine of the express and with the firemen and engineer started in pursuit of the fugitive.

It will be remembered that the Central Hudson is a four-tracked road and the two engines, though both going west, were not on the same track.

A Duel at 30 Miles an Hour.

The express engine soon overtook the robber, who suddenly reversed his engine and let his pursuers pass him, pouring a perfect hail of pistol bullets into the cab as his pursuers went by. Then the pursuer stopped and the pursued went ahead.

Another artillery duel ensued, the shotgun taking part this time. No one was hurt in either battle.

About two miles beyond, the robber found his engine's steam was going out, so he jumped off at a cross road and started across the country, going south. He managed to terrorize a farmer into letting him have a horse and rode on about two miles further south. Here he procured a horse and cutter, persuading the owner, a German farmer, to entrust him with them by firing on him.

Running the Bandit Down.

The party on the express engine had returned to Lyons, where the Sheriff of Wayne county had organized a posse, which under command of Deputy Sheriff Collins, started in pursuit.

Meantime the farmers along the robbers' line of retreat had also turned out fully armed, in pursuit. The runaway was sighted about five miles south of Newark. The roads are very bad and he had made poor speed. He abandoned his rig and ran to Benton's swamp, but this swamp proved too full of water to be penetrated and the fugitive took up his position behind a stone wall and faced his pursuers. After some parley he surrendered to Deputy Sheriff Collins.

He was taken to Lyons and lodged in jail. He gave the name of William Cross, said he was from New Mexico and had been boarding in Syracuse for some time.

He admitted that he was the man who had attempted the train robbery.

Cross is believed to be the much-wanted Oliver Curtis Perry, who robbed Express Messenger Moore near Utica last fall.

Perry, the Lyons train robber, was formerly a cowboy and later worked as a brakeman.

But it is believed Cross boarded the train when it pulled out of Syracuse, and climbed on top of the express car. He was provided with a hooked rope. Fastening the hook in the slight cornice of the roof on one side of the car, he let himself down on the other, and resting his toes on the ledge that runs around the car he looked in the glass of the side door and saw the express messenger in front of one of the safes, which was open, making up his bills. He smashed the glass with his revolver, covered the messenger and shouted to him to hold up his hands.

The Shooting of the Messenger.

Instead of doing this McInerney reached for the signal cord with one hand for his revolver with the other. A bullet smashed the hand on the cord, but not before it had given the signal that aroused the conductor.

Then McInerney fired on the robber and put a bullet through his coat.

Thereupon the robber shot the messenger twice, once in the right leg and once in the left temple.

Cross climbed into the car and a desperate struggle took place, which did not end until the train was stopped for the first time near Weedsport.

It is evident the robber had climbed out on top of the car and remained there through the stop at Pt. Byron until the train reached Lyons.

THE DAILY ONTARIO

BELLEVILLE, FEBRUARY 22, 1892

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The result of the election contest in East Hastings was a general surprise to both parties, and the success of the tories cannot but be regretted by every honest and patriotic citizen, who has the good of his country at heart. Nor does the result furnish an indication of the sentiments of the electors on the great trade issue that was before them. It rather indicates the nature and extent of the underhand and corrupt influences employed on behalf of the government candidate. Elsewhere in this issue we set forth the character of some of these influences.

The people of Ontario may well be proud of the manner in which their affairs have been administrated for the past twenty years, and the statement made on Friday by Provincial Treasurer Harcourt showed that the same careful husbanding of our resources and wise expenditure of our revenues still characterize the government. Although there were several extraordinary outlays last year, chief of which was $160,000 for the University, and over $200,000 on the new Legislative buildings, yet there was a surplus of $20,000 of revenue over expenditure. This is not much, but in view of the constant deficits announced by the other provinces it is most satisfactory. There is now a surplus of $5,285,585 above all present liabilities.

THE OWEN ELECTRIC BELT

PAT. AUG. 16. 87.

AND APPLIANCE CO.

49 KING ST. W., TORONTO, Ont

G. C. PATTERSON, Mgr. for Can.

Electricity, as applied by the Owen Electric Belt and Appliances,

Is now recognized as the greatest boon offered to suffering humanity. It is fast taking the place of drugs in all nervous and rheumatic troubles, and will effect cures in seemingly hopeless cases where every other known means has failed. It is natures remedy, and by its steady, soothing current that is readily felt,

POSITIVELY CURES

THE FOLLOWING:

Rheumatism,	Sexual Weakness,
Sciatica,	Female Complaints,
General Debility,	Impotency,
Lumbago,	Kidney Diseases,
Nervous Diseases,	Liver Complaint,
Dyspepsia,	Lame Back.
Varicocele,	Urinary Diseases,

RHEUMATISM.

It is certainly not pleasant to be compelled to refer to the indisputable fact that medical science has utterly failed to afford relief in rheumatic cases. We venture the assertion that although electricity has only been in use as a remedial agent for a few years, it has cured more cases of Rheumatism than all other means combined. Some of our leading physicians, recognizing this fact, are availing themselves of this most potent of nature's forces,

To Restore Manhood and Womanhood

As man has not yet discovered all of Nature's laws for right living, it follows that everyone has committed more or less errors which have left visible blemishes. To erase these evidences of past errors, there is nothing to equal Electricity as applied by the Owen Electric Body Battery and Suspensory. Rest assured any doctor who would try to accomplish this by any kind of drugs is practising a most dangerous form of charlatanism.

We Challenge the World to show an Electric Belt where the current is under the control of the patient as completely as this. We can use the same belt on an infant that we would on a giant, by simply reducing the current. Other belts have been in the market for five or ten years longer, but to-day there are more Owen Belts manufactured than all other makes combined.

Beware of Imitations and Cheap Belts.

☞ Our attention having been attracted to an imitation of the Genuine Owen Electric Belt, that is being peddled through the country from town to town, we desire to warn the public against such.

Our Trade Mark is the portrait of Dr. A. Owen, embossed in gold upon every Belt and Appliance manufactured by The Owen Electric Belt and Appliance Co.

STORMS IN ENGLAND.

THE TIGHT LITTLE ISLAND IN A FLEECY MANTLE.

A Large Spanish Vessel Sunk off the Cornwall Coast With All On Board—New Cabinet in France—A British Garrison in Upper Burmah Besieged.

SINGAPORE, Feb. 22.—Fort Sadon in Upper Burmah, which is garrisoned by a force of British troops, is surrounded by 500 Katchyens. The latter have made repeated attacks on the stronghold, but so far have been repulsed. Nineteen men of the British force have been either killed or wounded. The garrison is closely besieged by the enemy, who have completely blocked the road leading to the fort. Ten Sepoys have been massacred while on their way thither.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Advices have been received from Upper Burmah to the effect that the Sadon post which is being besieged by Katchyens is garrisoned by 100 natives and seven British infantry under the command of Lieutenant Harrison. The Katchyen attack was instigated by Chinamen who have been disputing the frontier line and who have lately been encroaching on frontier posts within the Central line.

Major Yale chief in command of the district is away with 500 men dispersing Katchyens and is not expecected to return to Sadon until the 25th. Details of the reverse are still wanting.

BURIED IN WHITE.

Great Britain Encounters Another Heavy Snow Storm

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Snow storms prevailed Saturday night throughout the United Kingdom.

In London two inches of snow fell.

In North Wales ten thousand quarrymen have been thrown out of work by the snow that has fallen to great depths in that part of the country.

All outdoor work in the shipyards at Hartlepool has been stopped, rendering idle 7000 men.

The snow storm continues in Westmoreland and traffic on the various railway lines is seriously impeded.

Further despatches from Ireland are to the effect that the snow is still falling heavily in that country, and that in Cork and adjoining places the roads are covered to a depth of four feet, and in consequence traffic has been almost entirely suspended. The despatches say that the roads in Listowell district, Kerry County, are also badly blocked by huge drifts.

MANY SHIPS WRECKED.

A Spanish Vessel Goes Down With All on Board.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—What is likely to prove the gravest maritime disaster which has occurred since the tempestuous weather of the past week set in is reported from the Cornish coast.

A large vessel, whose name is unknown, but which is supposed to be a Spanish steamer, has been wrecked off Penzance and it is feared all hands who were aboard of her are lost.

Already brief despatches telling of tragic and horrifying scenes which attended the disaster have been received.

It is learned that a boat containing six men which had set out from the vessel for shore was capsized almost immediately in the blinding gale. The boat was next seen keel upward, but none of her crew could be seen except two men.

The first of these was clinging to the boat in desperation. He was seen to be twice washed off, the second was swimming in an effort to reach safety. Efforts made by the coast guard to help the two men proved too late and both were drowned.

Two boats from the wreck and a quantity of wreckage have come ashore.

A Cork packet boat towed a Norwegian schooner to Queenstown to-day. The master of the schooner was drowned. The schooner Petrel has also been towed to Queenstown. She was found abandoned.

The steamer Corea, from Cardiff for Genoa, has been sunk near St. Vincent.

Famous Forger Released.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Austin Bidwell, the famous American forger, who was sentenced to life imprisonment for forgery on the Bank of England, has been released from prison.

The Germs Came in Rawhides.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—The official report of the Danish veterinarian on the recent outbreak in London of foot and mouth disease among the cattle said to be from Denmark concludes with the statement that it is not possible that the contagion was contracted in Denmark or aboard ship, and that it is probable that the cattle became infected in Islington market. The report confirms the view of the veterinarian attached to American Consulate in London that the germs of the disease were imported in raw hides from Germany and is in accordance with the fact that animals have been attacked in England which never came in contact with Danish beasts.

Ulster Supports the Bill.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—The Ulster members have imparted to Mr. Balfour their approval of the Irish Local Government Bill, together with the opinion that it is advisable to withdraw the clause investing the judges with supervisory power over the council, and the transfer of power to assess damages for malicous injury or murder from the grand committees to the county court judges.

M. Constans Had Apologized.

PARIS, Feb. 22.—In the Chamber of Deputies Saturday M. Loherisse, a Boulangist, interpellated the Government as to why M. Constans, Minister of the Interior, had not been prosecuted for assaulting M. Laur (Boulangist) on the floor of the Chamber at the session on January 10.

M. Floquet, the President of the Chamber, replied that the prosecution had been abstained from owing to the fact that M. Constans had made an apology for his action on the occasion referred to, and his apology had been accepted by the House.

The chamber stopped further discussion of the interpellation by adopting the order of the day.

Lady Russell to Pay Costs.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—An echo was heard Saturday of the famous Russell divorce suit, when the court refused to grant Lady Russell's petition. She was ordered to pay the costs to-day. Lady Russell applied to the court to compel her husband to pay her solicitor's charges and the costs of the court, amounting to £350. The application was made on the claim that she was without means. The court refused to grant the application.

Embezzled Government Money.

CALGARY, Feb. 22.—Mr Campbell, postmaster at Banff, pleaded guilty at Calgary yesterday of embezzling $359 Government money. Sentence was reserved.

Fifty-nine Conservatives, 13 Unionists, 18 Gladstonian and 7 Irish members of the House of Commons having intimated that they will not run again for Parliament The Standard lectures these gentlemen on the subject, claiming that it is their duty to the nation not to absent themselves from Parliament.

The bill regulating emigration from Germany, about to be introduced in the Reichstag, enacts that anybody wishing to leave the country shall inform the police as to his destination. The authorities will, for a month before allowing a person to emigrate, make public his declaration as to his destination. Agents will not be allowed to forward emigrants except in accordance with a written contract open to the authorities. No person between the ages of 18 and 25 years, the period covering liability to military service, will be allowed to enter into a contract to emigrate.

WHERE WHALES ARE FOUND.

They Frequent a Long Inlet Stretching Far North from Hudson's Bay.

From the northern part of Hudson's Bay, already arctic in character, stretches far toward the pole a deep inlet, which some early navigator of these desolate polar shores has termed Roe's Welcome—as if anything within that ice-bound and lonely coast could be welcome to a person just from civilization! The name was no doubt given in memory of some escape from the drifting ice-packs, when the inlet furnished refuge from one of the fierce storms of that polar region.

Roe's Welcome is a famed hunting place for the great polar whale, or "bowhead," as the whalers call it, writes Lieutenant Schwatka in St. Nicholas. This huge whale, which is, indeed, immense in size, often makes his home among the great ice packs and ice fields of the polar seas and a goodly quantity of these it finds in Roe's Welcome. But these ice packs, swinging to and fro with the tides, currents and winds in such a long, narrow inlet as this, render navigation dangerous even for the staunch whaling ships, and they generally make their fishing grounds off the lower mouth of the great inlet, where the cruising is much safer, if not always so profitable. Occasionally, when some exceptionally good ice master is in charge of a whaler he dashes into the better fishing ground for a short cruise; another less skillful, lured by the brighter prospects or discouraged by a poor catch outside, enters the inlet and either reaps a rich harvest of oil and bone or wrecks his vessel. Or he may even escape after an imprisonment in the grip of the merciless ice-fetters for a year or two longer than he had intended to stay.

Such was the fate of the good ship "Gladiator," from a well-known whaling port in southeastern Massachusetts. She sailed to the northernmost end of the "Welcome," as the whalers call it, and, after a most profitable catch of "bowheads," had the ill-fortune to remain firmly bound in the ice for two years. During this long time, much longer than that for which the vessel had been provisioned, the crew were dependent on the many Eskimos who clustered around the ship. The natives supplied them with ample quantities of reindeer, musk-ox, seal, and walrus meat in return for small quantities of molasses and coffee. Their companionship, too, rude as it was, did much to while away the dreary, lonely hours of the two years' imprisonment.

Geographical Dont's.

Don't say or write Austro-Hungary. The best writers prefer Austria-Hungary.

Don't call the Chinese "Mongolians." It is better to reserve the latter name for the people who live north of China proper.

Don't speak of a native of China as a Chinaman. You would not say that you had an Ireland man digging in your garden. It is better to call John a Chinese.

Don't, please don't, say that New York City is located on Manhattan Island. Such a misuse of the verb "to locate" is trying to the nerves of the best lexicographers. Say New York City is situated on Manhattan Island.

Don't speak of China as our Antipodes. Our Antipodes is the point on the other side of the world, reached by a straight line passing through the place on which we stand and the center of the earth. Our Antipodes is in the ocean southwest of Australia.

Don't forget that Oriental names ending in "an" have the accent almost invariably on the last syllable, as Teheran, Beloochistan.

Don't make the mistake some people do of thinking the word "alluvium" to be synonymous with "soil." Only those soils which are the result of the deposition of sediment by running water can be properly called alluvium.

Excursion to Washington

The Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg Railroad Company will run its sixth annual grand mid-winter excursion to Washington on Tuesday, March 1, 1892.

More than three thousand people have patronized these Washington excursions run by the R., W. & O. R.R., and every one was pleased and satisfied. These Washington excursions are patronized by the best people, and the fact that the same ones go each year attests the popularity of the excursions.

The fare to Washington and return is only Ten Dollars ($10.00) from any station on the line of the R., W. & O. R. R., at which excursion tickets are on sale.

The price for double berth in Wagner palace sleeping car is $3.50, section $7.00, from any station on the line of R., W. & O. R.R., through to Washington without change. Accommodation in sleeping car can be secured through any R., W. & O. R. R. ticket agent.

The route is via Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg R. R., West Shore and Pennsylvania Railroads, passing the cities of New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore, as well as many other places of interest. Tickets will permit stop over in Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York on the return trip. The excursion starts from line of the R., W. & O. R. R., in the afternoon and evening of Tuesday, March 1, 1892. A stop of forty-five minutes will be made in Jersey City for breakfast. The train arrives in Washington early in the afternoon Wednesday, March 2nd. Tickets are good until March 12th, inclusive, and allow a sojourn of ten days in Washington giving ample time to visit Mt. Vernon and other historic places in the vicinity of Washington, as well as Old Point Comfort and some of the memorable battlefields in Virginia.

Side-trip excursions from Washington may be made at the following round-trip rates: To Mt. Vernon, 75 cents; Richmond, Va., $4.00; Petersburg, Va., $5.00; Old Point Comfort, Va., $6.00; Norfolk, Va., $6.00; Luray Caverns, $5.55.

Reduced rates arranged at twenty-one hotels in Washington $1.50 to $5.00 per day.

Special tourist agents will accompany excursionists to Washington and give personal attention to the wants of passengers on the trains and during the stay in Washington.

Washington is a remarkably beautiful city and presents many interesting and attractive features, aside from those of a strictly national character. The Capitol building is the largest and finest public edifice in the world. The state departments and all other public buildings are grand and imposing, of great interest, and are open to the public every day, except Sunday, from 9 or 10 a.m., to 3 or 4 p.m. No fees are asked or expected for showing them.

Excursion tickets, sleeping car tickets, time-tables and illustrated descriptive programs, giving full and detailed information, can be obtained from any R., W. & O. R.R. ticket agent, or from Theo. Butterfield, General Passenger Agent, Syracuse, N.Y.

A Cure For Constipation And Headache

Dr. Silas Lane while in the Rocky Mountains discovered a root that when combined with other herbs makes an easy and certain cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots and leaves, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick-headache in one night. For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for clearing up the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50 cents a package.

Diseases of The Liver

Parmelee's Pills possess the power of acting specifically upon the deceased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that disease of almost every name and nature are driven from the body. Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell, P. O., writes 'I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that w... sel well.'

Advice to Mothers

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used by millions of mothers for children teething for over fifty years, with perfect success. It relieves the little sufferer at once, produces natural quiet sleep, and freeing the child from pain, and the young cherub wakes as bright as a button.' It is pleasant to taste, sooths the child softens the gums, allays pain, relieve wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes 25 cts. bottle.

A Pleasant Herb Drink

The best cure we know of for constipation and headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family Medicine. It said to be Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made ready for use by pouring boiling water onto the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders and is now the sovereign remedy with ladies for clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages at 50c and $1.

Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery has worked wonders for dyspeptics and we don't think there is a case of Dyspepsia to be found that it will not cure if the directions are followed. Mr. C. E Williams, Druggist, Wingham says: "The Vegetable Discovery is selling well, and know of a bad case of dyspepsia that it has completely cured.

Application

It takes only this to thoroughly remove Dandruff, stop itching of the scalp, and make the hair soft and pliable. In fact Anti-Dandruff is a perfect hair on —all say so who use it.

Interested People

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprieter of Kemp's Balsam for coughs and colds does it is indeed wonderful. He authorized all druggists to give all those who call for it a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The large bottles are 50c and $1. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body. Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

A Great Surprise

Is in store for all who use, Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs, the great guarantee remedy. Would you believe that it is sold on its merits and that any druggists is authorized by the proprieter of his wonderful remedy to give you a sample bottle free? It never fails to cure acute or chronic coughs. All druggists sell Kemp's Balsam. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.

If you have a cough or cold do not neglect it; many without a trace of that hereditary disease have drifted into a consumptive grave by neglecting what was only a slight cold. Had the used Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup before it was too late their lives would have been spared. Mr. A. W. Levy Mitchell, writes. "I think Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation on the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught aevere cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cought. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of Consumption, and had given up hopes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickel's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieved, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured. I always recomend it for severe colds and consumption."

Snipe and plover are unusually numerous this year.

DEAR SIRS,—My children were taken ill with ulcerated sore throats bordering on diphtheria. I had nothing in the house but Hagyards Yellow Oil which I used with great benefit I am sure if it had not been for it the disease would have developed into diphtheria. It is a splendid medicine.

Advice to Mothers

Keep the head cool, the feet warm and the bowels regular, and no disease can attack you. This is a celebrated German physician's advise, and can best be accomplished by using Burdock Blood Bitters the best blood purifier known. It cures all disorders of the stomach, liver, bowels, and blood.

A Sensible Statement.

Sirs,—Having used your Burdock Blood Bitters successfully for some time past, I must state that for my complaint of biliousness and acid stomach I have never found an equal, and I continue to use it and recommend it to my neighbors.

We Mean What We Say

About a week ago we advertised men's all wool suits at $5.00 since then we have sold a great many. Our customers have now become thoroughly convinced that when the Oak Hall advertise a certain line of goods at a certain price they can be had at that price. We have still quite a lot of these bargain suits left and if you wish one you will have to hurry. Do not come when it is too late and then be sorry. Those men's all wool pants at $1.50 are selling very fast. Such pants at such prices could not possibly be had at any other place than the Oak Hall.

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—A trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. The original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No deleterious mineral ingredient is contained in it, and though its action is thorough in cases of costiveness it never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowel like a violent purgative. It invigorates the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney diseases scrofulous and all diseases of the blood, femole weakness, &c., &c. Price $100. Sample bottle 10 cents. Ask for Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. The wrapper bears a fac-simile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers.

LOCKETT'S

...paid the penalty for the murder of the huissier Gouffe under the glittering blade. How slow the moments sped in the cold gray dawn; it seemed as though the great door of the prison would never open to pass out the murderer to his awaiting doom. In the meantime a mob of 20,000 people awaited him, passing the time in shouting in chorus a parody on the latest popular tune of the day:

C'est la tete d'Eyraud qu'il nous faut.
Oh, oh, oh, oh, oh!

There was no delay when he did come out, and almost quicker than it takes to describe it the cart, escorted by mounted police, was starting off at full gallop for the cemetery with the decapitated corpse.

Songs at executions have always been part of the entertainment in Paris. Some of them are written specially for the occasion; others are merely parodies which have come into the head of someone in the crowd during the hours of waiting. It never seems to strike the French authorities that the scenes which take place are scandalous, and that the working of the guillotine in public, so far from acting as a deterrent to crime, really encourages murderous villainy by its brutalizing influence.

M. Deibler insists that the majority of the "subjects" who have passed through his hands have died full of the proud consciousness of being the leading actors at a great popular demonstration. "There is no bitterness of death with the ladies and gentlemen who are my clients," he is reported to have said to a Government inspector who accused him of being too leisurely with his work. "Ma foi (my faith), would you have me grudge them a moment's realization of the difference between comedy and tragedy?"

A SURPRISING RESULT

W B NORTHRUP WINS IN EAST HASTINGS BY A MAJORITY OF 405

Both Parties Surprised by the Result—How the Victory Was Won—The Figures by Polling sub Divisions.

Well, the contest in East Hastings is over and the liberals have been badly beaten, that fact there is no use denying. The size of the majority was as much a surprise to the tories as to the liberals. The latter were not surprised at their defeat, but did not think Mr. Northrup would secure a majority of over one hundred at the outside. The tories expected to win, but never in their wildest moments looked for so large a majority.

How was that majority obtained? The answer to this would not be quite so complimentary to the tories as the mere extent of their victory would seem to indicate. When the contest first opened the liberals were confident of success. They had a splendid candidate, a popular policy and a majority of 54 last March, plus a gain of about 150 in the revision of the lists to start with. But towards the end of the contest, when they saw the extent and character of the forces arrayed against them they saw that success was impossible. That the victory was not fairly won is easily seen. The tories had the same candidate as before, and while the liberals had a new man, yet he was in every respect worthy of the confidence of the electorate. The same issues were before the people now as then, and there had been no new developments, or no new arguments that could influence them now that were not used last March. It is, then, quite inconceivable that so large a number of voters could have changed their opinions on the trade question the chief issue of the contest. So the causes for the change must be looked for elsewhere.

What were they? First, bribery was used by the tories to an unprecedented extent, of this there is no question. Some of the less judicious workers of the party could not conceal their exultation at the certainty of success their favorite arguments gave them and openly boasted that they would buy their victory. And every one knows there are enough loose fish in every community amenable to this sort of influence to turn the scale.

But money was not the only thing used, for whiskey was as plentiful as water. No person can legally sell liquor within the riding on election day, yet drunken men were seen at nearly every polling place, and at some of them the deputy returning officers had to take strong measures to suppress disorder by drunken rowdies.

Then, also, the knowledge of the kind of men who compose the Ottawa government induced many selfish and sordid men to vote for the tory candidate. It is known to be the set policy of the government to utilize their position and power to use the public moneys for the advantage of their party. It is known that no public works or railway bonuses or other needed improvement can be obtained by any constituency unless it supports the government. Mr. Northrup knew this well and made use of it in Deseronto, where he pledged himself to secure for them a post office building within two years if elected. In other words he said that the government would spend a few thousand dollars to reward them for voting for him. Of course this influenced many votes. Promises of government expenditures were also lavishly made in other parts of the county.

The result in Deseronto was perhaps the greatest surprise of all. This is explained partly by Mr. Northrup's huge bribe as noted above and partly by the determined opposition of the Rathbuns, who exercised all their power and influence against Mr. Aylsworth, and strong coercion was brought to bear on such of the employees as presumed to wish to exercise their right of citizenship and vote as they believed.

Well, the Liberals have sustained a glorious defeat. They fought a manly fight, appealing only to the intelligence of the electorate, and it is better a thousand times to suffer defeat after such an appeal than to win by corrupt means. They yet have undiminished faith in their cause and are confident that the sober judgment of three-fourths of the electorate approves of it.

The result of the bye-elections means another four years of restricted trade and hard times and corrupt administration, but as the liberals compose the majority of substantial, intelligent and successful men they can stand it if the tories can. But it does seem hard that intelligent and progressive farmers, who desire admission to their natural market without having to pay a toll of twenty five per cent on the value of their produce, be deprived of that privilege and b jected to immense losses by the ignorance ard the sordid pig-hea of the tory electorate of Ontario. Following is the result in the various

ANOTHER OLD RESIDENT GONE.

Mrs Higinbotham, Charles St, Passed Peacefully Away Last Night

Last night Mrs. Higinbotham, Charles St., one of Belleville's most respected residents passed away to her long home. For many years she had not enjoyed good health. She had no particular ailment, just a general weakness, with great sensativeness to changes of temperature. She had enjoyed her usual state of health up to a few weeks ago when she caught a heavy cold from the influence of which she gradually sank, passing peacefully away at 7.40 o'clock. The deceased was born in Cortuber, Ulster, Ireland, June 21st, 1822, the daughter of John and Mary Higinbotham of that place. In 1842 she was married to Dr. Higinbotham and the same year they came to Canada settling in Brantford, where they lived for many years. From Brantford they came to Belleville. Dr. Higinbotham died Feb. 21st, 1880, and by a strange coincidence Mrs. Higinbotham died on the same day of the same month just twelve years after. Mrs. Higinbotham was highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. She was sweet and gentle in disposition, and of an unsually, affectionate and warm-hearted nature which endeared her to all her friends She was a member of Bridge St. Methodist church, and always displayed a consistent, faithful and perfected christian character. Four children survive her, Dr. Higinbotham who resides in Brantford, Andrew, who resides in Linsday, and Jennie and Minnie who lived with their mother and who have the heartfelt sympathy of many friends in their bereavement.

IN THE LAND OF FLOWERS

A SECOND INTERESTING LETTER FROM THOS POWERS

What he saw and how he is Enjoying Himself in Florida—Description of Some of the Places he Visited

Mr. Thos. Power of the Queen's Hotel is still enjoying life in Florida. In a private letter he says the climate is beautifully warm and tourists are enjoying all the freedom of natty wool. Everywhere summer is abroad in all the extravagance of its perfume and beauty. Mr. Power's stay in Jacksonville was full of pleasure and sights new to a northern tourist. Leaving Jacksonville the tourist arrives at Palatka after a most delightful sail through the broadest portion of the St. John's River. By taking this route the tourist not only enjoys this beautiful sail, but can enjoy a semi-tropical view in the middle of winter, while partaking of a bountiful dinner.

Palatka is a city of 5,000 population; the business portion is finely laid out, and is a thriving business centre; this is considered a rich farming section, and surrounded by most beautiful orange groves. Here connection is made with the Ocklawaha River. Few tourists leave Florida without taking a trip on this justly celebrated river.

The next most important stop after leaving Palatka is Astor. Here connection is made with the St John's & Lake Eustis R. R. for Altoona, Ft. Mason, Eustis, Taveres and Leesburg. No more beautiful farming lands and orange groves than exist here can be found in the State, and the scene is greatly enhanced by the numerous beautiful lakes that abound in this section. Above Astor the boats stop at Bluffton, Idlewild, Manhattan, passing the grand waters of Lake Dexter; the weird and picturesque view is here beyond description. These beautiful boats now proceed through what is called the Upper St Johns; here the river narrows in many places (until reaching Lake Monroe) to a width of only 100 feet.

The next landing is St Francis, a town that has made a marvellous though substantial growth during the past three years. It is situated on the west bank of the river. Old historical writings teach us that this place was of great interest to the early settlers and was called "Old Town." In the governmental survey made in 1836 the following note is found: (Here appears to be the ruins of an ancient settlement.) Again in 1888 the same well-defined ruins were found. A beautiful orange grove in full bearing now occupies the site where the Yemassee Indians massacred the Creeks, (one of the most atrocious massacres of the famous bloody Indian wars). Great credit is due to Dr. L. H. Harris for the wonderful improvements made in this section. At this place the Dead River empties into the St. John's. This stream is the home of the alligator The tourist now proceeds up the river to Crow's Bluft, Hawkinsuille, De Land Landing, and through Lake Beresford to Beresford landing, where connection is made with the J., T. & K. W. Railway for De Land. Proceeding seven miles farther we arrive at the celebrated Blue Springs Landing, deriving its name from the well-known Springs of the same name. It has a large and transparent basin 800 yards in length by twenty-five in width, giving space to float a steamboat. This is the terminus of the A. & W. Railroad, and close connection is here made for Orange City, Lake Helen and New Smyrna (on the Hillsborough river.) At the latter place connections are made with the East Coast Transportation Company and Indian River Steamboat Company for Rockledge, and all points on the Indian river to Lake Worth.

Leaving Blue Springs Landing, the boat proceeds forty miles further up the St. John's river to Sanford, situated on Lake Monroe. There is no river scene in the world which equals the St. John's from Blue Springs to Sanford—passing through narrow winds and huge mountains of green and natural vines, towering high above the dark and lazy looking waters of this grand river. Old East Indians compare it to their great and glorious jungles of the East Indies and Africa.

Lake Monroe, in addition to its beautiful sheet of water, is noted for the rich fertile lands, the beautiful orange groves, and handsome dwellings which surround it.

Sanford, the terminus of Clyde's St. John's River Line is one of the leading interior cities of this State. Its late rapid growth has exceeded all expectations. It is the terminus of seven railroads, with a daily mail service north, south, east and west. Its sanitary condition is perfect, and the surrounding scenery delightful, while the many tranportation routes give immediate access to the most famous natural curiosities in the state, with fine water works system, fire department, public works, churches, telegraph office, banks and the famous Sanford House. Sanford and vicinity presents surpassing attraction for the sportsman. Hunting and fishing are unexcelled. No finer orange groves than exist here can be found in any part of Florida. Those especially worthy of mention is the 100-acre Belair Grove, also the Speer, Beck, Hughey, Randolph, and Whitner Groves.

AROUND ABOUT US

While Mr. John Frederick was hanging paper at Callahan's hotel on Thursday last, at Campbellford, he fell to the floor and suffered the dislocation of his shoulder. He was standing upon a plank that rested on two step ladders, and the latter having spread, the plank fell and he went with it.

On Monday last Peter J. VanPatten, one of Picton's oldest and most respected citizens, passed away at his residence, Pitt street, aged 91 years, 2 months and 18 days. For a long time the deceased had been in failing health, and his death was therefore, not unexpected. The funeral took place on Wednesday from his late residence to Glenwood.

It will be remembered that some time ago a valise was lost or stolen at P. McCambridge's hotel, Frankford, owned by Mr. Jonas Bargmann, of this place. The case was tried at Trenton some time ago, and Mr. Bargmann received judgment for the value and costs of the court, $102, and which amount has recently been paid him.—News Argus.

"A traveller," Belleville, writes the Picton Gazette: In the county of Prince Edward, about three miles from Picton, is still standing the second church built in Upper Canada, now over 100 years old. It belongs to the Methodist denomination. In strolling through it recently I came across some epitaphs and poetry rather outside the ordinary, and I made a note of the following from the headstone of an old lady who died when this century was young:

Affliction sore long time I bore;
Physicians were in vain;
God was pleased, disease it seized,
And eased me of my pain.

A DELIGHTFUL STORY

Miserere is the Name of a New Story b Mabel Wagnalls

This is a story out of the general order combining tragedy, music, love, a good moral lesson, and captivating its readers. The story is a real gem of poetic creation. A girl's voice sings into a man's heart, and drives away the demons of remorse and despair; breaks the chains of a terrible appetite; lures him away from the recollections of a terrible crime, and opens up to him the bright, glad world of love. But the crime committed must be avenged. We listen entranced to the marvellous voice of the singer until that voice is hushed in death; and then we realize the power of that fate, which demanding a recompense for sin, punishes the guilty, and causes the innocent to suffer.

The story is unfolded in simple language whose classic purity is a fit setting for the tender and tragic conception which it embodies. Prof. William Cleaver Wilkinson writes: "It gave me an exhilarating sensation of delighted surprise." Ella Wheeler Wilcox says: "It is perfectly delightful, and the theme is new and interesting." Besides, it is so chastely and elegantly bound that it is good for the eyes to dwell upon. Artistically bound, with elegant designs in gold, blue, and white. 63 pp. Illustrated with 4 full-page, half-tone cuts; gilt top. $1.00. Funk D. Wagnalls, publisher, 11 Richmond St. West, Toronto.

No Return

After a lapse of seven years the following letter explains itself: Toronto. Ont., April 17, 1887. "I would state that your remedy, St. Jacobs Oil, had the desired effect of curing me effectually of rheumatism, with which I suffered in 1880. I have never had any return of the pain which I endured for months previous. It affords me great pleasure to say I have recommended it to a number of my friends. Too much praise cannot be devoted to its healing qualities" J. Abraham, Passenger agent, 51 York St. Hundreds certify that once cured the cure is permnament.

DIED OF BLOOD POISONING

From The Effects of a Pared Corn—The Doctors Could do Nothing

George Orman a resident of West Belleville died at seven o'clock Saturday morning of blood poisoning. Some months ago one of his sons pared a corn when blood poisoning set in. The toe commenced to rot when the man was taken to the hospital. Nothing that medical skill could do could save the foot and it was amputated at the knee, to which point the member had slowly decayed. He was removed home where he died in a few weeks, the poison having gone through his entire system.

East Hastings,

The election in East Hastings is over at last. The excitement for the last week has been intense. But now that it is all over we hope every person will settle down to business again. Probably during the excitement of the election some have said things which have appeared a little strong but they should be taken back now. The Oak Hall clothing house have been saying things, however, which they will not take back and that is this:—For five dollars, good lawful money you can purchase from them a man's good all wool suit, well made and well trimmed. This may sound a little strong, but as the Oak Hall can back this up why they have no reason to take the statemen backt.

OUR MECHANICS INSTITUTE

Compared With That in Deseronto as to the Fees and Methods

SIR—I have had the pleasure of visiting the Deseronto Mechanics' Institute some three or four times this fall and winter, and cannot say too much in praise of that institution. As you enter the hall there is one room to the left and one to the right. The one to the left is for ladies' games, well lighted and heated by steam, the one to the right for gentlemen's games, a large fine room with ten small tables made by the Rathbun Co., with a good checker board painted on top of each table, and a sett of checkers and four chairs at each table The library is equal to any and the reading rooms are the same, the gentleman in charge is obliging and always ready to show a stranger through all the rooms and answer all questions. I said to him, "What are your fees for membership?" "One dollar per year." "How is it that you are only dollar while Belleville is three dollars?" "This institute is self supporting at one a dollar with the government grant." "How it is Belleville charges three dollars I don't know, who are your members?" "Any one and all classes, and all treated alike." "Yes, I see different classes here too, and all appear to enjoy themselves and be in harmony with each other." And upon my leaving he strongly pressed me to call at their rooms whenever in their town. Now, Mr. Editor, I see in the face of all this, some Belleville interested parties are going around to get names to petition the council for $800.00 to compel the real mechanic and laboring class, who are deprived of all benefit of the institute to pay in taxes the above amount, and stay at home, while a few of our gentry class will be able to enjoy it, and continue to stick up their nose at our working class who don't feel able to pay $3 for membership fee, or if they did, they would not do so, owing to the way they are snubbed, and the feeling that exists in the way this so called Mechanics' Institute is carried on. And no matter how many names they get it will only be certain people, and I am sure that a great number who do sign it will do so because they don't want to refuse to their face the parties seeking their names, and I am safe in saying that seven out of every ten of the voters would say "No." Therefore I hope and trust our council, bad as it is, will quickly sit on all such requests, and spend what little money we have towards something that will be of benefit to all classes, I don't mean Kingston bakers and butchers, but the citizens of Belleville only.—Yours very truly,

WHERE IS HER CREW.

DRIVEN BY FIRE TO DEATH IN THE SEA.

Locked In Each Other's Arms Captain Boyd and His Wife Fell With the Blazing Bowsprit of the Doomed Loodiana—Eighteen Men Were Aboard the Loodiana, But No Trace of Them Could Be Found For Miles Around.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The sailing vessel Loodiana of Nova Scotia left the port of New York with a cargo of petroleum for London two months ago. She was owned in Windsor, Nova Scotia, and was of 1874 tons register. After her departure from this port Dec. 21 nothing was heard of the ship until three weeks ago.

The arrival of the steamship Egyptian Monarch at London in the latter part of January confirmed the rumor of the disappearance of Loodiana, but added to the disaster by the report that she had been sighted on fire. Capt. Irvin stated that he had seen the Loodiana blazing fiercely in mid-ocean. Two persons were on board, but before they could be rescued the flames forced them off the vessel and they were drowned within sight of their would-be rescuers.

The Egyptian Monarch arrived at Quarantine early yesterday morning and reached her dock at Wilson's Stores, Brooklyn, in the afternoon. Second Officer Jordan, who was on the bridge on the night of Jan. 16, tells this story of the burning of the Loodiana:

"I was on the lookout. The wind was blowing furiously and the waves seemed mountains high above us. Suddenly away over on the port bow I saw a glare in the heavy sky. At first I thought it was only a sailing vessel showing a flare light to scare off passing vessels. Then I saw a sudden flash and what seemed to be an explosion lighting up the horizon for miles around Seizing a glass I found that a sailing ship was on fire. I sent for Capt. Irvin, who came on deck immediately. He gave orders to take in all sail, and the Egyptian Monarch was headed in the direction of the light.

"At 1.30 a.m. we rounded to near the burning vessel. It was the Loodiana, and she was ablaze almost from stem to stern. The flames had nearly reached the bows. In the bright glare I saw two figures sitting astride the jibboom. The glass showed them to be a man and woman, whom we afterwards learned were the captain of the Loodiana and his wife.

"There was no hope of saving the vessel, even if any one had thought of doing so. The flames had run up the masts and rigging, and had obtained such a hold that nothing could stop them until the ship was burned to the water's edge. Big patches of burning oil floated around and about us. We were almost afraid that some of the blazing oil would be tossed aboard our own ship, for the storm had not abated. The waves, gleaming with the golden reflection from the flames, drove the helpless vessel away from us. The ridges of the mountainous billows were tinged with a lurid glow As we cut through them we seemed to be sailing in a sea of fire, which leaped up angrily around us.

"We got as near to the Loodiana as possible. The two survivors saw us. That agonizing cry for help which escaped them at that moment chilled the blood in my veins. The man astride the boom was thick and heavy set. He clung to a rope with one hand, clasping with the other the waist of a frail-looking woman. Man and wife, as was afterwards learned, they stayed together until death.

"We shouted to the couple to be of good cheer. Their answer was a piteous cry for help where no help could come, as it proved. The burning ship was lying with its head to the wind. The flames were creeping slowly towards the boom. Occasionally the ship's stern was tossed high in the air on the wave, the flames were blown along the bows until it seemed as if the clothes of the couple were scorched by the intense heat.

"The stays supporting the jibboom had been burned away. A few minutes afterwards the ship swung around. The flames leaped towards the keel of the bowsprit. An awful cry of agony went up from those poor tortured ones. Down they fell into the fire-lit waves. We saw them for one short moment. The man was holding on to the stump of a spar and the woman was clinging to him. A heavy wave lifted them up and dashed them against the side of the burning vessel. We never saw them again.

"We steamed around the blazing hulk in the hope of seeing a boat containing the crew. Then we steamed to leeward for 12 miles, but no sign of boat or raft could be discovered. We laid around as long as possible, but no boat could live in such a sea as was running at that time.

"When we reached Gravesend the scratch crew was immediately discharged. Capt. Irvin went to the London agents of the owners of the Loodiana, which was then reported to be missing. The burning vessel was of American build and the description of our captain seemed to leave no doubt that it was the Loodiana which we had seen. He learned that the captain had his wife on board. We saw the vessel in lat 48, lon. 42, about 1200 miles west southwest of Queenstown."

The Loodiana was built in Nova Scotia and had carried cargoes of petroleum for some years. She was insured at Windsor, N.S., for $40,000. Captain Boyd was in command.

EXECUTIONER OF PARIS

AFTER BEHEADING 208 MURDERERS HE RESIGNS HIS POSITION.

The Guillotine Always in Public in Paris—M. Deibler, the Man Who Operates the Guillotine Knife in Paris, and His Exalted, His Gruesome Duties.

PARIS, Feb. 23.—Once again has the rumor been set afloat that M. Deibler, the carrier out of the "hautes œuvres," as he is always called in the Paris press—in other words, the public executioner—is about to retire. A few days ago certain Boulevard journals even went so far as to announce that his retirement was already an accomplished fact, and it is still stated that he is now only waiting till he can arrange with the authorities as to the amount of his pension to withdraw from a calling of which he has been the ornament for the last 33 years and more.

It can be authoritatively stated that this rumor is false, but it is a fact, however, that when Mr. Deibler does retire there will be no end of applicants for the vacant post.

M. Deibler is perhaps better known than his successor may ever be. He is a character conspicuous before the whole French nation, and though of rather a retiring nature himself does not forget that he embodies famous traditions. His attire and manner show that he feels that he has a position to keep up. Closely buttoned up in his suit of sombre black, with a stovepipe hat on his head, he is a man of few words and goes about his duties like one who feels he has a responsibility on his shoulders, but intends to carry out the affairs intrusted to him without mishap of any kind.

Death's Swift Agent.

In September next he will have accomplished 34 years' labor in the service of the state, during the last 14 of which he has occupied the proud position of head executioner. Two hundred and eight persons have been launched by him into eternity, including many notorious criminals. His execution of that thorough paced rascal, Pranzini, earned him, it is said, some slight censure. The whole affair took rather too long. This could not be said of the way he carried out the sentence on the two precocious criminals who came under his hands a short time ago for the murder of the old lady at Courbevoie.

The two boys, for they were but little more, one being 20 and the other 19, were both got ready in their prison at the same hour, and only three and a half minutes elapsed from the time when their "toilettes" were completed to the instant when the knife fell for the second time. Shortly before dawn the pair of youthful murderers were awakened and informed that their hour of doom had arrived. Each in his respective condemned cell was sleeping soundly, and within 60 minutes of the time they were awakened their bodies were laid in their graves.

The Drama of the Guillotine.

The hideous scenes around the guillotine have too frequently been described to need more than passing mention here. Any sensational criminal who is to be executed will attract a crowd numbered by thousands to witness his death. The spectators, mostly of the lowest class in Paris, come to enjoy themselves, and they hold ghastly revel in the broad square and its approaches. Men and women, boys and girls, thieves, broken down cocottes, the haunters of low wine shops of every description, all gather together and form a mob which, as the old saying has it, simply "beggars description."

On the one side of the square stands the forbidding looking building known as the "Grande Roquette," from whose portals the criminals are shortly to issue. Over the way is the other prison or rather penitentiary, called the "Petite Roquette," an edifice scarcely more inviting in its aspect, which is used for the reception of juvenile criminals and incorrigibles whose parents or the authorities obtain an order of the court for their "putting away" until such time as they arrive at years of discretion.

Through the square runs the road leading up to the cemetery of Pere la Chaise, bordered by trees, in the branches of which several adventurous gamins pass the cold and weary hours of the night, sustained by the possession of a point of vantage from which the scene can be viewed. Even when the military have cleared a wide space around the guillotine, strange to say, the soldiers never attempt to dislodge the temporary lodgers in the trees

No Bitterness in Death.

I was a spectator the morning that Eyraud paid the penalty for the murder of the huissier Gouffe under the glittering blade. How slow the moments sped in the cold gray dawn; it seemed as though the great door of the prison would never open to pass out the murderer to his awaiting doom. In the meantime a mob of 20,000 people awaited him, passing the time in shouting in chorus a parody on the latest popular tune of the day:

> C'est la tete d'Eyraud qu'il nous faut.
> Oh, oh, oh, oh, oh!

There was no delay when he did come out, and almost quicker than it takes to describe it the cart, escorted by mounted police, was starting off at full gallop for the cemetery with the decapitated corpse.

Songs at executions have always been part of the entertainment in Paris. Some of them are written specially for the occasion; others are merely parodies which have come into the head of someone in the crowd during the hours of waiting. It never seems to strike the French authorities that the scenes which take place are scandalous, and that the working of the guillotine in public, so far from acting as a deterrent to crime, really encourages murderous villainy by its brutalizing influence.

M. Deibler insists that the majority of the "subjects" who have passed through his hands have died full of the proud consciousness of being the leading actors at a great popular demonstration. "There is no bitterness of death with the ladies and gentlemen who are my clients," he is reported to have said to a Government inspector who accused him of being too leisurely with his work. "Ma foi (my faith), would you have me grudge them a moment's realization of the difference between comedy and tragedy?"

TRAGIC FATE OF A NEGRO

HE WAS BURNED TO DEATH AT THE STAKE.

Thousands of the Best People at Texarkana, Ark., See Ed. Coy Roasted to Death—He Criminally Assaulted a Farmer's Wife.

TEXARKANA, Ark., Feb. 23.—Ed Coy is no more. Last Saturday he criminally assaulted Mrs. Henry Jewell, the young wife of a respectable farmer two miles south of this town, since which time he has succeeded in eluding the officers, until this morning, when he was discovered at the home of Ed Gains, negro, four miles north of here. He had a mistress at the home of Gains, and it was she who gave him away, fear, for the safety, perhaps, of herself and family acting as an initiative. The posse in search of Coy suspected that he was being harbored by Gains and two or three times this week put a rope around the latter's neck and assured him that death would certainly be his portion should he fail to notify the posse upon the first appearance of Coy. This morning early the mistress of Coy went to the house of a white neigbobor, A. B. Scott, living near by, and told him that Coy was at the house of Gains. Scott at once sent a message with the news post haste to town and a posse immediately went out to arrest the negro. Meantime, however, Coy had left Gains' house, but was apprehended and taken in charge by Mr. Scott and two sons, who held him until the arrival of the men from town.

The latter immediately brought their prisoner in, and placing him in a carriage conveyed him to the Jewell farm, where Mrs. Jewell, without hesitation, identified him beyond all doubt as the man who outraged her. The trembling wretch was then returned to town, placed in a room with a number of guards and a heavy guard also placed outside the building, it being resolved that he should not be disposed of until all the posses that were still out should be called in, in order that they might take part in the proceedings.

All the posse were in by 2 o'clock, and the leaders, after a consultation, decided to hang the negro to a telegraph pole on Broad-street at the State line, the most public place in the city. Coy was accordingly marched to this point with a view to carry out the program, but when the crowd saw the rope and divined that a hanging had been decided upon there were thunders of protest.

"Away with the rope; hanging is too good for him, burn him, burn, burn him." This was the shout that went up from 5000 throats. The leaders soon saw the futility of opposing the mob's wishes, but begged that the deed should take place out of town, and to this the crowd agreed. Half trotting, and half running, the crowd rushed the doomed wretch along with them, east on Clinton-street, then south on College Hill-street until the Iron Mountain tracks had been crossed. Here is a beautiful grass plot of two or three acres, void of trees or shrubbery, save one tree 18 inches in diameter and broken off at the top. To this tree Coy was hurried, and one man who still favored hanging, began climbing the tree. In a flash a score of Winchesters were leveled at his head and he was glad to descend. The announcement was then made that the next man who should attempt to climb the tree would be hung on it, and that the negro was going to be burned, and that was all there was to it.

Coy was strapped to the body of the tree with iron fastenings, and coal oil was poured over his entire person in liberal quantities. There was a moment's silence and then another shout went up. It was, "Let Mrs. Jewell apply the match; let Mrs. Jewell set him off." Walking slowly and very pale, but collected, the woman emerged from the crowd. Her appearance among them set the mob fairly wild, and such a cheer went up as almost shook the ground on which they were standing. The crowd fell back at her approach, making a pathway for her, who, leaning upon the arm of a male relative on either side, walked unhesitatingly forward to where the negro stood pinioned, struck a parlor match with her own hand and with perfect deliberation fired the negro's clothes in two places. In a second the poor wretch was one mass of consuming flames, but even in death his wonderful nerve, exhibited ever since his arrest, never forsook him, and while suffering the tortures of fire he actually called to the men of the assembly and in a clear voice requested of them, "Move back so the ladies can see." He referred to the negro women, a large number of whom witnessed the execution.

Coy made but little noise pending his horrible death, except to groan and grunt, and died in about 20 minutes after the application of the torch. A few minutes before he was taken out to meet his horrible death he was seen by a reporter. He did not seem at all nervous, and protested his innocence, saying at the same time that he felt sure he was about to be put to death. He reiterated his denial of guilt while the mob was struggling with him on the streets, and died with the lie on his lips, as there is not a shadow of doubt as to his guilt.

Quite a number of persons favored hanging, but they were in a hopeless minority and were easily ridden down by those who desired to strike terror to the hearts of the negroes by making Coy an awful example, and these thought fire the only proper instrument of death.

To-night everything is comparatively quiet and no troublesome results are feared. The negros generally favored the hanging, but have little fault to find that fire was resorted to.

"German Syrup"

G. Gloger, Druggist, Watertown, Wis. This is the opinion of a man who keeps a drug store, sells all medicines, comes in direct contact with the patients and their families, and knows better than anyone else how remedies sell, and what true merit they have. He hears of all the failures and successes, and can therefore judge :- "I know of no medicine for Coughs, Sore Throat, or Hoarseness that had done such effective work in my family as Boschee's German Syrup. Last winter a lady called at my store, who was suffering from a very severe cold. She could hardly talk, and I told her about German Syrup and that a few doses would give relief; but she had no confidence in patent medicines. I told her to take a bottle, and if the results were not satisfactory I would make no charge for it. A few days after she called and paid for it, saying that she would never be without it in future as a few doses had given her relief." ©

THE DAILY ONTARIO
BELLEVILLE, FEBRUARY 23, 1892

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. Corby's boasted influence seems to be but a myth after all. If that influence could be effectually exercised any place, it would be in and around Corbyville, where he was supposed to reign supreme. Yet, Mr. Aylsworth's majority on Saturday was 49 in that vicinity. Mr. Corby did not oppose Mr. Burdett He did oppose Mr. Aylsworth to the fullest extent of his power. It must therefore be assumed that Mr. Corby is better at boasting than at doing.

The government officials were out in full force working for Mr. Northrup. The fisheries inspector was especially conspicuous by his efforts. He used his influence with and power over the fishermen for all it was worth. The Rathbun employees were coerced, and the Indians the wards of the government, were "induced" to vote almost solidly for Mr. Northrup. Thus does the government secure great spontaneous expressions of approval from the electorate.

Globe :—"The estimates of the Treasurer of Ontario for 1892 contain this new item :—Cottages at or near Brockville to accommodate 500 patients, estimated cost of construction $260,000 ; required for this year's operations, including site, $70,000. It is said that the Ontario Government long ago decided to build the asylum at Brockville whenever it should be needed, but that Mr. Fraser said nothing on the subject prior to his last re. election, having determined not to use advance information for political purposes. Not a word of prophecy was breathed by Mr. Fraser to his Brockville friends, even confidentially, till the day after the election. It is just in accordance with what we know of Mr. Fraser's character that he should disdain to use the expenditure of public money as a bribe." What a striking contrast between him and such men as Bowell and Thompson, who maintain themselves in power chiefly by utilizing promises of public works etc., to the constituencies. The members of the Mowat Government are as much superior to those of the Abbott Cabinet in personal and political morality and in common honesty and manly fair play as day is brighter than night.

A Prince of the House of Bonaparte Stole a Turkish Minister's Wife.

PANAMA, Feb. 23.—A newspaper of Oruro, Bolivia, has the following: "Princess Bonaparte Wyse-Fure, mother of M. Jose Paul Fure, tis here en route to Santa Cruz in quest of her son, who, while an attache of the French Legation at Constantinople last October, made love to and fled with the wife of a high official in the Sultan's service, and has since been living quietly with his fair Circassian inamorata way up in the Santa Cruz Mountains, whence he had turned a deaf ear to the appeals of his family and friends in France. His mother thinks, however, that she can prevail upon him to return with her to Paris, hence her visit to this republic and present trip to Santa Cruz."

But madam, the mother, will probably have her pains for nothing, for another newspaper says:

"M. Pexon, attache of the French Legation at La Paz, spent several days in this city on his return from Santa Cruz, where he went recently in quest of information as to one M. Fure, a prince of the house of Bonaparte, who suddenly disappeared from Paris several months ago, went to Constantinople, and was afterwards reported to be living incognito in this republic.

"He found the Prince living quietly on an immense hacienda in the vicinity of Chiquitos with a beautiful Circassian girl, said to be the wife of one of the Sultan's favorite Ministers of State, who eloped from the Turkish capital by night with the gay young French Prince.

"M. Fure told M. Pexon that nothing could induce him to abandon his present life and return to the bosom of his friends and family in the Old World."

CAST UP BY THE SEA.

Further Details of the Loss by the Recent Storms in Britain.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Later information from Penzance shows that the steamer lost off that port was the Violante (Br), 555 tons, bound from Rotterdam for Liverpool.

The body of a man has been thrown ashore by the sea at Penzance It is supposed he belonged on the lost steamer.

Terrible weather prevailed in St. George's Channel last night. The French steamer Trignac foundered off the Scilly Islands and three of her crew were drowned.

A despatch from Gibraltar states that during the storm the Italian bark, Nina Schraffino, went ashore at Cape Spartel and was wrecked. Seven of her crew were drowned.

A large steamer bound from Glasgow for South Africa is stranded at Merry's Castle, county Wexford.

The yacht Surprise has been wrecked at Donaghadee, county Down.

The schooner Jane and Alice foundered off Dungarvan, county Wexford.

The list of casualties due to the fierce gales which have just swept over the coast of Great Britain increases. Among the wrecks is the Norwegian timber bark Dronning Sophie, which went ashore at Galley Head, a promonotory of Ireland in county Cork. Her crew of 11 men were saved.

Vaubourg, the Paris Assassin of Boutry, Sentenced.

PARIS, Feb. 23.—Charles Vaubourg, the porter of the house No. 27 Rue de Charonne, in the cellar of which the mutilated body of a fellow-porter named Boutry was found on Nov. 4 last, was to-day convicted of being Boutry's murderer, and was sentenced to penal servitude for life.

The Boutry murder was one of the most sensational affairs in the recent criminal annals of Paris. What was known as "the mystery of the headless corpse" baffled the skill of the police for several months.

Finally a web of circumstantial evidence was ingeniously woven around Vaubourg, and during a private examination by M. Athalin, the magistrate whose acuteness had much to do with the unravelling of the Eyraud-Gouffe mystery, Vaubourg broke down and confessed the crime.

Vaubourg stated that he had invited his friend Boutry to sleep with him; that during the night they had quarrelled, and that he had seized Boutry by the throat and choked him.

To conceal the crime Vaubourg hid the body in the cellar, but cut off the head and threw it down a sewer, so that the body could not be identified when found.

Imperial Parliament.

LONDON, Feb. 23 —Mr. Jackson, Chief Secretary for Ireland, introduced the Irish education bill in the House of Commons this evening. The Hon. Henry Chaplin introduced an agricultural holdings bill and explained its provisions. It aimed, he said, at a wider distribution of land among the people to re-create or augment the yeoman class, which had been dwindling for many years. The bill passed its first reading.

TWO MAY DIE.

Quarrelling Hungarians Use Their Knives with Terrible Effect.

LETHBRIDGE, N.W.T., Feb. 23.—On Saturday evening a number of Hungarian miners were imbibing pretty freely in the bar of the McKenzie House, when an altercation arose between two young men, Adam Varge and Frank Tykodi. The quarrel had scarcely begun when the latter whipped out a clasp knife and, before any one could interfere, stabbed Varge twice, once in the face near the ear and again in the back. The assailant was arrested.

Later in the evening, between 12 and 1 o'clock, a party of Hungarians were passing the boarding house in the railway yard near the track. Joe Tojan, a Slav, was chopping wood at the door, and Paul Onwick, one of the party, called him an insulting name. A few words ensued and Onwick rushed upon Tojan brandishing an ugly knife in his left hand. There was a groan and Tojan fell to the ground insensible, with the blood pouring from a terrible wound in his right breast. The knife had been sunk deeply in the man's breast and given a twist, making a ghastly cut and severing a large artery. It is doubtful if he will recover. Onwick was arrested.

The Wedding Consummated.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 23.—Mr. W. A. Davis, the young man who was arrested here some time ago on a charge of burglary at Cooksville, a station on the C. P. R., arrived in the city on Saturday.

Davis was the night operator at the Cooksville station. H. G. Reid was the station master. Thirty dollars was stolen and Reid accused Davis. In the court at Brampton it was shown that on the night in question the money had not been in the safe in the station, but in Reid's residence, and was taken out of a book in which he placed it. The residence adjoins the station. The Judge after hearing both sides of the case acquitted the accused.

This afternoon the marriage of Davis which was so unceremoniously postponed on a previous occasion, on account of his arrest for larceny, took place. The bride was Miss Nellie Dowling, daughter of Mr. Thomas Dowling, Marlborough-street. The Rev. T. S. Johnston, pastor of the First Baptist Church, performed the ceremony.

Kicked to Death.

GALT, Feb. 23.—William Huntzberger, aged 27, employed on the farm of J. C. Dietrich on the Chair-road near Galt as a farm hand, was found this evening lying on the floor of the stable in a dying condition. Doctors were summoned, but death had occurred prior to their arrival. Upon examination it was found that the ribs were crashed in over the heart, caused by the kick of a horse. Huntzberger had been working the horses during the day and was alone engaged fixing them in the stable for the night when the accident occurred.

New Brunswick's New Schemes.

OTTAWA, Feb. 23. — Solicitor-General Pugsley of New Brunswick, who is here attending the Supreme Court, informed a correspondent to-day that there will be a deficit of about $70,000 in the province for the year ending December 31st last. It is proposed to make up this deficit by issuing liquor licenses the same as is now done in Ontario. So far these licenses have been under the control of the municipalities. It is also understood that a provincial tax will be placed on telephone and telegraph companies, banks, insurance and railway companies.

The Catholic Vote.

OTTAWA, Feb. 23.—It is currently reported here to-day that the success of the Government in South Ontario and East Hastings was due, as it was in North and South Victoria, to the solid Irish Catholic vote, which went in that direction. Mr. Patterson was the nominee of The Irish Canadian, and his presence in the Cabinet is an assurance that Mr. Meredith will not be taken into the Ministry. Senator Smith was instructed by Sir John Thompson to go to London and work on these lines against Hyman. Costigan was sent on the same mission to West Huron.

Train Men Fatally Injured.

QUEBEC, Feb. 23.—The train from Halifax with the English mail was delayed yesterday by the train leaving the irons at Mill Stream, N. B. The locomotive was smashed and the engineer and fireman are reported dangerously injured. None of the passengers were hurt. The mails and passengers were forwarded by the regular express, which reached Levis at noon.

Killed by Falling Ice.

QUEBEC, Feb. 23.—This noon a large quantity of snow and ice fell off the roof of the house occupied by Mr. Joseph Lartin, No. 62 Augustin-street, and struck a little girl passing named Dugal, aged 6, daughter of Mr. Felix Dugal, laborer. The little girl's skull is fractured and it is feared that she will die.

A man named Bique was killed yesterday by a icicle falling from the top of a house. He died two hours after.

Killed by a Bogus Snake.

MILLIGAN, Tenn., Feb. 23.—A tramp visited the House of Riley Hart on Monday and asked for food and money. Mrs. Hart ordered him away, whereupon he exhibited a huge rubber snake. Mrs. Hart was so frightened that she died yesterday from the nervous shock.

Committed for Trial.

WELLAND, Feb. 23.—Joseph B. Wood was committed to the March assizes to-day on the charge of perjury in connection with the late election protest trial here. Being unable to find bail he was placed in jail.

The Montreal Herald Sold.

MONTREAL, Feb. 23. — The Montreal Herald after 85 years of existence was sold to-day for $11,350 to Mr. J. B. Young of The New England Paper Company, acting for a small syndicate of Montreal men.

The Elopers Traced.

COMBER, Feb. 23.—Alex Jackson arrived home on Saturday from Chicago, where he had gone in search of his 14-year-old daughter, who eloped with Neil P. Campbell a week ago. Mr. Jackson found his erring daughter and learned that she had married Campbell and that they had gone to housekeeping. Campbell has secured a position in a lawyer's office. Several of the merchants here mourned Mr. Campbell's hasty departure.

May Lose His Arm.

ST CATHARINES, Feb. 23. — Charles Lundy of Niagara Falls, Ont., with a number of friends was out rabbit hunting and they had a fine rabbit under cover of a large pile of brush-wood and while attempting to start it out, young Vandersluys, son of Capt. Vandersluys of the 44th Regiment, discharged his gun, the whole charge lodging in Mr. Lundy's arm at the elbow lacerating the fore arm terribly. Mr. Lundy will in all probability lose his arm.

THE POODLE'S BITE FATAL.

Terrible Convulsions of a Man Scarcely Scratched by a Tooth.

SOUTH BETHLEHEM, Pa., Feb. 23.—Bitten, or scarcely more than scratched on the leg by a poodle that ran up behind him 10 days ago, Frank Hippemtiel of Centre Valley is now dying of hydrophobia. Five men were unable to strap him down to a bed, so violent were his convulsions when the malady seized him yesterday. Three doctors are having a tough time with the sufferer.

Robbed the Peddler.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 23.—A jewelry peddler named Golden, hailing from Montreal, who has been selling watches in the lumber camp in the vicinity of Rat Portage, had his valise stolen yesterday. It contained 100 watches valued at $3000. There is no clue to the thief.

Keep the Works in good order.
NORMAN, Ont., January 1
W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.
DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece : frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first, only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.
Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

MACKENZIE ON HEALTH.

AN ABLE PAPER ON THE HIDDEN CAUSES OF DISEASE.

A Noteworthy Contribution to Hygienic Literature by the Late Sir Morell Mackenzie—Paralysis, Peculiarities of Structure and Heredity Specially Treated.

At the solicitation of the editor of Youth's Companion, Sir Morell Mackenzie, M. D., a short time before his death, wrote the following article on the "Hidden Causes of Disease:"

Age is not always to be measured by years. It has been truly said that "a man is as old as his arteries;" as long as these living conduits retain their soundness and elasticity, the parts which they supply with blood will resist decay.

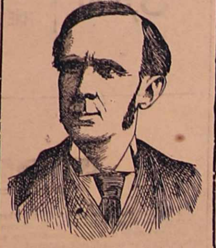
Overwork, "hard living," prolonged privation and exposure to cold, and, generally speaking, whatever makes the fire of life either burn too fast or get low for lack of fuel, will add very largely to the natural wear and tear of the tissues.

Dryden speaks of a man whose restless spirit

Fretted the pigmy body to decay
And o'er-informed the tenement of clay.

Anxiety and distress of mind also contribute powerfully to hasten the advent of old age. A great sorrow will whiten the hair and make a man look old and worn, adding, in very truth, years to his life in the physiological calendar.

Probably there is no more potent cause of disease than long-continued mental suffering, and the greater part of its effect in this way is due to the fact that it brings on premature old age.



THE LATE SIR MORELL MACKENZIE.

Old age causes disease by setting up changes in the tissues which make them liable to perverted action, as in the transformation of harmless warts into cancerous growths; or less capable of resisting the effects of cold and other external agencies; or more prone to wasting which the exhausted system finds it more and more difficult to repair.

Organs like the brain and the heart—which are, as it were, banks for the storing up and distribution of vital energy—become worn out, and physiological bankruptcy results.

The special enemy of old age, inflammation of the lungs, is due to weakness of the heart, combined with loss of elasticity in the lungs. The mortification of the feet and ulcers of the legs so frequent in the aged are also consequences of deficient blood supply, associated with local degeneration of tissue.

HOW PARALYSIS COMES IN.

The arteries lose their elasticity and give way under an unwonted increase in the force of the blood current; thus a fit of anger or even a sudden movement may be followed by bleeding into the brain—popularly called "apoplexy" or "paralytic stroke"—or a large vessel may become dilated into a kind of hollow ball, called an aneurism, which causes pain and troublesome complications by pressure on the parts in its neighborhood, and may at last burst, with an immediate fatal result.

The changes wrought by old age in the structure of the brain show themselves at first in subtle alterations of disposition and intellect, such as irresolution, timidity, irritability, unreasonable suspicion, avarice,—that "good old-gentlemanly vice," as Byron calls it,—garrulity, loss of memory, confusion of thought, and all the characters of age," which literature from Homer downward has delighted to portray.

In a more advanced stage these senile changes in the brain lead to various forms of mental derangement, and in the last scene of all to "second childishness and mere oblivion."

The most fatal tendency of old age, however, is to the formation of what are called "malignant" growths. This is distinctively a "senile change," if we are to believe Mr. Jonathan Hutchinson, an English authority on the subject, who insists that cancer is merely chronic inflammation in tissues that have undergone the degeneration characteristic of old age.

PECULIARITIES OF STRUCTURE.

That there are peculiarities of structure and constitution which predispose to certain diseases is a fact as to which there can be no possible dispute.

A good example of such a proclivity is seen in "bleeders," who suffer from what medical men call hæmophila. The constitutional tendency to bleed on the slightest provocation is very marked in such persons. After the extraction of a tooth or a trifling cut they bleed so profusely and so long that surgical skill is sometimes taxed to the uttermost to keep them from bleeding to death.

The late Duke of Albany (Prince Leopold) was the subject of this peculiarity to such a degree that the lives of his physicians were made a burden by the almost incessant demand for their assistance which it entailed. It was ultimately the cause of his death; and yet the injury which indirectly proved fatal was nothing more serious than a slight twist of the knee joint, which occurred in dancing.

Nothing has yet been discovered to account for this extraordinary peculiarity except a certain thinness of the blood-vessels, which is far from being constantly present in such cases. The theory that the Duke of Albany had "one skin less than other people" is probably a grotesquely distorted

A Cure For Constipation And Headache

Dr. Silas Lane while in the Rocky Mountains discovered a root that when combined with other herbs makes an easy and certain cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots and leaves, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick-headache in one night. For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for clearing up the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50 cents a package.

Diseases of The Liver

Parmelee's Pills possess the power of acting specifically upon the deceased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that disease of almost every name and nature are driven from the body. Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell, P. O., writes 'I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well.'

Advice to Mothers

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used by millions of mothers for children teething for over fifty years, with perfect success. It relieves the little sufferer at once, produces natural quiet sleep, and freeing the child from pain, and the young cherub wakes as bright as a button.' It is pleasant to taste, sooths the child softens the gums, allays pain, relieve wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes 25 cts bottle.

A Pleasant Herb Drink

The best cure we know of for constipation and headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family Medicine. It said to be Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made ready for use by pouring boiling water onto the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders and is now the sovereign remedy with ladies for clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages at 50c and $1.

Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery has worked wonders for dyspeptics and we don't think there is a case of Dyspepsia to be found that it will not cure if the directions are followed. Mr. C. E. Williams, Druggist, Wingham says: "The Vegetable Discovery is selling well, and know of a bad case of dyspepsia that it has completely cured.

Application

It takes only this to thoroughly remove Dandruff, stop itching of the scalp, and make the hair soft and pliable. In fact Anti-Dandruff is a perfect hair on —all say so who use it.

Interested People

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprieter of Kemp's Balsam for coughs and colds does it is indeed wonderful, He authorized all druggists to give all those who call for it a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The large bottles are 50c and $1. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption

A Great Surprise

Is in store for all who use, Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs, the great guarantee remedy. Would you believe that it is sold on its merits and that any druggists is authorized by the proprieter of his wonderful remedy to give you a sample bottle free? It never fails to cure acute or chaonic coughs. All druggists sell Kemp's Balsam. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.

If you have a cough or cold do not neglect it; many without a trace of that hereditary disease have drifted into a consumptive grave by neglecting what was only a slight cold. Had the used Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup before it was too late their lives would have been spared. Mr. A. W. Levy Mitchell, writes. "I think Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation on the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught severe cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cought. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of Consumption, and had given up hodes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickel's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieaed, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured. I always recomend it for severe colds and consumption."

Snipe and plover are unusually numerous this year.

Dear Sirs,—My children were taken ill with ulcerated sore throats bordering on diphtheria. I had nothing in the house but Hagyards Yellow Oil which I used with great benefit I am sure if it had not been for it the disease would have developed into diphtheria. It is a splendid medicine.

Advice to Mothers

Keep the head cool, the feet warm and the bowels regular, and no disease can attack you. This is a celebrated German physician's advise, and can best be accomplished by using Burdock Blood Bitters the best blood purifier known. It cures all disorders of the stomach, liver, bowels, and blood.

A Sensible Statement.

Sirs,—Having used your Burdock Blood Bitters successfully for some time past, I must state that for my complaint of biliousness and acid stomach I have never found an equal, and I continue to use it and recommend it to my neighbors.

We Mean What We Say

About a week ago we advertised men's all wool suits at $5.00 since then we have sold a great many. Our customers have now become thoroughly convinced that when the Oak Hall advertise a certain line of goods at a certain price they can be had at that price. We have still quite a lot of these bargain suits left and if you wish one you will have to hurry. Do not come when it is too late and then be sorry. Those men's all wool pants at $1.50 are selling very fast. Such pants at such prices could not possibly be had at any other place than the Oak Hall.

A Prolific Source of Disease.—Trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. The original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No detelerious mineral ingredient is contained in it, and thoughits action is thorough in cases of costivenes it never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowel like a violent purgative. It invigorates the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney diseases scrofulous and all diseases of the blood, femole weakness, &c., &c. Price $100. Sample bottle 10 cents. Ask for Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. The wrapper bears a fac-simile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers.

GEO. DAME'S PLAYMATES

PRODUCED BEFORE A LARGE AUDIENCE AT THE QUEEN'S OPERA

It Scored a Success And Won For Its Author The Plaudits of The Public — Good Plot And Full of Interest

Geo. A. Dame in the production of his "Playmates" at the Queen's Opera House last night achieved a success he may well be proud of. The house was filled with an audience which did not fail to appreciate the merits of the piece. The play is military in character and has a good plot. The play finds its origin in a little village called Meadowhurst in England where Jack Redman and Harry Carleston (Geo. Dame and J. N. Doyle) had been playmates together and had grown to manhood under ties of the truest friendship. Unconsciously, both in time, fell in love with the one girl—Crystal Meadows—(Mrs Geo. A. Dame). Harry was of an ambitious, pushing nature and when yet a young man had gone to New York where he soon achieved success and honor Jack Redman was of an entirely different stamp and was contented to remain in the little village of Meadowhurst the rest of his days and bask in the love of Crystal. Spurred on by the support of her father, his bitter disappointment can better be imagined than described when one day he proposes to Crystal, only to find that she has pledged her troth to Harry Carlston. To banish his misery he decides to go to Austrailia. Harry Carlston has just left his promised bride. As he walks briskly towards the river bank a storm is approaching and it is with difficulty he finds his boat with which he is to cross the stream. It is on this lonely bank that the Playmates meet again probably for the last time. Jack bears his bitter anguish in silence while Harry endeavors to buoy him up with words of brotherly affection. The latter sails for New York while on the morrow the former goes to the uttermost ends of the earth. As the Playmates are about to clasp each others hands an officer appears on the scene in the person of Wm. J. Thompson and arrests Carleston for the murder of his employer in New York. It is but mildly expressing the situation to state that Harry is so completely dumbfounded that he almost loses his speech. There is no time to explain, however, and Harry extracts a solemn oath from Jack Redmoud to explain the situation to Crystal. Harry is dragged off to America where he of course completely exonernates himself and three years finds himself back in Meadowhurst to claim his bride. The scene has changed, however, and instead of a waiting bride, Jack Redman has proven false to his trust and marrys Crystal with a lie on his lips. A child has come in the meantime and as Harry Carlston looks around on the domestic scene the whole situation is revealed to him. The bitterness of his fate finds vent in a curse on the head of the old time friend who has wrecked his happiness. Jack is so stricken with remorse that he cannot bear to remain longer in England and enlists for the Crimea. As he parts with his wife and child he tells her that if he does not return within five years that she may consider herself free to wed Harry Carleston. The marching of the soldiers and the sharp, quick beat of the drums, arouses the audience to fever excitement. The next scene opens on the field of action in the Crimea. Lord Raglan (W.C. Mikel) summoned by his officers is giving directions to Lt. Carlston as to the mode of attack on the Russian forces. Jack Redman with his comrade Patsy Duck (John A. Mackie) have been captured by the Russians and locked in a guard house. It falls to the duty of Harry Carlston to attack the guard house and, if possible, rescue the prisoners. The attack is successful and the conflict which is illuminated by a colored light, is full of excitement and military display. "The town is captured and the victory is ours." When the smoke has cleared away Harry Carlston is found dead in the arms of a comrade. The scene soon transfers itself to a happy home in England where wife and husband are again united.

The parts in the play are well brought out. Geo. A. Fax as Major Bobster, John A. Mackie as Patsey Duck, E. McHugh as Tom Meadows, Col Bolton (W. K, Y. MacCauly), Capt Spanoff (W. H. H. Ponton), Job Scott (Jap Nelson), British Spy, (J. Copeland), Eliza Jane Meadows (Miss Lottie Edwards), and Loretto Doyle as Little Crystal were characters which filled in the play. Their acting was easy and stage-like and throughout the entire piece there was not apparent to the audience a single hitch. Geo. A Dame took the leading part in a way which does him credit and as a graduate of the ONTARIO he fully sustained the good reputation of the office. It is needless to say that the appearance of Jack Mackie on the stage was sufficient to keep the audience in good humor. Mrs. Geo. Dame who has had some experience on the stage sustained her role and was the recipient of a bouquet. But Miss Loretto Doyle simply carried the house by storm. She is a little artist and well deserved the hearty applause which she received. The play will be produced again to-night and the citizens should show their appreciation of local talent by attending.

The Back Stitch

Or, in other words, a stitch in the back, or lumbago, was successfully treated in the following way. Baltimore, Md., U. S. A., February 26, 1890: "I suffered a long time with pains in the back, and obtained no relief until I tried St. Jacobs Oil, which cured me completely, and I take pleasure in recommending it as a most valuable remedy." GEORGE H. BURNETT, 120 N. Eden St,

LITERARY.

The brilliant panorama of "Metropolitan Life in Winter, from Thanksgiving to Easter," is unfolded in the attractively illustrated article which heads Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for March "George Sand," by Evelyn Jerrold, is a biographical sketch that reads like a romance; while Alvan S. Southworth's elaborately illustrated paper on "The Practical Side of Sculpture" is equally entertaining and instructive. Contributions by E. B. Southwick, Nicolas Pike, Dr. T. B. Sayre, David Ker, Walter Edgar McCann, Will P. Pond, J. Carter Beard, Ernest Ingersoll, George C. Hurlbut, Churchill Johnstone, Minna Irving, and others, with a profusion of pictures, make up a model number of this great popular magazine.

A richly illustrated article in the March number of The Chautauquan is entitled, "Sichel's Ideal Portraits of Classic Beauties." The pictures are reproductions of some of the most characteristic paintings of the well-known artist of "Ophelia," "The Egyptian Slave, and "Pondora."

Do we live too fast? Dr. Cyrus Edson is convinced that we do, and urges his views upon the public through an article in the March number of the North American Review.

The Queen's New Palace.

It has been customary with all successful newspapers and publications to secure a home for themselves by erecting a building and naming it after the publication, as soon as the success of the enterprise would permit, and it is only another indication of the success THE QUEEN has met with to learn that it has reached that point where larger and better quarters are required for its extensive and growing business, and that the publishers have decided to erect one of the handsomest and most complete newspaper buildings in the Dominion. A large lot has been purchased on Melinda St., and the architects are now at work on the plans of the building, which is to be in brown stone and pressed brick, with a large statue of the Queen at the top of the building. The lot secured being right in the heart of the business portion of Toronto is a valuable location, and THE CANADIAN QUEEN building will add one more to the substantial structures which have been erected for business purposes by enterprising corporations and business concerns during the past few years.—From (Toronto, Ont.,) Empire, Friday, Feb. 12th, 1892.

A FALSE CHARGE

A Chance For the Intelligencer to Put up or Shut up.

Whilst the ONTARIO will doubtless work itself into a frenzy over the oft-repeated charges of bribery and corruption, let us here remind it that two Ontario Government appointees purchased a barrel of whiskey the day before election to send to Tyendinaga. If the ONTARIO dares deny it we will give the names of the purchasers, but we scarcely think that it will go so far. If the Grits have sense they will acknowledge that they are fairly whipped, and we will take it for granted that they are sorry for it.—Belleville Intelligencer.

We accept the challenge. We deny the charge emphatically and specifically. It is wholly and unequiovocally false, and we dare the Intelligencer to give names and prove its assertion. We will go further. We have $50 that will be presented to any charitable institution the Intelligencer may name if it can prove its charge. By the time it is through with this it will learn how much dependence to place on tales borne by the much mumbling old gossips.

Help a Little.

The parents of the children attending the Mission Sunday school are to have a tea at the mission Thursday evening. Donations of refreshments of any kind will be thankfully received there on the afternoon of the same day.

Thinks it was Severe

DEAR SIR—The heavy fine inflicted on Mr. Cornish yesterday at the Police Court for assaulting the boy Dunlop has occasioned considerable comment in the city. Feeling that the penalty prescribed by Mr. Flint was under the circumstances unduly severe a number of Mr. Cornish's friends in the several banks immediately contributed a sufficient amount to pay the fine.—CITIZEN.

City Mission Anniversary

Last evening the eleventh anniversary of the founding of the City Mission was observed. Lively and pointed addresses were given by Mr. A. G. Northrup, Rev. Mr. Hodson, Rev. Mr. George and Mr. McClatchie. Arthur Wensley took charge of the singing, gave two gospel songs and read the annual report. Mrs. Schuster was unable to be present on account of illness. The attendance of scholars and their parents was all that could be desired. The annual report will appear in tomorrow's issue.

The great success Mr. Gough has attained is due to the fact that his goods are marked in plain figures and but one price is asked. It any goods putchased are not just as represented the price will be cheerfully refunded. Those in need of any goods such as this house supplies should wait until Thursday next before purchasing.

TERRIBLE ITCHING

Used Everything Five Months. In Three Weeks not a Scar or Pimple. Cured by Cuticura.

When my baby was three months old his cheeks and forehead began to break out with white pimples on red surface. In a few days itching commenced, which was terrible. After he would rub it, matter would ooze from the points. In a short time it spread over the top of his head, then scabs soon formed on head and face. We used everything we could hear of for nearly five months. It grew worse all the time. I saw your advertisement of the CUTICURA REMEDIES in the "Chicago Weekly." We purchased CUTICURA REMEDIES and commenced their use. In three weeks' time there was not a sore or pimple, not even a scar, on head or face. He is nineteen months old now, and has no signs of the disease. His scalp is healthy and he has a beautiful head of hair. (See portrait herewith.)
MRS. OSCAR JAMES, Woodston, Kan.

My infant, eighteen months old, was afflicted with skin eruptions on his hips. Bad sores came on other parts. All remedies failed until I procured CUTICURA. Cured a year and no return of disease.
MRS. A. M. WALKER, Carsonville, Ga.

The Quebec Commission.

QUEBEC, Feb. 24.—At 10.25 this morning His Honor Justice Pagnuelo and Messrs. McMaster and Masson, Royal Commissioners, ascended the bench. The secretary read the indictment which is based on the issue of certain letters of credit, promises to pay certain sums, etc., by the members of the late Mercier Government to Messrs. Langelier, Valliere and others, also several sums and subsidies to the Baie des Chaleurs Railway, the Drummond Railway and the Montreal & Sorel Railway.

H. T. Mackin, assistant provincial treasurer, was called in the witness box and sworn. He recollected having issued a check to the order of J. C. Langelier in November, 1890, for the Baie des Chaleurs Railway. The warrant of the Lieut.-Governor-in-Council is acquitted by Hon. Mr. Mercier. The check was endorsed by Langelier and Mercier.

Both Sinner And Saint

It troubles the sinner and troubles the saint.
It's a troublesome, trying and nasty complaint,
Don't think it incurable I tell you it ain't.

Excuse the grammar ; it's the truth I'm after, whether gramatically or ungramatically told. The truth is, that catarrh can be cured. The proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy offer $500 for an incurable case of Catarrh in the Head.

THE SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Headache, obstruction of nose, discharges falling into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery and acrid, at others, thick tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody, putrid and offensive ; eyes weak, ringing in the ears, deafness ; offensive breath, smell and taste impaired and general debility. Only a few of these symptoms likely to be present at once. Dr. Sage's Remedy cures the worst cases. Only 50 cents. Sold by all druggists everywhere.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE DEBATE ON THE TREASURER'S STATEMENT.

Speeches by Messrs. Balfour, A. F. Wood W. B. Wood and Others—The Government Members Claim That the Province is in an Eminently Satisfactory Condition.

TORONTO, Feb. 24.—The deferred debate on the financial standing of the Province was resumed at the Legislature yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Balfour, in replying to Mr. Clancy's speech of Friday last, challenged the statement that there was no debt when the present Administration came to power. What did he make of the million and a half dollars which the province stood committed to for railways? If this was a debt it should be deducted from the four million dollars which Mr. Clancy said was the cash surplus at that time. In regard to the timber wealth of the province the Government had not only preserved the timber resources, but by their fight for provincial rights they had added to those resources. What reckless expenditure had the Government been guilty of? Could the hon. gentleman point out any? They heard a great deal of grumbling, but they had never heard a specific instance of extravagance. The honorable gentleman would not take one dollar from the sums now granted to education, to charities, to agriculture and for the erection and maintenance of public institutions. If he would not reduce the grants to these objects how did he propose to reduce the expenditure? He argued that the Government did not take a dollar more from the municipalities now than it did in 1881. Moreover the Government did assist in the administration of the license law, although honorable gentleman stated that the government did not contribute one dollar towards support of jails, etc. The Government obtained greater returns from the licenses because it had raised the license fees. The municipalities had the same power but did not exercise it. The Government paid last year for the administration of criminal justice $142,000 and a proportion of that was paid towards the support of prisoners in the jails. He said that the municipalities shirked the responsibility of exercising their full powers of imposing license.

The honorable gentleman held up the bogey of direct taxation. Well, as they had a snug sum in the hands of the Dominion Government which they could draw on for the next twenty years at least, there need be no great excitement at present. They were using the products of their timber resources to meet the cost of necessary provincial buildings. They were merely taking capital in one shape and putting it in another, in public buildings, etc. Speaking of the Quebec agreement, which had been attacked, the speaker said that had that agreement been adopted the Dominion Government would be paying to the provinces $293,000 annually more than it was doing now, and of that sum Ontario would be receiving more than one-half, namely $151,000. There was therefore no reason to abandon responsibility for the Quebec agreement.

Mr. A. F. Wood (North Hastings) said that the question before them was: What were our resources, how have they been used and what were the prospects for the future? The resources were the Crown Lands, which were our capital. Our sources of revenue were the provincial subsidy, interest on trust funds, revenue from licenses, etc., amounting in all to $2,162,572. This being our income how were they to meet their expenditure, which exceeded this sum by more than a million dollars? There were three ways of meeting it. They could draw from capital or they could borrow. Speaking of the income from the licenses he claimed that it was money unfairly taken from the municipalities. The Government had taken their present control of the issue of licenses presumably in the interest of temperance. It was quite evident now that it was revenue they were after. It was difficult to follow the treasurer in his alternative allusions to surplus and capital. At one time a certain sum was termed surplus; at another he treated it as capital. He flouted the claim that the leader of the Government or any other man or set of men had made this country prosperous. This province was prosperous by reason of the intelligence and enterprise of its people.

Mr. W. B. Wood (North Brant) said he had not heard of any municipality complaining that the Government was collecting money from licences that should go to the municipalities. The Opposition failed, however, to tell their constituents that the grants to the agricultural societies and to education had been increased by reason of the increase of receipts from licenses and such other sources. The Opposition were simply unreasonable when they expected that the Parliament buildings and the grant for rebuilding the university could be paid out of the ordinary current revenue. He called upon them to point out where the expenditures could be decreased and to tell the House and the country what their financial policy was and what retrenchments they proposed to make.

Mr. Whitney twitted the Government on its alleged surplus and its capital, its assets and its liabilities. He found now that the Government and its friends had shifted ground. They were calculating public buildings and colonization roads as assets. Were there no assets at the time the administration came to power? Yet they had never been so accounted until now.

E. J. Davis (North York) dealt at some length with the timber limit question. He then proceeded to answer the contention that the administration of licenses has not been equitable.

The debate was continued by H. E. Clarke and J. Waters successively and was adjourned at 11 o'clock on motion of A. S. Hardy.

A deputation, introduced by R. Tooley, consisting of Messrs. I. Gilmour and Calvert, was received by Mr. Mowat. They wish the Government to allow the counties to appoint police magistrates and to prohibit justices of the peace from exercising their present powers. The Attorney-General replied that the matter would be left optional with the various counties.

A deputation composed of Messrs. W. F. Allen and D. B. Simpson, mayor and solicitor respectively of Bowmanville, waited upon the Government. The object was that that town should be permitted to consolidate its debt by an exchange of bonds, falling due in 1908 to 1910, for bonds running for a longer period, and that the town be permitted to introduce a bill to that effect waiving to a certain extent the customary notices. A direct reply was not given, but from remarks passed it was inferred that the request would be refused.

The municipal council of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham, owing to the fact that no means is provided whereby justices of the peace can collect fees for their services in connection with criminal cases tried before them, wish provisions made so that these gentlemen may be paid for their services in all cases engaging their attention.

Dr. Baxter presented a petition from the Canada Southern Railway Co., asking that the bill entitled, "An Act to Incorporate the Village of Victoria," be not passed. The ground of objection is that the only effect would be to increase the assessment and taxation of the land proposed to be taken within the boundaries of the village mentioned without any corresponding advantages.

The Government have decided to meet a delegation of mining men on March 8 at 7 o'clock. The matter to be discussed is proposed amendments to the Mining Act.

The various committees met during the morning and elected their chairmen as follows: Railways, Mr. Hardy; Municipal, Mr. Hardy; Private Bills, Mr. Gibson, Hamilton; Privileges and Elections, Mr. Harcourt; Standing Orders, Mr. O'Connor, and Printing, Mr. Balfour. The Public Accounts Committee has not yet been organized.

OTTAWA, Feb 24.—Harry Cooper, manager for Mr. Robert Machray, states that Mr. Machray has been heard from by friends here, and it is believed he will return home in a few days and settle matters.

SERVANT GIRLS MURDERED.

A Crime Resembling in All Its Details That Committed by the Schneiders of Vienna.

MAGDEBURG, Feb. 24.—A man named Fritz Erbs and his fiancee, Dorothy Bunstock, have been arrested here charged with murdering servant girls for the purpose of robbery.

These murders resembled in most of their horrible details the Schneider murders in Vienna recently, the victims being inveigled to their fate by means of bogus advertisements.

The police have already discovered the names of two of the victims and are at work on the other cases.

When the police descended upon the culprits the clothing of the murdered girls was found in their possession and will be used as evidence against the prisoners when they are brought to trial.

Dorothy Bunstock has broken down in the face of the charges made against her and has made a confession, in which she described the manner in which the murders were committed. She admits leading the girls to a wood, where Fritz was waiting to spring upon them and where after his bloody work was finished the victims were stripped of all their clothing and any money or valuables in their possession and their bodies hidden in a spot where it was not likely they would be discovered.

THE GROCERS' WARFARE.

The Wholesale Grocers' Guild and the Price of Sugar.

MONTREAL, Feb. 24.—The sugar refiners have now had their meeting and the Grocers 'Guild have had theirs. The result is not as had been anticipated by some grocers, the destruction of the guild. It appears that by general consent the members resolved to suspend Rule No. 2 of the association, which governs the sale of sugar, thus permitting everyone to sell present stock at such rates as they think proper and profitable for their own interests. When all these stocks are sold, however, the members of the guild alone will be able to go to the refiners and ask them for more sugar. There will then have to be a new shuffle ordered before the outside men can enter the guild, which they will have to do in order to be able to purchase sugar at all.

There are four large wholesale houses outside the Dominion Guild, two in Montreal, one in Kingston and one in Toronto. The recent defection of a wholesale house here appears to have led to the present action on the part of the members of the Wholesalers' Association. It is said that before this house withdrew from the guild it had purchased some $300,000 worth of sugar from the refineries, so that it is amply supplied with stock to carry on the war for some time to come. The other houses outside the Guild are also understood to have good supplies of Scotch and Dutch sugars. Fierce cutting is now the order of the day and it is merely a question of the survival of the fittest.

SONS OF ENGLAND.

The Supreme Grand Lodge in Session at London.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The Supreme Grand Lodge of the Sons of England began its annual session in Masonic Temple yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mayor Spencer read an address of welcome.

Richard Ivens, Supreme Grand President, in his report said that satisfactory advance had been made during the year just closed, both in the number of lodges instituted and in the additions to the membership.

William Hancock, Supreme Grand Vice-President, stated in his report that a lodge of the Sons of England existed in every principal town and city in the Dominion. Harry Symons and William Barker, the auditors, reported that the condition of the Supreme Grand Lodge fund showed an improvement over that of last year, the balance to credit being $565.

The number of members initiated during the year was 2344. Number of members in good standing was 9457, an increase of 1477 over last year. The amount of cash received was $65,217.24, an increase of $10,000.

Ambushed and Massacred.

SAN SALVADOR, Feb. 24.—General Enriquez was killed Tuesday by a body of Guatemalan soldiers, together with a number of companions, near the city of Zacapia, Guatemala.

General Enriquez had been unanimously proclaimed dictator of the Constitutional party of Guatemala and had in consequence incurred the active hostility of President Barillas.

General Enriquez was proceeding toward Zacapia accompanied by his two brothers and a party of friends. A company numbering 100 soldiers, lying in ambush on one of the roads out of the city, fired upon Enriquez and others of his party, killing all of them. The attack and killing of the party is attributed to orders issued from the capital and the deed is imputed to the Guatemalan Government.

Judges' Salaries.

OTTAWA, Feb. 24.—A deputation consisting of Hon. Edward Blake, Q.C., T. D. Barwick and others, representing the Law Society of Ontario, had an interview with the Minister of Justice on Saturday and presented to him the resolutions recently adopted by the bar recommending an increase of salary for the judges. Sir John Thompson gave the usual promise that the matter should receive consideration ; but of course no intimation of the Government's intention in the matter will be given until after Parliament meets.

Minister Charged With Blackmail.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 24.—A sensation has been caused in East St. Louis by the arrest of Rev. J. M. Laird of Gillespie, Macoupin & Co., on a charge of attempted blackmail preferred by Frank B. Bowman, the largest land-owner and probably the wealthiest man in East St. Louis. Mr. Bowman received two letters from Rev. Mr. Laird, charging him with undue intimacy with Mrs. Laird and offering to compromise the offence on payment of $1000 cash. Rev. Mr. Laird acknowledges writing the letters and declares that the charges are true.

The Queen is greatly disturbed by a suicide committed in the pantry of the Palace at Osborne. A male servant holding a responsible position in the plate room killed himself by swallowing a dose of spirits of ammonia.

The case of W. R. Lidderdale, a prominent banker of Ilminster, Somersetshire, who disappeared in January last on the eve of his marriage to a most estimable lady of that place, becomes more and more mysterious the deeper it is investigated. His accounts are perfectly straight.

A Vienna despatch to The Daily News says that Lord Salisbury has advised the Khedive not to appear before the Sultan until a firman has been granted fully and irrevocably confirming the Khedive in his office. The News adds that the Egyptian Cabinet supports the attitude of Lord Salisbury.

OTTAWA GOSSIP.

The Minister of Justice to Sit in the Late Premier's Seat.

OTTAWA, Feb. 24.—The city is donning its sessional appearance, and each train as it arrives in the city brings small contingents whose duties lead them to Ottawa during the sitting of Parliament

Those from a distance generally arrive first and as a consequence we have senators from British Columbia and Prince Edward Island. One or two members of the Commons have also arrived from the Maritime Provinces.

The hotels are beginning to present a lively appearance, all is bustle and activity in and around the House of Commons, the officials being engaged in giving the last finishing touches to the work of renovation, which has been going on for the past few weeks.

Sir Hector Langevin has taken his seat on the opposite side of the House between Mr. Mulock and Mr. Desjardins.

Mr. James Johnson, Commissioner of Customs, has been superannuated, Mr. Parmelee, the assistant commissioner, succeeding him. Mr. T. J. Watters, accountant, becomes assistant commissioner, and it is likely that Mr. George W. Jessep, appraiser, will succeed Mr. Watters.

There has been considerable grumbling for years past on the Commons side of the House as to the manner of conducting the restaurant. This was one of the questions on which both Grits and Tories agreed. An attempt is being made to introduce something like the club system by the new caterer, F. B. Coleman. The bar will be done away with and those entitled to the privileges of the restaurant will be served in rooms on what is known as the European plan. The staff, comprising a couple of cooks from New York, will number in all 20 hands, nearly double that formerly employed. The Senate restaurant will be carried on by the old carterer on the J. C. Davis, Rector of St. James' Episcopal Church, Eufaula, Ala.: "My son has been badly afflicted with a fearful and threatening cough for several months, and after trying several prescriptions from physicians which failed to relieve him, he has been perfectly restored by the use of two bottles of Boschee's German Syrup. I can recommend it without hesitation." Chronic severe, deep-seated coughs like this are as severe tests as a remedy can be subjected to. It is for these long-standing cases that Boschee's German Syrup is made a specialty. Many others afflicted as this lad was, will do well to make a note of this.

THE CASES NOT PARALLEL

The Hamilton Spectator draws a parallel between Mr. Laurier and Sir Hector Langevin. It says that if Sir Hector should be held responsible for the wrongdoing of Mr. McGreevy and his fellow-conspirators, of which, according to the Spectator, he was not cognizant, Laurier should also be held accountable of the acts of Pacaud, of which he knows nothing. The cases are not parallel at all. Sir Hector was the head of an important department. He was entrusted with a large amount of public money, and was paid to look after the interests of the public, and it was his business to know what was going on in his department. When he through either carelessness or connivance allowed the public to be robbed of nearly a million dollars in connection with the duties he was paid to discharge he deserves the severest condemnation even if he gained nothing thereby himself. Much more then does he deserve opprobrium when a large part of this went into his own coffers or those of the party. As regards Mr. Laurier, all that is charged against him is that some money improperly got by Pecaud was used in the last general elections, although Mr. Laurier knew nothing about the source of the money. If this is anything to his discredit then all the Tory cabinet ministers are in the same predicament for part of the money stolen by McGreevy, the Connollys, etc., was contributed to aid them in their election.

AN EXCELLENT SUGGESTION

During the coming session a redistribution of constituencies will take place throughout the Dominion, and this will give the government a chance to take one more unfair advantage of their opponents. The effect of the gerrymander ten years ago was to prevent a fair representation of electorate in the House. The effect is seen in Ontario county. In the whole county there is a liberal majority of 500 yet two out of three of the seats are held by Conservatives. The effect is seen in the Province of Ontario, where last March the Liberals had a majority of over 7000 of the popular vote, yet the Conservatives had a majority of six in the representation from this province. The manner in which the redistribution takes place will be a final test of the boasted honesty and fair play of Hon. Wm Thompson.

In relation to this the Hamilton Spectator makes a suggestion worthy of hearty commendation. It says the redistribution should be taken out of the hands of the party and confided to an impartial tribunal of say three judges who would be instructed to redistribute the seats in such a way as to secure a fair and equal representation. The idea is an excellent one and some one should move in this direction as soon as possible after the House opens. We have not much faith that the government will relinquish the great advantage this power of gerrymander gives them, but all the same the effort should be made.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

George Sherry, barrister, was one of W B. Northrup's strongest supporters last March. To-day he is in the United States. Why is he there? Because he can make more money there in a year than he could here in ten. Last year he made $10,000. It would be interesting to know how many of the young Tories, who supported Mr. Northrup last week, will be in Canada at the next election.

Well, if the liberals cannot win in the Dominion elections they can knock the spots off the tories in the provincial elections. The victory in Kingston was a magnificent one. Mr. Metcalf had a strong hold on the constituency, and exerted his whole influence on behalf of the tory candidate, but all the same the liberal won by a majority of voer 700. Our little Oliver is all right. The strength of the Ontario government is further seen in Lanark. The tory member died there a few weeks ago, but so overwhelmingly strong is the sentiment in favor of honest Oliver in the province that the tories decided not to put a candidate in the field in this constituency which they formerly held, so the contest was between two liberals.

DEFENDING MRS. MONTAGU.

Said to Be Persecuted On Account of Her Religion.

BELFAST, Feb. 24.—A decided sensation was created yesterday at Portrush, five miles from Coleraine, by the action of the parish priest, Father McDonogh, who warmly espoused the cause of Mrs. Ann Margaret Montagu, accused of feloniously slaying her little daughter.

Father McDonogh, after mass yesterday, declared that the coroner's jury which heard the evidence furnished against Mrs. Montagu, and which found her guilty of causing her child's death, was composed entirely of Protestants, and that they were persecuting the lady referred to on account of her religion. She attended mass regularly, and the healthy, happy appearance of her children was generally noted and most favorably commented upon.

DALY AND EGAN.

Member-of-Parliament Redmond Visits Them in Portland Jail.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—Mr. John E. Redmond, Member of Parliament for Waterford and present leader of the Parnellites, has visited the imprisoned dynamiters in Portland jail.

His first interview was with Daly, with whom he conversed for over two hours. Daly was eager to obtain information regarding Mr. Parnell's death and expressed gratitude to those Englishmen who had voted to support Mr. Redmond's appeal for mercy.

On being seen, Egan declared that he would rather serve out the entire period of his sentence than compromise the fate of his fellow-prisoners.

DUBLIN, Feb. 23.—At the regular meeting of the National League held here to day Mr. Edmund Leamy, member of the House of Commons for South Sligo, said that the Nationalists were now sure that Mr. Gladstone knew what kind of home rule was necessary for Ireland. Although some of the Irish members of Parliament had declared their readiness to take whatever the Liberals gave, none dared to say they would ultimately take less than provided for in Mr. Parnell's program.

Though the Parnellites were in the minority against the McCarthyites it was Parnell's voice that the English Liberals listened to. Any Gladstonian measure had no chance of acceptance unless it was laid down on the lines shown by Parnell.

The Duke Successful.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—Application was recently made to the court by the Marchioness of Blandford to compel her former husband, the Duke of Marlborough, to increase the sum paid by him for the support of the Marquis of Blandford, their son and the heir of the Duke, and to make life provision for him. The court after hearing argument to-day refused to grant the order asked for. The Marquis of Blandford will not be of age until November of the present year. He now receives £300 per annum from the Duke.

HOW AN OXFORD TUTOR BLACKMAILED NOBLEMEN.

An Ingenious Scheme Which Landed Its Perpetrator in Prison — The Proposed Gladstonian Home Rule Bill—Baron Roberts of Candahar — Mrs. Montagu and the Murder Charges.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—In the Bow-street Police Court yesterday the case of Maitland Morland, who is described as an Oxford tutor who is charged with an attempt to blackmail Lord Hothfield, was resumed.

The evidence developed the fact that the prisoner had engaged in systematic attempts to blackmail noblemen by writing letters purporting to have been written by a woman.

Lord Chesterfield, Lord Ormathwaite and others testified that they had received letters similar to those received by Lord Hothfield.

The solicitor representing Earl Russell, whose wife recently unsuccessfully sued for a divorce, produced a letter signed "Ruth Morland," which was received just before the Earl married Miss Scott. It read:

"You are to be married next week. What would Miss Scott think of you if she could read your letters that are in my possession? It is altogether impossible that she may see them before Thursday, and that hundred you owe me, of which you have not paid a penny, may so anger me that I will put the letters in my husband's hands, and confess my adultery with you and cause myself to figure in the Divorce Court. Send an answer by return post or I will know what to do legally."

COST $50,000 A SHOCK.

And There Were 2388 Shocks All Told, 79 of Them Very Severe.

YOKOHAMA, Feb. 24.—The prefectures of Gifu and Aichia are still visited by earthquake shocks, only two days having been entirely free from oscillations since Oct. 28, the date of the great one, when 55,000 houses were destroyed and 4957 persons killed.

Two thousand three hundred and eighty-eight shocks were felt in Japan during the past three months, says The Japan Mail of Feb. 6, 79 of which were quite severe. Money for the relief of sufferers by them was subscribed at the rate of 73,367 yens ($51,000) per shock.

An orphan home for children orphaned by the October earthquake was opened in Yokohama Feb. 5.

It is proposed to reform the mode of house building in Japan to give better protection in case of earthquake. It is also proposed to build fortifications in Japan by reducing the standing army by one-third and applying the money thus saved to the work of construction.

Discovery of a Plot to Blow Up the Spanish Embassy.

PARIS, Feb. 24.—The French police claim to be on the track of a gang of dynamite conspirators preparing for Mayday. The police connect this conspiracy with a recent robbery of 75 pounds of dynamite from the Seine stone quarries. Early this morning under a magisterial order domiciliary visits were made to all suspected houses.

Altogether 360 houses were searched. Only a few of the missing cartridges were obtained, most of which were found in the lodgings of a man named Borgier, who was known to be an Anarchist. When questioned Borgier declared that he knew nothing whatever about the cartridges.

The Journal des Debats says that the Prefecture of Police has information that the cartridges were designed to blow up the Spanish embassy in Paris in order to avenge the recent execution of four Anarchists in Xeres.

A French Girl's Suicide.

PARIS, Feb. 24.—At Nancy on Saturday, the beautiful daughter of Gen Tallien of the French Army, a girl barely 16 years of age, committed suicide. She had become engaged to a young lieutenant, Filot by name, without the knowledge of her parents. The young people laid the matter before the general on Saturday, whereupon he flew into a rage, and kicked the lieutenant out of the house. This preyed so upon the girl's mind that she procured a heavy cord, went to her bedroom and tied the cord to the iron balcony, slipped her neck into a noose on the other end, leaped and there hung for the rest of the night. At 8 o'clock on Sunday morning people in the streets discovered the body dangling from the third story balcony.

A Present For the Pope.

The subscription list already shows a total of 28,499 francs, and the outlook for future donations is most encouraging.

British Arms Successful.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—A despatch from Upper Burmah says that Captain Davies' column after sharp fighting expelled the Kachyens from their stockade positions and relieved Sadone. The British loss was four natives killed and 26 wounded, including Lieut. Munn. Capt. Davies will attack the principal stockade to-day to enable him to join the Yule column.

MACKENZIE ON HEALTH.

AN ABLE PAPER ON THE HIDDEN CAUSES OF DISEASE.

A Noteworthy Contribution to Hygienic Literature by the Late Sir Morell Mackenzie—Paralysis, Peculiarities of Structure and Heredity Specially Treated.

version of this sligh structural anomaly.

The most noteworthy instance of constitutional tendency to disease is seen in the case of consumption, and what used to be called scrofulous diseases. These are now all classed, together with consumption, under the head of tuberculous diseases.

The peculiarity of structure in these cases shows itself in this—that the real cause of the disease requires a certain condition of the tissues before it can produce its effect. They are more delicate and more easily injured in predisposed subjects than they are in other people. Wounds do not heal kindly, and are apt to fester in persons of this constitution.

HEREDITY.

That heredity is a cause of disease admits of no doubt. It is not the disease itself, but the tendency thereto, that is inherited, just as other physical peculiarities are.

Readers will remember the horseshoe vein on the forehead which was the badge of all the tribe of Redgauntlet; and there is a well-known family in the south of France which for more than three centuries has boasted a white lock of hair. The Bourbon nose, and the thick lip of the Hapsburgs, are other instances in point.

Consumption, gout, insanity and cancer are the diseases which show the greatest tendencies to run in families. Of the hereditary transmission of gout, nearly every noble family in Europe can show the most conclusive proof. With regard to cancer the case is not so clear; but statistics prove that heredity can be more or less distinctly made out in a considerable proportion of those who fall victims to the disease.

The Bonaparte family furnishes a remarkable example of the hereditary transmission of cancer. One of the parents of Napoleon the First died of cancer of the liver or stomach. He himself died of cancer of the stomach, which also proved fatal to his brother Lucien and to his sister, the beautiful Pauline Borghese.

A hereditary tendency to disease may not show itself till an advanced period of life, as Professor Huxley, in his charming autobiographical sketch has lately told us that a peculiar movement of the hands which was habitual in his mother has recently shown itself in him.

The moral to be drawn from these facts is that if a man has reason to suspect that he inherits a tendency to a particular disease, he should be careful to avoid exposing himself to the conditions which favor its development. He should also be mindful of his posterity, actual or possible.

Most people use their bodies as if they were their property in fee simple. This is hardly fair to their descendants. A man should undoubtedly treat his body as though it were strictly entailed, and the rights of his heirs should be, as far as possible, respected.

If the attack of the disease can by any means be kept off, it is possible that in time the family taint may be eliminated.

Lovage for the Grip.

"That's a bad cold you've got," said a benevolent-looking old gentleman to a young fellow he had met casually.

"Worst I ever had," answered the young man.

"Try a pinch of this," urged the other, fishing in his vest pocket for a little box. There was a fine powder in it, and he offered it invitingly. "It is no 'kill-or-cure' thing. See how it goes."

The young man snuffed a tiny pinch up his nose. In five minutes he felt relieved. "That's wonderful," he said. "If you've got a monopoly it's the same as a fortune to you."

The old man smiled indulgently. "This is one of the commonest of herbs," said he. "It is so cheap that it can be bought by the ton if you want that much. It cured me of the grip, and I believe it is the best thing going."

"What do you call it?"

"German lovage. All the druggists have it. For a dime you can get a box of it powdered, large enough to cure a whole family of the grip. It is so common that its value has been overlooked. You try it and you tell all your friends. German lovage is a sure cure for the grip."—New York Times.

Sir Edwin Arnold's Way.

Although a newspaper man by profession, Sir Edwin Arnold has declined to be interviewed by newspaper men since his arrival in New York. He is uniformly courteous to the fraternity and gracefully excuses himself from talking about himself on the plea of modesty or lack of time. A young literary man who was doing his best to earn a livelihood by that uncertain means known to the newspaper business as "free-lancing" called on Sir Edwin the other day and asked for an interview about Japan, saying that it would mean money to him and that his circumstances just then were not as prosperous as they might be.

"I cannot break through my inflexible rule about interviews," replied Sir Edwin, "but I cannot send you away empty-handed. Here are a few verses I have just written. Make whatever use of them you please."

Thereupon the author of "The Light of Asia" handed his visitor a short manuscript poem on a religious subject, which the "free-lance" promptly sold to a religious weekly for $50.—New York Herald.

Crossing the Feet.

The way people cross their feet is often indicative of character. Neat people usually put their right foot over the left, while disorderly people generally put the left foot over the right. Everybody knows how much character is expressed in the wearing of the hat, and why should it be thought surprising if a man should tell what he is by the way he places his feet?

A Cure For Constipation And Headache

Dr. Silas Lane while in the Rocky Mountains discovered a root that when combined with other herbs makes an easy and certain cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots and leaves, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick-headache in one night. For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for clearing up the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50 cents a package.

Diseases of The Liver

Parmelee's Pills possess the power o acting specifically upon the deceased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that disease of almost every name and nature are driven from the body. Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell, P. PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the powe of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. If you have a cough or cold do not neglec it; many without a trace ofthat hereditar disease have drifted into a consumptiv grave by neglecting what was only a sligh cold. Had the used Bickle's Anti- Consumtive Syrup before it was too late their lives would have been spared. Mr. A. W. Levy Mitchell, writes. "I think Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation ou the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught severe cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cought. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of Consumption, and had given up hodes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickel's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieaed, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured. I always recomend it for severe colds and consumption."

DEAR SIRS,—My children were taken il with ulcerated sore throats bordering on diphtheria. I had nothing in the house but Hagyards Yellow Oil which I used with great benefit I am sure if it had not been for it the disease would have developed into diphtheria. It is a splendid medicine.

BANCROFT, Ont., Feb. 24—The report that the men employed in the shanties in the northern part of this county are dying of some such disease as black diphtheria is entirely without foundation and Dr. Beeman of Bancroft, states there has been no such disease; some cases of grippe have appeared, but he further states that complaint is fast dying out.

On Friday last Ira Farrell was employed in blasting for what he supposed to be a gold deposit in the township of Dungannon, when in tampering with the charge it exploded, distroying one eye completely injuring the other so much that its preservation is doubtful, with other wounds in the face and hands of a very serious nature.

THE CITY MISSION

REPORT OF THE WORK DONE FOR THE PAST YEAR

Names of Contributers and Amounts Given—Those who Aided in the Good Work

The following is an abridgment of the report just issued by the city mission:—

The annual report gave an outline of the work for the year. The Bible Study class from 10 to 11 o'clock was conducted by Charles Elvins with an attendance of from 12 to 15 each Sunday. The regular service at 11 o'clock was conducted by Messrs. Dickens, Elvins, Sargeant, Wensley and Howard in turn. The Sunday school was better attended last year than ever before, and is in every way prosperous. The following are the officers and teachers:—W. E. Holton, C. Clapp, Miss Bessie Stinson, Miss Louie Holden, Miss Addie Reid, Miss Foster, Miss Storey, Miss Ritchie, Mrs. Holden, Miss Lingham, Miss Clara Craig, Miss Dora Clapp, Miss Dix, and Mrs. W. H. Graham. Reid are the conductors in turn, each taking a night per month.

Among the efficient workers whose services have been lost through sickness, removal, and other causes were Messrs. Vantassel, Wensley, Gordon, Hotson, and Swazye, and Misses Burrell, Booth, Gilbert, McKay, Lewis and Hendricks.

The Young Ladies of the Baptist Christian Endeavor Society conduct a sewing school on Thursday afternoons. The house visitations during Mrs. Schuster's illness were conducted by Miss Dix, of Lindsay. No paper was published during the year owing to the lack of funds.

The first year the cash contributed to the support of the Mission was $130, the 2nd $194,95, the 3rd $220,00, the 4th $360,75, the 5th $260.62, the 6th $352,07, the 7th $206,00, the 8th 439,90, the 9th $422,99, the 10th $425,00, and the present, the 11th $390,58 The report expresses regret that the contributions have fallen off, and urges on the people of Belleville greater liberality towards this laudable institution. THE CORNISH CASE

Why the Heavy Fine Was Imposed Explained by the P M

SIR—Apparently some fellow clerks of Mr. Cornish think the fine of $15 and costs too severe. An examination of Dr. Dolan's evidence will give some idea why the fine was inflicted:

"There was an extensive swelling over the ear, in the region of the ear, reaching towards the temple. A swelling of the upper eyelid of one of the eyes, and discoloration of the lid. A bruising of the tissues of the cheek. On the side and back the next morning there were black and blue marks, the skin was abraided and torn on the shoulder. There were a number of bruises on back, covering a considerable area. The bruises might have been produced by a boot or some foreign substance. The skin could not have been broken by the fist I advised the mother to keep him perfectly quiet. There were a number of scratches on the shoulder. The mother swore "the boys face was swollen I put him to bed, he could not lie on his back, his back was all red and swollen—his shoulder was swollen and very red. The boy does not seem to be well or to rest well since, he complains of soreness, his back is black and blue on the left side." The justification was the boy had said, "Have you found your dog?" McGornish had chosen to make a joke of a certain description with this boy, and it was not unnatural that the boy should have said what he did. Mr. Cornish is a powerful young man, the boy slight and fragile. It would never do to permit a man to take upon himsel the chastisement of a lad who had offended him.—Yours J. J. B. FLINT.

AT HYMEN'S ALTAR

Two Interesting Events Take Place in the City

Barrett-Graham

James Barrett, a moulder who has been in the employ of the G. & J. Brown Manufacturing Co. was married at six a. m. yesterday in St. Michael's church by Father O'Brien to Miss Nellie Graham, daughter of Ald. Graham. Miss Maggie Graham acted as bridesmaid while Mr. Henry Johnston supported the groom. There were a number of friends present to witness the event. The happy couple left at noon for Brooklyn, N. Y., where they will live in future.

Frederick-Dingman

The excursionists of Belleville will be pleased to hear that there is a new departure in the management of the staunch little steamer Nellie Cuthbert. Captain Frederick has so far managed his boat alone but this year he is to take on a mate who will be of great assistance. He can then give still greater attention to the pleasure and comfort of the passengers. The shipping articles were signed at one o'clock this afternoon at the residence of the Rev. G. J. Dingman, Foster avenue, who executed the papers and witnessed the signatures. It is another case of women coming to the front in all the professions, for the new officer is none other than Ada, the fair and highly respected daughter of the above named rev. gentleman. The whole thing was very private only a few of their nearest friends being present.

THE OPERA HOUSE SOLD FOR $7.000

It is bid in by the Estate—Cost $20.000

The Queen's Opera House was put up at auction at 3 o'clock this afternoon by the Willson estate, A Robertson auctioneer. The bidding was not brisk although it was one of the finest and best equipped opera houses in Ontario. H. Tammadge started the ball rolling at $4000, T. S Carman of the ONTARIO raised it to $5000 when James Jenkins went $5,500, W. W. Power, the present manager, bid $6000. C. G. L. Kelso $6,500, when Mr. Carman put in $6,550 and Mr. Jenkins $6,7000. The persuasive powers of the auctioneer were exerted in vain to raise this figure when it was finally bid in for $7000 by Mr. Kelso. The building a few years ago cost $20,000

The Doctor Orders it

Sister Caroline, St. Andrews Hospital Clewer, Windsor, Eng, says: "I have found St. Jacobs Oil a most efficacious remedy for gout; also for sprains and bruises. Indeed we cannot say too much in its praise. Our doctor is ordering it constantly." Many physicians use it.

Gallant Rufus Choate.

On a pretty girl saying to RufusChoate 'I am very sad you see," he replied, "O, no; you belong to the old Jewish sect; you are very fair I see!"

Nothing adds so much to the beauty of a fair girl, as a clear, bright, healthy complexion, and to secure this pure blood is indispensable. So many of the so-called blood-purifiers sold to improve a rough, pimply, muddy skin, only drive the scrofulous humors from the surface to some intrernal vital organ and disease and death is the inevitable result. On the contrary, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery strikes directly at the root of the evil, by driving the impurities entirely out of the system, and with a fresh stream of blood flowing through the veins, nothing but the softest and fairest complexions can result.

A Ten Dollar Dollar Gold Piece for a Cent

Sometime ago, a gentleman bet that if he stood at the corner of Broadway and Fourteenth street, New York, and offered gold eagles to the passers-by for a cent each, he would find no purchasers. The experiment was tried, and it turned out just as he said. No one would believe that the coins were genuine. It seemed too good to be true. An equally remarkable offer is that made by the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery the sovereign cure for consumption. Think of it! restoration to life and health for a mere song. There is not a case of lung-scrofula—in other words, consumption—that will not yield to it, if it is taken in time. It is the greatest blood-purifier ever known, and is guaranteed to benefit or cure in all diseases of the throat and lungs, or money refunded. Only extraordinary curative properties could warrant or sustain its makers in selling it thus on trial.

MRS. DORCAS WILLIAMS.

A BRIEF BIOGRAPHY OF THE DECEASED AND HER FATHER

One of the U E Loyalist—Her Father the First Settler in Prince Edward County

The funeral of the late Mrs. Dorcas Williams took place from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Yerex, Benjamin St. at noon to-day. Deceased was of U. E. Loyalist stock and was connected with the families of rome of the earliest settlers of Prince Edward county. She was born in the township of Athol July 3rd 1811. Her father was the late Daniel Young known better among his contemporaries as "Major Young." Her father and her grandfather—Captain Henry Young were officers in the British army during the Revolutionary war, and at the close of the war were connected with the garrison at Fort William Henry at Kingston.

In the fall of 1783 Capt. Henry Young and his son Daniel, in company with a young officer named Quinte (who gave his name to the Bay) left Kingston in a small boat and made their way up the bay to where the town of Picton now stands, from which point they explored a large part of Prince Edward county, and were probably the first white men who had ever passed over it. The Young's, father and son, selected a block of land on the peninsula between the East Lake and the West Lake, and commenced to make themselves a home. They were the first settlers in the county, the advance guard, as it were, of the great body of U. E. colonists who arrived the following year 1784. Major Young hewed out a fine home on the north side of East Lake where he spent the remainder of his days and raised a large family of which the subject of this sketch was the youngest. His descendents are closely related to many of the leading families of Prince Edward.

Mrs. Williams was married in 1827 to the late James Williams, but her married life extended over a period of only twelve years her husband dying in 1839. Since then she has lived a widow. Being very modest and reserved in her disposition she lived a retired life with her children. Her end was peace. A sister of the deceased, Mrs Rachel Stinson widow of the late D. B. Stinson is still living in the township of Hallowell at the ripe age of 94, still possessing considerable vigor of mind and body. She is the mother of L. B. Stinson, of Picton, and grandmother of Mrs. R. Cooper of this city.

Laid Away to Rest

The remains of James Arnott were laid away to rest yesterday by the Orange Order of which he was long a member. The deceased who died suddenly on Suneay of heart disease was a well-known citizen and highly respected by all who knew him.

Will They Amalgamate?

Ottawa Free Press: From Toronto comes a rumor that negotiations are on foot for the amalgamation or union of the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk railway companies, and that when the consolidation is completed the Intercolonial and its branches will be handed over to the new corporation. It is quite possible that this report is well founded. On one occasion when parliament was granting assistance to the Canadian Pacific company Sir Charles Tupper inserted a clap-trap clause in the bill providing that that company should never amalgamate with the Grand Trunk, but Mr. Blake pointed out at the time that such an obstacle could be very easily evaded if an amalgamation was found desirable. It will be very easy to repeal the clause in question at the coming session if Mr. Van Horne so orders.

LITERARY.

The complete novel in Lippincott's magazine for March, "A Soldier's Secret," is by Captain Charles King, who alone among living Americans has the secret of the military tale. What he does not know about army life in the West is not worth knowing, and what he knows he can impart with unsurpassed and unfailing charm. The post, the bivouac, the battle field,—whatever goes on at these he makes to live again before us; for he has been a part of it all, and his heart is with the cavalry still. His last story has a very recent theme,—the Sioux war of 1890,—and will be found equal to any of his previous work.

Important Notice

Owing to the immensity of our stock and the vast amount of work involved in checking it off, we find it impossible to have our opening on Thursday, Feby 25th as previously stated in our advertisement. We beg to announce that our grand opening will now take place on Saturday next Feby 27th. It will pay you to wait.

GOUGH, the wonderful cheap man.

A Change of Location

W. R. Carmichael, as will be seen by his advertisement on the front page has removed his drug business from the store opposite the foot bridge to the store next to J. C. Overell's. The store has been entirely renovated and Mr. Carmichael has added an extensive stock to his already large display. Mr. Carmichael by energy and push has placed himself in the front of Belleville business men and his well known attention to business has won for him a very large patronage in both the country and city.

Job Lots

Do you need an odd coat, a vest or a pair of pants. People often go around with part of their wearing apparel looking seedy, simply because they are not aware that for a very small amount they can be made to look quite respectable. Odd pieces are always bought in "job lots" and always bought cheap, therebb we are able to offer them cheap. Look about and see what you need in clothing, then find your way to the Oak Hall. You will be surprised at the low prices which prevail in this great clothing house.

THE LATE DR WILLSON EULOGIZED

The Genial Physician and Former Mayor of Belleville, Ont Passes Away.

The Chicago British-American says : "The news of the sudden death of Dr. Benjamin Seymour Willson, at Belleville, Ont, will be received by former residents of that city in Chicago with feelings of sadness. Dr. Willson was a man whom everybody liked, outspoken in his views and convictions, it is true, but still of that genial, kindly nature which never fails to make friends. He will be a great loss to the city of Belleville in which he was always a leading citizen in social and political circles. Dr. Willson was born at Loborough, Lennox county, Ont., in 183, and was a decendant of a family of physicians. He graduated at McGill College, Montreal, in the class of 1852, and continued to practice his profession in Belleville up to the time of his death. He served as Mayor of Belleville with great acceptance, and almost any position in the gift of the people was at his disposal. Dr. Willson was a man of unswerving fidelity to principle, scrupulously honest, and a friend to the deserving. The funeral was one of the largest ever seen in Belleville, and was attended by many persons from a distance, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. O. G. L. Kelso, of Chicago. Deceased was a brother of Dr. H. McGregor Willson, resident of the Chicago Sanitary Institute, Nos. 281 and 283 Michigan avenue."

Fire

Those exposed to imminent danger and sudden casualities, like Mr Aitchison, Hamilton, Ont., Fire Department, know the full value of the great remedy. He says he met with a serious accident injuring his back and shoulders in a terrible manner but by the use of St. Jacobs Oil he was entirely restored. It is the best.

PERRY PLANS AN ESCAPE.

IT IS NIPPED IN THE BUD BY A DETECTIVE.

His Father Communicated With Him by Means of a Kiss Through the Bars of His Cell, and Yesterday He Gave His Father a Sketch of a Key and a Note, Which Were Confiscated.

LYONS, N.Y., Feb. 25.—Oliver Curtis Perry, the noted American express train robber, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Theodore Fries yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock and held for the grand jury.

When Perry and the deputy were about to leave the court room for the county jail Perry's father, Oliver H. Perry, came hurrying in from the railroad station from his home in Syracuse. The prisoner seemed much affected. Stepping up to him he said, "Hello, father," and kissed him. The father showed much emotion, and the prisoner seeing it said, "Don't cry, father, it will be all right."

Express Messenger McInerney is reported to be doing as well as could be expected after the wounds he received in his desperate encounter with Perry on Sunday morning. He rested quietly yesterday, and all his symptoms are favorable to recovery.

It is reported that Perry has a wife at Batavia, a daughter of James Lathe, whom he deserted.

Part of the Plunder Found.

Yesterday afternoon, when the man who represents himself as the father of Oliver Curtis Perry visited him at the county jail, the prisoner seemed very anxious regarding a hand satchel which he had left in some place in Syracuse and which his father promised to secure.

When Perry, senior, left for Syracuse last night he was followed by a detective, who traced him to the place where the satchel had been left. When he left the house the detective took it from him and brought it to Lyons this morning. When it was examined, among the contents was found the ear of a human being, which was preserved in alcohol and enclosed in a glass bottle, and two bands of gold battered from some of the jewelry stolen in the express robbery near Utica last September.

The sheriff showed the ear to Perry and asked him where he got it. He stated that he cut it from a colored man's head and intended to use it as an ornament on his mantel at home. Still he was very much excited over the affair and seems to think that he is playing in hard luck

An Affectionate Father.

Another suspicious occurrence took place at the same corridor door this evening after the prisoner returned from the Police Court. He was accompanied to the jail by his father, who was admitted.

The deputy-sheriff detected the prisoner pass a scrap of paper through the iron bars to his father. After the conversation had been finished Collins requested the elder Perry to step into the office, proceeded to search him and was rewarded by finding the scrap of paper, and on it was drawn an exact outline of the key which unlocks the corridor door.

Jerry Collins is of the opinion that the prisoner expected to have a key made by his father which would fit the lock and after opening the corridor door, to file the heavy steel bar which is on the outside and to which is attached a padlock out of reach from the inside. During the visit his father gave him some canned fruit and oranges. They were taken from him after his father's departure and will be examined for the purpose of ascertaining whether anything is concealed inside of them.

Persons connected with the jail seem to entertain the opinion that the man who represents himself as his father and who was so affectionately kissed by Perry after the hearing in Police Justice Carver's office today is not his father at all but an accomplice.

The more Perry's astounding crime, that unparalleled locomotive duel and the cross-country chase are discussed the greater becomes the wonder at Perry's astonishing nerve. The crime stands absolutely alone in the history of highway robbery in America. In all the wild and savage attacks on railway trains in the west there is nothing that compares with it for desperation on the part of the robber or for exciting incident in the robber's pursuit and capture.

Never before, probably, in the world was there such a duel fought as that between the two flying locomotives, the one manned by the desperate criminal and the other by the two railway employes, who were pursuing him. It was in a way like a running fight between two modern ironclads. The two engines backed and filled and passed and repassed each other and every time they passed each poured a volley into the other at such close range that the combatants could almost have clubbed each other with their weapons. The glass windows in the cabs of both engines were smashed in and the frame work around them was riddled with shots.

Oliver Curtis Perry is described as 26 years old, 5 feet 6 to 7 inches tall, of slight build, weighing about 130 pounds, with dark brown hair, brown eyes, high white forehead, with wrinkles between the eyes, giving his face a troubled, thoughtful expression; thin lips, rather long nose, slim white hands, with enlarged knuckles caused by hard work. He has a scar about three inches long upon the upper part of his forehead, which can be plainly seen when his hat is off. He also has a scar on his left arm and another on his right breast. At times he wears a small sandy mustache.

He is as unlike the desperado of yellow-covered literature as could be imagined. There is nothing ruffianly about his appearance or demeanor. He is gentlemanly and polite, and even a little effeminate. A nervous uneasy carriage is a noticeable characteristic.

Another thing, totally different from the ordinary desperado, remarkable in Perry is his voice. He speaks in tones that are almost girlish.

In dress he is neat and always tasteful. He is usually attired in dark clothes of fashionable cut and invariably wears gloves.

He was born in this state and began his criminal career, so far as the records show, when 14 years old. At that age he was arrested for burglary in Amsterdam, N.Y., and sent to the reformatory and afterwards to Rochester. After his release he went to Minnesota and signalized his advent there by robbing his uncle's store. For this offence he was sentenced to three years in the prison at Stillwater. While there he learned the trade of shoemaking, but as far as can be learned he never put that knowledge to any good use. Since then he traveled all over the country. While out west he tried his hand at the cowboy business. In Miles City, Mont., he received a pistol shot wound in the breast and was sent to the almshouse for treatment, He refuses to say how he was shot.

Notwithstanding his mild manners and feminine voice, Perry has a temper, and a hot one too. He demonstrated that fact when in the Montana alhouse by throwing a metal spittoon at another inmate and crushing the latter's skull. The man died the next day. Perry was tried and acquitted.

In addition to his accomplishments in the train-robbing line Perry has achieved some fame as a pseudo revivalist. He professes religion and ingratiates himself with ministers and church people generally. It is said that he has on several occasions shone as an exhorter. He has served as a freight and passenger brakeman on railroads, and it was while engaged thus that he acquired his knowledge of trains and learned how to handle a locomotive. During his railroad career he attended services at the church missions and frequented the free libraries for railroad men.

He has been variously known, while sneak thief, burglar, cow boy, brakeman and evangelist, as Oliver Curtis Perry, Haswell, Van Allen, Havens, Hamlin, Allen, Gavens, James, James Curtis, James Perry, James Curtis Perry and Oliver Moore.

RECIPROCITY WITH CANADA.

Deliverance by Gen. Foster on the Subject at New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—At the annual dinner of the New York Board of Trade and Transportation at Delmonico's last evening, Gen. J. W. Foster, the gentleman who, with Secretary Blaine, met the Canadian Reciprocity Commissioners at Washington recently and who has negotiated the reciprocity treaties with various nations under the McKinley Act, delivered an address.

Mr. Foster said Reciprocity is inseparably united to protection. It is impossible under the system of free trade. It is only when a country maintains a protective tariff that it is in a position to offer to other countries valuable concessions for specific products in return for exceptional favors for its own products. The country which breaks down the protective system and opens up its markets freely and without price to all nations is in no condition to secure exceptional favors from other countries.

The commercial reciprocity treaties recently negotiated between Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland and Belgium are based upon a recognition of this princ.ple, and they effectually dispose of the question of free trade on the continent of Europe for the next 12 years at least—the period of duration of those treaties.

We have entered upon a similar policy in this country and if consistently steadily adhered to and not broken down by our own partisan action it bids fair to give to this nation a predominating commercial influence on this hemisphere, which will redound greatly to our prosperity and our national pride.

But, it may be asked, if this be true why not extend it to our Canadian neighbors on the north?

The first answer is that with our tropical neighbors, whose products are so dissimilar to ours, reciprocity is a simple matter, but when we come to deal with a country having thousands of miles of coterminous territory and with like products and industries the question becomes more complex.

But this is not the insuperable difficulty. The fact that Canada does not possess the right of negotiating her own treaties, but must have them negotiated for her by a distant power, which is controlled by economic principles entirely different from those of both United States and Canada, constitutes the chief barrier to any arrangement So long as other interests than those of Canada are to control negotiations for commerical relations with such of our neighbors as recognize American (in its broadest sense) as paramount to European influence on this hemisphere, to all such countries we should open the doors of trade as wide and as freely as the interests of our own established industries will permit. Beyond that the spirit of genuine Americanism does not require nor permit us to go."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 —In the Senate to-day Mr. Sherman asked that the Committee on Foreign Relations, if not incompatible with public interests, inform the Senate of the proceedings recently had with the representatives of the Dominion of Canada and the British Government as to arrangements for reciprocal trade with Canada. Agreed to.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The State Department to-day issued a warrant for the Canadian Government for the extradition of Thomas Williamson wanted for forgery.

A Woman's Terrible Revenge.

LAREDO, Tex., Feb. 25.—Across the Mexican frontier, 40 miles from here, the neighborhood has been startled by the revenge of an old woman, Marguerite Pinzon. Several years ago six of her male descendants were slain in a family feud by the Morelos clan. Old Mrs. Pinzon decided upon revenge and a few days ago managed to get a decoction of the deadly loco weed in their food and turned four of the Morelos into raving madmen.

The Earth Rocked Like a Cradle.

HAMILTON, Mont., Feb. 25.—Great excitement has been caused here by the fall of a monster meteor, which drove itself 200 feet in the earth, but protrudes 100 feet in the air, and is still sputtering and sizzling furiously, emitting sulphurous gases that impregnate the air for miles around.

The startling heavenly visitor arrived early in the morning, leaving a lurid trail that lighted up the sky and stirred the dozing fowl untimely from the restful perch. But the horrid monster wrought death and worked havoc as it struck the earth on the ranch of Henry Chambers. It struck Chambers' cattle shed in which some 40 head of cows and two Chinamen were corralled, and so great was the circumference of the meteor that not an animal was left on earth, but, with the two Celestials all are buried beneath that awful monument of heated meteoric stone.

The earth rocked like a cradle for miles. Buildings were shaken from their foundations. The contents of pantries were demolished and sleeping inhabitants were thrown from their beds.

Great excitement exists all through the Bitter Root Valley, and hundreds of people are flocking to the scene, which is one of terrifying aspect and makes stout hearts quail.

Great globules of molten metal roll from the sides of the hissing, sputtering monster, and anon come appalling crashing sounds as its limits contract from the effects of exposure to the cold air. Fitful bolts of flame shoot high in the air from the summit and a great stream of liquid lava has plowed its way from the base down the hillside and loses itself in the basin of the extinct lake, in which was recently found a petrified sea serpent 60 feet in length and only a few miles distant from the great cave in the mountains in which were found the band of hibernating Indians, the last of the cliff dwellers.

A YORKSHIRE CALAMITY

A SCORE OF FEMALE OPERATIVES KILLED.

A Massive Chimney Sixty Yards High Crashes Upon a Roof of a Factory Killing and Wounding the Employes—Fire Adds Its Horrors to the Affair—Many Bodies Recovered.

LEEDS, Feb. 25.—The manufacturing town of Cleckheaton, in the West riding of Yorkshire, eight miles from Leeds, was yesterday the scene of a frightful accident, resulting in the loss of a number of lives.

A massive chimney 60 yards high at Marsh Mills' machinery and flannel factory in that place collapsed and fell on the roof of the factory just as a number of young women operatives were leaving work.

The fall of the chimney converted the wing of the factory on which it crashed into a heap of debris made up of fragments of masonry and the shattered remnants of machinery.

Fire Adds its Horrors.

The piteous cries of those caught in the ruins could be heard, and the horror of the scene was soon augmented by the breaking out of fire, in which numbers of the imprisoned victims were more or less burned.

A force of workmen and the fire brigade of the town speedily got to work to move the tons of debris.

The number already extricated includes eight killed, all women, and many injured by having limbs crushed.

Twelve of those who were in the building at the time of the disaster are still missing.

"Steeple Jacks," who have been occupied for a week past in repairing the chimney, found it was collapsing and made their escape.

The factory manager states that an expert examined the foundation of the chimney at 3 p.m. and declared it to be in a safe condition.

It is reported that the cause of the disaster was the removal of a number of defective bricks for the purpose of making repairs, which caused the structure to thus become unduly weakened.

A girl who was rescued from the garret was found with her head jammed between two beams. She gives a horrifying account of the spectacle presented by the ruins beneath her.

Five women are still missing.

The Death List Growing.

LEEDS, Feb. 25.—At 3 o'clock yesterday 12 bodies have been extricated from the ruins. Two of the wounded persons have succumbed to their injuries and another is in a dying condition.

Fifteen Men Entombed.

LISBON, Feb. 25.—An explosion occurred in a quarry pit near the royal palace of Ajuda.

Fifteen men are known to be entombed in the pit and all may have been killed.

The Cannes Sensation.

CANNES, Feb. 25.—At the inquiry in the Deacon shooting case, M. Baumann, the secretary of the Hotel Splendide, who was with Mr. Deacon when he burst in the locked door of Mrs. Deacon's room, testified that when he and Deacon entered the room Mrs. Deacon was undressed.

Mrs. Deacon's maid was also examined. She corroborated the testimony of M. Baumann, that Mrs. Deacon was undressed while Abeille was in her room.

Woman's Work Sometimes Done.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—In the House of Commons yesterday the bill amending the shop hours regulation bill, so as to include women, passed its second reading by a vote of 172 to 152.

A workshop as defined in the bill includes saloon, restaurants and drapershops and limits women's work to 74 hours weekly, including meal times. At present there is no law regulating the hours women shall be employed in shops.

Absconder Franck's Accomplice Sentenced.

BERLIN, Feb. 25.—Herr Schwieger, a stock broker of this city, who was convicted of being an accomplice of Herr Franck, the absconding bookkeeper of the Deutsche Bank, who is accused of having defrauded that institution out of 3,000,000 marks, was to-day sentenced to four years' imprisonment.

Her Case in the Commons.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—In the House of Commons Mr. Patrick O'Brien asked why Mrs. Robert Montagu had not been arrested until a week after the charge had been made against her. The Home Secretary replied that the arrest was perfectly regular. He declared that it was untrue that Mrs. Robert Montagu, in order to avoid trial, had attempted to leave the country.

One Deaf Mute Kills Another.

LIVERPOOL, Feb. 25.—Two deaf mutes named R. G. Bennett and R. I Thompson, employed as firemen aboard the steamship City of New York, now in the Birkenhead dock, became involved in a quarrel to-day, in the course of which Bennett inflicted mortal wounds on the head of Thompson.

Begged Not to Fire Upon the People.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 25.—The drawing of the numbers for service in the army began yesterday, and last night anarchistic bills were posted all over the town, calling upon the conscripts to desert, or, if they remained in the army, to fire into the air when they were ordered to attack the people.

THE DAILY ONTARIO
BELLEVILLE FEBRUARY 25, 1892

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The London Free Press seems to be conducting a campaign of slander and falsehood. It keeps the Advertiser pretty busy publishing affidavits and other forms of denial of the false statements made by its contemporary.

Praise from an enemy is praise indeed. In the debate on the budget at Toronto H. E. Clarke, M. P. P., for Toronto, a tory of the tories, said that he believed the affairs of the Province were in a flourishing condition and he repeatedly declared that he could not lay his his finger on one item of expenditure that could be reduced. Mr. Whitney, of Dundas, also complimented the treasurer very highly on his speech and statement of our financial condition.

The Opera House was put up for sale yesterday and was bid in at $7,000, no offers being made equalling that amount. This shows the way in which the N. P. has benefitted the people of Belleville. This property cost $20,000, and now, so much has the value of property depreciated, no one could be be found to offer even $7,000 for it. What a record the N. P. has in this city to be sure—nearly every manufacturing industry stifled, property depreciated by fifty per cent, hundreds of our best young men driven to the States, and stagnation of business in all branches of trade. Surely is ever a city had reason to deplore the tory policy of restriction Belleville has.

The tories are feeling pretty good these days over the results of the elections, and if success in electing their candidates gives cause for rejoicing they have good reason to rejoice. But honest men can find little ground for jubilation in success attained by ignoble means, and the fact that the tory party, even the respectable members thereof, are so pleased with victories won by the use of every unfair and disreputable means that can be imagined, shows the depths of moral depravity to which they have sunk. As well may the highwayman rejoice in his success in waylaying his victim and stealing his purse. As well may the thug shout in ecstacy when he sneaks up behind his victim and stabs him in the back. As well may the courtesan glory in her shame as she walks the streets flouting her disgrace in the face of every passer-by. All these have attained success, as have the tory candidates, and by equally reputable means. Force, fraud, unfair advantage and the prostitution of the sacred trust imposed on the government for dishonest party advantages. are the means by which the party has succeeded. Instead of rejoicing in their success they should mourn in sackcloth and ashes over the utter political depravity that characterizes the party as an organization.

DUNN IS DEAD.

He Had a Remarkable Career as a Criminal and Missionary.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Michael Dunn, 66 years old, died yesterday in the Home of Industry, which he founded, at Hoyt and Livingston-streets, Brooklyn.

Dunn, who had lived a criminal life for 35 years, was converted in Jerry McAuley's mission several years ago. Since then he had devoted himself to reforming criminals.

He founded the Home of Industry for the reformation and employment of ex-convicts in Brooklyn a few months ago.

Dunn was born on Sept. 15, 1826, of "ungodly parents," as he himself phrased it, in Manchester, Eng.

He was taught to steal, and before he was 12 years old he had served five terms in prison. He was imprisoned after that in Van Diemen's Land, the British penal colony; in the Old Bailey, London; in Manchester, in Western Australia, in Gibraltar, in Philadelphia, in Montreal, Boston and in Sing Sing. He had been a sailor, a counterfeiter, a garroter and a seaman in the navy. He once escaped from Blackwell's Island by swimming to the Long Island shore.

It was upon being released from Sing Sing that he became converted. He established a Home of Industry for convicts in Water-street and traveled all over the United States as a convict.

READY FOR MAY-DAY.

THE PARIS ANARCHISTS STEAL SOME DYNAMITE

Wherewith to Convince People That They Are Right—The Police Recover a Lot of Explosives—An Anarchist Conspiracy That May Make Trouble on May-Day

PARIS, Feb. 25.—The theft of dynamite from the state factory has had the effect of waking the police up to the fact that Anarchists are making early preparations for May Day.

The domiciliary visits which begun yesterday in virtue of an order issued by a magistrate were continued to-day.

The police place some confidence in the report that the Anarchists intended to attempt to blow up the Spanish embassy in Paris, and they have consequently placed a close guard about that building.

ROUVIER'S CABINET.

The Former Minister to Become Premier of France.

PARIS, Feb. 25.—The selection of M. Rouvier by President Carnot to form a ministry has afforded great satisfaction to the party of the right, because when he held the office of Premier in 1887 he advocated an entente with that party and opposed the Radicals' support of Boulanger.

Before accepting the task entrusted to him by the President, M. Rouvier stipulated that he should be permitted to dissolve the chambers and have a fresh election if he deemed it desirable.

The Probable Cabinet.

M. BURDEAU, Minister of Public Instruction and the Fine Arts.
M. RAYNAL, Minister of Marine.
FELIX FAURE, Minister of Public Works.
M. LOUBET, Minister of Justice.
M. CONSTANS, Minister of Interior.
M. DE FREYCINET, Minister of War.
M. ROUVIER, Minister of Finance.
M. RIBOT, Minister of Foreign Affairs.
JULES ROCHE, Minister of Commerce.
M. DE VELLE, Minister of Agriculture.

The rejection by M. Rouvier of M. Bourgeois, Minister of Public Instruction in the last Cabinet, is significant as showing that the Premier does not intend to count upon the support of the Radicals.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

A Lull in the Storm of Legislative Discussion.

TORONTO, Feb. 25.—Yesterday afternoon's session of the Local House was short and uninteresting.

Mr. Barr moved for returns showing the number of persons confined in the different jails of the province as indigent persons, unable to support themselves, and the length of time each person has been confined. He also wishes to ascertain at the same time the number of insane persons confined in the jails of the province, the length of time each person has been confined and the reason for being so confined. In support of the above a short speech was made, in which he characterized the principle of commiting respectable persons to jails owing to enfeeblement, being unable to sustain themselves properly, as manifestly unfair and tainted by a spirit of mediævalism. Responding Mr. Mowat remarked that everything possible had been done for the ample protection of the aged and infirm in the various communities, but owing to the large numbers accommodation had in some instances run short. He had, however, no objection to making the returns asked for

CUT HIS THROAT.

A Despondent Young Man Suicides in Toronto.

TORONTO, Feb. 25.—Charles Hebden, boarding at No. 42 Dundas-street, suicided early yesterday morning by cutting his throat. He had been despondent for several days. The young man retired to his room about 10 o'clock. Shortly after 1 his roommate heard a heavy fall. On investigating he was horrified to find Hipton lying on the floor with blood flowing profusely from a terrible gash in his throat, that had been evidently inflicted by Hipton with a razor that was picked up near the body. Hipton died in a few minutes. Coroner Lynd was notified and an inquest will be held to inquire into the circumstances

HAS TWO WIVES.

Married the Second One at the Point of a Pistol.

ROCHESTER, Feb. 25.—The case of John Bishop, charged with bigamy, who was to have been examined in the Police Court yesterday, was further adjourned till to-morrow morning. It is probable that he will waive examination, as he does not deny having a wife living in Canada at the time he married his present wife in Rochester, but says he was compelled at the point of a revolver to marry the latter. Bishop is about 30 years of age. It is stated his first wife will come to Rochester to testify against him.

Keep the Works in good order.

NORMAN, Ont., January 1st

W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first, only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

TWO ANECDOTES OF SPURGEON.

He Could Not Preach With His Wife Looking at Him.

Among the cloud of apocryphal anecdotes concerning Mr. Spurgeon, let me record two for which I can personally vouch. At the Surrey Gardens Music Hall, if I mistake not, in the year 1856, where I heard Thackeray's four lectures on the Georges, and where Spurgeon preached regularly before the Tabernacle was built, there were French windows opening out into the grounds. The place was crammed one hot Sunday morning, and these windows were many of them left open, so that a fringe of the congregation was standing half in and half out of the great building.

New comers gradually edged some of the others onto the floor, some of whom remained covered, as they were justified in doing so long, and no longer, as their standing ground was in the gardens. These unfortunates Mr. Spurgeon spoke at thus from the pulpit before beginning his sermon, in an easy, friendly manner, but in those magnificent tones which vibrated through the building: "I regret to see that there are some present who are so unaccustomed to attend public worship that they have quite forgotten it is the practice to take off their hats." This I heard, and shall never forget its effect, in the immediate doffing of male head-gear, and in a sort of smothered hum of amused approval from the crowd.

Another personal experience of Mr. Spurgeon was at the Crystal Palace, where he preached to 25,000 people. Seated near to the pulpit, I observed Mrs. Spurgeon take her place just before her husband appeared, and that she was visibly affected by the mighty concourse of souls, all with upturned faces and fixed gaze upon one man, and all about to be thrilled to the core by that man's impassioned appeals to them to be saved alive.

While Mrs. Spurgeon was concealing her emotion as best she might—in other words, dealing futively and shly with her pocket-handkerchief—I saw the pastor beckon faroff with his forefinger to one of the deacon's, a stout and solemn gray-haired man, of rubicund complexion, and with a defect in one eye, which I remember made me speculate whether it was natural or acquired. He was in the very glossy black which was the orthodox Dissenting uniform in those far-off days, and walked with a limp which made his progress up the pulpit, or rather platform, stairs tantalizing slow.

Some brief, but evidently important instruction was at last whispered by Mr. Spurgeon in the lame man's ear, and 25,000 people were at once agog with curiosity to know what this sould possibly be at such a time when the whole vast place was quivering with anticipation and suppressed emotional excitement. I happened to be seated so near to Mrs. Spurgeon that when the worthy deacon "made for her" in his crab-like, ponderous way, it was unavoidable that I, at least, out of that vast and silent crowd of expectants, should hear what had delayed the pastor, and what the urgent matter was he had, at such a critical moment, to communicate.

In a hoarse, fleshy whisper I heard this: "Mr. Spurgeon says" (could I help listening?—the interlude was serious, and even dramatic, and my ears craned that way whether I would or not)—"Mr. Spurgeon says, please will you change your seat, so that he will not be able to see you; it" ("it" was doubtless Mrs. Spurgeon's obvious emotion) "makes him nervous"; and the lady moved immediately to another seat not visible from the preacher.—Edmond Yates, in London World.

The Color of the Eye.

The color of the iris is not uniform in any eye. Some eyes have spots, others stripes, still other blotches of white, green, blue, yellow and black, and the eye takes its color from the predominance of one hue. An eye that is considered gray will often be composed of black and yellow. An eye that is thought to be brown will be very dark red, with spots of yellow or blue.

A Carat of Gold.

Twenty-four carat gold is all gold; 22-carat gold has 22 parts of gold, 1 of silver and 1 of copper; 18-carat gold has 18 parts of gold, and 3 each of silver and copper; 12-carat gold is half gold and has 3½ parts of silver and 8½ of copper. Its specific gravity is about 15; pure gold is 19.

White Tar.

White tar is one of the latest inventions or discoveries. It will not become soft under the sun's rays in any climate, and is expected to be used largely in calking the deck seams of fine yachts.

A Bit of Nautical Lore.

Do you know what a "pea-pod" is, in marine parlance? It is a boat much in demand among the Maine lobster fishermen, being alike at both ends and about fourteen feet long on top, built of cedar with oak timbers.

Beating the Butchers.

There is a man at Catasauqua who roasts cats and eats them; not because he wants to rid the town of the cats, but because they are good eating, and, when steak is 20 cents a pound, cheap, too.—Allentown (Pa.) Critic.

Ate a Babe's Flesh.

ATLANTA, Feb. 25.—News of a horrible murder and cannibalism near Ray's Mill has been received. Lucy President, a degraded and idiotic negro woman, left her home and 9-months-old infant in charg of her two older children, Mark and Linda, aged respectively 9 and 11 years.

Securing an ax, Mark deliberately knocked the babe in the head and mangled its body in different places. Not content with the crime he had already committed, he took a fork and gouged out the eyes of the little one, which he roasted, and then taking a slice out of either jaw he and his sister sat themselves down to a feast.

CHARGED WITH ASSAULT.

W. J. TURLEY OF TRENTON UP FOR A SERIOUS OFFENCE.

Emma Demill was not Able to Make out her Case However, and the Defendant Will not be Severely Dealt With.

Before Magistrate Flint, at the police court to-day, W. J. Turley, of Trenton, was charged with committing an alleged indecent assault on Emma Demill, of Murray Township, on Wednesday, Feb. 17. The plaintiff in the suit is not unprepossessing, and did not seem to feel her position very keenly. She gave her age as sixteen although she looks at least twenty-one. The court room was filled with the usual crowd of spectators in such actions. Hurley was defended by C. D. Macaulay, and the plaintiff by J. Williams of Clute & Williams.

The defendant, who is a married man, pleaded not guilty and the preliminary hearing was proceeded with.

The plaintiff was the first witness called and testified that she lived in Murray township with her parents some six miles from Frankford. For the last six months she has been engaged as a dressmaker at Mrs. Huyck's in Frankford. For a week previous to the 17th she had been visiting her people. On Wednesday last Stanley Huyck drove to the place and said that her mother wanted her to help with some children's clothing. The girl's father and sister were present at the time and she consented to go. When they got as far as Stockdale Huyck turned in the direction of Trenton. The witness said she did not want to go to Trenton when Huyck said he was only going down the road a little way for a piece of paper when he would take the girl to Frankford. He did not go to the house, however, but drove on to Trenton, where they arrived at the St. Lawrence Hall about noon. On the way Huyck told plaintiff that the story about his mother was a hoax. They had dinner at the hotel after which they went for a walk. On their return they met W. J. Turley. Witness said she had never seen him before but afterwards confessed that she had met him at the hotel before dinner. (Here the witness could not restrain her laughter as she glanced at the defendent who returned the compliment). Turley asked her to go for a drive when Huyck urged her to accept the offer. He said he would wait for me at the hotel. Witness got into the rig with defendant and drove to the Carrying Place. She offered no objection to the route taken although Hurley told her that they were going to the Murray Canal. At a hotel in the Carrying Place wine was sent to their room, although witness denied that any improper relations had existed between them up to this time. Witness said she asked Mr. Hurley to take her to Trenton, but instead drove her to the Proctor House in Brighton. Here Hurley told the hotel people that the plaintiff was his wife The witness while smiling at the prisoner, said she became afraid of him after leaving the Carrying Place. Hurley agreed to take her to Trenton after supper. "Wine and other things" as the witness put it, was served them in the sitting room, but in the next breath she denied having anything to drink at this hotel. They remained in Brighton over half an hour when she was driven some place she did not know where, but was told that it was Belleville. They put up at a hotel and repaired to the sitting room. In a few minutes some one showed the witness a room where she was followed a few minutes later by the defendant. Witness said she spoke about going to Trenton when Hurley told her that she was not going but had to stay with him.

It is not necessary to go furthur into details, which were unfit for publication, suffice to say that the witness did not make any outcry but remained in the room until six o'clock next morning. She said that violence was used towards her. In the morning she saw a sign across the street which read "Huyck, tailoring and millinery." After breakfast she was driven to Brighton station where Turley gave her money enough to get to Trenton on the train which place she reached at noon. At Trenton she met Stanley Huyck and he told her not to tell his people. She also saw Turley at Trenton where she spoke to him. In the afternoon she took the train for Frankford from which place she walked to Stockdale and went to her half-brother's house, (Wood) where she found her mother had been making enquiries about her. When pressed for an explanation she confessed the above facts which led to a warrant being issued for Turley's arrest. The father of the girl drove to Belleville yesterday and got Magistrate Flint to sign the warrant. It was placed in Constable Garratt's hands but he was unable to find his man either at Trenton or Frankford. He was told that he had gone to Coe Hill. Turley was subsequently arrested in the afternoon at the Windsor Hotel in Belleville by Constable John Haight, of Sidney, and locked up. He was afterwards released on bail to appear for trial this morning.

The Magistrate found the prisoner guilty of common assault and will fix the penalty to-morrow.

BURIED ALIVE.

Strange Power of Indians to Simulate Death

The power of the fakirs, or faqueers, of India and Persia of simulating death are marvellous and almost incredible. Several sects in these countries regard the art of apparent death as a part of their religious ritual, and practice assiduously. In their ancient books it is described as puranayam or stopping the breath. Many cases in which these Indian fakirs have allowed themselves to be buried alive for long periods have been verified by British officials in India, and attested by evidence which dispels all doubt of their truth.

This impersonation of death continues for as long as six, and even ten months. The way the fakirs go to work to produce this condition is to have the little ligature under the tongue cut, whereby they are enabled to stretch this organ out to a great length. Then they turn it back, inserting the end in the throat, and closing up at the same time the inner nasal apertures. The external apertures of the nose and ears are closed with wax and the eyes covered to exclude the light.

Long preliminary practice is, however, needed in holding the breath, and a long course of fasting before burial. The fakir then sinks into a condition resembling death and the body is wrapped in linen, placed in a box and buried. When the box is taken up at the expiration of the long-continued, death-like sleep, and opened, the fakir is found cold and stiff; no pulsation can be felt; the heart, the wrists, the temples are stiff; the body is not cold as a corpse would be, but is colder than that of other living men, except over the seat of the brain. All the secretions are fully stopped; the nails, hair, and beard have ceased growth. After being resuscitated the fakir feels great dizziness, and for a few hours cannot stand up without support, but gradually he recovers strength and enjoys amazingly the wonder he has excited.

The ill condition of a single organ, the liver for instance, may bring on the gravest disorders, which would have been obviated by the use of Dr. Sey's Remedy.

HOW IT WAS DONE.

DR PLATT TELLS HOW HIS DEFEAT WAS ACCOMPLISHED

And Urges the Liberals to Renewed Effort —They Must Look After the Voters' List.—Some Sound Advice of More Than Local Application.

Dr. Platt has addressed the following open letter to the electors of Prince Edward. It tells how his defeat was accomplished and has the ring of future triumph in it:—

Accept a thousand thanks for your untiring efforts to secure my election on the 4th inst.; and allow me so far as I am commissioned, to convey to you the thanks of the leaders of Liberalism in Canada, for your manifest zeal and earnest labors in the cause of honest administration and sound trade policy.

For the sake of you who fought as well as for those who anxiously watched the contest from afar; for the sake of despairing thousands at home as well as for the thousands of exiles abroad; for the sake of our country's honor and the people's good I would that I could rejoice with you in victory rather than share with you the sorrows of defeat.

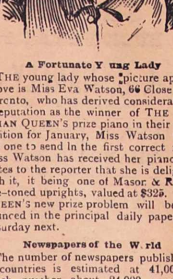
But let no time be lost in bemoaning that defeat. One hour spent in preparing for success in the future is worth a year's whining over failures in the past. Determination, not despair, is the spirit which should animate every man who desires to rescue his country from the toils of the plunderer and free himself and his fellows from the burdensome taxation.

All things considered, we undertook a well-nigh hopeless task. The bonds of party are strong as ever; the "cohesive power of public plunder" is undiminished; the corrupt and corrupting influences which have so long and so well served our adversaries, are as potent as ever; the government felt that the loss of a few of their servile followers would cost them their political lives and revenues; the C. P. R., has one eye upon past favors and the other upon prospective benefits; the manufacturers, who dare not face competition, are as anxious as ever to tax their countrymen for private gain while the whole gang of cormorant contractors are bound to bask in the sunshine of Tory government as long as possible.

But by far the greatest discouragement which confronted us, and that which proved our fatal weakness, was the condition of the voters' lists. Notwithstanding all the opposing influences I have mentioned, we lost the election last summer. It was then our opponents packed the jury. It was then we should have put forth our every exertion and we put forth but few. It was then that scores of good Liberals fell before the missles of fraud and perjury and were replaced by Tories of the most ignorant and slavish type. It was then, I say, that we should have stood up against the operations of an infernal law and its unscrupulous operators. In North Marysburgh, and Athol and Hillier some good work was done and the vote shows it. In Picton and Ameliasburgh, making the usual discount for bribery and intimidation the vote was as good for us as the lists would warrant us in expecting. My conviction is that scarcely a Liberal in the county voted against us, but on the contrary I was honored by many honest Conservative votes. Take the county through, we were beaten badly in the preliminary revision and the final revision was so managed and manipulated as to destroy our apparent gains even there.

Is it any wonder that we suffered defeat? Given a fair list, we could have put to flight or buried in shame the gang of boodlers that infested our county, and we could have done what has not yet been done, so far as I can recollect, we could have defeated a government supporter at a bye-election after he had been unseated in the court.

Well, my friends, what shall we do? Shall we lie down under the wheels of the Cumberland and Corby's "coach and four"? or shall we arouse and rise to the occasion? We once turned a tory majority of 290 into a minority in three years and we can do it again. The magnificient battle you fought against such tremendous odds shows what you are capable of doing and if one tenth of the work of the last month were thrown into the revision courts, the victory would be ours. Let me ask you to prepare for that work now. Organize and re-organize everywhere. Let a score of young men in every township join hands and determine to purge the lists of fraud and add thereto the names of our friends. I do not ask you to employ an army of vagrants or resort to the crime of perjury. Leave that to our opponents. Work as you did at the election, honestly, fairly, vigorously, and the near future will crown your efforts with certain success.



A Fortunate Young Lady

THE young lady whose picture appears above is Miss Eva Watson, 66 Close Ave., Toronto, who has derived considerable of a reputation as the winner of THE CANADIAN QUEEN'S prize piano in their competition for January, Miss Watson being the one to send in the first correct reply. Miss Watson has received her piano and states to the reporter that she is delighted with it, it being one of Mason & Risch's fine-toned uprights, valued at $325. THE QUEEN'S new prize problem will be announced in the principal daily papers on Saturday next.

Newspapers of the World

The number of newspapers published in all countries is estimated at 41,000, of which number about 24,000 appear in Europe. Germany leads the European lists with 5,000, then comes France with 4,100, England with 4,000, Austria-Hungary with 3,500, Italy with 1,400, Spain with 950, Russia with 800, Switzerland with 450, Belgium and Holland with 300 each, and the rest are published in Portugal, the Scandinavian and the Balkan countries. The United States has 13,000 newspapers. Canada has 700 and Australia also has 700. The people of the United States therefore read and support about as many newspapers as England France, Germany and Russia combined.—Paper.

THE SPEECH FROM THE THRONE

The Meagre Bill of Fare the Government will Submit.

The speech from the throne to be read at the opening of the House to-day will commence with references to the death of the Duke of Clarence and to the expressions of sympathy for the royal family received from all parts of the Dominion. A paragraph is devoted to the bountiful harvest. Referring to the several royal commissions appointed since last session to investigate the civil service, the charges against Commissioner Herchmer and other matters, the speech promises reports will be submitted shortly. Another paragraph deals with the consolidation of the criminal laws since last session which Parliament will be asked to approve, and referring to the Behring Sea arbitration the hope is expressed that the whole dispute will soon be satisfactorily adjusted. With reference to the visit of the three Cabinet Ministers to Washington the speech expresses the hope that outstanding difficulties respecting the Alaska boundary, reciprocity in wrecking and international fisheries will shortly be settled. No information is vouchsafed as to trade matters. Measures are promised providing for a redistribution of seats in the House of Commons, the amalgamation of the Marine and Fisheries Departments and to define the boundaries of the territories.

WEDDING BELLS

Barrett—Graham

On Tuesday morning February, 23rd '92 at St Michaels church, a very pleasing event took place, it being the marriage of Mr. James Barrett of this city, the energetic and popular son of Mr. James Barrett of New York city to Miss Ella Graham one of Belleville's most accomplished and popular young ladies, daughter of Ald. Graham.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father O'Brien immediately after 8 o'clock mass, before a large assembly of friends. The bride looked the pink of perfection dressed in her neat travelling suit. Mr. Henry Johnston, and Miss Margaret Graham, cousin of the bride did the honors as groomsman and bridesmaid. After the ceremony the newly married couple accompanied by a few friends drove to the residence of the bride's parents where a sumptuous breakfast was prepared and partaken of. The presents to the bride were many, and some quite costly, whilst Mr Barrett was honored by the gift of a very valuable gold watch and chain. At noon Mr. and Mrs. Barrett took the train for their future home in New York followed by the well wishes of a host of friends in this their native city com.

There Was a Day

How hard it must have been (many years back) when in order to get a suit of clothes or a pair of pants it was necessary to go to a tailor, pay him a fancy price, and then probably not get a proper fit. The Oak Hall clothing house has been your friend in this respect. They are the old pioneer clothiers who have always paid one hundred cents on the dollar, and have enabled you to save a great many of hard earned dollars, and are able now to give you as perfect a fit as any tailor, and give you the lowest prices of any firm in Canada.

The Next Gerrymander

One of the measures to be considered by parliament at the coming session will be a redistribution bill necessitated by the results of the recent census. If the measure follows the statistics closely New Brunswick will loose two seats and Nova Scotia and Prince Edward island one each, while Manitoba will gain two, but it is believed that some endeavor will be, as well, made to give the cities the extra representation to which their population entitles them. In that case a wholesale gerrymander may be looked for.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA.

The Arion Club concert which is to take place here, Tuesday evening March 1st in the Queens opera house promises to be a great success. We have seen the program every number of which being especially well selected. Among others pieces we have observed one "Thou art my Queen" by Mr. F. T. Chambers in which this gentleman particularly excels. Miss Dunn is a reader of no ordinary talent and we shall be pleased to hear her in such selections as "When the folks are gone" and the "Gipsy flower girl."

Manager Powers has arranged for the great New York success, "Master and Man," which will be produced in its entirety at the Queen's on March second. The great cast, the special scenery, and wonderful mechanical effects all will be brought here by special car. This company is now playing at Toronto Opera House to the largest business of the season.

WALL PAPER,

CAN IT BE POSSIBLE!!!

After all the advertising we have done, that there is a single individual in this county who is able to read who does not know that Scantlebury handles and sells wall paper the year round.

Of course there are seasons with us that are busier than others as in all lines of trade but a house handling wall paper as we do and employing an expert as we do the year round must of necessity sell goods every business day of the year

Now our wall paper trade is as separate from our other business as if it were 3 blocks away instead of under the same roof. We have a man devoting his time entirely to this department, constantly studying new effects in colorings and designs, always ready with suggestions to help those who have had but a limited experience in wall paper buying.

Our spring trade is heavier than at any other season of the year, but you never hear us grumbling at the Summer, Fall or even Winter wall paper sales, we could not do so reasonably, if we did we would be ungrateful

The people come to our wareroom and are surprised at the stock of paper in sight and when we tell them we have, by actual count 729 pigeon holes each containing 50 rolls of paper and no two kinds alike, by a little figuring you will find 36,450 Rolls of paper exclusive of our reserve, which will foot up to a total for this season of nearly 50,000 rolls of wall paper.

We have also 624 smaller pigeon holes for borders containing an average of at least 5 rolls making a total of 3,120 and with our reserve nearly 3,500 Rolls of border.

We make bold to say we believe there is no house in Toronto with the same pretentions as we have, that carries a like stock to choose from, and as a matter of fact the wholesalers tell us so.

In summing up the benefits accruing to our patrons in the wall paper line we present the following:—

1—New goods every makers make
2—The latest accessories known to the trade for showing wall papers
3—Obliging and expert salesman, a practical decorator.
4—Facilities for delivering goods promply
5—Constant communication with New York and other leading art centres
6—800 different kinds of paper to choose from.
7—Illustrative and descriptive articles upon room decorations by leading artists to show you.
8—A firm devoted to their business,
9—The best appointed wall paper wareroom in Ontario outside of Toronto
10—A desire to please everybody, a continued interest in the selections you have made long after we have sold them to you, a willingness to do anything within reason to hold the good will of our customers.

Does this interest you?

NOTE:—Owing to the growth of our wall paper trade we are unable to handle satisfactorily the window shade branch of our business and have dropped the line entirely.

A friend of ours fell down stairs the other day and doubled himself up pretty badly, all of which brought a scolding from his wife. In reply he wanted to know if a fellow couldn't go down stairs any way he pleased without having a lot of chin music to accompany him. ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

A Lengthy Debate on the Proposed Incorporation of Land Surveyors.

TORONTO, Feb. 26.—Quite an animated debate took place yesterday in the Local Legislature on Mr. Hardy's moving the second reading of a bill to incorporate the Association of Ontario Land Surveyors and to amend the act respecting land surveyors and the survey of lands. In support of the resolution the presentor made a short speech, during the progress of which he outlined minutely the provisions of the legislation submitted.

The bill finally passed its second reading.

Mr. Hardy presented a bill to consolidate the acts respecting municipal institutions. Discussion was deferred until Tuesday next.

The House went into Committee of Supply and passed estimates in connection with several of the departments. The proposed salary of the new Provincial Inspector of Licenses was a great bone of contention. The salary of the preceding incumbent of the office was $1400, while the new man is to get $1750.

His Eye Destroyed.

BANCROFT, Ont., Feb. 26.—Ira Farrell was employed in blasting for what he supposed to be a gold deposit in the township of Dungannon, when in tampering with the charge it exploded, destroying one eye completely and injuring the other so much that its preservation is doubtful.

The Curtis Trial.

German Railway Wreck.

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—Near Molbrowa on the railway between Kiel and Sasnowitz a passenger train ran into the rear of a train conveying a number of soldiers, and a number of the carriages were smashed to pieces.

Three soldiers' bodies have been taken from the wreck and 10 others were injured.

Death Follows Liberty.

KAMLOOPS, B.C., Feb. 26.—A half-breed Indian named William Boyd, just released from confinement, was drowned on the following day. Jailer Sinclair investigated the circumstances and found that he was on his way home with two companions, from whom he separated, taking a course that led across the ice on the river. They heard him shout for help, but before they could reach him it was too late for his rescue.

The Earl of Aberdeen's Ranch.

DONALD, B.C., Feb. 26.—Over 16,000 small fruit plants, shrubs and canes will be set out between the fruit trees on the Earl of Aberdeen's estate at the Mission, B.C., in the spring. The plans for the jam and canning factory are being prepared by an English architect. The factory will probably be located at Vernon, as a large quantity of fruit is certain to be cultivated in the Spallumcheheen Valley.

Living Questions
are most esteemed by every intelligent man and woman. Derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels speedily present to us the question of obtaining relief. It is at once found in Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, which cures sick headache, bilious headache, constipation, indigestion, bilious attacks, etc. Purely vegetable and perfectly harmless, they are unequalled as a specific for the complaints named. One tiny sugar-coated Pellet a dose. In vials 25 cents. Carry them in your vest-pocket

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE FORMAL ADDRESS OF THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL.

The Bill of Fare For the Session—The Reciprocity Negotiations — Why the Ministers Went to Washington—Redistribution of Seats—The Seal Fisheries.

OTTAWA, Feb. 26.—Yes, said Col. Tyrwhitt to Dr. Landerkin as the western contingent drove up from the Pullman car to the Russell in the early morning, "It is a beautiful day. Mr. Abbott chose a very good day." Whereat everybody laughed.

The weather of the morning, "frosty yet kindly," continued through the day and the consequence was there was a grand turning out of the lieges to see His Excellency open Parliament.

Ottawa people seem never to weary of the annual pageant. They look forward to it with all the eagerness of a girl for her first proposal, and when the occasion at length comes it finds her flushed, trembling, but radiant.

This is a day when the Senate after months of neglect comes to the front with a rush in the people's affections. The plebeian Commons was treated with contumely to-day, while the doors of the Senate were besieged by a wriggling, pushing, squeezing multitude, all armed with tickets of admission to the various galleries. And when they got there they had presented to their gaze a sort of daylight nocturne, if the paradox may be permitted—a study in lady's loveliness.

The atmosphere of the chamber was decidedly hot, but the whispering, fluttering crowd in the gallery endured the temperature with unfaltering fortitude until His Excellency arrived, his coming foreshadowed for 15 minutes previously by the booming of cannon from Nepean Point.

Then began the mystic work of that wonderful personage, the Usher of the Black Rod (not the Rusher of the Black Hod, as some irreverent western heathen called him).

After a series of bows and genuflexions timed by heart beats, the busy and bald little gentleman departed for the other chamber to inform the Commoners that His Excellency dsired to see them.

He was not long in returning with Speaker White in his train and the unbridled hosts of the people's representatives.

When the Speaker had rested his front against the brazen bar, looking as if he desired to enter a plea of not guilty, His Excellency communicated the following facts to him and such others as might be interested in the matter:

HONORABLE GENTLEMEN OF THE SENATE, GENTLEMEN OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS,—It affords me much gratification to meet you at the commencement of the Parliamentary session and to be able to congratulate you upon the general prosperity of the Dominion and upon the abundant harvest with which Providence has blessed all parts of the country.

The lamented death of His Royal Highness the Duke of Clarence aroused a feeling of profound sorrow. The sympathy with Her Majesty and their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales in their bereavement which has prevailed in the Dominion on this melancholy occasion has found expression in respectful messages of condolence from my Ministers, from the Provincial Governments and from many other representative bodies.

The negotiations with respect to seal fishing in Behring Sea have been continued with a view to the adjustment by arbitration of the difficulties which have arisen between Her Majesty's Government and that of the United States on that subject. Commissioners have been appointed by both Governments to investigate the circumstances of seal life in Behring Sea, to report thereon, and to suggest the measures, if any, which they may deem necessary for its proper protection and preservation. The commissioners are proceeding with their deliberations in Washington, and the results will shortly be communicated to Her Majesty's Government. I trust that their investigations, and the determination of the arbitrators who are to be appointed, may lead to a just and equitable settlement of this long-pending difficulty.

The meeting which had been arranged with the United States Government for a day in October last for an informal discussion on the extension of trade between the two countries and on other international matters requiring adjustment was postponed at their request. But in compliance with a more recent intimation from that Government three of my ministers proceeded to Washington and conferred with representatives of the administration of the United States on these subjects. An amicable understanding was arrived at respecting the steps to be taken for the establishment of the boundary of Alaska and for reciprocity of services in cases of wreck and salvage. Arrangements were also reached for the appointment of an international commission to report on the regulations which may be adopted by the United States and Canada for the prevention of destructive methods of fishing and the pollution of streams and for establishing uniformity of close seasons and other means for the preservation and increase of fish. A valuable and friendly interchange of views respecting other important matters also took place.

In accordance with the promise given at the close of last session, a commission has been appointed to investigate the working of the Civil Service Act and other matters connected with the civil service generally. The report of this commission will be laid before you during the present session.

The conclusions of the commission on the manufacture of beet root sugar will also be laid before you.

It is desirable that the fishery regulations in British Columbia should be examined and revised so as to adapt them better to the requirements of the fisheries in that province. A commission has been issued with that object.

An important measure respecting the criminal law, which was laid before you last session, has been revised and improved, as a result of the expression of views elicited by its presentation to Parliament and will be submitted to you.

Your attention will also be directed to measures for the redistribution of seats consequent upon the census returns; the establishment of the boundaries of the territories and the amalgamation of the Departments of Marine and Fisheries. Bills will also be presented to you for the amendment of the Civil Service Act, the acts relating to real properties in the territories and of those respecting the fisheries.

GENTLEMEN OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS,—The accounts of the past year will be laid before you, as well as the estimates for the ensuing year. These estimates have been prepared with a due regard to economy and the requirement of the public service.

HONORABLE GENTLEMEN OF THE SENATE, GENTLEMEN OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS,—I commend these important subjects and all matters affecting the public interests which may be brought before you to your best consideration, and I feel assured that you will address yourselves to them with earnestness and assiduity.

His Excellency then bowed to three sides and the ceremony of opening Parliament was completed.

About the throne Cabinet Ministers were conspicuous by their absence. The Premier, Mr. Abbott, was attired in the gorgeous Windsor uniform and Senator Frank Smith in the sober dress of a Cabinet Minister. War Minister Bowell, Sir John Thompson and Mr. Tupper spent their time in the Commons in business suits, shaking hands and exchanging greetings with the members, not alone of their own party but of those of the opposite party.

The great scene of the day, however, was that enacted in front of Sir Hector Lange- [illegible] of the Opposition. Sir Hector came in pretty early and in a moment the desk of the member from Three Rivers was surrounded with gentlemen of all political hues eager to shake hands with the fallen chief of the Bleus. Sir John Thompson was the first to give the old campaigner a hearty hand-wring, and in this he was followed by the most miscellaneous assortment of politicians. Sir Hector does not look well, but the remarkably warm reception he received touched the old gentleman very distinctly. The scene in front of his pew was decidedly the most successful tableau of the day.

One of the interesting tete-a-tetes witnessed while the House was waiting for Mr. Kimber was that between the Minister of Militia and Col. Amyot Mr. Bowell and the famous Colonel of the 65th swapped yarns for some minutes.

The introductions of new members gave both sides a chance to exercise their lungs. Those introduced were Messrs. Ouimet, Fairbairn, Henderson, Hughes, Metcalfe, Miller, Bain, Wilson, Rosamond, Gibson, Gillies, Featherstone, Bruneau and Northrop. The cheering was loudest in the case of those members who had upset the decisions of the general election, and as the Conservatives had enjoyed the greater number of these plums the cheering was most frequent and hearty from that side. The only good chance the Liberals had was in the case of Bruneau, who had redeemed Richelieu.

Hon. Mr. Foster is ill, and to-night his illness is described as somewhat serious.

Mr. Charlton, though not present today, has forwarded two notices of introduction of bills, one to secure better observances of the Lord's Day Act, and the other to suppress the publication and dissemination of obscene literature. There is good authority for stating that this latter is not aimed as alleged at the circulation of literature.

Mr. Edgar is in search of information with respect to what the Imperial Government is likely to do in respect of the favored nation clauses in Imperial treaties.

The names of the prohibition commission will probably be announced in a day or two.

The Western contingent which came down on the C.P.R. last night was on the whole a very jolly one. There was any amount of good-humored chaffing interchanged between the members of the two parties. At Peterboro' Sam Hughes and Mr. Fairbairn came aboard, and there was great cheering on the part of the Conservative faction. The campaign, with its joys and sorrows, was fought all over again until a late hour in the morning.

TRAIN ROBBER PERRY.

He Denies That His Caller was A Bogus Father.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Feb. 26.—A reporter had a long interview last night with Oscar Curtis Perry, the Train Robber.

Oliver Curtis Perry, the express robber, in the jail at Lyons. The prisoner told the story of both robberies.

He indignantly denied that the man who called to see him and attempted to aid him in his escape was not his father.

His story with respect to entering the car and shooting the messenger and the events which followed differ little from what is now ancient history.

MAY PROVE FATAL.

Young Men Who Didn't Know an Empty Dynamite Keg Was Loaded.

AMHERSTBURG, Feb. 26.—Several young men at Grosse Isle found an empty nitroglycering keg frozen in the ice last night and proceeded to make a bonfire of it.

After it had burned a few minutes Oliver Reaume, 19 years old, advanced and gave it a kick. There was a terrific explosion and next instant Reaume was minus his right hand and his left leg was so shattered that amputation will be necessary, even if he does not die. Reaume was blown into the air fully ten feet and all the others present were knocked down and stunned.

The keg undoubtedly floated from the lime kiln crossing, where nitro-glycerine and dynamite are used in blasting, and was probably thrown out as empty, although a little of the explosive remained within.

MRS. HESLOP DEAD.

A Most Important Witness in the Ancaster Murder Case Gone.

HAMILTON, Feb. 26.—Mrs. Heslop, widow of the murdered treasurer of Ancaster, died at her home, near Ancaster village, yesterday The venerable lady had been very ill for a week, suffering from congestion of the lungs, brought on by an attack of the grip. Her daughter had been her sole companion since the murder of her husband about a year ago.

The death of Mrs. Heslop will embarrass the case in the approaching trial of the supposed murderers. She would have been a very important witness.

Mrs. Heslop was a daughter of the late John Aikman, who lived in Ancaster for many years. She married Mr. Heslop 50 years ago. She was about 70 years old.

THE CONTEST IN LONDON.

Mighty Efforts Being Put Forth by the Politicians—The Patrol Branch.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—To-day will decide one of the keenest political battles ever fought in this city. From the moment that Mr. Hyman (Liberal) was unseated the friends of both candidates have been straining every nerve to insure a victory for their respective sides and both are equally positive of success. The city has been thoroughly patrolled by both parties day and night this week and considering the large number engaged in this branch of the fight and the high feeling which has prevailed but few collisions have occurred and these, as a rule, did not amount to much.

A NICE MOTHER THIS.

A FIEND GUISED IN THE GARB OF WOMAN.

Lord Montagu's Daughter-in-Law Was Anxious For the Souls of Her Children so She, Scarred Their Little Bodies—Tale of Cruelty.

BELFAST, Feb. 26.—Mrs. Annie Margaret Montagu, wife of Robert Montagu of Coleraine, County Londonderry, and daughter-in-law of Lord Montagu, was again arraigned yesterday.

The first witness called was Miss Dosell, the governess. She repeated the evidence she had given before the coroner's jury to the effect that the little girl had committed some misbehavior for which she, the governess, had placed her in a bare, dark room. She afterwards informed Mrs. Montagu of what she had done, whereupon the latter, who was evidently much incensed at her daughter's action, went to the room and tied the little girl's arms behind her back with a stocking. She then tied her up with a cord to a ring in the wall and left her. At the expiration of four hours, when Mrs. Montagu went to the room, she found that the stocking, in some unaccountable manner, had slipped up around the child's neck and she had been strangled to death.

Further evidence was submitted to prove that Mrs. Montagu was guilty of the first count—manslaughter. She was held in £700 bail to await trial on that charge.

The She Devil's Victims.

The hearing on the second count, charging her with cruelty to children, was then proceeded with.

Miss Wallace, formerly in the employ of Mrs. Montagu as a governess for her children, testified that Walter Montagu, the 4-year-old son of the defendant, was upon one occasion tied to a tree in the morning and allowed to remain till late in the afternoon. His dinner was taken from the house and put on the grass before him.

On another occasion Miss Wallace missed the boy from his usual place in the house and she saw nothing of him for eight days. When she saw him again the backs of his hands were puffed up and looked as though the blood had stagnated. He had bruises on his face and neck. She had also heard Mrs. Montagu beating the child badly in the dark room.

Mrs. James, formerly a nurse in the Montagu household, testified that she had seen Gilbert Montagu, five-year old, with marks of cord around his elbows and with pieces of flesh cut out of his toes. Austin Montagu, another son of the accused, had also been locked in a dark room. Mrs. Montagu had said to her that this was her way of punishing her children. She did it to save their souls; she did not mind their bodies.

Dragged Feet First Along the Floor.

The nurse, Mrs. James, deposed that she once saw the accused dragging her son Austin along the corridor by his feet, his head trailing along the ground. This testimony caused a sensation.

A housemaid named Campbell deposed that she saw Gilbert Montagu stripped naked and beaten with a scourge until his whole body was lacerated, that he was then thrust into a dark closet, where he lay moaning all night, and that she was unable to sleep on account of the moaning and pleaded with the accused to let Gilbert out of the closet.

Mrs. Montagu was committed for trial on the second charge.

Mrs. Montagu was attired in deep mourning and a heavy veil concealed her face. Her husband and brother sat beside her through the whole proceedings.

The Right Hon. Lord Robert Montagu, P.C., is the uncle of the present Duke of Manchester, the husband of Miss Consuelo Yznaga.

Lord Robert Montagu married first in 1852 Ellen Mary, only daughter of John Cromie, Esq., of Cromore, County Antrim. By this marriage he had a son, Robert Acheson Cromie Montagu, who was born in 1854, formerly a lieutenant in the Royal Navy, who in 1880 married Annie Margaret, daughter of Gilbert McMicking, Esq., of Miltonise, Wigtownshire. Mrs. Robert Montagu, nee McMicking, the woman mentioned in the foregoing despatch, is thus the daughter-in-law of Lord Robert Montagu, and Helen Mary, her victim, is the youngest of her seven children.

THE PRINCE AND HIS VICTIM.

A Canadian Farmer's Infatuation for the "Flying Roll" and His Whiskers.

DETROIT, Feb. 26.—Mrs. G. N. Avery, wife of the long-haired latter-day Israelite who was arrested last week on a charge of burglary, says her husband was all right until he met "Prince Michael," the leader of the sect, two years ago. Since then he has neglected his farm at New Durham, Ont., and has spent most of his time reading the "Flying Roll" and letting his hair and whiskers grow. Two weeks ago he left his home to join the colony and is now entirely bereft of his senses.

How a J.P. Secured a Wife.

VICTORIA, B.C., Feb. 26.—About 10 days ago Mr. Robert Pinkerton, J.P. of Alberni, arrived in Victoria seeking a wife. Being a comparative stranger here he was at loss how to go about inducing one of the fair sex to enter into a life partnership with him. He is, however, a practical man and inserted an advertisement in a local journal with the result that last evening, at 333 Johnson-street, Rev. Mr. Dobbs united in the holy bonds of matrimony Robert Pinkerton of Alberni and Mrs. N.M. Lincoln of this city.

"German Syrup"
Croup. We have selected two or three lines from letters freshly received from parents who have given German Syrup to their children in the emergencies of Croup. You will credit these, because they come from good, substantial people, happy in finding what so many families lack—a medicine containing no evil drug, which mother can administer with confidence to the little ones in their most critical hours, safe and sure that it will carry them through.
ED. L. WILLITS, of Alma, Neb. I give it to my children when troubled with Croup and never saw any preparation act like it. It is simply miraculous.
MRS. JAS. W. KIRK, Daughters' College, Harrodsburg, Ky. I have depended upon it in attacks of Croup with my little daughter, and find it an invaluable remedy.
Fully one-half of our customers are mothers who use Boschee's German Syrup among their children. A medicine to be successful with the little folks must be a treatment for the sudden and terrible foes of childhood, whooping cough, croup, diphtheria and the dangerous inflammations of delicate throats and lungs. ●

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Kingston News does not seem to have a very high opinion of itself. A few days ago it said that Mr. Drennan was sure to be elected, and that nearly every polling sub-division would give him a majority. The day after the election it said that "a Reform victory was expected." Now if it made those prophecies while at the same time it expected the reformers to win, then it made a wilful attempt to deceive, and deliberately stated what it did not believe. The confession was a humiliating one.

The Winnipeg Free Press says that at least twelve of the fifteen majority which Mr. Patterson got in West Huron went from this city alone; and they did not walk, nor did they pay their fares. A large number of voters were also brought from the States and from all parts of Canada to vote for Mr. Patterson, and of course they did not pay they own expenses. But for these outside votes Mr. Cameron would have been elected despite the bribery within the constituency. The spectacle of a blatant loyalist securing his election by the votes of those who have gone to the States to live in an edifying one truly.

Our local contemporary seems to have lost its head over its success in East Hastings, and the day after election did not know what it was saying or doing. But of course that was the condition of a considerable proportion of the tories in Belleville about that time. One would have thought that after such a great victory it would have been chivalrous enough to have confined itself within the bounds of truth. It first slandered two government officials, and then turned its attention to Albert College and abused the staff there because several of the students voted for Mr. Aylsworth. It averred that the teachers or officials used their influence among the students on behalf of the liberals, and that the college is conducted on political lines. The charge, of course, was false, and the Intelligencer has had to take back water in regard to its assertion. If students have a right to vote, why should'nt they exercise that right? The liberal workers looked more carefully after the lists than the tories and got the names of the liberal students on, and because of this simple fact the Intelligencer had to insult the whole college staff, and pour out upon them a tirade of abuse. Of course it is true that most of the staff and officials are liberals, but so are nine tenths of intelligent and educated men everywhere, but to say that the teachers use their influence among the students on behalf of the liberal candidate is entirely false.

The spirit of unfairness manifested by the tories in the election contests is well exemplified in London. In that place 230 names of people who had no right to vote were placed on the lists by the tory agents. The liberals objected but by some slight oversight the exact letter of the law did not seem to be complied with in the way in which the objections were made, so the tories maintained that the names should remain on the lists. The revising officer however took the sensible view, that, as these persons plainly had no right to vote their names must be struck off, and off they went. The tories appealed from court to court, the judges in every case upholding the decision of the revising officer. The last decision was given a few days ago by the Ontario court of appeal. Not satisfied yet the tories have appealed to the Supreme court. They make no claim that these men have a right to vote, they simply are striving to secure 230 bogus votes by taking advantage of a clerical error in the forms of the objections; and yet Hon. Mr. Carling says that he desires to conduct a fair contest. This, then, is the tory idea of fairness. Thus by means of the Gerrymander Act, the Franchise Act, juggling with the writs and in every possible way do the tories seek to take advantage of their opponents. They first tie their opponent's hands, then slug him, and then have the indecency to gloat over their despicable victory. The tories of Canada are politically on about a moral level with the thugs of India.

DEPRESSION IN BRITISH AGRICULTURE FOR TEN YEARS.

Emperor Bill is Fighting Mad and His Domain is all Torn up With Internal Dissensions—Blackmail Kills a Noted Historian.

BERLIN, Feb 26.—In a speech at Brandenburg, Emperor William said among other things:

Unfortunately it has now become the fashion to criticize the wag at every step taken by the Government. As a result of this nagging persecution, many persons have been imbued with the idea that our country is the most unhappy and worst governed in the world, and that life in such a country is a perfect plague. That this is not the case we, of course, are well aware, but would it not be better if discontented persons were to shake the dust of Germany from off their feet, retiring as soon as possible to some country where such a miserable, wretched state of affairs does not exist? They will thus reap advantage to themselves and at the same time do us a great favor.

Germany is gradually emerging from infancy. She is now about to enter upon the period of youth. It would be well, therefore, if we lifted ourselves from infant malaries.

A firm confidence in the sympathies accorded your work and mine inspires me continually with fresh strength to continue my task and advance in the path Heaven has pointed out to me. I also am impressed with the feeling that what has occurred in the past is due to the hand of our supreme Lord on High. I am firmly convinced that He who was our ally at Rossbach and Donnewatz will not now leave me in the lurch. He has so constantly aided the cause of Brandenburg and my house that we cannot believe He has done all this for no purpose. On the contrary, we still have a great destiny before us, and I am leading you to glorious days.

In concluding, the Emperor urged his hearers not to allow glimpses into the future to be darkened by grumblers and the speeches of discontented parties.

A brilliant ball was given in the opera house last evening. The Emperor led the first dance with Princess Leopold.

Alsace-Lorraine.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 26.—At a banquet given last night by Prince Von Hohenlohe Scelingfurst, Governor of Alsace-Lorraine, to the members of the Provincial Parliament, the Prince made an address in which he referred to the hope expressed last year that the province would shortly return to its normal condition, and said it had been possible to fulfil wishes of the people. Continuing the Prince said, "Thanks to the Emperor's benevolent interest in the province we will be able in the future to secure and sanctify our homes and to protect our frontiers without stringent passport regulations. Parliament can proceed with its labors calmly and with good courage."

During the afternoon 5000 unemployed men met in a public square and passed a series of inflammatory resolutions denouncing their employers and the system of government.

KILLED BY BLACKMAIL.

Europe's Brilliant Historian Crushed by a Slander.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Charles Alan Fyffe, the vigorous author of "A History of Modern Europe," died the other day, a victim of blackmail. About a year ago, at the opening of a brilliant career, his life was wrecked by a charge, afterwards proved false, that he had indecently assaulted a lad. On the scandal becoming public, April 27, the sensitive historian cut his throat, but was rescued from death. The odious charge had ruined his life, however, and he has passed away of a broken heart.

Not Guilty, But Don't Do It Again.

MALTA, Feb. 26.—The naval court martial convened to try the Hon. Maurice Bourke, captain of the Victoria, the flagship of the British Mediterranean squadron, which was stranded near Platea, Greece, in January last, finds that the charge against Captain Bourke is partly proved as he took his ship in dangerous proximity to an ill-defined shoal. The court severely reprimands Captain Bourke and admonishes him to be more careful in future.

For "David Grieve," $100,000.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—The money paid to Mrs. Humphry Ward for her latest novel, "The History of David Grisve," is probably the largest amount ever paid for a single book. For the English issue alone the authoress received a sum so much in excess of the £10,000 paid for Lord Beaconsfield's "Endymion" that the surplus would be regarded by most writers as a handsome payment in itself. Besides there were further sums for American and continental rights, which, added to the original amount, brings the total to nearly £20,000.

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—trifling indiscretion in diet may lay t foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, an there is no fact in medical science mor positively ascertained or more authoritat ively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. The original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No deleterious mineral ingred ueht is contained in it, and thoughits action is thorough in cases of costivenes it never produces griping pains in th abdominal region, or weakens the bowel like a violent purgative. It invigorate he system through the medium of the ncreased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney diseases scrofulous and all diseases of the blood, female weakness, &c., &c. RECIPROCITY.

An Interesting Discussion in the United States Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—In the Senate yesterday, in discussing reciprocity matters, Senator G. G. Vest of Missouri referred to the address of General Foster of the State Department at a banquet in New York Wednesday night and claimed that the only increase in American exports as the result of reciprocity with Brazil had been in articles in which there had been no import duty at all levied by Brazil, and consequently that reciprocity could not have brought about that fact.

It had been also stated by Mr. Foster, continued the Missouri senator, that reciprocal intercourse with Canada was a very different thing from reciprocal intercourse with South America, and the principal reason given was that Great Britain controlled the tariff treaties of Canada and that Great Britain was under the system of free trade, which was entirely antagonistic to the system adopted by the people of the United States.

Mr. Foster seemed, Mr. Vest said, to be entirely ignorant of the fact that Canada was permitted to impose its own tariff duties and that the Home Country had never undertaken to interfere with the import duties of her provinces, and to be ignorant also of the fact that English imports paid as high duties in Canada as American imports paid.

He declared his conviction that so long as New England dominated there never would be reciprocal relations with Canada. On this point he quoted Senator Hale of Maine as saying:

> Reciprocity with Canada is an animal of a very different breed from reciprocity with South America.

In other words, said Mr. Vest, reciprocity which brought free hides and free rubber to the manufacturers of New England was very different from reciprocity which brought free Canadian products to the consumers of the whole country.

WALL PAPER,

CAN IT BE POSSIBLE!!

After all the advertising we have done, that there is a single individual in this county who is able to read who does not know that Scantlebury handles and sells wall paper the year round.

Of course there are seasons with us that are busier than others as in all lines of trade but a house handling wall paper as we do and employing an expert as we do the year round must of necessity sell goods every business day of the year

Now our wall paper trade is as separate from our other business as if it were 3 blocks away instead of under the same roof. We have a man devoting his time entirely to this department, constantly studying new effects in colorings and designs, always ready with suggestions to help those who have had but a limited experience in wall paper buying.

Our spring trade is heavier than at any other season of the year, but you never hear us grumbling at the Summer, Fall or even Winter wall paper sales, we could not do so reasonably, if we did we would be ungrateful

The people come to our wareroom and are surprised at the stock of paper in sight and when we tell them we have, by actual count 729 pigeon holes each containing 50 rolls of paper and no two kinds alike, by a little figuring you will find 36,450 Rolls of paper exclusive of our reserve, which will foot up to a total for this season of nearly 50,000 rolls of wall paper.

We have also 624 smaller pigeon holes for borders containing an average of at least 5 rolls making a total of 3,120 and with our reserve nearly 3,500 Rolls of border.

We make bold to say we believe there is no house in Toronto with the same pretentions, as we have, that carries a like stock to choose from, and as a matter of fact the wholesalers tell us so.

In summing up the benefits accruing to our patrons in the wall paper line we present the following:—

1—New goods every makers make
2—The latest accessories known to the trade for showing wall papers
3—Obliging and expert salesman, a practical decorator.
4—Facilities for delivering goods promply
5—Constant communication with New York and other leading art centres
6—800 different kinds of paper to choose from.
7—Illustrative and descriptive articles upon room decorations by leading artists to show you.
8—A firm devoted to their business,
9—The best appointed wall paper wareroom in Ontario outside of Toronto
10—A desire to please everybody, a continued interest in the selections you have made long after we have sold them to you, a willingness to do anything within reason to hold the good will of our customers.

Does this interest you?

NOTE:—Owing to the growth of our wall paper trade we are unable to handle satisfactorily the window shade branch of our business and have dropped the line entirely.

3,500

The first consignment of Wall Paper to reach Belleville this year, arrived per G. T. R. on Friday, Friday 19th.

This lot containing about 3,500 Rolls is a very small part of what is on the road for us.

We buy only from the large manufacturers who sells to no other in the city.

Our object in buying such immense quantities this year is to sell cheap and controling if possible the Wall Paper trade in the future.

It is pleasant to taste, sooths the child softens the gums, allays pain, relieve wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes 25 cts bottle.

The best cure we know of for constipation and headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family Medicine. E Williams, Druggist, Wingham says: "The Vegetable Discovery is selling well, and know of a bad case of dyspepsia that it has completely cured.

It you have a cough or cold do not neglect it; many without a trace of that hereditary disease have drifted into a consumptive grave by neglecting what was only a slight cold. Had the used Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup before it was too late their lives would have been spared. Mr. A. W. Levy Mitchell, writes. "I think Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation on the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught severe cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cought. DELERIUM TREMENS.—In this disorder of the brain which comes upon habitual drunkards there is a shaking of the limbs and the prominent disposition is one of anxiety and apprhension of injury or danger. There is an almost entire want of sleep, and even if repose be obtained it is interupted by frightful dreams. Few doses of the Father Mathew Remedy will be sufficient to cure this terrible disease.

There is a theory among people who lack experience that a wife believes everything her husband says. There is nothing in it. A wife is usually more suspicious of her husband than of any other person, and it is the joy of her life to catch him in a lie. She usually has a good many joys of her life to rejoice over, too. A man is always lying to his wife. He is compelled to. If a man could be as good as a woman expects him to be, no woman would be fit to live with him, he would be so nice.

AN EXCITING RUNAWAY

A Runaway Horse Flies the Full Length of Front Street

A horse belonging to Richard Cook, of Tyendinaga, became frightened in the Dominion House gangway yesterday afternoon and started up Front street at a breakneck pace. A little boy in the cutter was thrown out but not injured. After leaving the sidewalk at W. Flint Jones the horse darted across the street and cleared the sidewalk at the St. George's hotel. Continuing up the sidewalk the runaway caused considerable excitement and attracked a large crowd of people. Although the sidewalk was thronged with pedestrians, strange to state, there was no one injured. The horse was caught at the O'Brien Hotel by a man named Reed.

HOW TO PLAY HOCKEY

The Rules For This New and Exciting Game

As Hockey now seems to be all the rage among those fond of athletics the following rules for playing this game will be of interest :—

1—The game is played on ice by teams of seven on each side, with a puck made of vulcanized rubber, one inch all through and three inches in diameter. Hockey sticks shall not be more than three inches wide at any part. A goal is placed in the middle of each goal-line, composed of two upright posts, four feet in height, placed six feet apart, and at least five feet from the end of the ice. 2—Each side shall have a captain (a member of his team), who, before the match, shall toss for a choice of goals. Each side shall play an equal time from each end. The duration of matches shall be not less than one hour, exclusive of stoppages. The team scoring the greater number of goals in that time shall be declared the winner. If at the end of that time the game is a draw, ends shall be changed and the game continued until one side scores. 3—There shall be only one referee, and in no case shall he belong to either of the competing clubs. He shall enforce the rules, adjudicate upon dispu'es, or cases unprovided for by rule; appoint the goal umpires ; keep the time and score ; and at the conclusion of the match declare the result. The puck shall be considered in play until the referee stops the game, which he may do at any time and which he may do at once, when any irregularity of play occurs, by sounding a whistle. His decision shall be final. 4—A goal shall be scored when the puck shall have have passed between the goal posts from in front, and below an imaginary line drawn across the top of the posts. Goal umpires shall inform the referee when a goal is scored. Their decision shall be final. 5—The game shall be started and renewed by the referee calling play, after having placed the puck on its larger surface on the ice, between the sticks of the two players, one from from each team, who are to face it. 6—A player is off-side if he is in front of the puck, or when the puck has been hit, touched, or is being run with by any of his own side behind him (i. e., between himself and his own goal line.) A player peing off-side is put on-side when the puck has been hit by, or has touched the dress or person of any player of the opposite side, or when one of his own side has run in front of him, either with the puck or having played it when behind him. If a player when off side plays the puck, or annoys or obstructs an opponent, the puck shall be faced where it was last played before the off-side play occurred. 7—The puck may not be stopped with the hand except by the goal-keeper (see rule 9,) but may be stopped, but not carried or knocked on by any other part of the body. No player shall raise his stick above his shoulder. Charging from behind, tripping, collaring, kicking, cross-checking, or pushing shall not be allowed. 8—When the puck goes off the ice behind the goal line, it shall be brought out by the referee to a point five yards in front of the goal line on a line at right angles thereto, from a point at which it left the ice, and there faced. When the puck goes off the ice at the side it shall be similarly faced three yards from the side. 9—The goal keeper must not during play lie, sit or kneel upon the ice : he may, when in goal, stop the puck with his hands but shall not throw or hold it. 10—No change of players shall be made after a match has started, except by reason of accident. 11—Should any player be injured during a match and compelled to leave the ice, his side shall have the option of putting on a spare man from the reserve to equalize the teams. In event of any dispute between the captains as to the injured player's fitness to continue the game, the matter shall be decided by the referee. 12—Should the game be stopped by the referee by reason of the infringement of any of the rules, or because of an accident or change of players the puck shall be faced at the spot where it was last played before such infringement, accident, or change of players shall have occurred.

It Opens the Eyes

"My daughter is losing her sight," said an anxious mother, "and just on the eve of marriage, too ! What shall I do ?" "Let her get married, by all means," responded the doctor ; "marriage is a regular eye-opener." A man's eyes open pretty wide when he finds his wife's charms disappearing Health is the best friend of beauty, and the innumerable ills to which women are peculiarly subject its worst enemies. Experience proves that women who possess the best health use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper. and faithfully carried out for many years.

The Dehorning Question

The following resolutions were passed unamiously at a meeting of the patrons of Bayside cheese factory on the 24th inst :—Moved by E. H Colemrn and seconded by Hon. Robt Read, that having heard of the trial Mr. York at London for dehorning cattle, we desire to express our sympathy for him, as he is really fighting in the interest of diarymen, and farther desire to express our entire concurrence in favor of dehorning cattle.

Moved by Hon. Robt Read and seconded by James Knox, that E. H. Coleman be authorized to represent our views on the dehornlng of cattle to the Ontario Government, or to any committee or commission the Ontario Government may appoint to take evidence.

Special Department

Since we first established business in Belleville we have always made a specialty of children's and boys' clothing. We have this season fitted up an elegant apartment for our children's clothing. It is separated from our regular store altogether and will be found a great advantage as it is particularly well lighted and is so situated that lady customers will be able to be by themselves and can fit the boys suits on complete if they so wish. Anything that can be had in children's clothing will always be on hand in this department. Part of our new spring goods have already arrived, the balance we expect next week.—OAK HALL,

A Popular Man

MR. E W. DOWLING, clerk at the Windsor Hotel, Montreal, is the name of the gentleman whose picture is given above, and which is doubtless familiar to almost every Canadian who travels and stops at Canada's leading hotel. Mr. Dowling has been receiving congratulations on all sides recently on account of his being the fortunate winner of THE CANADIAN QUEEN'S prize piano in their competition which closed Feb. 10th, he being the first to send the correct answer in than contest. Mr. Dowling says there is nothing like the Mason & Risch piano, which is the make presented him, and that THE CANADIAN QUEEN is truly royal in her ways and should reign forever THE QUEEN'S new Prize Problem will appear in all the leading daily newspapers to-morrow.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA

Miss Norma Reynolds, of the Arion Club, whose voice is a sweet and well-trained soprano of good compass, sang "Marguerite" and a coaching song with fine effect. Toronto Saturday Night. In Queen's Opera House March 1st.

When the great play "Master and Man' was constructed the author certainly put some very strong scenes together. A realistic and stirring scene of the furnace in the fourth act is said to be one of the most sensational episodes on the mimic stage. The plot is continually developing new and somewhat unexpected features. The company this season is composed of ladies and gentlemen of unusual histrionic ability. The entire scenic display for the numerous acts of the play is carried by the company, including the wondrous mechanical effects. Therefore the play will certainly be adequately interpreted and finely presented, as the scenic features are an important factor in the play and the resulting performance possesses every element to please. There are a number of genteel specialties introduced. "Master and Man" will no doubt please the patrons of the Queen's Opera House where it will be seen next Wednesday evening March 2nd.

NEWS NOTES

QUEENS OPERA CHANGES HANDS.

T S Carman of the ONTARIO Took Over the Property Yesterday

T. S. Carman, proprietor of the ONTARIO yesterday afternoon took over the Queen's Opera House which a few years ago cost $20,000. Mr. Carman is the largest real estate owner in Belleville and has faith in the future prosperity of the Bay city. The house is one of the best in Canada and extensive improvements will be added in the near future. W. W. Power of the Queen's Hotel will still retain the management and has already booked for the coming year some of the best shows which will leave New York.

Respecting Wages

Mr. Biggar, M. P. P. has introduced into the legislature a bill to amend the act respecting wages by extending the provisions preserving the rights of employees of execution debtors. At present all persons in the employ of an execution debtor at the time of failure or within one month shall be entitled to be paid his wages prior to other claims. Mr. Biggar's bill extends the time to three months before failure.

"What a pity it is that his face is all pimples ;
He'd be very fine looking if 'twasn't for that,"
Said pretty Miss Vere, with a smile at the dimples
Reflected from under the nobby spring hat
As she looked at herself in the glass, softly sighing,
That she had for the young man a tender regard,
There wasn't the least need of denying—for every one knew it. "His beauty is marred by the frightful red blotches all over his face. I wonder if he couldn't take something to cleanse his blood, and drive them away ?"

He heard what she said about his looks. It hurt his feelings, but he couldn't deny she told the truth. He remembered a friend whose face used to be as bad as his. It had become smooth and clear. He went to him and asked how the change had been brought about. "Simply by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," was the reply. "Take that, and I'll warrant you to get rid of your pimples."

He did so.
His face became healthy and clear.
And next week he'll be married to pretty Miss Vere.

LITERARY.

The Dominion Illustrated Monthly for March 1892

The second number of the new national magazine, The Dominion Illustrated Monthly, has reached us, and we are glad to note that its contents are fully up to the mark of the February number and in some respects show a decided improvement. Professor Charles D. G. Roberts continues his facinating story of Acadia "The Raid from Beausejour." "Deacon Snider and the Circus" is a humorous story by one of our most powerful writers, William Wilfred Campbell, of Ottawa, and shows than in verse that in prose Mr. Campbell is no less proficient. Another story, brilliantly old is "When Bill came down," a dramatic sketch British Columbia life. To historical subjects attention is given in Mr. J. M. LeMoine's "The St. Lawerence," in which many very interesting incidents are told of early life on the shores of our great river. Portraits of the new Quebec Cabinet are given with a brief but comprehensive sketch of the life of each of the ministers. Other articles are:—From Canada to St Helena, by A. McCock (Ilustated); To my Canary Bird, by George Martin; Jamaica Vistas, by Dr. Wolfred Nelson (Illustrated); Scraps and and Snaps, by F. Blake Crofton; The New Quebec Ministry, (Illustrated); Curling in Canada by James Hedley (Illustrated); How Jack won his Snowshoes by Sam Baylis. The publishers this month have been usually generous with supplements, two good sized pictures having been given. The Magazine deserves the support of all Canadians, and is the best literary value for $1.50 a year we have ever seen. It is published by the Sabiston Litho. & Publishing Company Montreal and Toronto.

TERRIBLE ITCHING
Used Everything Five Months. In Three Weeks not a Scar or Pimple. Cured by Cuticura.

When my baby was three months old his cheeks and forehead began to break out with white pimples on red surface. In a few days itching commenced, which was terrible. After he would rub it, matter would ooze from the points. In a short time it spread over the top of his head, then scabs soon formed on head and face. We used everything we could hear of for nearly five months. It grew worse all the time. I saw your advertisement of the CUTICURA REMEDIES in the "Chicago Weekly." We purchased CUTICURA REMEDIES and commenced their use. In three weeks' time there was not a sore or pimple, not even a scar, on head or face. He is nineteen months old now, and has no signs of the disease. His scalp is healthy and he has a beautiful head of hair. (See portrait herewith.)
MRS. OSCAR JAMES, Woodston, Kan.

My infant, eighteen months old, was afflicted with skin eruptions on his hips. Bad sores came on other parts. All remedies failed until I procured CUTICURA. Cured a year and no return of disease.

JOY IN HEAVEN OVER ONE SINNER THAT REPENTETH.

Rev. Dr. Talmage Preaches on the Lost Sheep and the Ninety and Nine Just Persons—A Powerful Presentation of the Glad Tidings.

OSKALOOSA, Iowa, February 21, 1892.—Dr. Talmage preached here to-day to an enormous audience. He expects to be absent from home about ten days, during which period he speaks in as many cities. The subject of his sermon was "Heavenly Congratulations." His evident intention was to make worlds that seem a great way off from each other appear very near. His text was taken from Luke 15:7: "Likewise joy shall be in heaven over one sinner that repenteth, more than over ninety and nine just persons that need no repentance."

A lost sheep! Nothing can be more thoroughly lost. I look through the window of a shepherd's house at night. The candles are lighted. The shepherd has just placed his staff against the mantel. He has taken off his coat, shaken out of it the dust and hung it up. I see by the candle light that there are neighbors who have come in. The shepherd, fagged out with the long tramp, sits down on a bench, and the wife and children and the neighbors say to him: "Come now, tell us how you found the poor thing." "Well," he says, "this morning I went out to the yard to look at the flock. No sooner had I looked over the fence than I saw something wrong. The fact was they did not count right. Ninety-five, ninety-six, ninety-seven, ninety-eight, ninety-nine — only ninety-nine. M'Donald, you know we had a hundred. And I wondered which one was gone, and I began again, and I counted ninety-five, ninety-six, ninety-seven, ninety-eight, ninety-nine. Well, I whistled up the dog, and I started on the fields and across the bridges, and I tracked the moors, and I leaped the gullies, but no bleating of the poor thing did I hear, I said to myself: 'The lamb must have fallen into a ditch, or a pack of wolves from the mountains must have torn it to pieces and sucked its life out.' But I could not give it up. You see it was a pet lamb. It was that one with the black spot on the right shoulder that used to come and lick my hand as I crossed the field, and somehow I could not give it up. So I went on and on and on until after a while I heard the dog bark, and I said: 'What's that?' Then I hastened to the top of the hill, and I looked down, and there I saw the poor lamb. It had fallen into the ditch, and as I came where it was and bent over the ditch, and stooped down to lift the poor thing out, I wish you could have seen the loving, and imploring, and tender way it looked at me. I lifted it out, and it was all covered with the slush and the mud. It was an awful thing to do, but I lifted it out, and it was so lame and so weak it could not walk along, so I threw it over my shoulders, and I started homeward; and the condition of that lamb you may judge of from the coat which I have just hung up. But I tramped on and on until it is safe in the yard, poor thing! Thank God, thank God!" Then the shepherd's wife spread the table and brought out the best fare that the cabin could afford, and they sat up very late that night, and they talked, and they laughed, and they sang, and they ate, and they drank, and they danced, and told over and over and over again the story of the lost sheep that was found.

With such tenderness and rusticity of illustration does Christ represent the soul's going off and the soul's coming back, when he says: "Likewise there is joy in Heaven among the angels of God over the sinner that repenteth more than over ninety and nine just persons that need no repentance." To repent is to feel that you are bad, and to be sorry about it, and to turn over a new leaf, and to pray for forgiveness and help. Just as soon as a man does that, they hear right away of it in Heaven. There are no gossips in glory going around to chatter and laugh when a man falls; but there are many souls in glory who are glad to run about and tell it when a man is saved. The news goes very quickly from gate to gate, and from north wall to south wall, and from east wall to west wall, and in three minutes every citizen of Heaven has heard of it; for "there is joy in Heaven among the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth." I can very easily understand how there should be joy in Heaven over a Pentecost with three thousand souls saved in one day—no mystery about that; I can understand how there should be joy in Heaven over the Parish of Schotts, when four hundred souls were saved under one sermon of Mr. Livingston; I can understand how there should be joy in heaven over the great awakening in the time of Harland Page, when in one year four hundred and seventy-three thousand souls were brought to God in the United States; I can understand very easily how there should be joy in heaven over five hundred thousand souls converted in 1857, in this country; but mark you, my text announces there is joy in heaven among the angels of God over one, just one sinner that repenteth.

Some cathedrals have one tower; some cathedrals have two, three, four towers. Did you ever hear them all ring at once? I am told that the bell in the cathedral of St. Paul rings only on rare occasions, for instance, at the death or the birth of a king. Have you seen a cathedral with four towers? and have you heard them all strike into one great chime of gladness? Here is a man who is moral. He is an example to a great many professors of religion in some things; he never did a mean thing in his life; he pays all his debts, and is a citizen and a good neighbor, but he says he is not a Christian. Some day the Holy Spirit comes into his heart and he sees that he cannot depend upon his morality for salvation. He says: "O Lord God, I have been depending upon my good works; I find I am a sinner, and I want Thy salvation. Lord, for Jesus' sake, have mercy on me." And God pardons him, and immediately one of the towers of Heaven strikes a silvery chime, for there are four towers to the heavenly temple. Here is a man who is bad; he knows he is bad and everybody else knows he is bad; but he is not an outcast, far from being an outcast. He moves in respectable circles. But one day, by the power of the Holy Ghost, he rouses up to see his sinfulness and he says: "O Lord, have mercy; I am a wanderer, and without Thee I perish. Have mercy." God hears him, and immediately two of the towers of heaven strike a silvery chime. But here is an outcast. He was picked up last night out of the gutter and carried to the police station. He has been in the penitentiary three times. He is covered and soaked with loathsomeness and abomination. Arousing from his debauch, he cries out: "O God, have mercy on me. Thou who didst pardon the penitent thief, hear me cry for mercy." And the Lord listens and pardons, and no sooner is the poor wretch pardoned than three of the great towers of heaven strike up a silvery chime. But here is a waif of the street. She passes under the gas-light, and your soul shudders with a great horror. No pity for her. No consideration for her. As she passes down the street, she hears a song in a midnight mission, and as she listens to that song she hears:

> All may come, whoever will,
> This Man receives poor sinners still.

She puts into that harbor, she kneels by the rough bench near the door, she says, "O, Lord! Thou who didst have mercy on Mary Magdalen, take my blistered feet off the red hot pavement of hell," God says, "My daughter, thy sins are forgiven thee: go in peace." Now, all the four towers of heaven strike a silvery chime, and they who pass through the celestial streets say, "What's that? why, the worst sinner must have been saved. Hear all the four towers ring, and ring, and ring." "And there is joy in heaven among the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth."

My subject impresses you, I think, with the thought that it is possible for us to augment the happiness of heaven. People think that souls before the throne are as happy as they can be. I deny it. Look at that mother before the throne of God. When she died she left her son in this world a vagabond. That son repented of his iniquities and came to God. The report of that salvation has reached heaven. Do you tell me that mother before the throne of God has not her joy richly augmented? There is many a man in this house to-day who could go out with a torch and kindle a new bonfire of victory on the hills of heaven. If you would this day repent and come to God, the news of your salvation would reach them, and then, hark to the shout of the ransomed. Your little child went away from you into the good land. While she was here you brought her all kinds of beautiful presents. Sometimes you came home at nightfall with your pockets full of gifts for her, and no sooner did you put your night-key into the latch than she began at you saying, "Father what have you brought me?" She is now before the throne of God. Can you bring her a gift to-day? You may. Coming to Christ and repenting of sin, the tidings will go up to the throne of God, and your child will hear of it. O, what a gift for her soul to-day! She will skip with new gladness on the everlasting hills when she hears it.

My subject also impresses me with the idea that heaven and earth are in close sympathy. People talk of heaven as though it were a great way off. They say it is hundreds of thousands of miles before you reach the first star, and then you go hundreds of thousands of miles before you get to the second star, and then it is millions of miles before you reach heaven. They say heaven is the centre of the universe. That is not the idea of my text. I think the heart of heaven beats very close to our world. We measure distances by the time taken to traverse these distances. It used to be a long distance to San Francisco. Many weeks and months were passed before you could reach that city. Now it is six or seven days. It used to be six weeks before you could voyage from here to Liverpool. Now you can go that distance in six or seven days. And so I measure the distance between earth and heaven, and I find it is only a flash. It is one instant here, and another instant there. It is very near to-day. Do you not feel the breath of heaven on your face? Christ says in one place it is not twenty-four hours' distance, when he says to the penitent thief, "This day—this day—shalt thou be with Me in Paradise." It is not a day, it is not an hour, it is not a minute, it is not a second. O! how near heaven is to earth. By oceanic cable you send a message. As it is expensive to send a message, you compress a great deal of meaning in a few words. Sometimes in two words you can put vast meaning. And it seems to me that angels of God who carry news from earth to Heaven, need to take up this hour, in regard to your soul, only two words in order to kindle with gladness all the redeemed before the throne, only two words: "Father saved," "mother saved," "son saved," "daughter saved." And "there is joy in Heaven among the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth."

My subject also impresses me with the fact that the salvation of the soul is of vast importance. If you should make $200,000 this year, do you suppose that news would be carried to heaven? It would not be of enough importance or significance to be carried heavenward. If at the next quadrennial election you are made President of the United States, do you suppose that news should be carried to heaven? Do you suppose that the news of a revolution in France or Spain would be carried to heaven? These things are not of enough importance, but there is one item that is sure to be carried. It is the salvation of your soul, it is your repentance before God.

Having found in my own experience that this religion is a comfort and a joy, I stand here to commend it to all men. In the days of my infancy I was carried by Christian parents to the house of God and consecrated in baptism to the Father, and the Son, and the Holy Ghost; but that did not save me. In after time I was taught to kneel at the Christian family alter with father and mother and brothers and sisters, the most of them now in glory; but that did not save me. But one day the voice of Christ came into my heart saying, "Repent, repent; believe, believe," and I accepted the offer of mercy, and though no doubt there was more joy in heaven over the conversion of other souls because of their far-reaching influence, I verily believe when I gave my heart to God there were some spirits in heaven the gladder for the deed. "There is joy in heaven among the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth." Turn this day to the Lord who bought you. Let this whole audience surrender themselves to Jesus Christ. If for ten, twenty, fifty years you have not prayed, begin now to pray. "O!" you say, "I can't pray." Can you not say, "God be merciful to me a sinner?"

There were ninety and nine that safely lay
In the shelter of the fold;
But one was out on the hills away,
Far off from the gates of gold,
Away on the mountains wild and bare,
Away from the tender Shepherd's care.

"Lord, Thou hast here Thy ninety and nine,
Are they not enough for Thee?"
But the Shepherd made answer "This of Mine
Has wandered away from Me;
And although the road be rough and steep,
I go to the desert to find My sheep."

But none of the ransomed ever knew
How deep were the waters crossed;
Nor how dark was the night that the Lord passed through
Ere he found His sheep that was lost.
Out in the desert He heard its cry,
Sick and helpless, and ready to die.

"Lord, whence are those blood-drops all the way,
That mark out the mountain's track?"
"They were shed for one who had gone astray Ere the Shepherd could bring him back."
"Lord, whence are Thy hands so rent and torn?"
"They are pierced to-night by many a thorn."

But all through the mountains, thunder-riven,
And up from the rocky steep,
There arose a cry to the gate of heaven,
"Rejoice! I have found my sheep!"
And the angels echoed around the throne,
'Rejoice, for the Lord brings back His own!'

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE

Various Deputations Wait Upon the Government—Business of the House.

TORONTO, Feb. 27.—When the House met yesterday afternoon Mr. Barr asked if the Minister of Agriculture, or any person authorized by him had promised to supply each member of the Farmers' Institute with all bulletins and reports of the Agricultural College and Model Farm.

Mr. Dryden replying remarked that he had purposed sending to the members of the various farmers' institutes copies of every bulletin issued during the year 1891. His wish was that they should have received at the same time, other information of value published. These bulletins, he said, had since been sent to every member of the farmers institutes.

Crown Lands.

Mr. Snider moved for a return showing: 1. The number of parcels of real estate owned by the province, not including unpatented crown lands unless provincial buildings have been erected on any such lands. 2. Acreage of each parcel and where located. 3. For what purpose used. 4. Estimated cash value of each parcel, not including buildings. 5. Cost of improvement made on each to date. 6. Present estimated value of improvements on each parcel. The motion was carried.

Notices of Motion.

Mr. Walters—Bill to impose a license on dogs and for the protection of sheep.

The Attorney-General—Bill to further amend the law respecting mortgages and sales of personal property.

Mr. Willoughby—Resolution, That in the opinion of this House, it is expedient that the Government should make some suitable recognition to the volunteers of 1837 88, for the valuable services then rendered in defence of their country at that time.

Mr. Stratton—Bill to make obligatory voting at elections to the Legislative Assembly.

Mr. Stratton—Bill relating to the appointment of provincial auditors.

Wanted a Provincial Inventory.

Mr. Miscampbell moved for a return showing: 1. An inventory of the chattels at each of the public institutions in the province. 2. The prices paid for each article of the same. 3. The present value of each article of the same, to Dec. 31, 1891.

Mr. Gibson presumed that the object the hon. gentleman had in view was a very proper one, but he was afraid that he had not taken into consideration the amount of labor involved in preparing an answer to such an order of the House. During the past year, he said, inventory of the property to the minutest details had been made in connection with most of the public institutions. The work was still being prosecuted in the remaining cases. In a very short time he hoped to have a complete inventory of every article that could be produced, no matter how limited its value. An inventory, such as those asked for, was now in existence for, he thought, all the asylums but one. Under the circumstances he would ask the hon. gentleman either to withdraw his motion, taking his assurance as to what had been done and was being done, or at all events so to modify his resolution that it would not involve an unreasonable amount of work.

Mr. Miscampbell said that in view of the facts presented by the hon. Provincial Secretary he would withdraw the motion. This was accordingly done.

Deputations from the Alliance.

A deputation of the Dominion Alliance met the Ministry. Among those present were: Revs. Dr. Thomas, A. Dowsley, J. V. Smith, J. Hughes, W. M. McMillan, G. S. Youle, D. F. Milne, Dr. Emery, W. G. Storm, W. P. Page, E. H. Hilbourn, Malcolm Gibbs, A. Coxhead, F. S. Spence, J. J. Maclaren, James Dobson, S. James, Oronhyatekha and Mesdames Forster, Vance, Hilborn. R. G. Dixon, R. Galley and G. Walker. J. J. Maclaren and F. S. Spence complained that the fines imposed for breaches of the liquor act were too small and wished them raised. The local option bylaws, they also aver, have been quashed for very petty reason. Mr. Mowat said that he would seriously consider the matter.

Pray, Don't Increase License Fees.

A deputation from the Hotelkeepers Association of the province waited upon Messrs. Mowat, Bronson, Harcourt, Gibson and Hardy. It was composed of Messrs. Edward Sullivan, John Beers, John Devaney, J. J. Coulter, Robert Irvine, H. W. Powers, John Hormont, John Magee and about 20 others. These gentlemen do not wish the Government to increase the license fees. Mr. Mowat promised to consider the matter.

The Single Tax Men.

A deputation from the Single Tax Association waited upon the Ministry and presented the resolution passed at a meeting recently held in St. Andrew's Hall. They wished the Government to pass an act giving all municipalities the option of collecting all their taxes on land values if they so desire. This matter, Mr. Mowat remarked, would be seriously considered.

Dined With the Speaker.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

ONLY A THIRTY MINUTE SESSION YESTERDAY.

The Debate on the Address Adjourned Owing to Mr. Laurier's Illness—New Scandals Promised—A Batch of Petitions From the Friend of Labor.

OTTAWA, Feb. 27.—The spectators who assembled in the galleries this afternoon to listen to the maiden addresses of Messrs. Northrup of East Hastings and Bain of Soulanges were deprived of their promised treat. Mr. Laurier is ill and consequently not in his place. That being the case it was decided not to go on with the debate on the address until Monday, when it is hoped the leader of the Opposition will be in his place.

The only business was the introduction of three Conservative members and the presentation of a few petitions. The members introduced were Major Rory MacLennan of Glengarry, A. R. Dickey, Cumberland, N.S.

Hon. Mr. Laurier, who is quartered at the Russell House, was not able to be down to the dining room to-day. His health is not at all in a satisfactory state. He expects nevertheless to be in his place on Monday. Hon. Mr. Foster was recovered sufficiently to be in his place in the House to-day.

Mr. Coatsworth presented the petition of the corporation of Toronto to-day praying for the passage of a bill, which will be subsequently presented, authorizing the execution of the tripartite agreement between the city and the two railway companies in regard to the Esplanade and the Don improvement.

The Deputy Sergeant-at-Arms.

Speaker White and Sergeant-at-Arms Smith have arrived at a deadlock. It is understood to be the privilege of the Sergeant-at-Arms to name his deputy, but the appointment must be confirmed by the Speaker. Col. Smith has nominated Mr. Walter Todd, one of the committee clerks of the House, but Speaker White has refused to ratify the nomination. The Speaker's candidate is Mr. Douglas W. Cameron of Toronto. It is very likely that Mr. Cameron will get the post.

Mr. Ives will make a motion on Monday providing for a reimposition of the export duties on sawlogs.

The Quebec Commissioners.

Mr. Delisle will interrogate the Government as to whether it has been informed that in the Province of Quebec Judges Baby, Davidson, Jette, Mathieu and Pagnuelo have set aside their judicial duties in order to undertake political inquiries, and if so what course the Government intend to take in the matter.

Labor Petitions.

Mr. Devlin of Ottawa County had the honor of introducing a great batch of petitions from labor bodies to-day. These dealt with nine separate subjects: (1) That railway and telegraph lines should be under Government control; (2) that a Dominion board of arbitration and mediation in disputes between capital and labor should be appointed; (3) that the present contract system of performing public works should be abandoned; (4) that the right of appeal from convictions, which is denied under the Seaman's Act, should be restored; (5) that the Chinese should be excluded from the Dominion; (6) that contracts for the performance of public works shall contain a clause providing that a contractor shall pay the recognized scale of wages paid in the locality in which the work is done; (7) that steamship companies which decoy immigrants to this country by misleading statements shall have their subsidy withdrawn; (8) that the hours of labor shall be decreased by statute within three years to eight hours a day, and (9) that the Government issue legal tender, redeemable in 30 or 50 years, for the construction of needed Government and municipal public works.

The Macdonald Club will give J. C. Patterson and John Carling a great reception on their arrival in the Capital.

MONTREAL REAL ESTATE.

Business Fairly Active in Ontario With Improvement in Sales.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—There has been some improvement in the number of orders received for spring goods by Western and Northwestern jobbers and in the volume of goods shipped by them to interior merchants, as indicated in special telegrams to Bradstreet's.

In the Province of Ontario general trade has been fairly active, with prospects for demand at millinery openings next week quite favorable. Hardware sales are also more active.

In Quebec dulness continues to prevail. Demand from the Maritime Provinces is as unsatisfactory as heretofore.

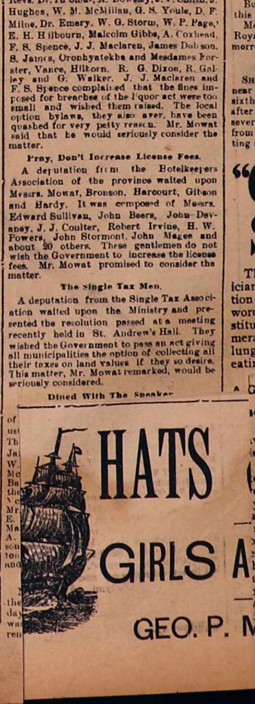
Bank clearings at four Canadian cities are about 1½ per cent. less than a week ago.

Business failures in Canada aggregate 48 this week, against 43 a week ago.

More revelations are expected before the Royal Commission which meets here to-morrow.

Killed a Bear in Amaranth

SHELBURNE, Feb. 27.—A bear was seen near Mr. W. H. Ferguson's place on the sixth line of Amaranth. Mr. Ferguson took after bruin and was joined in the chase by several others, armed with axes, a blow from Mr. William Hooker's ax finally putting an end to the animal.



"German Syrup"
The majority of well-read physicians now believe that Consumption is a germ disease. In other words, instead of being in the constitution itself it is caused by innumerable small creatures living in the lungs having no business there and eating them away as caterpillars do the leaves of trees.
A Germ
sease.
The phlegm that is coughed up is those parts of the lungs which have been gnawed off and destroyed. These bacilli, as the germs are called, too small to be seen with the naked eye, but they are very much alive just the same, and enter the y in our food, in the air we breathe, and through the pores of skin. Thence they get into the blood and finally arrive at the lungs where they fasten and increase with frightful rapidity. Then German Syrup comes in, loosens them, kills them, expels them, heals the places they leave, and so nourish and soothe that, in a short time consumptives become germ-proof and well.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

We suppose it is quite appropriate that the tories should win so many elections. It is quite in accord with the monopolistic tendencies of the government. It is run by monopolists on behalf of monopolists, and it is seemly that it should also monopolize the elections.

The effect of the old gerrymander act is especially striking in Bruce county. The total liberal majority in the whole county, according to the latest election returns, is 886, yet two out of the three members elected are tories. The reform member has a majority of 930, the two tory members but 44 between them. This is not a representative it is misrepresentative government.

The Toronto News (conservative) of Feb. 19th remarks that "the same regard for economy which marked the provincial expenditure in 1891 appears to have governed the preparation of the estimates for 1892.' It notes the chief items of expense and adds · "These figures all indicate careful pruning, and show that there is little to be gained by the opposition in criticizing the financial record of the government. Some other ground o attack will have to be found if success is to be hoped for."

A rather amusing incident occurred a one of the polling subdivisions in East Hastings on Saturday last. A drunken tory elector—there were lots of that kind around, voting to sustain the honor of the old flag and to uphold morality and good government—went into the polling booth and informed the deputy returning officer that he wanted to vote for Harry Corby. The officer informed him that Mr. Corby was not a candidate, so the loyal elector went out in high dudgeon saying that if he could not vote for Corby he would not vote at all. Thus do intelligent, thoughtful and "trooly loil" electors rebuke the wicked liberals, and uphold a pure government and immaculate representatives.

Wun Lung

This is the queer name of a Chinese laundryman in Hartford, but he has probably two lungs, like most of us. Some crying babies seem to have a dozen. Lungs should be sound, or the voice will have a weakly sound. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes strong lungs, drives the cough away, generates good blood, tones the nerves, builds up the human wreck and makes "another man" of him. Night sweats, blood-spitting, short breath, bronchitis, asthma, and all alarming forerunners of Consumption, are positivel cured by this unapproachable remedy. I taken in time Consumption itself can b baffled.

THE BATTLE OF __________(?)

One of the most remarkable and terrible ever fought. The army of the general whose previous successes had terrified Europe was posted along the ascent with Hougoumont, and the general himself had taken up his stand in a farm house called the "Belle Alliance." The opposing forces were extended over an elevation in the Charleroi Road about two miles from the little village in Belgium which gave its name to the battle. Each commander was thus able to command a view of the whole field. The first general with better equipped and better drilled troops and unable to see the reserve force of the other was over confident. The second commander, supported by the brave old Prussian marshal, divided his troops into two lines and awaited the beginning of the battle. It was between eleven and twelve o'clock on Sunday the 18th of June, 1815, that the actual engagement began. The action opened with a brisk cannonade on the house and wood of Hougoumont which were held by the troops of Nassau. The contest continued here all day with terrible fury, but without being able to expel the ....who, although the building had been set on fire, maintained their post amid the flames. Frightful slaughter and great loss ensued. Terrific and resolute attacks were made by the............cavalry on the............centre, and at six in the evening the allied army had lost ten thousand men. Their opponents had suffered still more severely losing fifteen thousand soldiers. Then the great general on seeing the ....sweep the old guards before them exclaimed: "All is lost for the present," and rode from the field. The battle was over.

QUESTIONS:—1st. Name the battle referred to in above description 2nd. What two nations were principally interested? 3rd. Give names of two principal commanders. 4th. Did defeated commander ever regain his position? 5th. Where did he die?

Toronto, February 2nd, 1892.

BERLIN MASSES RISE.

ANGRY WORKMEN MARCH TO THE EMPEROR'S PALACE.

A Forcible Reply to the Kaiser's Recent Utterances—Melees Between the Police and the People—Many Wounded and Taken Prisoners—Breadshops Gutted—Several Instances of Desperate Fighting.

BERLIN, Feb. 27.—Many persons were wounded last night, including several policemen. Many clothiers', jewelers', grocers' and other shops were broken into and ransacked. A mob thronged the streets shouting, "Give us something to eat." The usual police holidays have been suspended for a fortnight, a renewal of yesterday's disorder being feared. It is reported the Emperor witnessed the Unter den Linden affair from the castle windows. The majority of the persons arrested will probably be liberated, but the leaders will be punished severely. No unusual distress prevails in Berlin except such as results from a lack of work in the building trade, which is inevitable in the winter season, though the distress has been somewhat intensified by the recent strikes.

Emperor William's speech, made at Brandenburg, intensely excites political circles, it being held by some that a dangerous crisis is inevitable.

Inflamed by their efforts yesterday and last night, the riotous crowds, many of the members of which had passed the whole night on the street, began to renew their disturbances this morning. The first charge of the police upon them had no effect whatever and the police were compelled to withdraw, some of them having been quite severely hurt by the sticks and stones of the mob. The police then drew their swords and again charged the mob, slashing right and left.

In Weissenburg-strasse during the night small bodies of workingmen took possession of that thoroughfare. Many of them carried red flags, the emblem of the social democracy, and they rushed hither and thither, with no idea of anything save to defy the authorities. Finally they broke into a beer saloon and looted it of its contents. Then they amused themselves by breaking windows. A body of 200 men took possession of Landsburg-strasse, and forming an irregular procession marched to Gruenenwig, shouting, yelling and smashing the windows of stores and dwellings along their route.

The Emperor accompanied by a single aid, and preceded only by two mounted police, left the palace this afternoon on horseback, passed at a leisurely pace through Unter den Linden, and rode to and around the Thiergarten, returning to the palace as he had come. He was loudly cheered all along the route by the people, who gathered in large numbers when the word had got around that he had appeared.

During the afternoon the crowds thinned out and everything was quiet at night. The newspapers attach no significance to the rioting, attributing it to roughs.

Loaves and Flour.

VIENNA, Feb. 27.—The offices of The Volks Presse were yesterday besieged by hungry people, when 1000 loaves of bread and a quantity of flour were distributed. The police refused to allow the distribution of hand bills announcing the gifts.

WITH ALL ON BOARD.

Appalling Steamship Collision off Coast of Yorkshire.

LEEDS, Yorkshire, Feb. 27.—News of a terrible disaster in the North Sea by which a steamer went to the bottom carrying with her every soul on board with only one exception was received in this city at a late hour to-night. The steamers Loughbrow (British), and Forest Queen came into collision off Flamborough, a village of York County, east riding, on the North Sea.

A Terrible Crash.

The vessels crashed together with great force and the Forest Queen was torn apart by the bow of the Loughbrow.

The damages sustained by the Forest Queen were so extensive that the sea began to rush through the breeches made in her hull in a great volume.

The water poured in so rapidly that she at once began to settle, and in a very short space of time after she had been struck she plunged to the bottom.

So quickly did the Forest Queen founder that her crew had no chance to save their lives and all hands with the single exception of the captain went down with her to a watery grave.

STRONG, YET WEAK.

"Strong Man" Sampson and His Prosecutrix Cause a Scene in Court.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Carl August Sampson, the "Strong Man," who was arrested in New York on a requisition issued by the British authorities on the charge of stealing a quantity of diamonds from Mrs. Margaret Bernstein, arrived in London today.

The prisoner was taken to the Westminster Police Court and charged with the theft and remanded for trial, bail in the sum of £400 being demanded.

When the magistrate announced his decision the prisoner fell fainting in the dock, and when he was lifted to his feet he appeared to be dazed.

Mrs. Bernstein was taken with a fit of hysterics. It was necessary to remove her from the courtroom.

Imperial Parliament.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—In the House of Commons Friday Mr. Lowther, Under Foreign Secretary, replying to a question referring to the reciprocity treaties, between the United States on the one hand and Brazil and Santo Domingo on the other, admitted that British goods entering those countries were placed at a disadvantage by the treaties as compared with goods from the United States.

Tranby Croft's Heir Married.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The marriage took place in St. Peter's Church of Arthur Wilson, jr., of Tranby Croft and Miss Alice Filmor, daughter of Lady Filmor. There was a large and fashionable attendance. After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of Baron de Worms.

Death From "Common Disease."

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The condition of the German colonists in the Valley of the Volga is said to be pitiable. The doctors have received a significant official intimation that there is no starvation in Russia, and as a consequence in their reports death is always attributed to some common disease.

Stole to Relieve a Scapegrace Relative.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—It is now stated that the reason Mrs. Osborne stole the pearls belonging to Mrs. Hargreaves and sold them was for the purpose of relieving the pressing necessity of a scapegrace relative who was in trouble.

Mrs Osborne's case will come before the Grand Jury on the 2nd prox.

Australian Boodlers Sentenced.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Feb. 27.—Messrs. Finlayson and Smith, directors, and Mr. Miller, manager of the Australian Loan Company, have each been sentenced to seven years' imprisonment at hard labor for frauds in connection with that institution.

Will Be Guillotined.

PARIS, Feb. 27.—Louis Anastey, who murdered Baroness Dellard, was condemned to death.

A Horrible Crime.

VIENNA, Feb. 27.—A band of masked men at Minin went to the house of a widow named Marie Loppers, bound her to her bed with cords, and saturating her clothing with oil burned her to death, despite her awful cries. The woman was suspected of having murdered her husband.

Keep the Works in good order.

NORMAN, Oct., January 1st

W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first, only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

WALL PAPER,

CAN IT BE POSSIBLE!!

After all the advertising we have done, that there is a single individual in this county who is able to read who does not know that Scantlebury handles and sells wall paper the year round.

Of course there are reasons with us that are busier than others as in all lines of trade but a house handling wall paper as we do and employing an expert as we do the year round must of necessity sell goods every business day of the year.

Now our wall paper trade is as separate from our other business as if it were 3 blocks away instead of under the same roof. We have a man devoting his time entirely to this department, constantly studying new effects in colorings and designs, always ready with suggestions to help those who have had but a limited experience in wall paper buying.

Our spring trade is heavier than at any other season of the year, but you never hear us grumbling at the Summer, Fall or even Winter wall paper sales, we could not do so reasonably, if we did we would be ungrateful

The people come to our wareroom and are surprised at the stock of paper in sight and when we tell them we have, by actual count 729 pigeon holes each containing 50 rolls of paper and no two kinds alike, by a little figuring you will find 36,450 Rolls of paper exclusive of our reserve, which will foot up to a total for this season of nearly 50,000 rolls of wall paper.

We have also 624 smaller pigeon holes for borders containing an average of at least 5 rolls making a total of 3,120 and with our reserve nearly 3,500 Rolls of border.

We make bold to say we believe there is no house in Toronto with the same pretentions as we have, that carries a like stock to choose from, and as a matter of fact the wholesalers tell us so.

In summing up the benefits accruing to our patrons in the wall paper line we present the following:—

1—New goods every makers make
2—The latest accessories known to the trade for showing wall papers
3—Obliging and expert salesman, a practical decorator.
4—Facilities for delivering goods promply
5—Constant communication with New York and other leading art centres
6—800 different kinds of paper to choose from.
7—Illustrative and descriptive articles upon room decorations by leading artists to show you.
8—A firm devoted to their business,
9—The best appointed wall paper wareroom in Ontario outside of Toronto
10—A desire to please everybody, a continued interest in the selections you have made long after we have sold them to you, a willingness to do anything within reason to hold the good will of our customers.

Does this interest you?

I knew then that you would cure me, and now that I am a man and well again, I cannot thank you sufficiently for the cure. So again I say, use my name as reference whenever you wish. You nor any one else cannot use words too strong to express my sentiments in favor of so wonderful a treatment as that given by you."

YESTERDAY'S ELECTIONS.

BOTH PARTIES CLAIM A VICTORY IN LONDON.

Conservatives Claim 15 for Carling, Exclusive of Appeal Votes, and Liberals Claim 16 for Hyman—Hon. John Hearn Elected in Quebec West.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Both parties worked all day long like Trojans for their respective sides and the result yesterday is in doubt. The Liberals claim that Mr. Hyman is re elected by 16 majority and the Conservatives the Hon. John Carling by 15. The first announcement gave the victory to the Conservatives by a majority of 107, but the "appealed voters" have proved a disturbing element and the result apparently depends altogether on the Supreme Court decision in the appeal. These votes have all been numbered and can be identified, but it is impossible to-night to get reliable figures in this connection, and both parties claim the election by the majorities given.

The scene in the city to-night has been of the wildest description. Thousands of people thronged the street and the cheers for both candidates intermingled.

The Conservatives formed a large procession, which was temporarily stopped opposite The Advertiser office, but on the arrival of reinforcements headed by a detachment of police a passage was cleared at the expense of a few sore heads.

At the corner of York and Richmond-streets the procession was compelled to turn down York-street, but withal the disposition of both sides was towards good-naturedness, and beyond a few individual fights no serious trouble occurred at any time.

The excellent manner in which the police force was handled undoubtedly prevented a collision several times during the evening.

The Advertiser (Liberal) gives it as 136, inclusive of the appealed votes.

The Free Press (Conservative) announced Mr. Carling's majority as 15, exclusive of the appealed votes. The Free Press says "Mr. Carling's majority of the votes cast is 128, but on the list are 239 votes, the legality of which has yet to be decided by the Supreme Court. Of these votes 132 were polled to-day, of which Carling got 123 and Hyman 9, leaving a net disputed vote for Carling of 114. That figure subtracted from Carling's gross majority—128—puts the minister's majority at 14, so that he is elected even if the courts decide that the disputed vote is invalid."

Quebec West.

QUEBEC, Feb. 27.—The bye-election in Quebec West for the vacancy caused by the expulsion of Hon. Thomas McGreevy took place to-day, Hon. John Hearn (Conservative) being elected by a majority of 380 over Arthur H. Murphy (Liberal).

The Liberals allowed the constituency to go almost by default, none of the party managers taking any part in the contest, having taken offence at Mr. Laurier's lukewarmness. The Mercierite end of Mr. Laurier's party does not believe in fighting for anything less substantial than a collection of tolls, consequently it was only a question of how large Hon. John Hearn's majority would be.

Bennett's Majority Now 47.

ORILLIA, Feb. 27.—Three of the five divisions in Medora and Wood township have been heard from and Bennett's majority is now 47. The two divisions to hear from went Reform by 12 and Conservative by five at the general election.

If you have a cough or cold do not neglect it; many without a trace of that hereditary disease have drifted into a consumptive grave by neglecting what was only a slight cold. Had the used Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup before it was too late their lives would have been spared. Mr. A. W. Levy Mitchell, writes. "I think Bickel's Anti-Consumptive syrup the best preparation on the market for coughs and severe colds. The room in which a number of friends pass the evening smoking either cigars or inferior tobacco will have an unpleasant odor next morning. Let the same friends smoke only "Mrytle Navy" and they will find quite a difference in the room next morning. If it is personably ventilated, as with a fire-place for instance, no unpleasantness whatever will be found. The purity and fine quality of the leaf is the reason of this.

Now is the time for farmers to secure good seed grain. This is an all important matter but one too frequently neglected much to the detriment of the farm. A feature of the evening was a conundrum contest. Each one in the audience was furnished with an envelope containing six conundrums, and the one who guessed correctly the greatest number was appropriately decorated. Mr. Stevens, a college student, won the coveted trophy.

Little Things that tell

It is the little things that tell—little brothers for instance, who hide away in the parlor while sister entertains her beau, etc. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are little things that tell. They tell on the liver and tone up the system. So small and yet so effectual, they are rapidly supplanting the old-style pill. An infallible remedy for sick and bilious headaches, biliousness and constipation. Put up in vials, convenient to carry. Their use attended with no discomfort.

A NARROW ESCAPE

INMATES LEAVE A BURNING BUILDING IN THEIR NIGHT CLOTHES.

Barefooted They Are Taken in by the Neighbors in a Half Frozen Condition —Wm Chatterson's House and Outbuildings Reduced to Ashes With their Contents.

At four o'clock this morning a fire broke out in Wm. Chatterson's house at Rossmore and fanned by the high winds soon reduced the building and contents to ashes. The fire is supposed to have originated from a spark from the stove, in which a blazing fire had been made before retiring. It is a miracle that the inmates were not burned to death and probably would have been had it not been for Mrs. Lafferty. During the day she had been suffering greatly with the tooth-ache and instead of retiring laid down on a lounge near the fire. In the morning she dozed off to sleep from which she was soon awakened by the smell of smoke. Opening her eyes she saw the room was a blaze and at once leaped to her feet. The inmates were aroused and barely escaped with their lives. There was not even time to clothe their feet and the women, who were the only persons in the house left the building scantily attired in their night clothes. Mr. Chatterson is in Warkworth visiting his brother. Besides the house several out buildings were destroyed with their contents. The loss will not be less than $2000, on which there is an insurance in the Commercial Union of $1,420.

The Handsomest fall Coins

This proud distinction is generally conceded to the United States' twenty-dollar gold piece, a marvel of beauty in design and finish. The loveliest of God's handiwork is a handsome woman. If in the bloom of health; if she is not, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescriptioc will restore her. Ladies who use this peerless remedy are unanimous in its praise, for it cures those countless ills which are the bane of their sex—irregularities, dragging-down pains, inflammation. hysteria, sleeplessness, and the "all-gone" sensations which burden their daily lives. A tonic and nervine, without alcohol.

The Queen's Prize Problem

Mr. A. and B. have to cut down a mighty tree. The time 'twill take for Mr. A. this mighty tree alone to slay is sixty minutes—standard time. Beneath B's blow, the bulk sublime goes to the ground in half that time. The question now we ask of thee is, how long 'twill take to cut this tree if both begin—one on each side—and thus their labor do divide?

THE QUEEN will give an elegant Mason & Risch Fine Toned Upright Piano to the first person answering the above problem correctly; an elegant gold watch for the second correct answer; a china dinner set for the third correct answer; an elegant silk dress pattern for the fourth correct answer; and many other valuable prizes, all of which are announced in the February issue of THE QUEEN. Valuable special prizes will be given for the first correct answer from each Province. Each person answering must enclose ten three cent stamps for "The Canadian Queen Galop," the latest and most popular of fifty cent copyrighted music issued during the past year, just out, together with sample copy of THE QUEEN. The only object of offering these prizes is to increase the circulation of THE QUEEN, which already is the largest of any publication in Canada. Every prize winner is expected to add to our yearly subscription list. By sending to-day you may secure a valuable prize. Address THE CANADIAN QUEEN, "X," Toronto, Can. s to w

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—trifling indiscretion in diet may lay t foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, an there is no fact in medical science mor positively ascertained or more authoritat ively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. An Era of Newspapers Not of Books

In literary circles it is maintained that not a book of rare importance was pubished during the year of 1891. This is probably true. The present is a newspaper, not a book era. Books are read less and less, and newspapers more and more. The best writers are employed by the press, and they find it more remunerative and less hazardous emqloyment than book writing. Occasionally a work like "Robert Elsmere," "Progress and Poverity," or "Looking Backward," creates a profound sensatiou, internationally and exercises a widespread influence upon the thoughts of people. But 1891 has produced no such volume, and 1892 does not promice to supply the emission. Yet this is a reading public to a greater extent than ever before. Everybody reads newspapers; few read books extensively. Cultivated people almost invariably do the most of their reading in the news pabers; the active intellect aims to keep in touch with the great throbbing, active present rather than the mouldering past.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA

The performance demonstrated Miss Dunn to a first place in the ranks of Elocutionists.—Time. At the Queen's Opera House, March 1st.

A Standard Melodrama

Queens Opera House next Wednesday evening, March 2nd., will present a positive novelty in the way of Melodrama. Sims and Pettit's famous play of "Master and Man" having been engaged. The play touches the industrial problem, though it cannot be said to deal with it. The authors have evidently hoped to win the interested attention and sympathy of the working classes without antagonizing the opposing element, an extremely difficult undertaking. How well they have succeeded the drama explains. The story is that of a young civil engineer, Jack Walton employed in the Carlton iron works. He marries the village schoolmistress, thereby making an enemy of Humpy Logan, the foreman oof the works. This malicious person discovers that Robert Carleton, his employer, is holding the Carlton estate without right and that they belong to the pretty school mistress that was. He enters into his employer's plans to disgrace the Waltons and drive them from the place. By false swearing they get the engineer sent to prison where he spends six years and escapes. Returning to his home he seeks refuge from the law officers in the iron works at night, and is hiding there when the infuriated workmen drag in Humpy Logan to throw him into the great furnace for his tyranny. Walton saves the miserable wretch, who, repenting of his villainy, unmasks his master, and the Walton's are restored to happiness, while the gentlemanly villian ends up with a pair of handcuffs on his wrists. Seats are on sale now and there is no doubt that the house will be crowded to witness this great play.

ARE YOU A YOUNG MAN ?

Well. This is Leap Year and You May Meet an Emergency

Boys, you should hold yourselves in readiness at all times for the new year, for you are liable to be astonished at any time by a proposel of marriage from some lady, as it is leap year. Accept graciously, but with becoming dignity, if the proposition is agreeable. If it is distasteful, then decline gently, but firmly, assuring the lady of your best wishes for her future happiness and giving her as much rot about being a brother to her as the case seems to warrant. Remember at all times that you are a man and that there are as good fish in the sea as ever were caught out of it, so there is no use of being in a hurry to throw yourself away on a worthless partner as to many of our sex have done. Many a worse fate awaits a man than to die an old bachelor. Above all things never marry a woman in the hope of reforming her. Hundreds of our fellowmen are now dragging out a miserable existence—down trodden, poverty-stricken, henpecked and sorrowful—who married a woman of questionable habits and disposition in the vain hope of reforming her and leading her onward and upward to a purer, nobler sphere. Linked to a partner worthy of his noble characteristics that same man, now an object of pity, might have shone like an arc light of 1,000,000 candle power in any station of life he saw fit to honor with his presence. Therefore, boys, go slowly. Think twice before you act. Then when you do act, act as though it was a great condescension on your part, and even then it may be policy to stave her off a little while and flirt with the other girls, just to try her affections if they be of the prehensive variety, that you can depend on when adversity comes and you need someone to lean upon. This method will also give you ample time to consult Dunn and Bradstreet as to the commercial rating of her father, as in the mad rush for gain you may need some backing of a financial nature. See?

We throw out these few hints, not for the purpose of throwing cold water upon this matrimonial business. Far different. On the contrary, we indorse it. It is all right. Every man should be married to one woman at a time and no more. But we merely want you to use due deliberation and not rush blindly into a relation that is bound to affect the future of your lives for good or evil.—Dansville Breeze.
